For EXAMINER.

O, how can I sing in the darkness,
And the night be the same as the day,
While the tempest of sorrow my soul [illegible]
Is as dark as the midnight of May?

I can see no gleam of sunshine,
O my Saviour, where art thou?
And the balmy drops of heaven
Thou hast promis'd to bestow.

Now though troublous clouds commingle
Low'ring darkly o'er my way;
Yet like one of old I'll trust Him,
Trust Him, though He should me slay.

Yes I'll trust Him in the darkness,
For I know the clouds will break;
Though it may be long in coming,
God will sure His promise make.

Oft He has in former troubles
Fill'd my soul with heaven-sent light,
And I praised my God for giving
Songs in seasons of the night.

Now I see a faint light streaming,
Softly as at dawn of day,
'Tis the Spirit's gentle breathings,
Driving all the mists away.

GIBBS' GOLD.

A "Big Push" Ten Years Ago.

A correspondent of the Oshawa Reformer writing from Cobourg during Assizes week, there has the following concerning the postponed Sampson Wilkinson libel suit:—Some curious facts have been elicited from conversation with the different witnesses, which may perhaps be of interest to your readers. It seems that in the great contest between the Hon. Geo. Brown and Mr. T. N. Gibbs in 1867 the government of the day supplied as large an amount of money in aid of Mr. Gibbs' election from the Secret Service Fund as they dared, all of which was expended upon the first day. In addition, the Messrs. Gibbs had spent all the ready cash they had. It being ascertained at the close of the poll on the first day that the election was very close and that in all probability the Hon. Mr. Brown would be elected on the second day unless a large amount of money could be distributed in the riding before morning, something temporate had to be done Mr. T. N. Gibbs at this time was a director and Vice-President of the Ontario Bank. He directed the manager in your town—in direct violation of the rules and regulations of the Bank, and without the concurrence of the accountant or other officials—to open the vaults in the night, and without one dollar to his credit, or without putting in any securities, $6,000 of the Bank's funds were taken out. This money was sent out through the riding in the night and secured the election of Mr. Gibbs, as you all remember, by a small majority. I must confess that I think the Hon. M. Simpson and the remaining directors of the Ontario Bank should have at once asked Mr. Gibbs to tender his resignation as Vice President and director of the Bank, and had Mr. Simpson done so at the time he would not have had Mr. Gibbs plotting and scheming for his overthrow to-day. I doubt if the title of Honorable ever would have been conferred upon him had he received at the hands of the Board of the Ontario Bank his just deserts. It is also reported that the great Joshua (Wilkinson) received a bonus of $500 with which to establish the Tory organ, the Durham News, in Bowmanville. $300 of it is said was subscribed by the faithful in and about Bowmanville and $200 of it, it is said was subscribed by the Messrs. Gibbs, who desired to start an organ in Mr. Simpson's own town, with which, if possible, to defeat and cripple him. From all I can gather, had the trial gone on there would have been some pretty rich revelations in connection with the doings and actions of the politicians in and about your ambitious town and, if statements made can be relied upon, Mr. Gibbs would have been pretty thoroughly uncovered, and his real character made known to the country. The Messrs Gibbs for reasons best known to themselves did not put it an appearance. Echo answers why not?

HOW TO PREACH SO AS TO CONVERT NOBODY.

BY PRES. C. G. FINNEY.

The design of this article is to propound several rules, by a steady conformity to any one of which a man may preach so as not to convert anybody. It is generally conceded at the present day that the Holy Spirit converts souls to Christ by means of truth adapted to that end. It follows that a selfish preacher will not skillfully adapt means to convert souls to Christ, for this is not his end.

Rule 1st. Let your supreme motive be to secure your own popularity; then, of course, your preaching will be adapted to that end, and not to convert souls to Christ.

2nd. Aim at pleasing, rather than at converting your hearers.

3rd. Aim at securing for yourself the reputation of a beautiful writer.

4th. Let your sermons have the following characteristics:—

Let them be written with a high degree of literary finish.

Let them be short, occupying in the reading not to exceed from twenty to twenty-five minutes.

Let your style be flowery, ornate, and quite above the comprehension of the common people.

Be sparing of thought, lest your sermon contain truth enough to convert a soul.

Let your sermon should make a saving impression, announce no distinct propositions or heads, that will be remembered, to disturb the consciences of your hearers.

Make no distinct points, and take no disturbing issues with the consciences of your hearers, lest they remember these issues, and become alarmed about their souls.

Avoid a logical division and subdivision of your subject, lest you should too thoroughly instruct your people.

Give your sermons the form and substance of a flowing, beautifully-written, but never-to-be-remembered essay; so that your hearers will say, "It was a beautiful sermon," but can give no further account of it.

Avoid preaching doctrines that are offensive to the carnal mind, lest they should say of you, as they did of Christ, "This is a hard saying. Who can hear it?" and that you are injuring your influence.

Denounce sin in the abstract, but make no allusion to the sins of your present audience.

Keep the spirituality of God's holy law, by which is the knowledge of sin, out of sight, lest the sinner should see his[illegible] last condition and flee from the wrath [illegible]

Preach the gospel as a remedy, but conceal or ignore the fatal disease of the sinner.

Preach salvation by grace; but ignore the condemned and lost condition of the sinner, lest he should understand what you mean by grace, and feel himself to be [illegible]

Preach Christ as an infinite amiable and good-natured being; but ignore those soothing rebukes of sinners and hypocrites which so often made His hearers tremble.

Avoid especially preaching to those who are present. Preach about sinners, and not to them. Say they, and not you, lest any one should make a personal and saving application of your subject.

Strive to make your hearers pleased and themselves and pleased with you, ings of any kind to wound the feel-

5th. Preach lest you convict and converting sermons, members of your church. worldly

6th. Avoid awakening table memories by reminding hearers of their past sins.

7th. Do not make the impression that God commands your hearers now and here to obey the truth.

8th. Do not make the impression that you expect your hearers to commit themselves upon the spot and give their hearts to God.

9th. Leave the impression that they are expected to go away in their sins, and to consider the matter at their convenience.

10th. Dwell much upon their inability to obey, and leave the impression that they must wait for God to change their natures.

11th. Make no appeal to the fears of sinners; but leave the impression that they have no reason to fear.

12th. Say so little of hell that your people will infer that you do not believe in its existence.

13th. Make the impression that, if God is as good as you are, He will send no one to hell.

14th. Preach the love of God, but ignore the holiness of his love, that will by no means clear the impenitent sinner.

15th. Often present God in His parental love and relations, but ignore His governmental and legal relations to His subjects, lest the sinner should find himself condemned already and the wrath of God abiding on him.

16th. Preach God as all mercy, lest a fuller representation of His character should alarm the conscience of your hearers.

17th. Try to convert sinners to Christ without producing any uncomfortable convictions of sin.

18th. Flatter the rich, so as to repel the poor, and you will convert none of either class.

19th. Make no disagreeable allusions to the doctrines of self-denial, cross-bearing, and crucifixion to the world, lest you should convict and convert some of your church-members.

20th. Admit, either expressly or impliedly, that all men have some moral goodness in them; lest sinners should understand that they need a radical change of heart, from sin to holiness.

21st. Avoid pressing the doctrine of total moral depravity; lest you offend, or even convict and convert, the moralist.

22nd. Do not rebuke the worldly tendencies of the church, lest you should hurt the feelings, and finally convert some of them.

23rd. Should any express anxiety about their souls, do not probe them by any uncomfortable allusion to their sin and ill desert; but encourage them to join the church at once, and exhort them to assume their perfect safety within the fold.

24th. Preach the love of Christ not as enlightened benevolence, that is holy, just, and sin-hating; but as a sentiment

The Eastern War

The war in the East ... last week of meaning ... skirmishes several ... Russians being ... with a loss of ... in all. On the other ... main points on the Danube have ... all taken possession of by the Russians. By the latest accounts the Turks were severely repulsed at Kars. England is slowly drifting into the conflict in spite of her general neutrality policy. It is clear that Russia will in the end conquer unless by league or alliance other powers are brought into action. Turkey cannot stand her arms long. The Ottoman Soldiers are suffering already from severe attacks of Diarrhœa. The Porte cannot survive this war. Her very last budget shows a deficit of £12,000,000 Sterling which proves very conclusively that she has not the pecuniary standing to maintaine a prolonged defence. Her army numbers in all 125,000 men. She cannot therefore cope with the large disciplined body of her opponents 450,000 strong. Looking at it every way it is probable that the war will be of short duration, and that unless the Great Powers take an interest in the struggle the last great relic of barbarism and fanaticism will have been swept from the face of civilised Europe.

THE LATE SESSION.

The fourth session of the third Parliament of Canada closed on Saturday. The session of 1877 will be remembered as "the long session." This is chiefly owing to the peculiarly aggressive tactics of the Opposition. The government very promptly presented the departmental reports, and pressed the public business with energy. During the earlier days of the session all things went well by comparison with the later portion. The Opposition chose the going with Committee on the Supply as the time of their attacks on the Ministry; and the chief distinguishing feature of the session was the numerous votes on charges of want of confidence made on the government of the day. The manner in which these were made was unfortunate for the Opposition rather than the government, and the assaulting party gained no strength by the repeated divisions. At least one of the charges might have been used advantageously by the Opposition had they shown a disposition to press it for the good of the country. They lost their opportunity, however, when they displayed a desire simply for party warfare; and the people of the Dominion who otherwise would have thanked them and admired their statesmanship, can look on their manner of handling public questions for mere party purposes only with disapprobation, not to say disgust. The Anglin matter led to a deep examination into the meaning of the Independence of Parliament Act, and a thorough waking up of both sides to the importance of its observation as it stands while it so stands, or to a change if that be thought the wiser course. The other prominent features of the session were the enquiries into the Secret Service expenditure and the Northern Railway frauds. The warring of parties over these matters has drawn public attention from the real work of the House, through several matters of importance in a legal and commercial, and therefore in a social sense have been discussed, and Acts passed relating to them. To some of these we shall refer in detail from time to time, as opportunity occurs.

Only a few weeks ago the Opposition organs declared that the government was about to dissolve the House and precipitate a general election on the country.—Loud were the cries against such a course, wholly imaginative on the part of those who pretended to predict a government policy, and great was the indignation raised over the cowards who were afraid to meet the doughty Opposition speakers at another session before the election came on. At that time we took the liberty—(it was not much trouble) to point out the absurdity of these rumours on which the Tory papers managed to found so much abuse of their constant enemies, the Grit Ministers. Little did we expect that those who then spoke in such exceedingly strong denunciatory terms of any attempt to dissolve the House before next year would so soon turn completely round and cry aloud for a dissolution. Yet such is the case; and those very papers that a few short weeks ago had nothing but condemnation for a supposed dissolution now actually favour and clamour for a dissolution. They are bound to be discontented. When they had an idea a dissolution was intended they cried out that the government dare not call another session; and now that they see no dissolution likely to be made till the proper time comes they as loudly cry that the government dare not go to the country. The government evidently dare go on unmoved by any clamour of opponents that could be very formidable till they become more consistent.

"The local Grit organ," by which is meant the EXAMINER, is blamed by "the local Tory lyre" for devoting too much attention to the sins of Sir John Macdonald. These sins have swamped the Conservative party, and the "lyre" aforesaid cannot bear to have them plainly spoken of. When a reference to the doings of the Chieftain thus arises a whine of complaint, he must surely have become a heavy burden to the Tory party. A heavy burden he undoubtedly is; but still the party cannot do without him. The very existence of his party hangs on yearn depended on his administrative ability and on that alone; and were they to ship him to-day, (as they would if they dared) they could not find a man in their ranks fit to take his place. True he has disregarded all principles of political morality and constitutional right; but his lapses from the right path have all been for the combined aim of party success and personal ambition. The Conservatives know as well as we do that they cannot be led back to power by Sir John Macdonald, but they know also that their present existence as a party depends upon retaining him as their leader. The Country, Reformers as well as Conservatives, is willing to think as highly as need be of the acknowledged ability of Sir John Macdonald, and to look with as kindly an eye as possible on his faults and failings; but Canada can never stultify its honour by admitting him again to the place from whence the popular voice hurled him in just punishment for his betrayal of the trust reposed in him. So far he is undoubtedly in the political grave he dug for himself, and if the skeleton of his political past is held up so high as to shock the delicate sensibilities of his friends, they have but themselves to blame. They brought ... themselves by the sins of their ... they offer the country the fulsome ... that it will stultify itself by ... placing him in the position he ... to fill.

The "lyre" does not attempt to deny any of the charges we have made against Sir John; but it secures its title to the sound if not the strict orthography of the title we have bestowed on it by declaring we have failed to express any opinion on the "charges" it has been pleased to make against the leaders of the present Government. So far from this being the case, we have from time to time devoted part of our space to its various misstatements and given them a complete refutation. This was not a difficult task, as the "charges" were at best a thin dilution of the milk-and-water of the Montreal Gazette; and the basis being impure, the further mixture could not be expected to stand the test. We believe we have referred to every one of the "charges" enumerated, viz:—the steel rails scandal, the Anglin printing, the public expenditure and the tariff discussion. To make sure let our readers turn to the file of the EXAMINER during March and April, where they will find these questions discussed in extenso, and in a way which will satisfy the "lyre". These answers appear to have been effectual in one thing at least. They stopped the reckless statements of "the local Tory lyre" for the time being; but it is like some politicians of whom we all have heard, "it will not stay put". So it now comes out declaring, like the children in the market place, that we have not danced to its piping. Like the children too, it now begins to mourn, and probably will next accuse us of further lack of appreciation because we will not lament. Poor "lyre!" Its sound would be pitiful were it not so utterly ridiculous.

OH NO; IT ISN'T THE PREMIER.

The Review last week complained that we didn't pay sufficient attention to its political "charges;" but that we pitched into Sir John Macdonald. Now we are quite willing to admit that we have done both, and to some purpose. But as if to contradict itself, as it usually contrives to do, the Review immediately after whining about one not responding to its invitations to give it some of our attention, refers to our answer to its version of the so-called "Foster job." We showed that its assertions would tend to prove the Premier a fool rather than a knave, and therefore incapable of perpetrating a "job." But its assertions were not true; and even the most rabid Tories will admit that Mr. Mackenzie is no fool. The Review, is so well pleased with our reasoning that it adopts it, only seeking by a display of very small wit to admit that we "establish the fact that he (the Premier) is lacking in common sense." This childish "chaff", that an intelligent school-boy would be ashamed of, is only surpassed by the "bull" that follows, wherein this very intelligent writer of the Review soberly and seriously tells us "ex-Senator Foster was paid $41,000 for filling a contract which he did not fill." This is very good indeed; but the richness is increased by the after assertion, that the contract was thrown up. Now this is just where the blind Review will not see, and wherein it tries to make its readers as blind as itself, were it not, that it quotes the EXAMINER'S words that "the government was the first to desire and order its cancellation." Yet this clever journal then has the audacity to immediately declare that "the throwing up of the contract is not denied." We can tell our contemporary the facts again, though we can't manufacture brains for it wherewith to understand. The contract was cancelled by order in Council, in the public interest; and the $41,000 paid to Mr. Foster was not for "filling a contract he did not fill," but for surveys made, and certified to be worth the money by the engineer in charge of that portion of the exploration. For further particulars we refer the "Review" to the return brought down to Parliament, a careful study of which we would advise before it makes any further reference to this subject. Such a course will at least give some sort of understanding of the matter, though it cannot prevent the ruthless handling of the English language that led to that beastly "bull."

FEMALE PREACHERS.

The Clergy of Lakefield and Peterboro' (in part) are somewhat astir over female preaching, and have fled to the columns of the News to appeal to the people against the unscriptural (!) practice of women teaching and preaching. The News has placed at their disposal about eight columns of its last issue for the purpose of defending their views of a certain Episcopal doctrine of absolution, and of giving a quietus to female preachers in that Village. The fact, however, that the people of the Village have just erected a large hall or building for a lady preacher, among others, that they erected in about ten or twelve days, and that all classes of the citizens except the opposing Clergy aided in a little prophetic that in future, the should it have the appearance of opposition to the cherished ideas of men, and of their superiority. It is somewhat strange, too, that the very popular Lady Evangelist of Lakefield should be an adherent of the Episcopal Church, and that she was brought up at the feet of the Rev. V. Clementi, whose eloquently stigmatizing as female preaching as unscriptural; and it may possibly cause passing disgust of her weak, bootless feminine labours, should he more powerful in the pulling down the strongholds of Satan, and more attractive to induce sinners to accept their Saviour, than all the preaching of those distinctly appointed male preachers who have hitherto visited Lakefield. It not unfrequently happens that foolish things are chosen to confound the wise, and weak things to confound the mighty, to the end that the work may not be by might or by power being the will of Him who worketh both to will and to do of his own good pleasure.

PORT HOPE'S JUST DEBT TO THE PROVINCE

In a late issue we made reference to some vapourings of a correspondent of the Port Hope Times concerning the debt of that town to the Ontario Government under the Municipal Loan Fund Distribution Act. The burden of the plaint was "better times;" but the reckless way in which the clumsy advocate of defeat his task was calculated, which he pretended to aid the case pointed out plainly tended to ... positive mischief of the most ... courtesy only call the ... of the writer, at the same time ... as clearly as we could our leading views upon the main question. In this we have apparently been misunderstood by the Times; though we are glad to see that it has so far understood and appreciated our estimate of its correspondent as to shut down on him. So far we have done good, and believe we are entitled to the gratitude of all Port Hopers. The Times, however, expresses surprise that we should "endeavour to prejudice the case of Port Hope in the eyes of the government." This surprise may be real, but we strongly suspect it is only feigned for the upholding of diplomatic relations with that terrible bore who called forth our first indignant remarks. Real or sham we cannot submit to an imputation so entirely in opposition to our real intention which was to show to Port Hope that the letters appearing in the Times, whether written with such an "endeavour" or not, were really "prejudicing its case in the eyes of the government." The advice of the Times, that we should "give the subject full and calm consideration," is rather amusing in view of the evidences that we had given it more consideration than our contemporary has yet done before we made our former reference to it. Thus, the principal statements in the article the Times quotes from the EXAMINER are as follows:—(1) A great many will differ with the idea that Port Hope's debt to the government should be completely cancelled: (2) Though the people of the Province, whose money Port Hope borrowed so freely, are inclined to consider repayment about the fair thing, they are not likely to be unreasonable if good cause can be shown; (3) Port Hope on its part has but one argument for repudiation, viz:—bankruptcy. We presume that even the most rabid advocate of cancellation in Port Hope will admit the first two of these; and that therefore the only point of difference is the third of these assertions. Let us see how strong our position on this question is. Port Hope is fairly indebted to the Province and therefore should pay it if able so to pay. "Circumstances have changed" says the Times, but the only circumstance that can change the indebtedness of one party to another without the merciful intervention of the creditor is either the liquidation of a portion of the debt, or the accumulation of interest on the stationary principal. Circumstances have changed with other municipalities that borrowed from the Fund; and if the case be again opened for Port Hope, a general reconsideration may very reasonably be asked for. Had there been a period of prosperity for the last few years, instead of the general depression that has prevailed, would these present "cancellationists" of Port Hope have then consented to a theory of increased liability because of increased ability? We rather think not.

In our former article we used these words:—"The plea, that Provincial aid has been given other lines of railway competing with and injuring the revenues of that line to which Port Hope gave the borrowed Provincial and other moneys, has perhaps something in it," and the Times again pays such deference to our opinion as to make this the sole point of those remarks wherein it states that the EXAMINER "has been a little harsh and exacting, if not unjust in its conclusions." However this may be, it will be seen that our accuser has come virtually to our way of thinking. He says:—There is no desire among our people to repudiate our just indebtedness; and if there was, such a step would meet with our strenuous opposition. All we ask—all our people ask—is that the government having to a certain extent taken away from us the ability to pay in full the large claim held against the town, without grievously raising our taxes, a reduction be made in proportion—so that we may be placed in as good a position now as we occupied when the compromise and settlement of the Municipal Loan Fund was concluded." But the correspondent whose nonsense we first noticed went in for repudiation pure and simple, or as he put it, that "the debt should be completely cancelled." The Times is more reasonable now, though it patted its correspondent on the back in a former issue; and actually becomes as "harsh and exacting, if not unjust," as the EXAMINER. The question is now well narrowed down, and for the good of Port Hope it had better be kept within its legitimate bounds. Certainly attempts to make political capital out of it can be of no benefit to the Opposition, while they may materially injure the chances, not too good at best, of any further reduction of the town's debt to government.

Before closing we will state that we are willing to do the Times the justice of remarking that we believe the terms "harsh, exacting and unjust" applied to us arose rather from the contemplation of the benefits it says the back country (Peterboro' for instance) derived through the building of the Midland Railway. Neither the fact nor the magnitude of those benefits can change the question as it affects the Province at large; for the argument rather tends to the demand that the towns villages and townships that were such great gainers through the spending of Provincial money, should help Port Hope to pay its debt, rather than that remote localities should share in the loss to the Province by cancellation, or even reduction.

The Assessors for the year 1877 have finished their work for the year, and returned their Roll to the Town Clerk, yesterday. The time at our disposal since has been so limited that we cannot give full details this week. We have merely called two or three items of interest to show that our town has not gone back during the last twelve months.

Amt. of Real Estate	2 082,860	2,149,840
Personal Property	347,110	264,150
Taxable Income	111,690	107,750
Taxable Income and Personal Property	456,710	371,900
Total real & pers'l	2,551,570	2,521,740
Population	6,810	6,576
Children of school age		1,744

It will be seen that the population has increased slightly. The total of the assessed value of the town this year is slightly in advance of last year if the Auburn Woolen Coy's property had been assessed this year.

In the general depression of trade it is satisfactory to find that we are at least holding our own.

One of the charges brought against the present Dominion ... that have not been contract for ... in the lowest tender. ... to the ... plaint is somewhat absurd on the ... as it frequently happens ... lowest tender is not always the ... surest and safest, and must be passed over on public grounds. Let us see however how the Tory argument works as far as that party itself is concerned. The following figures are taken from a return read to Parliament by the Premier during the session first closed. They speak for themselves:—

OLD ADMINISTRATION.

Year.	Number of Contracts Let.	Lowest tenders accepted.
1870	52	25
1871	75	46
1872	77	38
1873	76	43

NEW ADMINISTRATION.

1874	90	57
1875	73	58
1876	30	23

The percentage of number and amount received by the lowest tender was as follows:—

OLD ADMINISTRATION.

	Per cent of Number	Per cent of Amount.
1870	48	16
1871	61	31
1872	49	32
1873	57	22

NEW ADMINISTRATION.

1874	63	43
1875	79	78
1876	77	92

The following figures refer to amounts for which contracts were given during the year specified, and are still more in Mr. Mackenzie's favor:

SIR JOHN'S GOVERNMENT.

Year.	Total amount of contracts.	Total amount given to lowest tenderers.
1870	$9,135,430	$2,455,000
1871	4,027,000	1,765,000
1872	1,695,000	840,000
1873	6,000,000	2,000,000
	$20,000,000	$7,000,000

MR. MACKENZIE'S ADMINISTRATION.

Year.	Total amount of contracts.	Total amount given to lowest tenderers
1874	$5,500,000	$4,987,000
1875	9,269,000	9,097,000
1876	4,665,000	4,297,000
	$19,665,000	$16,000,000

NAPANEE.—The temperance people of the town of Napanee, are fully alive to the great evil of intemperance and the immorality of the traffic of intoxicating liquors. Our readers are aware that the Dunkin Act has been passed in the county and they have also learned the hotel keepers had agreed to close their houses on the 1st of May, and thus leave the travelling public without means of obtaining a place for accommodation, or for obtaining refreshments. To counteract this movement the temperance people called a meeting and then and there decided to purchase the Brescoe House at $4,000 so that they might, to some extent provide for the accommodation of which the hotel keepers sought to deprive them. In order to save any one from loss to any large extent, Mr. Brescoe, the owner of the property, nobly abandoned a large part of the rent to aid the movement. Of those present 68 signed a bond, binding themselves in case the enterprise should not succeed, to pay proportionately their share of $3,000, a Mr. Potter, agreeing to raise $1,000, and assume the responsibility of managing the concern, the responsibility being limited to the $2,000. This is the way to face the matter, and when such affairs governs men's actions success is certain.

The following interesting item is clipped from the Campbellford "Herald":—We are again assured of the early resumption of operations on the the Grand Junction Railroad. Mr. Kelso, the President of the Road, was in the village, last week, and through him we learn that there is at present a brighter aspect of affairs in connection with the business of the Company. We see it stated, also, that some work has been recently accomplished, and that an engine will be placed upon the track to complete the construction of the line through to Peterborough by the 22nd of August. We hope these reports will prove themselves worthy of notice, for so many times have the public been "gulled" by erroneous statements, the sight of a train would convince the people of this section of the working of the road. All that can be said has been expressed by the Press and public everywhere interested in the road, and an anxious, patient and long-suffering people, now exclaim. "Push it along.",—"Make a Big Push."

How the Kaministiquia "Job" was done.

The following letter from J. Langton Baker, shows just how much a "job" was perpetrated in purchasing land for the Pacific Railway at Fort William about which the Tory journals have been howling themselves hoarse. He says in a letter to the Globe; in connection with the Kaministiquia land purchase allow me to state that sometime during the winters of 75, and 76 I received an offer of $300 cash from Mr. Alex. McGregor, of Watford, for two-thirds of an half acre lot, which I accepted. In (I think) July of 76 the Dominion Government purchased their land in the locality required for railway purposes, the above mentioned lot being in the part required. The price to be paid was left to an appointed valuator. For the one-third of the lot which I still held I was awarded $80 instead of $150, the rate at which I sold the former; and Mr. McGregor, for the part for which he paid $300, was awarded $100.

Would not our immaculate Opposition be better engaged in advocating the rights of the people in endeavouring to secure to them at least what the land cost them, and what they could get from private parties, than growling about the figure paid, when the holders could have got better if allowed to dispose of it in other quarters.

PUBLIC MEN.

BY STEFANO QUILICI.

In opening these sketches to the view of the public it is to be expected that they will meet with a liberal criticism. If the pictures are here and there over-coloured—here and there defective in outline—here and there heightened in the respective expressions—it is to be hoped that these imperfections which are to be each found in the works of Raphael himself, will not meet with too severe a censure from my readers. The first photograph I present to your gaze is that of the honorable.

ALEXANDER MACKENZIE.

He is a man of fine intellectual appearance. Light complexion, with sandy beard His forehead is high, well shaped. ... if Phrenology teaches truly, then ... consider him to possess the qualities of judgment, penetration ... in a high degree. ... tures forcefully ... man. Mack... in manner in the House of and deli... In the midst of the most ex... Conv... debates he will be seen listening ... Such seems to be his ... in his political rectitude—his political popularity—that in his manner would suggest with propriety the following answer to his political enemies:

I am armed so strong in honesty
That your threats do pass me as the idle winds
Which I heed not."

Though generally unruffled and undisturbed by opposition clamors and tactics, he sometimes is drawn, much against his will, into a heated controversy. Mackenzie's rage is white faced anger. When much excited he is accustomed to challenge the vote of the House on confidence. He knows that whatever excitement Conservatives may from time to time raise that he has yet the confidence of Parliament. As a speaker he ranks undoubtedly among the foremost orators in the Legislature. His speeches are generally logical argumentative, conclusive. He seldom wanders from the subject. Every sentence has its bearing. Occasionally his impassioned manner, beauty of diction, and grandness of conception, combine in an effort deserving of the name of Eloquence. He is gentlemanly in his behaviour to members on both sides of the House, and very popular among members of his own party. Mr. Mackenzie is now fifty years of age—is of temperate habits—and possesses a strong wiry frame. He is of medium height. His constitution is apparently sound. He is likely to live to a good sound old age. His private character is blameless, and accordingly he stands very high in the esteem of members on either side of the House. Facing the ministerial bench on the left of the Speakers' Throne is seen the seat of one of the oldest and ablest of Canadian Politicians—the Right Honorable

SIR JOHN A MACDONALD, K. C. B.

It is almost unnecessary for me to give in detail the personal appearance of the present leader of the Opposition. With the lines of his features almost every one is familiar. He is of Scotch descent and is now in his sixty-second year, he having been born shortly before the memorable Battle of Waterloo. His facial appearance suggests great intellectual strength, quickness of perception being the most prominent, and judgment the next characteristic. He is the personification of good humor—always brimful of wit (chiefly of that species known as punning). He wears his hair in dark wavy locks which become him well. He has a nose rather larger than the ordinary Roman model but if writers on Physiognomy are to be believed a long nasal organ evinces greatness of mind. He is a politician "to the manner born." Nursed, tended and brought up in that chaotic school or pandemonium called the Canadian School of Politics, he must from experience possess a deep, sound knowledge of Dominion affairs—ways and means—supplies—internal revenues—exports and imports &c. Being a Barrister by profession and deeply read in Colonial, Imperial and constitutional law, his career as Minister of Justice was fairly successful. As a speaker the aged veteran is most telling. His greatest art is that of adapting himself to present issues, and by logical tactics placing his political adversaries in in a dilemma. His gesture is at times very animated. He emphasizes his periods by striking the table with the back of his hand. In making an important point he generally inclines his body to the left, and in a serio-comic position brings down the forefinger of his right hand into the palm of his left. He seldom attains the higher flights of oratory. His lengthy speeches however are full of energy. His greatest effort was that in defence of the Washington Treaty. He is one of the most popular members on the floors of the Commons. He is polished in his manners. He is now as young and active in the House as he ever was. It is probable that he will live to a good old age yet. Notwithstanding his grave errors in administration and his other imperfections, he is still thought highly of by the members and followers of his own party.

FATAL FIRE AT MONTREAL.

NINE FIREMEN KILLED.

One of the most shocking calamities which ever occurred in Montreal took place on Sunday morning. At 5 a. m. an alarm sounded for a fire in the Montreal Novelty Works, a five story building in St. Urbain street, and which had full possession of the lumense building, the brigade finding it impossible to save it, turned their attention to the surrounding dwellings and shops, and about six o'clock as some ten of the firemen were playing streams of water upon some sheds from a narrow lane on the north side, a portion of the wall fell and pinned two of them down. Immediately a rush was made to get them out before the entire wall should come down, but, alas, the gallantry of the rescuers only resulted in most of them being killed and wounded, for the entire 50 foot wall at that moment fell with a crash, burying them many feet deep in red hot bricks, cinders, beams and ironwork. A chimney fell into the coffin store adjoining the lane, and killed a young boy who was removing coffins. A body of citizens got to work and dug out the killed and wounded, the job lasting over an hour. The killed were all badly crushed except one Higgins, who was felled by a blow on the temple. They number nine, as follows:—Richard Schowles, Michael Barry, William Perry and T. Higgins, firemen: Antoine Sandere, P. Hamel, Joseph Parker, Geo Lynch, foreman of Water Works, and Alderic Beauchamp, jeweller. The badly wounded numbered ten. Chief of Brigade Patton was flayed from head to foot, cut and bruised. He lies suffering great agony. John Livingstone, one of the Guardians, had his legs broken and was burned; a leg has since been amputated. Wm. Ferguson, hose maker, one leg broken, and badly hurt about the head. Israel Bishop, Charles Buies and J. Nolan, all burned and bruised. Benjamin Harrison, back broken. Ed. Stollery, an arm and legs broken. Chas. Reddy, skull fractured. Alfred Helton, badly hurt. Several of these must die. As a man was seen to leave the building about 3 a. m., and refused to say what he was doing there, grave suspicions are entertained that the fire is the work of incendiaries. The premises and stock were lightly insured, but the Inspector of Buildings had condemned the brickwork. Thousands of citizens have been to visit the ruins.

Midsummer Examination.

The Journal of Education contains the following regulations for the Midsummer Examinations for Admission to Collegiate Institutes and High Schools:—

The Admission Examination for Collegiate Institutes and High Schools will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday, the 3rd and 4th July.

The Intermediate Examination will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday 10th-13th July.

Candidates for admission are required to send their names to the Head Master by the 1st June.

The examination for Provincial First and Second Class Public School Teacher's Certificates will commence on Monday, 9th July, and the examination for County Third Class Certificates on Tuesday, the tions through the week.

Candidates are required to send their names to the Inspector by the 1st June.

The candidates for the Intermediate and for the Second Class Certificates will be examined on the same papers and at the same hours in the following subjects, viz:

English Grammar and Etymology; Geography; Dictation, Arithmetic; History; Algebra; Natural Philosophy, Euclid; English Composition, and Book-keeping.

But although the papers will be the same, the standard required for Second Class Certificates will be higher than for Intermediate, and papers will be provided for the Additional subjects for Second Class Certificates.

The following ... has also been issued regarding the examinations:

With ... to the additional subjects in ... History and Reading, as prescribed by Order in Council, approved 15th February last, the local examiners are authorized not to exact one-third of the marks allotted to each of these additional subjects, as the limit for passing, so that candidates who pass satisfactorily on other subjects, may not be rejected.

FEMALE PREACHERS.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—A few weeks ago you gave in your paper a report of a sermon preached in your town, by the Rev. V. Clementi, on the above subject. I am not fond of controversy, but I am fond of truth, and especially of Bible truth. I write, not so much to reply to the Rev. gentleman's sermon (which I think would not win many converts to his theory) as to attempt at least to show what is really the teaching of the Bible, on a subject which is receiving very considerable attention in the United States, and elsewhere. I think few will deny that it is a subject of no minor importance, affecting not only the position, privileges and duties of our Christian women who constitute perhaps two thirds of the membership of our churches; but affecting also in no small degree the cause of God, and the highest good of man, now and forever.

In order to ascertain what is the teaching of God's Word on this subject we must take, not merely one or two brief sentences and draw sweeping conclusions from them, but we must compare scripture with scripture and so seek to arrive at just conclusions.

Notice first the words of the Prophet: "I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh; and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy," &c., &c., Joel II, 28-29. We see the fulfilment in Gospel times, and the Prophetess "spake of him (Christ) to all them that looked for redemption in Jerusalem," Luke II, 33. That looks very much like preaching. Again the woman of Samaria preached, "Jesus the Messiah," most effectually to her townsmen. Did Jesus blame her for so doing? No, He stayed two days and followed up the good work, John IV, 28, &c. Then on the day of Pentecost the women as well as the men "were filled with the Holy Ghost, and began to speak with other tongues as the Spirit gave them utterance," Act. II. 4. This Peter said was a fulfilment of Joel's prophesy, and this was public speaking for Christ. Afterwards we read that the "virgins did prophesy," Acts XXI, 9. Again in I Cor. II, 13-16, Paul gives directions about women praying or prophesying. I think that most if not all Biblical scholars agree that in the New Testament prophesying does not always mean foretelling future events, but proclaiming or preaching God's revealed truth. These passages plainly show that some women were right in taking a very important part in the public exercise of the Church.

Now let us examine some passages that seem to present an opposite view. In 1st Cor. XIV, 34-35, Paul says, "Let your women keep silence in the Church for it is not permitted unto them to speak; but to be under obedience, as also saith the Law. And if they will learn anything, let them ask their husbands at home, for it is a shame for women to speak in a church. Again in 1st Tim. II. 11, 12 let the woman learn in silence with all subjection. But I suffer not a woman to teach, nor to usurpt authority over the man but to be in silence."

Are to understand that all women are here required to maintain absolute silence in the churches? surely not. That would flatly contradict the other portions of scripture referred to above. How far then may they properly go in using their voices in the sanctuary? Rev. Mr. Clementi would allow them to sing, pray or read, response in prayer and psalms, teach in the Sunday School &c., but not to preach, or teach publicly. But let us see if this is a fair interpretation of these passages. Paul was speaking about unbecoming appearance and disorderly proceedings in the church. He would put a stop to noisy arguments and strife of words. So he says God is not the author of confusion but of peace. Then he applies this especially to their women, as perhaps they especially needed it, and it was most unseemly for them to engage in public dispute with men. It was too Masculine, and too much like striving to usurp authority over men. Now we believe most heartily in orderly proceedings in the church; and we have no right to reverse God's law which puts man's authority above that of women; in fact I am persuaded that no genuine christian women would wish to reverse it. We understand these passages to mean that women should abstain from such speech as tends to disorder, or might be dictatorial, or in any way unbecoming the innate modesty and reserve of a true woman. I will venture one grammatical criticism (suggested by an article in the New Englander,) tending further to show that this is the true explanation of these verses. "It is not permitted unto them to speak; but to be under obedience," 1st Cor. XIV, 34. The word but in Greek as in English has two meanings, one is equal to a negative as "I came not to send peace but a sword", the other simply marks an exception as "He hath not grieved me but in part" 2nd Cor. II, 5., that is "except in part", again "they saw no man save Jesus only," save being the same word as but in the Greek. So in the passage, as it is not permitted! but, (that is except so as) to be under obedience". Then the meaning is that women are not to speak except so far as they can do so and maintain their natural and scriptural subordination, The same view is presented in 1st Tim. II. 11, 12 and agrees with the law as Paul says.

But what is there in all this to forbid a cultured and devoted woman, whose heart is aglow with love to Christ and souls, from speaking in an orderly and feminine manner, the simplest or the sublimest truths, to men or women who need to learn and are willing to learn? Thus we see how Paul's permission to speak and pray, in 1 Cor. 11: 3-16, is harmonized with his forbidding unbecoming speech and conduct in the 14th chapter of the same epistle. Thus the whole of the Bible teaching on this subject is harmonized with itself and with the mutual relationship of man and woman.

Only let women keep her womanliness, only let her dress and demeanour, and manner of speech be in keeping with her divinely appointed position in the family of mankind, and who shall forbid her from speaking for God's honor and man's good; I would to God that many more of our holy women would come to the rescue, and with all the Jesus-like gentleness, tenderness, and sympathy, possessed by souls filled with the spirit, would seek to make up somewhat for the sad slothfulness of so many men.

Yours, &c.,
W. C. WASHINGTON.

The Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, MAY 3, 1877.

Parliament was prorogued on Saturday.

R. LeBrun has a first-class Cutter, and guarantees a good fit. 17

The loss of the ice-man is already assuming a joyous expression.

If you want a real Stylish Suit of Clothes, go and leave your measure with H. LeBrun.

Concert.—The Mendelssohn Quintette Club of Boston will give a concert here on the 25th.

Gents who want to get some real fine Furnishing's should not fail to give H. LeBrun a trial.

The Weather is a little colder than it has been for some time, but on the whole favourable for spring labour.

For Readymade Clothing go to H. LeBrun, who has the largest stock in town. Good Tweed Suits for $10.00.

Advancing.—The price of flour has advanced and is now $6.00 per Barrel. The advance is attributed to the war in the East.

Bell Ringers.—The Peterborough Bell-ringers will play at a concert in the Music Hall, Port Hope, on the evening of the 24th of May.

Ye Blue Glass Mania.—Aspirants to fashion should at once embrace the opportunity of purchasing the "blue glass" hat, at Hymen's Hat Store.

Steamer Ontario.—Capt. Bottom will run the "Ontario" between Fenelon and Bridgenorth this season, leaving Fenelon at 7 a.m., and Bridgenorth at 2 p.m.

Legal Dinner.—Mr. Justice Burton entertained the members of the Bar at a dinner at the Huffman House on Tuesday evening. There was a good attendance.

Home Again.—The session at Ottawa having been brought to a close, Mr. Bertram has returned home. Mr. Hall remains a few days longer with some of his friends.

The Finance Committee of the town, and the town Commissioners held a meeting on Wednesday evening last, in reference to the town finances, but nothing definite is yet done.

Street Cleaning.—During the past week George, Hunter, and Simcoe streets have been cleaned, and the thorough manner in which the work has been done reflects credit on our efficient street and bridge inspector.

The Boy's Delight.—Now is the time when the average boy will dig worms in the morning, go fishing, and return in the afternoon with two chubs, a mud-cat, and the hook fastened in one of his fingers, or the seat of his pantaloons.

Housekeepers Attention.—I am now showing a complete assortment of New Lace Curtains, Pillow Cottons, Sheetings, Table Linens, Towels, and Naphins, at very low prices. Just received, choice Dried Apples, 12lbs for $1. W. J. Wallace, Lakefield.

Assizes.—The Assizes opened here on Tuesday, before Judge Burton. There are 4 criminal cases on the docket, and several civil cases. The civil cases are chiefly over land boundaries, and some of the property contested is not worth one half of the costs likely to be incurred.

Tenders Awarded.—The tenders for the supplying the corporation with lumber and cedar sawing for the ensuing year, was awarded to George Hilliard, Esq., his tender being considered the lowest in proportion to the quantity of lumber that would be required.

Vanished the Rambo.—A certan musical teacher vanished from Peterborough yesterday, taking with him money paid in advance for tuition. If this should come to his notice, he will please return the same by return post, in registered letter. Good-bye Professor!

New Dominion Monthly.—This is an old favourite with the Canadian public, and never comes without a feast of good things. The number before us, for May, is fully equal to any of its predecessors. Published by John Dougall & Son, Montreal. $1.20 per annum; 15 cents per copy.

Personal. At the Convocation of Queen's University, Kingston, held last Thursday, the degree of M. A. was conferred upon J. J. Bell, B. A., who has been a resident of this town for some time past. A. B. Hourigan, of Peterborough, and E. C. McNichol, of Norwood, at the same time took the degree of M. D.

Be Careful how You Buy.—It has now been proved that Mr. Elder's cheap sale of goods was genuine, and that his promises have been fully redeemed, which may be taken as a guarantee for the future. The best and newest goods will be given as usual, and the prices kept down to the lowest point, as heretofore.

Toronto & Ottawa Railway.—Major Boulton, of Lakefield, visited Madoc on Wednesday of last week and addressed a meeting the same evening, in the interest of the above named road. We understand that at the next session of the Hastings Council a sectional bonus will again be asked on behalf of this project.

We are requested to give notice that the foundation stone of St. Lukes Church, Ashburnham, will be laid on Ascension Day, Thursday, May 10th. Special services will be held at 3 p.m., after which a sermon, appropriate to the occasion, will be preached by Rural Dean Smithett. A collection will be taken up in aid of the building fund.

Entertainment.—A Musical and Literary entertainment, under the auspices of L. O. I. No. 49, will be held in the Orange Hall, this (Thursday) evening, at which a number of leading local amateurs will take part. Admission 15 cents; tickets may be had from the members of the association. Entertainment to commence at 8 p.m.

Belford's.—Belford's Monthly for May contains in addition to the serials a "Colonial Chapter in the History of American Education;" "Forest Rangers and Voyageurs, No. 2;" "Frank Mahogny Father Proof;" Current Literature, Music, poetry, etc., making up an excellent number. Publishers, Belford Bros., Toronto.

Open Air Concerts.—The firemen's band were out on the green on Friday evening last, and attracted considerable attention by their good playing. We believe it is their intention to continue their free open air promenade concerts during the summer, on Friday evenings. For the first two nights an entrance fee of five cents will be charged for the purchase of music stands and Lanterns.

Veneer Again. May will, on the whole, be more like a June month, just as April up to the 17th was more like May. Altogether the spring has been even more advanced than I predicted last November, and the "early dust on the roads" has been particularly well marked. I still hold to my views respecting a cold and wet midsummer, but now have pleasure in adding that the autumn of 1877 will be again open and fine, with a well marked Indian summer.

Spring Cleaning.—We are pleased to see that our citizens are taking such an active interest in the cleanliness of the town. Almost every one has commenced the clearing up their back yards; while not a few of our business men are brushing up the exterior of their business places throughout the town. This is right, and we trust that the work will go on until Peterborough shall be one of the cleanest—as well as the most beautiful—town in the province.

Advertising.—An exchange remarks that some merchants think if they make a good show in their windows, it takes the place of advertising in the newspapers. This is a great mistake. A large class of customers and a good class, have no time to spend lounging on the sidewalks, or looking into the windows. They know what they want, look into their paper to see where they can get it to the best advantage, and go straight there to trade, every time.

The Central Exhibition will be held this year at Lindsay during the week following the Provincial Exhibition at London. The Prize List, which is now being printed in pamphlet form at the office of the Victoria Warder, Lindsay, presents a rare opportunity to manufacturers and business men generally for advertising in its pages, as it will have a circulation of 5,000 extending through the entire district. Intending advertisers should send their orders to the Victoria Warder with as little delay as possible.

Rifle Association.—As previously announced a meeting was held in the Drill Shed on the 26th ult., for the purpose of reconstituting the County of Peterborough Rifle Association. From the spirit shown and views expressed, we may safely augur a successful future for the Association. The following are the officers elected for the ensuing year. President, Major H. C. Rogers; 1st Vice-President, Rev. V. Clementi; 2nd Vice-President, Lieut.-Col. Paul; Secretary and Treasurer, F. Macnachtan; Council, G. C. Rogers, J. E. Hammond and Dr. R. W. Bell.

Gymnastic Entertainment.—We understand that several of the friends of Mr. Ormiston Dixon, restrictquot, of this town, intend giving him a grand complimentary concert on Friday evening next. Mr. Dixon is a young man of ability, and his kindness in assisting at the various entertainments given here, will no doubt be rewarded by an overflowing house that evening. The fact that the management of the concert is in the hands of a very popular person, will, no doubt, ensure the greatest success. The entertainment will "take place in Bradburn's Opera House.

Concert. The Musical Society's Second Concert was given in Bradburn's Opera House, to a rather small audience. The programme was the same as that of the preceding Thursday evening, with the exception that Miss Hanlan's did not, owing to severe indisposition, take part. The various pieces were very fairly sustained, a slight improvement being noticed in the chorus singing. Mr. Heathfield deserves much credit for his unwearied labours in the divine art. We trust that the weather will be more propitious at the Musical Society's next concert when we have no doubt the entertainment will meet with that patronage which it will undoubtedly deserve.

Peterborough Inventors.—Among the patents lately recorded are two granted to persons in this County. On the 1st of March Mr. Thomas Elliott of this town was granted a patent for a well and post-hole boring machine. The right covers the formation of the cutters as combined with the pods of the machine, the elliptical shape of the pods, by reason of which the auger can be raised without suction, and the combination of the runners of the apparatus. Mr. Jas. Dyer, on the 9th of February, obtained a patent for his improvement in the application of the pedal power, covering an ingenious combination of levers whereby there is exerted on a double axle, a reciprocating motion in which the horizontal as well as the vertical pressure of the foot is utilized.

Opening Day. Introduced some years ago, the spring opening of the Millinery Emporiums has now become a recognized event among our sappliers of ladies goods. One of the foremost of these is Dixon Bros., whose opening day was on Thursday last. Of course we cannot be expected to decide in detail the beauties to be seen there; but this we do know the various styles of hats, bonnets, mantles, etc., are admirably got up, so far as the combination of colours is concerned, and the styles are models of elegance. No lady can see the spring designs which the Messrs. Dixons have just put in display without feeling a desire to be "arrayed like one of these." Courteous attendants are on hand to see to the wants of visitors and customers, and all are welcome, whether they buy or not.

Installation of Officers.—At an emergent Convocation of Corinthian Royal Arch Chapter No. 36 G.R.C., held at the Chapter Room, George Street Peterborough, on Tuesday, April 21th, the following officers were installed for the ensuing year by R. E. Comp. J. H. Helm, G. Supt. Ost., D., M. E. Comp. Chas. D. Macdonald, P. G. Z., and V. Ex. Comp. John O'Donnell, P. G. S., as: - V. Ex. Comp. R. H. Green, Z; V. Ex. Comp. J. O'Donnell, P. Z; Ex. Comp. H. Rush, H; Ex. Comp. R. Elder, J.; Comp. W. Paterson, Jr., S. E.; Comp. J. E. Hammond, S. N.; Comp. H. C. Winch, Treasurer; Comp. E. H. D. Hall, P. S.; Comp Geo. Munro, S. S.; Comp. D. Cameron, J. S.; Comp. T. B. Collins, D. of C.; Comps. H. B. Merrick, Geo. L. Mitchell, G. L. Sheppie and Dr. Harrison, M. of V.; Comps R. E. Birdsall, Sw'd B.; Comp. John Boyd, Sw'd B.; Comps. D. A. Flemming and John Hull, Stewards; Comp. J. A. Jardine, Janitor.

Personal.—It is always a pleasing duty to chronicle the success of Peterborough Boys, whether they remain amongst us or remove to other places. Many of our readers will remember Mr. W. D. Russel who formerly taught school in this County, and they will be pleased to learn that he is pursuing a very successful course of study at the Presbyterian College, Montreal. Mr. Russel was successful this year against all competors, in obtaining the first scholarship of $100 open to all students of the 2nd Theological year, where there were competitors from Queens and other universities. The examination include both hellor and pass work of the session. Last year Mr. Russell obtained the same scholarship, in the first theological year. This year he also obtained 2nd prize in Rhetoric and Elocution. Mr. Russell is preparing for the ministry and we hope that his future will be as successful as his present course, and that he will not only be learned in all that concerns his profession, but useful in the church in which he has allied himself.

Beatty & Clare's Book-keeping.—This is the title of a work on the above subject, just issued from the press by Adam Miller & Co., Toronto. The authors are S. G. Beatty, of the Ontario Commercial College, Belleville, and S. Clare, master of Book-keeping and penmanship, in the Normal School, Toronto. The work is neatly printed, doing credit to the publishers. The manner in which the authors have placed the whole range of accounts, by single and double entry, before the student is very simple, plain, and practical. The terms in use in keeping accounts are plainly defined, rendering them easily understood by the average student, and the simple manner in which the different real and fictitious items which enter into a set of merchants accounts, are so treated and explained as to make clear the understanding, robbing them of the technical difficulties so generally embarrassing to the student in works on the subject. This neat little treatise cannot fail to become popular, and must attain to an extensive use in the High and Public schools of Ontario, if not also in the Dominion. Mr. Menzies is prepared to supply teachers, pupils and accountants on the usual terms.

Brevity Writing.—A certain brevity writer has thought proper to note that the practice of amiability by one Stefano Quilici would not conflict with his profession by the latter gentleman. Quilici begs to inform the first mentioned brevity dasher that inasmuch as he lays no claim to the possession of the grace in question, it is entirely irrevalent whether he practices it or not. Had Stefano the graceful figure, the fine, dashing, gentlemanly deportment, the Apollo-Belvidearan features, and that crown of all, the Parisian Plug Hat, (with a small circumference, equal to that of an ordinary cart wheel,)—had Stefano Quilici all these advantages, he would, no doubt, not have to borrow the appearance of a man in order to practice amiability; but being but a common, plain, blunt, working man, who has to toil daily for his living, he cannot of himself find the practice of amiability as easy or as natural as the Brevity Writer does. Stefano would take it as a great favor if he could have the use of the blook on which the S. W. has had his felt hat shaped to order. Possessed of such another piece of head gear, Stefano has no doubt that his appearance would suggest such a look of muldoon-such an air of gentleness, that even B. D. himself could find no fault.

A History of the Intercolonial Railway.—The above work from the pen of Mr. A. Fleming has just been published by the Dawson Bros., Montreal. It gives a complete history of the work from its inception to completion. No man is better qualified to give this than Mr. Fleming, who was chief engineer of the work, and consequently intimately acquainted with the details of the whole scheme. This has been given minutely by the author. The letter press is faultless, and the cuts giving diagrams of the most difficult parts of the now celebrated railway, afford the reader an opportunity of examining details that can only be given with difficulty, so as to be understood by the cursory reader. It is also interspersed with maps of the Provinces, which affords a view of the direct routes, either constructed or proposed, from the Atlantic. It contains valuable comparisons of distances, and times of the different existing routes by sea and land to New York, Montreal, Chicago and New Orleans. These comparisons are favourable to the Canadian railway and water system. The work is also valuable for its exhibition of the increase of the material growth and prosperity of Canada, and should be read by every one who desires to have an exact knowledge of the maritime Provinces and the West, and of the Railway system of the Eastern Provinces in particular.

FIRE.

On Saturday morning, between one and two o'clock, the old machine shops of the Midland Railway, at the station here, were discovered to be on fire. The alarm was given, but before the firemen could get their engines ready the flames had made such rapid progress that all they could do was to try and save adjoining property. The fire originated in a building were no fire had been for years. In this building Mr. Carnegie had a large number of Hayrakes stowed away, made by J. A. Delaney & Sons, we understand. The building was the entirety of wood and very dry, and being an extension of the engine house, and also built a few feet from the general store house and station, the whole buildings were soon one mass of flames, and the heat was so intense that nothing could be done to save some cars that were on the road between the buildings. The house on Charlotte street, occupied by James Butler, was also consumed, but we are glad to learn that Mr. Butler saved his stuff, generally. The employees were fortunate enough to save all the books and papers in the station house and also the telegraphic instruments. But all the goods in the baggage office and freight shed were entirely consumed.

Several merchants who had not been insolvate enough to have their goods removed to their own shops are also losers to a considerable extent.

Preserveau's Hotel, just west of the railway track, was completely consumed. The building was owned by Mr. John Delaney.

The dwelling house of Mr. C. Henderson was destroyed, also a brick building belonging to Mr T. Leonard and a rough-cast building belonging to Mrs. Henry. Mr. McBain's dwelling fortunately escaped without much injury, although for a time in great danger. Mr. S. White's residence also escaped undejured.

The following is a rough estimate of the losses and insurances effected on each.

Midland Railway Co'y buildings, cars and other stuff, about $22,000. Insurance on the buildings, $9,000, in the Royal Canadian.

J. Delaney's hotel, loss $2,000. Insured for $1,000 in the Royal Canadian.

Preserveau's furniture in hotel, insured in Royal Canadian, $1,200.

Rev R. Macleonan's furniture etc., ready to be shipped to Prince Edward's Island, was consumed. Insured in the Canada Fire and Marine for $1,500.

Mr. Henderson's dwelling, loss $1,000. Insured for $700 in the Western, London and Globe. He had also $200 on furniture.

Implements owned by Mr. Carnegie, loss $2,000 to $30,000. Insured $4,000 in the Scottish Provincial and $4,000 in the North British.

Mr. Leonard's loss, $1200; insured in British American, $600.

Mr. McBain's loss is put at about $25.

Thos. W. Robinson & Company lost 22 barrels of Sugar, and other stuff worth $1200.

Mr. Lumsden of Dummer is reported to have lost 2 Organs. The Grangers too have come in for a share of the loss as well as others.

Mason & Bradburn also have some $200 or $300 in goods. But the names of all the losers and the several amounts have not yet been fully ascertained. The loss is little less than $25,000; but this is covered by insurance to the amount of $22,000 to $25,000.

The worst feature of the whole disaster is, that it was the work of some incendiary who wished either to profit by the conflagration, or to be revenged on some one who had perhaps provoked his ill will. It is a sad reflection to think that there are villains amongst us who would be guilty of such an outrage. It is said that some man was seen running south ward just as the fire was discovered, but for this we cannot find corroborative proof. Had the scoundrel been caught and well lashed, he well deserved it, and we trust that the Railway Co'y. and the Town Council will offer sufficient reward to induce an accomplice, if he had such a character, to reveal the guilty party and have him brought to justice.

The applications were received.

ACCOUNTS.

Accounts were presented from

J. R. Stratton	$ 5 25
R. Romaine	12 00

Referred to the finance Committee.

FINANCE REPORT.

Mr. Shaw, chairman of the Finance committee reported recommending the payment of the following accounts.

R Romaine	$ 13 15
H. Best	4 50
Geo. Tanner	2 37

And that the accounts of W. H. Robertson & Co., for advertising, and that of T. Fitzgerald for repairs, were returned to the secretary for want of proper vouchers.—The report was received and adopted.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

Mr. McClelland chairman of the special committee, reported on the necessity of providing more school accommodation for the primary department of our school, and stated that having inspected the site and proposed plan of Building, recommended the adoption of the same at such sum as may seem reasonable to the Board, and suggested that specifications be prepared and tenders asked for the completion of the same, as early as possible.

Mr. Dennistoun spoke for some time and was satisfied with the site that the committee had decided upon for the erection of the new school.

Mr. Edwards was opposed to the site, and said that it was too far away, and recommended the erection of the Building further north.

Mr. Shaw declared that he did not approve of the site on account of the uncovered pond close by.

Mr. McClelland said that it was primary accommodation that was needed so as to lessen the attendance at the south ward school, and the Central school, and also to have others attend our schools, who now attend none at all.—The report was received and adopted.

STANDING COMMITTEE REPORT.

Mr. Edwards as chairman of the standing committees recommended the appointing of James Scanlon Esq., in the place of Mr. Ming, who had left.—The report was received.

FIRE.

The committee specially appointed to communicate with other municipalities as to the rendering of pecuniary aid to the Collegiate Institute and Public schools reported that they waited upon the committee of the whole of Ashburnham, Otonabee and Smith and received the answer that they would consider it. The committee in view of the fact that one third of the sum has already been recommended that the grant of Two Hundred and Fifty Dollars voted by the County Council towards the maintenance of the Collegiate Institute in consideration of the [illegible] and that the [illegible] free of charge to accepted, borough be [illegible] the county of Peterday of January next, and until the first should at once be payable that a rate from outside the county of pupils attending the Collegiate Institute enough that such pupils be required to pay monthly rate of One Dollar per month in advance such a rate to take effect from the first of May. That all pupils attending the Collegiate Institute should after the first day of January next, be charged a monthly rate payable in advance each for resident pupils of fifty cents per month, and outside pupils one Dollar per month, and that after the first of June all pupils attending the public schools who are now residents should be subject to a monthly rate payable in advance of fifty cents per month.—The report was adopted.

Moved by Mr. McClelland seconded by Mr. Pentland,—That the Treasurer is requested to pay any salary outstanding due Mr. Ming.

Messrs. Dennistoun & Shaw were opposed to the paying of the amount, he having broken the rules of the Board, and said that this Board was not liable for any debts contracted by him in town: and wondered if any of the members of the Board were infringing on the Independence of Parliament Act.—The motion was lost.

Moved by Mr. Edwards seconded by Mr. Dennistoun,—That the Secretary be and is hereby instructed and requested to make the necessary application to the clerk of Douro so as to secure the collection of the school tax in the 11th school section of Douro forming a union school section with the Town, and to pay out the same to our Treasurer.—Caried.

Mr. Loch, one of the visitors for the past month, reported verbally that he had visited the schools, and the South Ward School was in good order, but crowded. The Collegiate Institute was also in good order and everything was clean. The Auburn school was not in such a good state, as there was a very bad smell in the building and it did not appear to be properly ventilated. There was considerable wood in the cellar which may be the cause of it. He said that the Principal had invited him to hear the German class and he was completely astonished at the correct pronouncation of the language. He thought some of them could beat his boy and that was saying a good deal.

Moved by Mr. Dennistoun, seconded by Mr. White,—That the communication from the teachers asking for increase of salaries be referred to the Committee on Appointments.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Shaw,—seconded by Mr. Robertson,—That the Special Committee appointed at last meeting of this Board on school site, be instructed to obtain specifications from J. E. Belcher, and ask tenders for the Ward School and report at the next regular meeting of this Board.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Dennistoun, seconded by Mr. White,—That the Town Council be requested to instruct their Treasurer to pay over to the Treasurer of this Board any school moneys that may have been received by the Town Treasurer from School Section No. 11, Township of Douro, being a union school section with the town.—Carried.

On motion the applications for increase of salaries were referred to the Committee on Appointments.

The Board then adjourned.

SPRING ASSIZES.

Before His Lordship Justice Burton.

The Spring Assizes for the County of Peterborough began in the Court House on Tuesday afternoon. The Crown business is being looked after by Mr. Henderson, of Belleville. Mr. Horton is the official stenographer. The Grand Jury was composed of:—Francis Birdsall, James Blackwell, Coleman Blewett, Robt. A. Brown, William Condon, T. Caskey, T. Cahill, W. Comrie, J. Cook, G. Elliott, H. Ferguson, I. Garbutt, W. Hamilton, J. Hope, A. R. Kidd, W. B. Kelly, W. Moher, J. Moloney, G. McKeiver, D. McIntyre, A. Nelson, H. Oliver, E. Sullivan, A. Tully.

The following is a list of the cases that are to be tried:—

B. R.—McAuliffe vs. McAuliffe. Wellar for plf. Dumble for deft.—[Judge.]

B. R.—Fawcett vs. Elliott. Edmison for plf. and Dumble for deft.

B. R.—Hunter vs. Birney. Hatton for plf. Scott for Deft.

B. R.—Patterson vs. Smith. Moore for plf. Grover for deft

C. P.—Burnham vs. Shorley, et al. Burnham for plf. Smith for deft.

B. R.—Erskine vs. Morton. Hatton for plf. Moore for deft.

B. R.—Brennan vs. Aetna Life Insurance Co. Armour for plf. and Korr for deft.

All the cases except the first were Jury cases.

Mr. Foreman and Gentleman of the Grand Jury,—I am pleased to find that the calendar here, as at all the other assizes on this Circuit, contains but a small number of criminal charges. The most serious of them is one of manslaughter. There are also one of assault with intent to commit rape, and one of of manslaughter. I gather from the information I have received that in the first of these cases a quarrell arose between the prisoner and the deceased—that the prisoner either pushed or struck the deceased, causing him to fall, and that he was picked up dead. It is, I believe, alleged that the deceased was a man of dissipated habits, and that the injury was not of a character ordinarily to take life, but that the immediate cause of death was the abnormal condition of the deceased. This would furnish no defence, but is at all events not a matter into which you have any right to inquire. Your duty is simply to enquire whether the death of the unfortunate man followed from the act of the prisoner. Every homicide is prima facie assumed to be murder, but in cases like the present the law kindly appreciating the infirmities of human nature extenuates the offence committed and mercifully hesitates to put upon the same footing of guilt the cool deliberate act and the result of hasty passions. If therefore you find that the prisoner struck the blow not by mere accident or in self defence there will be that reasonable and probable cause for putting him on his trial which is all that is required on the part of grand Juries and it will be for him to urge as a matter of defence the condition of the deceased at the time of the occurrence if advised that it constitutes a legal answer to the charge.

Without prejudging in any way the second charge, that of an assault with intent to overmuch a rape—or offering any opinion upon the case to be presented for your consideration, (for I know nothing of the particulars) I would merely say that I have reason to believe that the charge is much more frequent than is the actual offence, and it is one in the investigation of which Jurors cannot exercise too great a degree of caution. It is one of those charges which is very difficult for the accused to meet, and as it generally depends on the direct testimony of the prosecutrix alone it is of the utmost importance that whilst no unreasonable suspicions should be indulged in against her you should be cautious in scrutinizing her testimony and guarding yourselves from the influences of sympathy on her behalf. Her previous character is an essential element in such enquiry with a view to testing her credibility and coming to a conclusion as to whether it is sufficiently reliable to warrant your placing the accused upon his trial—and only for that purpose—as even if the woman were a common strumpet she is still under the protection of the law, and if satisfied that the offence has been committed in the particular instance without her consent in the presentation is sustainable. But the previous conduct and character of the prosecutrix are circumstances to be considered in judging whether her evidence is entitled to belief at all. In the present case no rape is alleged to have been committed, and therefore the prosecutrix will necessarily be deprived of the means of furnishing such corroborative evidence as is sometimes producible where the offence has been actually perpetrated, but you may, nevertheless, look for corroboration of her testimony in such facts as that she made complaint immediately after the time when it is alleged to have occurred, and (if there were other parties in the house or vicinity) that she made cries which were heard. As the accused has no opportunity of making his defence you will naturally require strong corroborative evidence before plac a charge. has trial for so disgraceful

The only re[illegible] larceny which pr[illegible]here is one of courts in such a variety before the difficult to offer any explanation that it is guidance without a knowledge of the circumstances of the particular case. The investigation is, however, usually very simple one, and in cases of difficulty it is always your province to apply for legal advice to the learned Counsel for the Crown, and I need not add that the Court itself will be ready at all times to render you any assistance. I may state to you in general terms that larceny consists of the wrongful or fraudulent taking or carrying away by any person of the mere personal goods of another from any place without any color or right of excuse for the act with intent to deprive the owner permanently of his property and make it his own without the consent of such owner.

I must congratulate you gentlemen that your duties are likely to be of so light a nature and the County upon its freedom from crime and trusting to be in a position to relieve you from your attendance at a very early day, I will now request you to retire to your room and consider the Bills which the Crown Counsel may lay before you.

The Grand Jury then retured and the first case—McAuliffe vs. McAuliffe was proceeded with, the Judge himself trying it without the assistance of a Jury. This was an action of ejectment. There was an equitable defence raised involving a subsisting mortgage. It took some two hours to get through with the suit nothing of interest to the general readers being evolved verdict was rendered for the plaintiff.

The Grand Jury brought in "true bills" in the following cases.

Regina vs. Thomas Clarkson—Manslaughter.

Regina vs. John Alcorn—Larceny.

The case adjourned at 5.20 p.m.

WEDNESDAY.

The court was occupied this morning with the case of B. R. Fawcett vs. Elliott Mr. Edmison (of the firm of Edmison & Wood) and Mr. Ector Cameron Esq. Q.C. for the plaintiff and Mr. Dumble for the defendant. This was an action of trespass. It involved an inquiry as to a certain boundary line. It also brought in the question as to whether the defendant had obtained a statutory title, under the Limitations Act, by length of Possession.

Judgement was reserved.

The Grand Jury beg leave to report

That they have examined the Jail and find every clean and well kept—no complaints being made on the behalf of the prisoners.

They have disposed of all the cases laid before them of the Crown Officer.

They regret to have to report that most all the cases brought before them are directly traceable to the excessive use of alchoholic liquore.

They beg to return their thanks to the Crown Counsel for his assistance in the performance of their duties.

They beg also to congratulate your Lordship upon your elevation to the Bench, upon this your first Judicial visit to this County.

They feel it also a matter for mutual congratulation that so little crime has been brought before our notice, and trust this freedom from crime may continue in the future,

[Signed] J. BIRDSALL,
Peterboro', May 3, 77. Foreman.

The prisoner George Mills on being arraigned for assault pleaded "not guilty."

The Grand Jury brought in a true bill against George Saunders for larceny, and in the case against William MacDonald found "no bill."

The case of Hunter vs. Birnie was then opened.

Consumption Cured!

An old physician, retired from active practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India Missionary the formula of a Vegetable Remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Catarrh, and all throat and Lung Affections: also a Positive and Radical Cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having thoroughly tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, feels it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a conscientious desire to relieve human suffering, he will send FREE OF CHARGE, to all who desire it, this receipt, with full directions for preparing and successfully using. Sent by return mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper.

DR. W. C. STEVENS,
Box 86, BROCKVILLE, O.

GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED SPRUCE GUM,

—FOR—

Coughs, Colds, Bronchial and all Throat Affections.

The Gum which exudes from the Red Spruce tree is, without doubt, the most valuable native Gum for Medicinal purposes.

Its remprkable power in relieving certain severe forms of Bronchitis, and its almost specific effect in curing obstinate hacking Coughs, is now well known to the public at large. In this Syrup (carefully prepared at low temperature), containing a large quantity of the finest picked Gum in complete solution, all the Tonic Expectorant, Balsamic and Anti-Spasmodic effects of the Red Spruce Gum are fully preserved. For sale at all Drug Stores. Price, 25 cents per bottle.

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

CATARRH.

Five Years' Sickness Cured by Four Bottles of Constitutional Catarrh Remedy.

Pain in Shoulders, Back and Lungs, an Droppings in Throat Disappear.

ST. ARMAND, P. Q. Sept. 12, 1876.

MR. T. B. HARDING

Dear Sir:—Being desirous that others may know something of the merits of your CONSTITUTIONAL CATARRH REMEDY, I wish to inform you what it has done for me. I am twenty-nine years old, and had been out of health for about five years. I had employed three or four different doctors, and tried various medicines, without receiving any permanent benefit, but continued rather to grow worse, until last fall, when I had become so bad as to be unable to do an hour's work at a time. Had severe soreness and pain under the shoulder blades and through the shoulders, with very little sleep, and a feeling in my right lung as though there was a weight bearing it down, with occasional dropping in the throat and down upon the lungs. Such was my condition when I commenced to take your Catarrh Remedy one bottle of which eased my pains and gave me an improved appetite, and after taking four bottles I was restored to health so as to be able to endure hard and continued labor, such as chopping and clearing land, at which I have been engaged the past season. My recovery I attribute solely, with God's blessing, to the use of your Catarrh Remedy.

Yours truly HENRY SNIDER,
Price $1 per bottle. For sale by all Druggists.

READ CAREFULLY.

SAMUEL OSBORNE, Sophiasburg, says—"I was affected with Dyspepsia for nearly four years, my lungs becoming affected towards the last. I was induced to try the "Shoshoness Remedy." After using three or four bottles I felt much better, and gained strength rapidly, my health improved steadily and rapidly, and when I had taken three or four bottles more, I was quite restored to health and strength, and have experienced better health than for forty years before. I had been under the treatment of a number of physicians before, but never received any material aid until I used your remedy."

A. MCKAY, Trobe, N. S., says "he was very bad with Liver Complaint, but used the "Shoshonees Remedy," and in a month was as well as he had ever been in his life. I am now in business and wish you to send me three dozen by steamer.

A. WOOD, Consecon, says:—"That he has tried the "Remedy" for Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia with great success. I have also used the "Shoshonees Pills," and find that they are as good as any I ever tried.

Rev. JOHN SCOTT says—"Mr. McKenzie Boating suffered from an attack of rheumatism, and was unable to move without help but after taking a few bottles of the 'Shoshonees" was able to walk as well as ever." Price of the Remedy in pint bottles $1; Pills 25 cents a box.

WHAT THEY SAY OF IT? A FEW FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.—There are but few preparations of medicines which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people for any great length of time. One of these is Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil. Read the following and be convinced:—Thos. Robinson, Farnham Centre, P. Q., writes, "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for the last ten years, and have tried many remedies without any relief, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and since then have had no attack of it. I would recommend it to all."—J. H. Earl, Hotel Keeper, West Shefford, P.Q., writes, "I have been troubled with liver complaint for several years, and have tried different medicines with little or no benefit, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which gave me immediate relief, and I would say that I have used it since with the best effect. No one should be without it. I have tried it on my horses in cases of cuts, wounds, etc., and think it is equally as good for horses as for man."—A. Mayhew Merchant, Warkworth, writes, "I have sold some hundreds of bottles of Eclectric Oil, and it is pronounced by the public, 'one of the best medicines they have ever used;' it has been wonderful in healing and relieving pain, sore throats, etc., and is worthy of the greatest confidence."—Joseph Rusan, Township Percy writes, "I proceeded to try Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lame knee which troubled me for three or four years, and I never found anything like it for curing lameness. It is a great public benefit."—A. M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes, "For myself I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which no regular remedy could cure. Mr. Hughes of this place induced me to buy Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and before one bottle was used I was cured. It is a most wonderful medicine. Sold by all medicine dealers Price, 25 cents.

A WONDERFUL REFORM IN FANNING MILLS.

Farmers wanting to purchase a First Class Fanning Mill should call on

MINORGAN & ELLIOTT

AND GET ONE OF THEIR

"FARMERS FRIEND."

They are the best and cheapest Fanning Mills in the Market, and clean from 60 to 100 bush. of Wheat, ready for the market, in an hour, and does not throw the large grain into the tailings. We have received a large number of Testimonials from different Peterborough Farmers who have used our Mills. They will speak for themselves:—

Greystock P.O., Otonabee, Mar. 12, 1877—
MESSRS. & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—This is to certify that I have given the "Farmers Friend" Mill a fair trial, and have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion it is one of the best Mills now in use for cleaning grain for seed or market.
Yours etc., J. SHUTTLEW.

Otonabee, March 21, 1877.
MESSRS. & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—This is to certify that I have given your "Farmers Friend" Mill a fair trial, and have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion it is one of the best Mills now in use for cleaning grain for seed or market.
Yours etc., J. ROBERTSON.

Belmont Grove, Peterboro, March 12, 1877.
MESSRS. & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—I have tested your "Farmers Friend" Mill and find that it works well. I have had out all my small seeds out of grain and have got a splendid sample. I will recommend your Mill to my neighbours. This is all they want to know.
Yours etc., T. H. WAGNER.

Smith, 5th March, 1877.
MESSRS. & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—I take pleasure in recommending your "Farmers Friend" Mill to the public. I have never had, and I have fanned out of what was called the best Mill in the country.
Yours etc., [illegible]

Peterboro, March 9th, 1877.
This is to certify that we have owned Minorgan's Mill two years, and it is the best Mill we have ever had. We can recommend it to the public.

SINGING CHURCH NOTICES.

On Sunday, R. P. Parker, in the Christian Church, began that church notices, which are in rhyme, and very service, should be sung or read, and are given out from the desk during the service. He has been in the habit of giving such notices, on certain occasions, for some time past, but they may be considered the inauguration of all choir. Here are some examples given by the

R. M.
"The deacon of this church
And the committee, too,
Will meet on Monday night.
Grave matters to review.
A full attendance is desired,
And is most urgently required.
L. M.
On Thursday evening will be held.
The weekly gathering for prayer;
The pastor feels himself impelled
To urge the brethren to be there."
S. M.
"The Busy Bees will meet
On Friday evening next;
Young gentlemen to tea at six.
They eagerly expect."
C. M.
"The Ladies' Sewing Circle meets
On Saturday p. m.;
All garments for the Mission Box
May then be sent to them."
CHANT.
"The Cold Water Lodge of Good Templars' Number two,
will hold a festival and fair on Tuesday evening.
Soda water, ice cream, and fancy articles will be sold.
All friends of temperance are cordially invited."

SPRING ASSIZES.

THURSDAY.

Before Mr. Justice Burton.

HUNTER vs. BIRNEY.—This case occupied the attention of the Court from 4 o'clock p. m. of Wednesday to half past 2 o'clock p. m. to-day. The suit was brought to ascertain the true boundary lines between the properties of the plaintiff and the defendant. After a very tedious examination, and cross-examination, of several witnesses, during which the practice of surveyors, in running compass lines, blazing trees, &c., was fully given in detail. His Lordship, before whom alone the trial was, had reserved judgment until he had read the evidence more fully, as he was not clear whether there was evidence to support "leave and license." The case after the evidence was ended, was very ably argued pro and con by Mr. Scott for Birney, and by Mr. Armour for Hunter. The verdict was given for plaintiff. The criminal docket was then taken up, and Mr. Clarkson was placed in the dock on the charge of having killed one, David Ray, on the 14th of December last, in the township of Smith. Clarkson was acquitted.

FRIDAY.

THE QUEEN vs. MILLS.—In this case there were two counts in the indictment—the first charging the prisoner with an indecent assault with intent to commit rape—the second count being one for common assault. The evidence of the prosecutrix not establishing a case even for the latter count, the Judge withdrew the case from the consideration of the jury, and found the prisoner "not guilty."

THE QUEEN vs. SHOULDICE.—This was a charge of larceny, alleged to have been committed on the 19th of March last, in the Township of Smith, whereby one Daniel Burgess was robbed of a pocket book containing seventy dollars.

DANIEL BURGESS being sworn, said: I live in Smith, 4th concession, east half of 1, in this county. Recollect the 19th March last; on that day (Monday) was in Peterborough, transacting a good bit of business; drank two glasses there on that day. When I was prepared to start home I went into Tom. Chamber's store and purchased a half gallon of whiskey; was then ready to start for home in the evening. Started on the road and was overtaken by young Mr. Brownlee, and was invited by him to take a ride. We took a short turn in the third concession, and as I was passing Simpson's farm I said I would go in and stay all night. "Oh, no!" says Brownlee, "I am going past your door." Brownlee left me down at my door, and I then wished him "good night." Went towards my cottage, past the barn, was about half-way on the road to the house. Had a pocket-book on my person containing $70. Got $30 from a tenant of mine for rent, and the rest from Mr. Menzies. Had not taken it out to look at it, for I was sure the money was in it. Saw it that same day when I was leaving home for Peterborough in the morning; Know I had it on my person with the money in it that night. Was, as I said, half-way to the cottage; looked and saw six stout chaps coming in the gate for me. Very likely they smelled the whiskey. (Laughter.) As soon as I saw them I was paralyzed with fear. Thought there was something up. Thought that that hour, between 9 and 10 o'clock, showed that they had no good intentions. First man that came up was George Shouldice. Gave him the jug. Knew every one of the party. (Witness here named them, and in such a serio-comic way that the Court and the audience was fairly convulsed with laughter.) Stepped to get upon the verandah along the door. George (the prisoner) was keeping close to me. Managed to give him the keys to open the door, these had come off my person and were in the cutter. Stood and did not want to go in on account of the strangers. After a little while I saw my nephew John. He had been working with Andwew Tully. Was glad to see John come. I told him to open the door. He and I went in, George following behind with the jug. We got inside. The house was dark. My nephew lit the lamp and struck up a fire, and after the house got warm I sat beside him. It is alleged that cards were played but I did not see them. Asked for a drink. My nephew took a cup and gave me about two tablespoonfuls of liquor. George wanted to fill it full for me to drink, but my nephew would not allow him. Tasted it. Took a mouthful. Did not drink all that George had poured out for me. After a little while I told the party I did not want their company; says I "Boys, be off! be off!" The whiskey had not begun to effect me. Speaking to the boys I said, "There are five pounds reward for convicting any one who put in a dead dog in my window, and carried off the ladder." Had previously put down my pocket book on the table. As soon as I turned round the pocket book was gone. There was seventy dollars surely in the pocket book. Know what I was doing. Geo. Shouldice was nearest to me. (The witness here explained how the pocket book was taken, and created much merriment.) George took that pocket book. He is the man that was nearest to me. The pocket book was gone. Heard the some of his (Shouldice's) hand passing away with the pocket book. Shouldice went out. Says I "He's gone, and he has my pocket book." With that I went out and cupped him (Shouldice) at the corner of the house outside, about three and a half to four feet from the door—close Hatton. Gave evidence before Mr. of the house Mr. Magistrate. (A map witness.) Saw ness here explained to the house and the manner of going out of the house.) Went saw him outside he was around sideways. Spoke to him. Caught right up against him and put my hand on his shoulder saying: "George you have my pocket book." He came into the house with me. Addressing those inside he said: "Boys, Burgess says he lost his pocket book." He then searched some of their persons but found nothing. When going out for home they had what I would call a dog fight, on the floor. They all went away except one man, Jack Keeves. He was not drunk, he was sober. He did not stop there all night. "Come," says I, "come Jack and jump on your feet and clear off, I want to go to bed." He replied: "I will stop as long as I please, and there is not a man here fit to put me out." After a little while in came Jack Fowler, one of the parties. He and Jack Keeves had a few words together. I heard Fowler say; "Daniel, don't be uneasy, you will get your pocket book. After that he took away Keeves, and that ended Monday's proceedings. (Laughter.) On Tuesday morning I woke up my nephew to come and make a general search. I found fresh tracks in the snow near the door that morning. My nephew went out first, and after a little he called out; "Uncle, here is the pocket book." I looked at it and exclaimed: "John the pocket book is robbed." Here is the pocket book. (Showing the same to the Court.) There is a quarter in it now. (Laughter.) It's the book the $70 was in. That day passed. (Tuesday the 20th.) That night when my nephew and I were going to

WILL BRITAIN BE DRAWN INTO WAR?

The chief point of interest to Canadians connected with the war between Russia and Turkey is a consideration of the question as to whether England may not be drawn into the difficulty. Her policy is undoubtedly one of non-intervention; but it may be that she cannot long carry out that policy. While the affairs of Turkey have been since the Treaty of Paris conducted in a manner to forfeit to a great extent the sympathy of the powers that united in her defence against Russia twenty years ago, there are certain interests involved in which Britain has a lively interest. In spite of her associations she is not seeking territorial aggrandizment, it is to be doubted if Russia's repeated efforts to stir up strife in the Turkish provinces, and her former invasions of the country mean less than a step toward the attainment of a seaport on the south. Russia's greatest need is a free outlet by water, and every advance southward increases her chances to obtain it, and the temptation grows to strive for it. With such a prize even before her armies, it is not likely the Russian word will restrain them—that word which has been so often broken as to be now a very type of untrustworthyness. To represent this war as undertaken in the interests of Christianity is rather too anomalous to be recognized as a strict fact including the whole truth and nothing but the truth. At the beginning of the difficulty it was quite common to hear popular expression in favour of driving the Mohammedans out of Europe, and confining the worship of Islam to Asia and part of Africa. But this war is evidently not undertaken for the making of an entirely Christian Europe, else why the large Russian army invading Asiatic Turkey? Is it merely to gain such a position as to hinder aid coming to the Turks from their Mohammedan brethern farther east? The reason is as questionable as the possibility of preventing the advance of an eastern force under the standard of the prophet. We cannot see that the simple defence and assured safety of the Christian subjects of the Porte is to be gained by any such roundabout means; nor is a recognition of the religious element in the war likely to do advance the proposed aim of the Russian arms. On the contrary it is almost certain to cause such an uprousal of fanaticism as will forever prevent any cordiality between the Porte and its Christian subjects. Such an internal source of trouble so long as their present relations last cannot but weaken both and retard the prosperity of the country. This fanning of the spark of discord seems, indeed, to have been Russia's policy all along, and while Turkey was thus annoyed she had no chance to carry out the reforms demanded in the interest of the Powers. Whatever Russia's object may be she has certainly not taken all this trouble for years, nor is she now expending blood and treasure for a merely sentimental reason.

The nearer the contest approaches a war of Religions, and the more the success of Russian arms inflames Russian cupidity the nearer approaches Britain's entry into the fight as the enemy of Russia. The control of certain geographical positions has long been a peculiar point in Britain's foreign policy. This and the way in which it is affected by the Russian advance on either the Mediterranean coast or on the Persian Gulf will readily be understood by our readers. The vast and rich possessions of Britain in India cause her peculiar interest in the present struggle. While she may not desire a contest with another state recognised as Christian and in aid of a Mohammedan power, any undue encroachment may well arouse her Mohammedan subjects in India to doubt her friendship. This is well known to Russia, and the Czar doubtless acts in good part on that knowledge. There is no doubt a strong feeling in England against Russia on the one hand, and against any assistance to the "unspeakable Turk" on the other, and the very heat of this antagonism is calculated to arouse the excitement of the nation to war pitch. Not only among the people but also in Parliament the war of words rages on this question. While the Opposition are a willing war party and ready to turn out "one party" and "the other" the ministry naturally strives against the responsibility of plunging the nation into war, with all its bitter consequences. Yet so uncertain are they that they can avoid mixing in the fight that they are rapidly placing the army and navy on a strong war footing, and sending forces to points as near the scene of action as possible, in case they may be needed for active service. The chances that Britain will be involved in the bloody business are far stronger now than could have been imagined a fortnight ago, and every day under a continuation of the present circumstances at home and an undefined attitude of the contending powers, chiefly of the aggressive one, only seems to increase those chances. Therefore while we hope that the battles of the Russians and Turks may end speedily and without Britain being drawn into the contest, we fear that such is not likely to be the case.

THE CONFLICT IN TURKEY.

Inasmuch as we are unable to present our readers with a map of the seat of the war, we deem it proper to give a description of the relative positions of the boundary lines, in order that our readers who have no diagrams thereof may understand the different moves of the contending armies. The main ground on which the whole issue will be decided directly or indirectly, is probably that which lies between degrees 32 and 49 latitude from south to north, and between degrees 20 and 56 from west to east (reckoning longitude east from Paris). This tract is bounded on the north and north-west by Russia and Austria respectively; on the east by Turkestan, the Caspian Sea and Persia; on the south by Persia, the Arabian desert and Egypt; and on the west by the Mediterranean Sea, the Archipelago, and Roumania. To the south of Russia (on the west) lies the sea of Azof, Crimea and the Black Sea. The present boundary line between Russia and Turkey in Asia runs as follows: starting from the east coast of the Black Sea at a point about [illegible] distant some seventy miles from the mountains inland [illegible] the 42 degrees latitude which [illegible] (reckoning as before). Starting thence [illegible] in a curve line until the River Aratzo is reached (39 lat. by 45.30 long.) then sloping one degree northward to the Caspian Sea. The boundary between Russia and Turkey in Europe runs along Bessarabia and the banks of the Pruth, and thence at right angles in an easterly direction from lat. 47 long. 26 to the Black Sea.

It is a matter of no little difficulty to write with confidence on the war. The associated press telegrams are very unreliable. The engagements and skirmishes one day being contradicted on the next. If we reject the conflicting despatches we have a very slight source since our last issue upon which to write authoritatively. Since last Thursday the following events have taken place beyond doubt: Roumania held a conference with the Czar from which very little good has sprung as yet. Roumania does not wish to be considered as opposed to Turkey, neither will she observe strict neutrality. It is more than probable that Roumania will take arms against the Porte's troops if the slightest cause is given by the Turks. Austria's declaration of neutrality is, as we had reason to expect, rather equivocal in its terms. While in favor of strict non-interference between the belligerents she very slyly and cautiously makes her inaction depend upon contingencies—contingencies which more than probably will arise and thus destroy her declaration of indifference. She reserves a right to protect her own interests and also, (and that to which we call particular attention) "a right" to intervene with efforts for the cessation or the localizing of the conflict." The italics are ours. It will be clearly seen that this declaration of neutrality is at most a paper declaration—a position in name which has all the appearance of neutrality but which nevertheless does not all disclose her locus standi. England, in spite of her peaceful policy, plainly so expressed, continues to make gigantic naval and military preparations. It is further stated that 20,000 South Albanians have taken up arms in favor of Turkey on condition of Montenegro being given up to plunder. This statement is most absurd and sufficiently evidences what a low opinion the foreign correspondents have of average human intelligence. It is most false. It cannot be possible that the inhabitants of South Albania can so easily, so freely forget the treatment they received in the immediate past as to join the Turks in the present struggle. They must be men of very low mental warlike calibre if they can thus give away their manly feelings. We think that the sacking of poor Montenegro would scarcely be sufficient to obliterate their feelings of hatred against the Sultan and his fanatical barbaric subjects.

Everything is in favor of the Russians in this war. The very geographical position of the frontier is an advantage. The close proximity of the Danube to the present boundary line is of immense import. It will be remembered that the old boundary line (that previous to the Crimean war) was a few miles west of its present position. The new line of division offers many more advantages and presents none of the main disadvantages of the frontier previous to the Crimean war.

By the latest advices Austria is occupying Bosnia and Herzegovina. This shows that our judgement, relative to Austrian action was correct. "Russia has concluded a loan with French, German and Dutch bankers of 100,000,000 francs. Batteries have been armed on the shores of the Baltic. Hundreds of torpedos are ready for immersion in the Gulf of Finlay and a number of houses have been reserved for troops to be "quartered in." It will be seen from the above extract from the cable dispatches that the war is assuming an extensive proportion both in a military and naval point of view.

To-day brings news that the Russians in attempting to seize Kars met with a successful repulse by the Turks, who maintained their positions with vigor. In England great activity is evidenced by the fact of an army of 35,000 being ready for action on a moments notice. This looks very grave indeed. It is more than probable that the events of next week will be of deep importance to the safety of the Great Powers.

The Whitby Gazette says that when Sir John stopped at Whitby on his way to Toronto: "A true disciple of Lord Cecil presented the 'man of clean hands with a tract entitled 'The Penitent Thief.'"

The Real Steal Rail Scandal.—Opposition orators of the Tom White stamp have been shouting about a "steel rail scandal" for several years, but the facts in that case afford such a complete vindication of the integrity of the Government that little attention is paid to the story now. There is a real steel rail scandal, however, which has often been noticed, and now comes to the front again. Brother-in-law Howe, of Liverpool, who in consideration of his relationship was permitted by Sir John A. Macdonald's Government to plunder the Canadian treasury, has been brought to book for one of his jobs. The English Court of Chancery has decreed that he must pay to Canada over four thousand pounds sterling, which stuck to his hands in connection with the purchase of steel rails. The Halifax lightship transaction remains to be heard from.—Halifax Chronicle.

PORT HOPE'S BEST TO THE PROVINCE.

[illegible] Port Hope has [illegible] and rambling correspondent who uses its columns rather to the detriment than to the furtherance of the cause he professes to advocate, it seems we were premature. The hero has again secured the columns of our contemporary, and in a string of ill-advised references again accuses the government of "inattention to the just claim of Port Hope" in the settlement made, and pitches into the remarks of the Examiner throughout the whole of his letter. He is evidently a man with a hobby, and ready to fight any one who differs with him in any degree. Port Hope has reason to pray that it may be saved from such friends; for this one not only brings rushing accusations against the government that in 1873 reduced the debt of Port Hope from $1,020,022 to $169,800, and afterwards to $97,518, but he also descends to the suppressio veri and suggestio falsi to uphold his pet position. [illegible] the general drift of this disappointed correspondent's letters means—[illegible] it means that the Reform Party of Port Hope because the did injustice to the County of East Durham was represented in the legislature by a political opponent. This we utterly deny, and we are certain the late representative of East Durham, in the legislature of Ontario, (who could certainly do more for the constituency than his successor,) will join with us in such denial. If this champion of the "just claims of Port Hope" were sincere and judicious in his advocacy of better terms for that town he would rather do the government the small justice of thanks for the reduction of (about a million and a half) that has already been granted, and then if there be subsequent circumstances of legislation on which to base a petition for further reduction, or even cancellation, he could with argument rather than menace strive to press his point upon the attention of the country and the House. Instead of this he appears to be trying to raise a little political froth on his "very small beer" for mere political effect, within the constituency. Why has this "claimant" not raised his voice and cried for "justice" long ere this? Can it be that he is a very recent student of this Municipal Loan Fund matter, upon which he professes to know more than anybody and everybody else? If so, he has not studied it well and truly; and had better devote five more years to the subject before assuming the position of General M. L. F. Instructor to the Province.

We have already stated our views on this matter pretty plainly, and so forcibly as to pain the very sensitive nature of the Times correspondent. As, however parts of our first article have been singled out for special reference, we deem it a duty we owe to the Examiner to defend our utterances, even if we do tread on the corns of sensitive people in so doing. Our statement that the M. L. Fund monomaniac of Port Hope was indirectly accusing Col. Williams of inattention to his duties is an opinion apparently shared in his own town, for we see that a correspondent of the Guide has made it the basis of a direct accusation against the late Provincial member, of failure to do the best for the town. Though we cannot say we entirely agree with the Guide's correspondent in this, it proves that we were not altogether unreasonable in perceiving a charge against Col. Williams in the cries of the victim of so-called "injustice". And when we declared that the complaint of the violation of a rule could only be made consistent by showing that the Midland Railway has not advanced the local interests of Port Hope, we referred to the resolution quoted, in part, by the "accuser of the government" as follows:—"Where in previous legislation has taken place affecting the position and securities of a municipality and has resulted either in no railway being built, or in the building of one which has not advanced the local interest of the municipality it is expedient to cancel the debts of such municipality." This it is plain referred to legislation that had taken place at that time, March 1873, and any that has since taken place, in which alone the Times, wiser than its correspondent, proposes to base a claim for relief, must be considered separately. We cannot but remark in this connection the strangeness of the fact that the "just" man who complains of "injustice" should leave out part of this resolution referring to injurious legislation. Strange too that the part omitted should have a significant bearing on the sense. After "taken place" come the words this eminently just man has left out of the record, and they are:—"without the knowledge or concurrence of the municipality against its active opposition, and in the interest, or supposed interest, of the public or of other parties." Thus it will be seen that a reference to this rule is unfortunate rather than otherwise as regards an appeal based on subsequent legislation that has had the knowledge and concurrence and not the active opposition of Port Hope.—However we have no desire to pursue this point, and will briefly refer to the question of dissability, which we contended was the main argument in the case. The fact that the money was not given to the town but to the Railway has been taken into account in the settlement made; and when the champion of justice for Port Hope compares certain amounts per mile given different roads, and puts $14,000 opposite the Midland Railway, he carefully forgets that road got aid to the amount of $1,100,000, and that the gross amount borrowed by Port Hope was $960,000. The comparison with Prescott is as unfortunate as his other references when followed up, that town having come directly under the "injurious legislation clause", and as regards the comparison of assessments, Port Hope has herself to blame, just as she has in reckless disbursements in many ways. As far as the spirit that pervades our first article is concerned, we are willing to be judged by intelligent and impartial readers, rather than by those whose perceptions are warped by a desire to proudly proclaim their ability to pay, and at the same time display a mean-spirited desire to escape an honourable liability by accusing the trustees of those to whom it is owing of injustice to the debtor. We have no desire to prevent the presentation of the best case for Port Hope, but we protest against a spelling of the case even before it is drawn up by going about to steal totally irrelevent references for the manufacture of political clap-trap.

Alluding to the Pacific Railway debate an opposition paper says Mr. Mackenzie's speech consisted of two parts, statements of facts and abuse of the policy of the preceding government. Dr. Tupper's so-called reply had neither of these parts in it, certainly not the first mentioned.

PETERBOROUGH SPRING SHOW.

The Spring Show of the West Peterborough Agricultural Society was held on Shucksby's grounds on Saturday last. The weather was very unfavourable but notwithstanding the Show was very good. Best yearling Bull, Devon [illegible] Walton $8.60.

Best Bull, aged [illegible]shire, Alex. Scott, $8.00.

FAREWELL DINNER TO MR. J. REDPATH.

A grand Farewell Dinner was tendered to Mr. Redpath, by his many friends in Peterborough, at the Smith House, on Tuesday evening. Some 20 of his friends sat down to the table to assist in doing honor to a citizen who is about to leave us for the western portion of our great Dominion. Mr. J. R. Ormond occupied the chair. The Vice-Chair being occupied by Dr. Boucher. To the right of the chairman sat the guest of the evening, to the left was seated Mr. R. Elder. After the usual loyal and social toasts had been gone through in the accustomed manner "The Guest of the Evening" was then given. The chairman took occasion to regret, in feeling terms, the departure from Peterborough for the far north west of our highly respected citizen Mr. J. Redpath, he said he had known the latter gentleman for upwards of seventeen years and during that time he had always found him a straightforward, honorable, upright man. He said he was a man who had advanced the cause of masonry to a greater extent than any man in this town, and that the masons could less afford to part with him than any other mason in Peterborough, we had all (said the speaker) come from the east, but it seems from Mr. Redpath's course of action that some are not satisfied here but must "go west." He said he had no doubt but that their guest would make as many friends in Manitoba as he had left behind him. He could however, have no truer friends than those with whom he had lived so long. He concluded an able speech by wishing Mr. Redpath all manner of happiness and prosperity, and said that if Mr. Redpath should again return to Peterborough he hoped it would be after realising his utmost expectations. Mr. Redpath replied briefly in fitting terms, thanking them repeatedly for their kindness this evening. "The Learned Professions" was given by the chairman, and responded to by Dr. Boucher, Messrs. E. H. D. Hall, J. O'Donnell, and J. Saulter. "The Guests" was then given and responded to by several who were present to do honor to Mr. Redpath. "The Press" was given by Dr. Boucher and responded to by Mr. Menzies of the Review, and Mr. Stratton of the Examiner. "The Mayor and Corporation" was proposed by Mr. O'Donnell, and responded to very ably by Mr. Elder. Mr. McNeil, and Mr. Mitchell added much to the entertainment by singing several songs. The company separated early, all of the speakers expressing their regret at losing Mr. Redpath.

Grand Complimentary Concert.

A grand complimentary concert will be given to our young and clever townsman Prof. Ormiston Dixon, Ventriloquist. Considering the influence and enterprise of the ladies who compose the entertainment committee we phave no doubt but that the concert will be liberally patronized—that every seat in the Opera House Hon Monday evening next will be taken. was impossible to have it at an earlier date.

We notice among the features of the programme that Mr. Edward Mahon, Lawyer, late of Ottawa, will give two brilliant piano forte solos, viz:—Gottschalk's "Last Hope" and Quilici's "Marseillaise." The Misses Edmison have kindly consented to give an instrumental Duett, and Miss Haultain favors the audience with a fine vocal selection from "Pinsuti." Two laughable farces will add to the pleasure of the audience May the ladies of the committee meet with that pecuniary return which their well directed efforts deserve. Below will be found the programme:—

The Cobourg World reverting to the publication in the Examiner of a sermon reflecting severely on the Evangelistic work of the Misses Logan and Beard, after expressing its gladness that our sympathies are against those who attacked these good ladies, proceeds to remark:—

"We question whether it is not better, when any absurd or illiberal views are set forth in this manner, discreetly to "draw the veil" over them and their authors, and so prevent a possibly resulting increase of uncharitableness and mischief."

Does not the World know that any reference to such views without setting them forth plainly is sure to bring from the absurd and illiberal people who promulgate them, the uncharitable accusation that their views have been suppressed and misrepresented? The very easiest way to deal with absurdity and illiberality is to put it fairly in print, so that people may read it quietly and weigh its worthlessness at their leisure. Often the publication verbatim of the speeches of a persistant public bore is the only way in which he can be cured. We would advise the World to try it with any one of its townsmen who may have an inordinate fondness for hearing himself talk. Put a speech on record; then you can deal with it decisively. Otherwise the absurd and illiberal speaker will be just absurd enough to deny his illiberal language. Such things have happened, and history, as well as illiberality, repeats itself.

PEN AND INK PICTURES OF PUBLIC MEN.

BY STEFANO QUILICI.

On the seat to the right of the Premier sits one of the foremost Statesmen of Canada, the Honorable

Edward Blake, Q. C.

Probably there is no man of his age who has created more political sensation during the last few years than the present Minister of Justice. His Aurora speech has had a wide spread circulation as to principles therein expressed as in the ed quite a prolonged discussion. The public newspapers of the Great Chancellor personal appearance well known to Canadian Lawyers, the various cuts, photographs and oil paintings which are to be seen in every part of the different Provinces. He is about five feet eleven in height—well and proportionately built. His face is full—his forehead is very large, wide and well developed. He generally, owing to weakness of vision wears spectacles. Except when addressing the House, Blake wears on his head a large broad-brimmed slouched hat. Except during the more important discussions he appears very little concerned at the actions of members of Opposition members. Blake is a very pleasant, logical speaker, seldom digressing from his subject. He is however a very dry tedious speaker. He is not entitled to be called an orator. When embarrassed the Minister of Justice becomes very impatient, nervous and at times he loses his temper to a very great degree. When addressing the House he swings his body to and fro in a manner resembling the action of a pendulum. This slight fault destroys in a measure the impression which he would otherwise produce on his hearers. As an Equity Lawyer probably there is no professional man of his years enjoys the reputation Blake does. I have never seen the Right Honorable William Edward Gladstone, but from the pen and ink sketch of him written by Russell I should judge that our Minister of Justice and the Ex-Premier of the Imperial Administration are possessed of many similar traits in their dispositions. According to the correspondent of the London Times, Gladstone is a very sensitive man, and when called upon as Premier to defend a certain course of policy he always did so in a nervous, vigorous speech. When interrupted he gave way to extreme sensitiveness and would generally speak until every quibble and technicality raised by Disraeli and his followers were answered, even though in doing so he had to digress for an hour or two. He is also said, on the same authority to be very impatient and to quiver perceptibly at a sharp retort or polemical thrust of an adversary. It will be seen that the picture thus presented of the eminent English Statesman is almost an exact prototype of the Honorable Edward Blake. The latter politician has done much since his advent to office, in reforming several conflicting ill-advised laws, and during the last Session has contributed several measures which will be of great import to the successful Government of the country. In speaking Blake is master of sarcasm and irony. His every sentence contains a sharp cut—one which his opponent generally feels keenly. When hurling his phillipics he thrusts right and left regardless of the wounds he inflicts. It is seldom he loses his temper, but when his equanimity is disturbed he is a perfect lion in his wrath. His speeches since he joined Mackenzie's Ministry are somewhat tame compared with his former orations delivered in Opposition. The people of Canada have great hopes in Blake. Time alone will show whether the bright pictures formed of his future will be realised or not.

A DISGUSTED ORANGEMAN.

It would seem from the letter of "A Disgusted Orangeman" in the Port Hope Guide that Grand Sovereign and General Highcockalorum Bowell is beginning to be pretty well understood. Says "A Disgusted Orangeman":

"I observe that Mr. Mackenzie Bowell, M. P., and Grand Master of the Orangemen of Ontario; on Monday night last attended the dinner given to Hon. H. Langevin, of Ultramontane and $22,000 Pacific Scandal fame. In order to properly understand the significance of this act, one has to remember that in the past no one has lifted up his voice louder than has Mr. Bowell in attacking the Roman Catholics of Quebec, and especially of the Ultramontane section of that body, for its members believe that the Church is above the state, and that the civil power should have no other purpose then to make the rule of the priests supreme and unquestioned. It is not so very long ago that Hon. Mr. Holton attacked Hon. Mr. Huntington for making a Protestant and manly speech in Argenteuil, and that among those loudest in their accusations was Mr. Bowell, who severely censured Mr. Huntington for writing an apologetic letter to Mr. Power, M. P. for Halifax. On that occasion the member for North Hastings did not scruple to abuse Ultramontanism and attack the Roman Catholics in a body, but what do we find him now doing? Who, nothing else than dining and wining with Mr. Langevin, who is a worshipper of the priests who is a devoted son of the Church, who has for a brother the most furious Ultramontane bishop in Lower Canada—a dignitary who recently issued a pastoral condemning the Supreme Court of Canada, and who endeavored to frighten the Catholic judges on that Bench from doing their plain duty. This is the man with whom Mr. Bowell sits cheek-by-jowl, and whom he congratulates for having gained his election by appealing to an influence of the most unproper and wickedest character. For my part I have done with Mr. Bowell or any of our friends who follow him in what appears to me as the most glaring hypocrisy."

Notwithstanding the great love and admiration his followers profess to have for Sir John A. Macdonald, and in spite of the cry they raised that he was being persecuted in the affair of the Secret Service Money, when the question really came up in the House there was not one man found on the Opposition benches so poor as to do him reverence. It savours of the basest ingratitude, this silence of the Conservative party in the House of Commons at such a time. A splendid chance was offered for an oratorical burst such as Tupper, McCarthey, and other lesser lights are wont to indulge in; but they very oddly suffered the opportunity to go by unimproved. In short they silently suffered a vote of censure to be passed on that leader who has marshalled and held together the party for years. It was excessively mean that in such an hour not one of those who till then had professed indignation at what they called his ill treatment should speak a word for their leader. It would appear that there are others looking to the occupation of the place he has so long occupied in the party, and that they would be rid of his leadership if they could. He has brought the party down with a terrible fall. It would be better without him, but it has not the strength to do without his cunning, and it cannot afford to offend him, when he ceases to be leader where will the Conservative party look for another?

Read, Read! Privilege, Privilege! shouted Sir John, in reference to the Committee's report unseating Speaker Anglin, whom he thus wanted to have finally gibbeted, just as Black Rod was summoning the House for prorogation. Yes! Nobody knew better than Sir John that Anglin was a bad man,—by experience. For the records declare that during three years of his premiership, Sir John Macdonald paid to Sir John Macdonald and his partner Mr. Patton, the neat sum of $3000 for "legal services." Sir John was an eight-thousand-dollar Minister of the Crown; but that fact didn't oblige him to forget that Sir John was also a barrister, and had a law office in Kingston. The indignation of these tories at the scent of wrong doing is redeemed by a scamp,—founded on the safest of all ground-works, that of experiment."—Odessey World.

INDUCTION AND SOCIAL.

The Presbytery of Toronto, met at Richmond Hill, on Monday, and sat, for the purpose of inducting the Rev. Isaac Campbell into the pastoral charge of the Congregation of Richmond Hill and Thornhill. There was a large and attentive congregation present to witness the solemn services. The Rev. J. Ross, the retiring Pastor, preached—put the usual questions to the Minister, and offered up the induction prayer. The Rev. J. Smith, of Bay Street Church, Toronto, preached an excellent and most effecting sermon from Luke 13: 24, "Strive to enter in at the straight gate; for many, I say unto you, will seek to enter in and shall not be able." After the induction the Rev. Mr. Mitchell of Central Church, Toronto, delivered a very fine address to the newly inducted Minister. At the close of the services, which were peculiarly solemn, the newly inducted Pastor was accompanied to the door by the Rev. Mr. Dick, where the Congregation had an opportunity of welcoming him as they retired from the Church.

During the afternoon and up to 8 o'clock at night, refreshments were being served by the ladies of the Congregation, at the Masonic Hall, some 400 persons it is estimated were present. Shortly after 8 o'clock order was called by R. Marsh, Esq., who moved that the chair be taken by the Rev. I. Campbell. The Reverend gentleman upon rising spoke feelingly as regards the past, the present and future. He referred in feeling terms to the long services of their late venerable Pastor. To his own present position, and desire to serve them for Christ's sake, and trusted that their future connection with one another would be both pleasant and profitable. His one aim and desire would be to practice and preach the old—old doctrine in all its simplicity and truth. The Rev. J. Dick, Rev. J. H. Starr, Rev. Messrs. Carmichael, Mitchell and Smith, addressed the crowded hall in good, pleasant speeches. The Choir filled up the time with choice pieces of sacred music, every one seemed pleased and we believe we express the opinion of all that were present in pronouncing the proceedings successful in every way. It is needless to add that the Richmond Hill Brass Band rendered good service on the occasion. The proceeds were about $75.00.—Herald, Richmond Hill.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I would draw attention to a circumstance which came under my observation last Friday evening. When the Band arrived at the Court House Park, they were surprised to find that the gates were locked, and after considerable delay the gates were opened. But they were given to understand that although the gates were opened in consideration of the Band having advertised to play on Friday evening. In the future the green is to be of no benefit to the inhabitants of Peterborough. As the Warden of the County has given orders that it will be kept closed for the space of three years. Now Mr. Editor, what I wish to know, is this, a Band stand has been erected on the green at an expense to the Town of about two hundred dollars. Now, because a certain high and mighty Official issues his fiat, the Citizens of the Town must submit to do without their Friday evenings enjoyment. For who amongst us all does not find pleasure in listening to our excellent Band discoursing sweet music on a beautiful calm summers evening, and I am sure that if the Band declared their intention to play in the morning the people would be sure to hear much grumbling, and I would wish to know if there is no remedy or whether it must be as the Warden says. I do hope the City Fathers will take some action in the matter, and show that the Town has something to say too. Probably the hay crop of the green for three years is some inducement to interested parties to keep the public out, and as one of the citizens I claim that the action taken is high handed, arbitrary, and without a particle of reason to uphold it. Hoping that I have not intruded to much on your valuable space.

I remain,
A LOVER OF MUSIC.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I desire to trespass on your space, a little in reference to the way in which the Band was used last Friday evening. Does the authorities of the Court house Park think that they confer a favor upon the band by permitting them to play there once a week, or do they think that the public have more parks than they require already, as their actions this summer would seem to indicate. Now as far as the Band is concerned they can play just as easy and just as well in any part of the town as they can in the Park and I think that the opinion of the public is that they (the public) are the favoured party in this case. Probably the park authorities look at it from a stand point of their own which recognises neither the current of public opinion nor the wishes of the band to please the public, and which evinces a spirit which is neither creditable nor commendable. Now the wish of the band is to please as many as possible and their efforts in that direction are appreciated by our town council if not by the worthy members from the county. Witness the grant of $100 this year which is the substantial manner in which our town council treat the band. Now Mr. Editor the reason I wished to publish this, is, that in the case of there being no more music on the green this summer the blame will be not laid to the band, but to the right cause. By publishing this you will confer a favor upon a BANDSMAN.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

I observe in the last issue of the Examiner an article from the pen of "Taffy," in which he takes a back hand slap at somebody that has crossed his path, and deems the public interest would suffer if he did not expose him through the public press. "Taffy" has evidently taken large stock in the affairs of Warsaw and vicinity, and, judging by his prospectus, I conclude his channel of information works to his satisfaction. He is able, through him, to inform your readress of the inconsistency and imminency of some man's temperance principles; he can tell you of "hard times causing his hair to drop out of his head," (decay of the scalp); he has told you how a young man succeeded better with a young lady than he did with her father, and how he got urgent "permission" to "leave," that he was "sensitive" and that he made a "pull"—"not a taffy pull"—for Warsaw, about four miles distant, he was understood to use strong "adjectives" while doing so. Now, Mr. Editor, all this must be very interesting to your numerous readers, and they were, no doubt, sorry when the elegant piece of composition was at an end. Allow me, Mr. Editor, to suggest a new thing for the futile brain of "Taffy," assuring him that what he sows in fear, he may reap in joy, and get some more of his harvest home to roost. Who was it "Taffy," that, terror stricken and disappointed, made a "pull"—"not a taffy pull"—through a certain cellar not four miles from Warsaw, "and what were the strength of the adjectives used on that occasion. By drawing a cartoon of the man, and giving his history for the last 17 years, you could easily astonish as well as amuse the readers of the Examiner, and also confer a favour on the hitherto somewhat blind and neglected male friend of the undersigned. "Come now 'Taffy,' take in your usual helast, and spread your sail, the coast is clear."

Yours,
OLD DOG TRAY.

Orange Celebration.—The Lindsay Post says:—An "arrangement was made some years ago between the county lodges of Peterboro', Northumberland, Durham and Victoria for a joint demonstration on the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne in each county alternately, but allowing every fifth year to be at the disposal of the county lodges to make what arrangements they might see fit. This being the fifth year the arrangements have as yet been made, but a large gathering will take place in some part of the county."

NO RISK.

Thomas' Eclectric Oil! Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest Medicine ever made. One dose cures common Sore Throat. One bottle has cured Rheumatism. Fifty cents' worth has cured an Old Standing Cough. One or two bottles cures bad cases of Piles and Kidney Troubles. Six to eight applications cure any of Excoriated Nipples or Inflamed Breast. One bottle has cured Lame Back of eight years standing. Daniel Plank, of Brookfield, Tioga County, Pa., says: "I went thirty miles for a bottle of your Oil, which effected a Wonderful Cure of a Crooked Limb, by six applications." Another who has had Asthma for years, says: "I have half of a 50 cent bottle left, and $100 would not buy it if I could get no more."

Rufus Robinson, of Nunda, N. Y. writes: "One small bottle of your Eclectric Oil restored the voice where the person had not spoken above a whisper in Five Years." Rev. J. Mallory, of Wyoming, N. Y., writes: "Your Eclectric Oil cured me of Bronchitis in one week."

It is composed of six of the Best Oils that are known. It is as good for internal as for external use, and is believed to be immeasurably superior to anything ever made. Will save you much suffering and many dollars of expense.

Beware of Imitations,—Ask for Dr. Thos. Eclectric Oil. See that the signature of E. N. Thomas is on the wrapper, and the names of Northrop & Lyman are blown in the bottle, and Take no other. Sold by all medicine dealers. Price, 25 cts. NORTHROP & LYMAN, Toronto, Ont., Proprietors for the Dominion.

WHOOPING COUGH.

From P. Guitte, Formerly Proprietor of the Courrer de St. Hyacinthe, Canada.

"Several months since a little daughter of mine, ten years of age, was taken with whooping-cough in a very aggravated form, and nothing we could do for her seemed in any way to relieve her suffering. We at length decided to try a bottle of your Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. In three hours after she had commenced using it, she was greatly relieved, and in less than three days was entirely cured, and is now well. I have since recommended the Balsam to many of my neighbors, who have used it, and in no case have I known it to fail of effecting a speedy cure." 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by dealers generally.

PROF. TYNDALL'S WARNING.

In concluding an address to the students of University College (London) Prof. Tyndall who is unquestionably one of the most indefatigable brain workers of our country, said, "take care of your health. Imagine Hercules as carman in a rotten boat; what can he do there but by the very force of his stroke expedite the ruin of his craft. Take care of the timbers of your boat." The distinguished scientist's advice is equally valuable to all workers. We are apt to devote all our energies to wielding the oars, our strokes fall firm and fast, but few of us examine or even think of the condition of our boats until the broken or rotten timbers suddenly give way and we find ourselves the victims of a calamity which could have been easily avoided by a little forethought. What began with a slight fracture, or perhaps even a careless exposure to disorganizing influences, ends in the complete wreck of the life-boat. The disease which began with a slight headache or an undue exposure to cold terminates in death, unless its progress be checked, and the disease remedied. The first symptoms, the heralds of disease, give no indication of the strength of the on-coming foe, and the victim trusts that his old ally, Nature, will exterminate the invader. But Disease is an old general and accomplishes his most important movements in the night-time, and some bright morning finds him in possession of one of the strongest fortifications; and when he has once gained a stronghold in the system Nature ingeniously turns traitor and secretly delivers up the whole physical armory to the invader. Like the wily politician, Nature is always on the strongest side, and the only way to insure her support is to keep your vital powers in the ascendant. Keep your strongest fortress—the stomach and liver—well guarded. Do not let the foe enter the arterial highways, for he will steal or destroy your richest merchandise and impoverish your kingdom. To repulse the attacks of the foe you can find no better ammunition than Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines. (Full directions accompany each package.) His Pleasant Purgative Pellets are especially effective in defending the stomach and liver. His Golden Medical Discovery for purifying the blood and arresting coughs and colds. If you wish to become familiar with the most approved system of defense in this warfare, and the history of the foe's method of invasion, together with complete instructions for keeping your forces in martial order in time of peace, you can find no better manual of these tactics than "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," by R. V. Pierce, M. D., of the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y. Sent to any address on receipt of 1.50. It contains over nine hundred pages, illustrated by two hundred and eighty-two engravings and colored plates, and elegantly bound in cloth and gilt.

PETERBOROUGH, MAY 10, 1877.

Milk can only be sold by Imperial measure; ungrammatical one to it.

Mr. Alexander Sheffield, the Toronto Police Magistrate, has resigned.

Gents who want to get some real fine Furnishings should not fail to give H. LeBrun a trial.

The Bran smashing experiment at Marmora have been successful, and a fine grey iron produced.

Annual Sigh.—It is rumored that the Volunteer Drill will be ordered out a little earlier than usual this year.

For Reasonable clothing go to H. LeBrun, who has the largest stock in town. Good Tweed Suits for $10.00.

American Prints.—W. J. Wallace, Lakefield, has received 1 case New American Prints which will be sold at very low figures.

A number of enterprising newspapers are now taking impressions from the top of a hen's backbone block, and calling it a map of the seat of war.

Parties who wish to appeal against their assessment will hear to mind that their complaint must be made on or before the 25th of this month.

Changed Hands.—Mr. Holmes, of the Burleigh Falls Hotel, has sold out to Mr. T. Davey, of Peterborough, and there is no doubt but that he will keep a good house.

Personal.—Mr. Haggart, Barrister of Toronto, and formerly of this town, called on us the other day, while in town. Mr. Haggart is building up a capital practice in the "Queen City."

Who first beholds the light of day
In spring's sweet, flowery month of May;
And wears an emerald all her life,
Shall be a loved and happy wife.

Going West.—Quite a number of our young men are taking Horace Greely's advice, and "going west," for the Colorado (U. S.) regions. Encouraged by the success of those already there, two more left on Thursday last.

Song of the Sportsman:

There is not a spot, where I have shot;
A favourite stream or wood;
There's not a treat I e'er drew out,
But what it tasted good.

Prof. Martin, a Peterborough musical teacher, has run away, after collecting fees from his pupils in advance, and leaving several other little bills unsettled. He acted on B sharp, took "minor notes," and walked off to his own music.

Removing.—A correspondent of the Lindsay Post from Fenelon Falls says: "Mr. Wm. Hamilton has decided to leave this place and go to Peterborough. This leaves a splendid opening for a foundry here and no doubt it will soon be taken up by some enterprising man."

Fruit Trees.—Large quantities of fruit trees have been brought from the United States, to be disposed of in this country. Several old reliable firms are still in the trade, but as there are some "operators" whose ways are "crooked," it would be well that they should be avoided.

$300 Reward.—The Midland Railway Co'y. offers the above reward for the apprehension of the party or parties, who, on the night of the 30th of April, removed a rail from, and placed two pieces of rail across on the track of the Midland Railway, on the farm of Mr. Wm. Reynolds, in the 5th concession of Cavan.

An Opinion.—According to the Rev. Mr. Hunter, "the woman with an entire flower garden on her head, or the young man who always looks as if he had just been brought out of a band box, generally have very little of the love of God in their hearts." This is rather hard on the exponents of extravagant fashion.

Reduced Rates.—We notice that the President of the Midland Railway has at last reduced the timber freights on the road, and also induced a lowering of the rates over Port Hope harbour. Will this latter reduction be used a proof that the Midland Railway has been an injury rather than a benefit to Port Hope?

Locust Year.—An exchange says: "According to the general accepted rule, this is 'locust year.' In other words, seventeen years ago the locust appeared in such numbers that considerable damage was done by them, and according to tradition 1877 is the year for their appearance. If this is true, the farmers will have work to do fighting locusts and potato bugs."

Raid on Fishermen.—Fish Inspectors Cochrane, of Lakefield, and Godfrey, of Bobcaygeon, made a raid on Friday night at Emily Creek, Scugog River, and on the shores of Sturgeon Lake. They fined fifteen fishermen the fines in all amounting to about $100 and seized five boats, seven jack-lights, seven spears, seven nets, and about 100 pounds of fish.

Queen's Birthday.—Our readers will do well to remember that the members of the Boat Club are making extensive preparations for the celebration of the Queen's Birthday, by holding athletic sports in the Drill shed Grounds. Several athletes from our neighboring villages are expected. Prizes to the value of $300 will be awarded, and good sport is anticipated.

Fire in Ashburnham.—On the night of Wednesday, of last week, about 9:30 to 10 o'clock the dwelling and blacksmith shop belonging to the Clancy Bros., of Ashburnham, were consumed by fire; the loss about $1,800 to $2,000. On the property was a small insurance of $600. The cause of the fire is not well known, but some surmise that it was the work of some person smoking, or using matches while drunk.

The "Sunday School Banner," for May will afford pleasure and instruction to its many readers, for it is well laden with the pleasing and instructive. The illustrations are: "A group of Elephants," "David and Jonathan," and "The cows going to pasture." Specimen copies of this excellent Sabbath School paper will be sent free, on application to its editor, C. Barker, Bowmanville, Ont.

Public School Teachers' Examination.—The annual examination for the County will be held at the Collegiate Institute, Peterboro', as follows:—First class, Monday, July 9th, at 9 a.m.; Second class, Monday, July 9th, at 1:30 p.m.; Third class, Tuesday, July 10th, 9 a.m. Candidates should notify one of the Inspectors not later than the first of June of their intention of presenting themselves for examination.

Evangelistic.—At the meeting of the Presbyterian Synod of Kingston and Toronto, last week, the Synod having considered the overture on Evangelistic work from the Presbyterian of Whitby and Peterborough, agree: (1) to receive the same; (2) express cordial approval of Evangelistic services, and recommend that they be held in every congregation where, in the the judgment of the Session, the way may seem to be open.

"The Sabbath School Presbyterian."—This is the only publication of the kind, in connection with the Presbyterian Church in the Dominion. It is neatly and tastefully got up; printed on fine, double-calendered paper, specially manufactured for the purpose; and beautifully illustrated. Price, in parcels over twenty, fifteen cents per volume. Specimen copies can be obtained by addressing "PUBLISHERS OF BRITISH AMERICAN PRESBYTERIAN, TORONTO."

In England, Gray's Syrup is known as the "GREAT NORTH AMERICAN COUGH REMEDY, and is, we are told, as rapidly growing into favor, as a family cough remedy, as it has in this country. It is a great gain to the physician's art, to make a medicine pleasant to take while efficacious to cure—these qualities are found in Gray's Syrup of Red Spruce Gum. All the Tonic, Expectorant and Soothing qualities of this Gum, which is taken from the Red Spruce Tree, are fully preserved. 19-3m.

Grand Transportation via the Rideau Canal, per Steamer "Cobden-Rye" and Cobourg R. R.—People may launch at the Merchants rail and water route, but we are assured that goods shipped in the morning from Toronto leave here the same evening. A shipment of eggs made from here arrived in Montreal 4 days ahead of a lot shipped the same day via the Midland. On account of the prompt way in which goods were forwarded at Cobourg, Gardiner alone have 3 cents a doz. in a falling market.

Assuming a Newspaper.—There are two times in a man's life when he eagerly scans a newspaper—once when he has been in an awful scrape, and again when he is looking for a puff. When he has got a fifty cent job, however, he goes around and asks for tenders of all the offices in his district, feeling the same pride as ever in the faithfulness and good nature of his newspaper benefactor. This man is very rare, as scarce in London.—Advertiser. There is some of him in Lindsay.—Post. There are quite a number around Peterborough.

Friendship Temple.—At the regular meeting of this Temple, held on Tuesday evening last, the following officers were installed into their respective offices, by Bro. D. Portland, Temple Deputy, as follows:—

Bro. Rosamond Mogford, W. C. T.
Sister Mann, W. V. T.
Bro. James Hope, W. Treasurer.
Bro. Fred R. Adams, W. Secretary.
Sister Lizzie Rae, W. Asst. Secretary.
Bro. Thomas Westman, W. F. S.
Bro. Joseph Cobb, P. W. C. T.
Bro. Joseph Butler, W. Chaplain.

An Exchange says:—In selecting flour first look to the color. If it is white, with a yellow straw-colored tint, buy it. If it is white with a bluish cast, or with white specks in it, refuse it. Second, examine its adhesiveness—wet and knead a little of it between your fingers; if it works soft and sticky, it is poor. Third, throw a little lump of dried flour against a smooth surface; if it falls like powder it is bad. Fourth, squeeze some of the flour tightly in your hand; if it retains the shape given by the pressure, that, too, is a good sign. It is safe to buy flour that will stand all these tests. These modes are given by all old flour dealers, and they pertain to a matter that concerns everybody—the staff of life.

Bonus Wanted.—Mr. Hagel, President of the Midland Railway, addressed the Council on Monday evening, asking a bonus of $6,000 from the town, towards the erection of a new station house and buildings connected therewith, in the place of the buildings lately destroyed by fire. The Bonus sought for is in the nature of a rebate of interest, now overdue to the town from the Railway Co'y. We cannot suppose that a rebate will be granted, unless Mr. Hagel can see his way to consult the interest of the people of Peterborough a little more than he now does in his arrangements. Until he can afford to treat Peterborough fairly, both as to trains and freight rates, he cannot hope to receive favors from our people.

Personal.—We find the following in the Cobourg Express: "We are pleased to notice that our young townsman, Mr. James A. Sinclair, has, with the highest honors, graduated in the medical departments of Trinity and University Colleges, Toronto, and that he is a member of the Royal Colleges of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario. He commences the practice of his profession in the Village of Hastings, where, we are satisfied, he will profess ionally, and in all other respects, soon secure the good-will and respect of those with whom he may come in contact. A young man of high professional acquirements and excellent moral and industrious training is sure to succeed any where, and therefore we predic: for our young friend a career which will be at once useful and profitable.

Caxton's Anniversary.—The four hundredth anniversary of the introduction of printing into England by William Caxton is to be celebrated by the Numismatic and Antiquarian Society of Montreal, on the 26th of June next. The celebration is to take the shape of a three day's exhibition of early printing, books from the earliest dates obtainable, and modern facsimiles of rare and costly works, engravings, maps and plans, autographs, and manuscripts. All of the specimens will be chronologically arranged with the view of showing the progress the art of printing has made. Contributions are requested from this vicinity, the Society, which is an incorporated institution, to be responsible for the safe return of the specimens. All communications addressed to Gerald E. Hart, secretary, will elicit the information desired.

"The Canada Christian Monthly."—This magazine continues to occupy a high position among the religious periodicals. Cheerful in its tone, and liberal in its sympathies, at the same time its presentations of the truth are clear and decided, and constitute towards every form uncompromising. Besides the editorials it generally contains a good deal of valuable original matter under the headings of "Living Preachers," "Christian Thought," and "Christian Life." The selections are generally short, and always attractive. The number for May contains two illustrations. It ought to have a wide circulation. The price is only one dollar per annum—free of postage in advance. Specimens copy sent to any address on receipt of ten cents. Agents wanted in every locality. For rates of commission, etc., apply to C. BLACKETT ROBINSON, Publisher, Toronto.

Weights and Measures.—After the 30th of June next, all those who neglect to have their measures and weights stamped, will be proceeded against by law. The following is taken from the Act relating to this matter: "Every trader, manufacturer, carrier, public weigher, gauger, measurer, surveyor, or other persons, who, after the expiration of the time appointed under this Act for the first inspection in the Inspection Division in which he carries on his business, offers for sale, or uses for any purpose of buying, selling, or charging for the carriage of any goods, wares, merchandize, or things, or of measuring any work, land goods materials, or other things for the purpose of charging for, or ascertaining the price to be paid, or the charges to be made therefore, any weight or measure, or weighing machine which has not been duly inspected and stamped according to this Act, or which may be found light, deficient, or otherwise unjust, shall be guilty of an offance against this Act, and shall, on conviction, incur a penalty of not more than fifty or less than five dollars for each such offence; and every Council have now in there hands the sum of Four Thousand and Seventy Dollars.—Carried.

The Street Inspector [illegible] port on the work that was ref[illegible] to his Report at the last meeting, when it was [illegible] him

Moved by Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. Millar, That Mr. Stewart survey and Run the line on Donegal Street between Monaghan and Murray streets, the cost not to exceed $10.00.

Moved in amendment by Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. McBain, That Mr. Dumble's motion pass with the following added to it: And that Aylmer street south of Charlotte street and Townsend street, be also surveyed and the Line Run.

Mr. Smith Raised the question of order and both motions were left as a notice of motion.

From Mrs. Rahally asking for the council to Water Table the corner of Aylmer and Townsend street—Received.

Moved by Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. Haggart,—That the Fire, Water and Gas Committee be a committee to look into the whole fire department with a view to having the same put on a more satisfactory and effective footing—Carried.

Mr. Hagel, President of the Midland Railway on motion addressed the Council asking for a bonus of $6,000, towards the erection of a new station. He said that Peterboro was probably the most important Town on the line of the Midland Railway, and the building they intended to erect would cost about $15,000, and only Peterboro working men would be employed. He said he had transferred the insurance on the buildings towards the erection of new buildings, and he hoped that the Council would give his communication due consideration. He thought that it was a reasonable request, as it was well known that when the buildings were burned down in Omemee the Village "came down handsomely" and gave their $2,000, towards the erection of new buildings.

Mr. Smith said that he personally was in favor of assisting the road, if some arrangements could be made with them so that trains will leave here in the morning in time to connect with the Grand Trunk East and West, and also one to leave Port Hope on the arrival of the Grand Trunk in the evening for Peterborough. By this means it would enable parties to leave here in the morning, do their business in Toronto and return in the evening, and he would move, seconded by Mr. Haggart,—That Messrs. Haggart Hamilton, Dumble, McBain and the Mover be a special Committee to consider the application.

Mr. Rountree said that the motion should not pass as the road had always been a stumbling block to Peterboro and it cost this town more to bring goods from Port Hope to Peterboro than it did from Montreal to Port Hope.

Mr. Hugel, challenged any person to show him, where the Midland had injured Peterboro, since it came under his control. He had always done all he could to built up Peterboro. When there was some talk of the Nassau Mills being removed from Peterboro, The Midland Railway gave them a bound of $2,000, to keep them there, and reduced the rate 10 cents. They have made the same offer to the Mills at Harwood if they would come to Peterboro, and although the Midland Railway were not in a very flourishing condition financially, they were prepared to do so still.

The motion was then put and.—Carried.

The Mayor said that the Mechanics Institute, had applied to him for the use of the Old Council Chamber, and stated that the members of the Institute could not occupy the room while the Band practiced over head.

Moved by Mr. Smith, seconded by Mr. Elder.—That the applications of Messrs. Darcey Reger, and all the applications for repairs and improvements upon streets and bridges during the present year, be referred to the street Inspector with power to act, and that no application shall be entertained which shall be made after the 1st day of August, and the Clerk is hereby instructed to deliver to the said Inspector a copy of a resolution passed by Council on the 22nd day of January last, limiting the expenditure during the present year on streets and bridges to the sum of $2r500, the said Clerk also to notify said Inspector that he is to confine the expenditure in accord with the said resolution.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. Baptie,—That the Midland Railway be permitted to lay all tracks needful on account of the change in the station occasioned by the late fire provided they grade the street and finish it under the direction of Mr. Cummings.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. Rountree.—That the Council deem it inexpedient to intefere with the judgements of the Police Court and the Clerk of the police court is hereby directed to see that all fines imposed heretofore and now on record, be enforced by collection and hereafter all judgements of the Police Court shall be strictly enforced, this resolution not to apply to cases heretofore the subject of resolution of this Council.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Elder seconded by Mr. Haggart,—That the council go into committee of the whole or a By-lay to regulate the public Market.

Mr. Elder in introducing the By-law said that he merely wanted the By-law to have its first reading, as all By-laws usually have a first reading without discussion.

Mr. Dumble said that he would like to have an explanation of it now so as to enable them to know what they were going into a Committee of the whole on.

Mr. Elder said in answer that it was in reference to our present Market By-law, and he believed it was very unsatisfactory and should be revised, as it could be seen that it was not giving satisfaction to the people of the town and county. The toll on wood and meat was not giving satisfaction at all. It was not the intention of the By-law that 10 cents should be charged a load for wood but that it should remain as before being 5 cents. As to the toll on meat it was in his opinion a most unjust tax.

Mr Dumble said that if the farmers complained about the toll on wood let them bring it up before the Police Magistrate and it would then be finally settled.

Mr. Elder said that the farmers were very much dissatisfied around Rice Lake and South Monaghan, where the distance is equally divided between Port Hope and and Peterboro, and they are now going to Port Hope market instead of Peterboro as heretofore, and many farmers are doing all they can to avoid the law in disposing of the meat. He was satisfied that the Council would do justice to all parties and would give the By-law its first reading, as there were none of us desirous of driving any of the farmers from the town to the detriment of our trade.

Mr. Haggart said that the By-law should have its first reading, and it was very improper for the Council to interfere in the first reading, as they would have an opportunity of speaking on it in the second reading.

Moved in amendment by Mr. Smith seconded by Mr. McWilliams,—That it be read this day six months—Carried.

FINANCE REPORT.

Mr. Cahill Chairman of the Finance Committee reported as follows:—

The Finance Committee beg leave to report that they have examined the following accounts and recommend their payment. T. W. Robinson & Co., sundries, $7.60, Peterboro Gas Coy, Gas Fixtures, $15,00.

Your Committee cannot recommend the payment of Messrs Boyd Smith & Co's account for interest.

Your committee recommend that the Mayor and Treasurer be authorized on behalf of the council to Re-issue $1,000 of School Debentures as requested by the Town Commissioners. Your committe also beg leave to report that they have awarded the contract for the supply of lumber for street purposes to Mr. George Hillard his being the lowest tender viz: $7 00 per 1000 feet for Pine Plank and $6.00 for cedar scantling.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

THOS. CAHILL,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

Moved by Mr. McWilliams, seconded by Mr. Rountree,—That the Street Inspector have that part of Rubidge Street between Mcdonnel and London Streets opened, and that the sum of $5.00 be appropriates therefore.

The question of order was raised and the motion was left as notice of motion.

Mr. Cahill's amendment at the previous meeting was also left as notice of motion.

Moved by Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. Hagel that Geo. A. Stewart be constable of the Streets Expenses boundary line of Dunedents of the street [illegible]monnel and Murray

The Council then adjourned by the resolution to meet [illegible] days hence.

POLICE COURT.

DRUNK AND DISORDERLY.—M. Costello, of Ennismore, was up before Mr. Edwards, J. P., on Thursday morning last, charged with being drunk and disorderly. It being his first offence he was discharged with a reprimand.

TOWN COUNCIL.

The Council met on Monday evening.

The Mayor in the chair, and all the members present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From John Carnegie, Secretary of the Town Trust Commissioners forwarding the Council the following resolution passed by the commissioners:

Moved by Mr. Clarion, seconded by Mr. Toole,—That the Commissioners of the Town Trust having considered the resolution of the Finance Committee on behalf of the Town Council passed on the 25th inst, are willing in the event of the conditions contained in a resolution passed by the Commissioners on the 2nd, of April, and submitted to the Town Council being complied with to give the Town Council credit during the present year, or so soon thereafter as the necessary Legislation has been obtained for the sum of Nine Thousand Dollars, and of which the WARSAW.

At the meeting of the Warsaw Lodge, United Temperance Association, held on Thursday evening last, the following officers were installed for the ensuing quarter:—William Watson, President; M. F. Choate, Vice-President; Thos. George Choate, Secretary; W. J. Kidd, Treasurer; H. Choate, Lecturer; Ada Garlick, Councellor; Edward McIlvena, Chaplain; Helen Miller, Financier; Mary Garlick, Recorder; Thomas A. Choate, Marshall; A. Choate, Deputy-Marshall; Thomas Miller, Guard; Samuel Hamblin, Sentinel; A. F. Choate, Past President. Although an effort has been made to break up the lodge, we are still prospering, and doing a good work in the temperance cause.—COM.

SOUTH MONAGHAN.

On Tuesday night last a fire originated in the blacksmith shop, in connection with Mr. Buttler's wood shop, at Baillieboro, when the whole was consumed, together with a quantity of lumber. The wind was blowing in the direction of Mr. Fisher's barn, across the road, which caught fire and was also burned. Full particulars of the fire not yet heard.

A Higher Price Still.—Lately it was reported in the Examiner that a farm in Smith sold for $95 per acre. South half of lot 3, in the first concession South Monaghan, belonging to Mr. Fair, was sold to Mr. John Greer for $100 per acre. James Perrin, Senr., sold 100 acres to James Perrin, Jr., for about $85, and 150 acres of the late Walter Rutherford's estate sold for $75 per acre, and Wm. Adams sold his farm of 100 acres, near Bensfort, to A. D. Gallaway for $80 per acre. First-class farms in South Monaghan are worth from $75 to $100 per acre.

Which is Right.—Which is right the report of the decline of the Grangers in the United States, or your Grange correspondent from Otonabee, both statements are represented as being from reliable data. Some of the leading Grangers of the district admit that they are on the decline in some parts of the States, especially where first established is the decrease more marked. One of the reasons is said to be that they have done the work for which organized, and consequently no longer required. It has recently been reported that some of the State Granges have collapsed for want of support.

Baptist Social.—There will be a social in the Baptist Church, at Baillieboro, on the 24th of May. A business meeting at 2:30 p.m.; tea served at 4:30. At 6:30 a sermon by the Rev. D. Millhern, of Peterborough. The Rev. Messrs Richardson of Port Hope, Radcliff and Gregory, of Smith have also been invited.—Com.

See what the Clergy Say:

Rev. R. H. Craig, Princeton, P. J. says—"Last summer when I was in Canada I caught a bad cold in my throat. It became so bad that often in the middle of my sermon my throat and tongue would become so dry I could hardly speak. My tongue was covered with a white parched crust, and my throat was much inflamed. An old lady of my congregation advised me to use the "Shoshonees Remedy," which she was then using. The first dose relieved me, and in a few days my throat was nearly well. I discontinued the use of it, but my throat not being entirely well, became worse again. I procured another supply and I am happy to say that my throat is entirely well, and, and the white crust has disappeared. I wish that every minister who suffers from sore throat would try the "Great Shoshonees Remedy."

Rev. Geo. W. Gregg, Stirling, Ont., says—"Mrs George Francis was severely afflicted with kidney disease, and had been under the care of three physicians without any beneficial result. She has since taken four bottles of the "Shoshonees Remedy," and now enjoys the feat of health."

Rev. T. C. Brown, Brooklyn, Ont., says—"My wife was very low with lung disease, and given up by her physician. I bought a bottle of the "Shoshonees Remedy," and at the end or two days she was much better. By containing the Remedy she was perfectly restored." Price of the Remedy in pint bottles $1; Pills 25 cents a box.

Consumption Cured!

An old physician, retired from active practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India Missionary the formula of a Vegetable Remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Catarrh, and all throat and Lung Affections; also a Positive and Radical Cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having thoroughly tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, feels it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a conscientious desire to relieve human suffering, he will send FREE OF CHARGE, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and successfully using. Sent by return mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper.

DR. W. C. STEVENS,
Box 86, BROCKVILLE, O.

GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED SPRUCE GUM,

—FOR—

Coughs, Colds, Bronchial and all Throat Affections.

The Gum which exudes from the Red Spruce tree is, without doubt, the most valuable native Gum for Medicinal purposes.

Its remprkable power in relieving certain severe forms of Bronchitis, and its almost specific effect in curing obstinate hacking Coughs, is now well known to the public at large. In this Syrup (carefully prepared at low temperature), containing a large quantity of the finest picked Gum in complete solution, all the Tonic Expectorant, Balsamic and Anti-Spasmodic effects of the Red Spruce Gum are fully preserved. For sale at all Drug Stores. Price, 25 cents per bottle.

MANHOOD!

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞ Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞ This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

CATARRH.

Five Years' Sickness Cured by Four Bottles of Constitutional Catarrh Remedy.

Pain in Shoulders, Back and Lungs, on Droppings in Throat Disappear.

ST. ARMAND, P. Q. Sept. 12, 1876.

MR. T. J. B HARDING

Dear Sir:—Being desirous that others may know something of the merits of your CONSTITUTIONAL CATARRH REMEDY, I wish to inform you what it has done for me. I am twenty-nine years old; had been out of health for about five years. I had employed three or four different doctors, and tried various medicines, without receiving any permanent benefit, but continued rather to grow worse, until last fall, when I had become so bad as to be unable to do an hour's work at a time. Had severe soreness and pain under the shoulder blades and all through the shoulders, with very lame back, and a feeling in my right lung as though there was a weight bearing it down, with continual dropping in the throat and down upon the lungs. Such was my condition when I commenced to take your Catarrh Remedy, one bottle of which eased my pains and gave me an improved appetite, and after taking four bottles I was restored to health so as to be able to endure hard and continued labor, such as chopping and clearing land, at which I have been engaged the past season. My recovery I attribute solely, with God's blessing, to the use of your Catarrh Remedy.

Yours truly HENRY SNIDER,

Price $1 per bottle; For sale by all Druggists.

READ CAREFULLY.

SAMUEL OSBORNE, Sophiasburg, says—"I was affected with Dyspepsia for nearly four years, my lungs becoming affected towards the last. I was induced to try the "Shoshonees Remedy." After using three or four bottles I felt much better, and gained strength rapidly, my health improved steadily and rapidly, and when I had taken three or four bottles more, I was quite restored to health and strength, and have experienced better health than for forty years before. I had been under the treatment of a number of physicians before, but never received any material aid until I used your remedy."

A. MCKAY, Truro, N. S., says "he was very bad with Liver Complaint, but used the "Shoshonees Remedy," and in a month was as well as he had ever been in his life. I am now in business and wish you to send me three dozen by steamer.

A. WOOD, Consecon, says—"That he has tried the "Remedy" for Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia with great success. I have also used the "Shoshonees Pills," and find that they are as good as any I ever tried.

REV. JOHN SCOTT says—"Mr. McKenzie Bootleg suffered from an attack of rheumatism, and was unable to move without help but after taking a few bottles of the "Shoshonees" was able to walk as well as ever." Price of the Remedy in pint bottles $1; Pills 25 cents a box.

WHAT THEY SAY OF IT? A FEW FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.—There are but few preparations of medicines which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people for any great length of time. One of these is Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil. Read the following and be convinced:—Thos. Robinson, Farnham Centre, P. Q., writes, "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for the last ten years, and have tried many remedies without any relief, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and since then have had no attack of it. I would recommend it to all."—J. H. Earl, Hotel Keeper, West Shefford, P. Q., writes, "I have been troubled with liver complaint for several years, and have tried different medicines with little or no benefit, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which gave me immediate relief, and I would say that I have used it since with the best effect. No one should be without it. I have tried it on my horses in cases of cuts, wounds, etc., and think it is equally as good for horses as for man."—A. Hayden Merchant, Warkworth, writes, "I have sold some hundreds of bottles of Eclectric Oil, and it is pronounced by the public, 'one of the best medicines they have ever used;' it has done wonders in healing and relieving pain, sore throats, etc., and is worthy of the great confidence."—Joseph Emes, township Percy writes, "I persuaded to try Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lame knee which troubled me for three or four years, and I never found anything like it for curing lameness. It is a great public benefit."—A. M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes, "For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which entirely set me very much. Mr. Hagues of this place induced me to try Eclectric Oil, and before one bottle was used I was cured. It is a most remarkable medicine. Sold by all medicine dealers. Price, 25 cts.

PETERBOROUGH, MAY 11, 1877.

THE LATE DOMINION ELECTION.

As was expected by those best acquainted with matters political, the elections in Ottawa and Lincoln resulted in the return of the men who had gone back for endorsation by their constituents, by reason of writs issuing against them for breach of the Independence of Parliament act. In Ottawa, Mr. Currier, Conservative, obtained a majority of 1963, and in Lincoln, Mr. Norris, Reformer, beat his opponent by a majority of 85. The Tory papers are comforting themselves with the reflection that Currier's former majority was but 230, while that of Norris was 154. They try to delude themselves and their readers into the belief that the increase in the one case and the reduction in the other is due absolutely to the "Conservative re-action." The wish is father to the thought in this case as in others. Like certain scientists they first assume a result and then shape their proofs to fit it. If the facts do not accord exactly with their theory so much the worse for the facts. In telling their readers of the grand victory in Ottawa they very charitably avoid any reference to the withholding of the Reform vote, while the Conservatives used every influence to bring in all the votes they could; and having no competition in that line they were enabled to get all the "loose fish" in the city to vote for Currier. The Reform Committee got legal advice in respect to the leasing by Mr. Currier to the government of lots on Chaudiere and Victoria Islands, the decision of counsel being that such contract with the Crown made Mr. Currier indigible for election. They accordingly published the opinion along with a notice to the electors that votes cast for Mr. Currier would be thrown away, and of course made no effort to poll a large vote against one whom they considered a disqualified candidate. This laxity on the one side, with extraordinary efforts on the other, will readily account for the largely increased Conservative majority. It is likely from this action of the Reform Committee that the election of Mr. Currier will be protested against on the ground of the disqualification mentioned, though he and his friends declare that he transferred all his government business prior to the nomination day. Indeed he caused a bill to be posted alongside the legal opinion before mentioned, characterizing it as "a falsehood and a libel." For this a writ for libel has been issued against him by Mr. Walker, the gentleman who framed the opinion. We do not think that the Reform Committee adopted the wisest course open to them in going into the contest with all the vigor of a campaign, and then on the eve of the polling surprising their friends as well as their opponents by the announcement that they intended to rely wholly on a legal point. The notification of Mr. Currier's disqualification could have just as well been made immediately after the nomination, and then the electors would have had time to consider it, instead of being startled by its sudden promulgation, and easily made to influence the poll, a belief the Conservatives took good care to try and induce.—We understand that Mr. Featherston at once saw in it a sure depression of his vote, entirely outside of the action of the Committee in resting entirely on the legal aspect, without trying the party strength at the polls; and we have no doubt many were induced by it to vote for Mr. Currier who would not otherwise have done so. We do not say that an entirely influenced poll would have given Mr. Currier the victory, for there are peculiar influences at work in Ottawa against a Reform candidate for the House of Commons; but we do believe that under ordinary and plain political circumstances there would have been no more than an ordinary majority. It is but fair therefore that the Opposition journals in giving an account of the contest should take into consideration the causes which led to Mr. Currier's immense majority, utterly ridiculous were it not explained by the circumstances we have narrated. But what is fair is not generally considered by Opposition journals; hence they try by suppressing part of the story to mislead those not acquainted with the constituency. The game that needs the aid of such a policy must indeed be a weak one.

The reduction of Captain Norris' majority in Lincoln is easily explained by the simple statement of the fact that many of his supporters are numbered among sailors absent with their vessels at the time of the election. Of course those who joy over this reduced majority were perfectly well aware of this, but, as is usual with them, forget to say anything about it. So much stress was laid on the absence of the mariner vote that Captain Norris' friends calculated only on a majority of some thirty or forty votes; and it will therefore be seen that they, as well as his opponents, were surprised by the figures. Let us hope both are an augury as they profess to be.

The Independence of Parliament Amendment Bill.

The only effect of the Independence of Parliament Amendment Bill passed toward the end of the late Session of the Dominion Parliament is to relieve, from pecuniary penalties alone, such members as may have been sitting and voting in the House in the bona fide belief that they were fully qualified, and who thus unwittingly rendered themselves liable under 31 Vic. Cap. 26. Such relief, be it also understood, is only granted up to the end of the late Session. It does not affect any action against the seat of a member, and it distinctly states in its third section that it does not refer in any terms to any person who may in again render himself liable by sitting in the House. It can, however, be pleaded as a bar and discharge to any action brought up to the present time to recover money from those who may have unintentionally rendered themselves liable. Those who show annoyance at the tenor of the amendment leave themselves open to the suspicion that they had some connection with the suits entered against certain members to recover the $2,000 a day mentioned in the Act 31 Vic., and that they really hoped to finger cash galore through the proceedings.

While the Amendment Act was an effectual stop to any speculation as to obtain money or attempt by him to an order opposent by subjecting him to the penalty, it does for payment of the penalty from the consequences of his action, if he having any conviction or agreement of a public nature reference to his seat in the House. It is therefore probable that those members against whose writs were about to be issued, and whose writs were about to be issued, the government, will take advantage of the recess to meet, and thus avoid the disqualification, purge themselves of their disqualification, by appearing before their constituents for re-election. This chance is given them by the Amendment Bill, and if they do not avail themselves of it, the fault will be their own. Already there are rumors of elections in certain constituencies represented by men who come under the operation of the Independence of Parliament Act in its strictest literal interpretation, and a number of these persons are not supporters of the government. Therefore it will be seen that the cry against the Ministry of trying to relieve its own supporters from the penalties of the Act is just so much rubbish, both parties being relieved from blackmail or political persecution as far as the $2,000 penalty is concerned, while none are entirely freed from the constitutional consequences of even the slightest infringement of the Act.

EASTERN WAR.

The news from the seat of war is generally conflicting. During the last few days, however, there have been several engagements, or rather skirmishes, and attempts on the part of the Russians to cross the Danube, but in each they have failed. In the Caucasus and districts south of it, there have been strong efforts to take Kars, or Erzeroun. In these movements the Russians find the people adverse to them, provender difficult to be obtained, and the passes strongly fortified and bravely defended. The opposing forces are very unequal in numbers, Russia having not less than three to one men in the field compared with the Turks, hence the prevailing idea that Russia must eventually be successful, although repulsed in her first efforts. The vicinity of the Danube must be deleterious to the health of large masses of soldiers encamped there, and consequently the armies are represented as already suffering from disease. Russia, however, is able to send on new supplies almost indefinitely, and to some extent overcome the depletion by disease. The Russians have suffered a severe defeat at Batoum, where they lost 4,000 men. Since that the Turks are gaining more boldness and courage. There is also news of rebellion against the Muscovite Government in the Crimea, and in Asia not far from the seat of the struggle—Caucasus. In Montenegro the Turks have suffered reverses, but to what extent is not definitely known yet. The question as to the part England may be compelled to take in this struggle is asked everywhere, but cannot be answered at this early stage of the war. Turkey acted foolishly in rejecting the terms proposed by the Great Powers, and in consequence she may be left to endure the evils of war until the powers that be have come to their right mind. There are certain reforms needed in the Turkish manner of Government. These may have to be guaranteed, and then may she hope for peace and prosperity; and until these principles of freedom—civil and religious—and equal protection to all classes of citizens are made sure, the sympathies of the world will be against the present rule at Constantinople. As large Russian forces are being massed both on the Danube and in the neighbourhood of Kars, a very few days may bring intelligence of vigorous action at both places.

Coboconk was visited by a destructive fire on Tuesday night. The greater part of the place was destroyed.

Bush Fires.—Are raging in the Ottawa District.

Dukin Act.—An attempt to quash the Dunkin Bill in the County of Grey has been unsuccessful.

Some idea may be formed of the nature of the demonstration made a couple of weeks ago by men demanding work or bread from the following facts. Last week Mr. Mackenzie exerted himself to get some employment, and succeeded in putting the canal basin in readiness to be cleared. He sent out and did his best to get fifty men to work at it, but nearly every one of the processionists applied to disdainfully refused to take any part in the job, boasting that they had not sunk so low as that yet. This and other evidences of the demonstration being political has put the case so strongly that even the Citizen reproves the men for the way they have acted.

The Toronto Tribune does not speak respectfully of Sir John's denouncement. It says that, according to the Mail report there was on the U. E. Club balcony Mr. "Sing," from Hereford, and adds: "But this is an undoubted mistake. Mr. Sing is from Ohina, and being in the laundry business wisely chose affiliation with the political party which could turn out the largest quantity of dirty linen. Sir John was in a carriage with Mr. Wark and others. He looked exceedingly well, and wore a white overcoat, of the style which in former times used to be called a "wraprascal."

[illegible] EXAMINER.

On Tuesday morning about 3 o'clock, the [illegible] was discovered by [illegible]. Upon [illegible] it was discovered in time with great exertions to save the dwelling and store, which was largely effected by Messrs. Henry & Forsyth's small engine, before the fire company could get to the place and in working order. If the dwelling and bakery had once taken fire, Mr. Lewis Glover's dwelling and store could not have escaped, and through them other buildings would have been endangered. We understand that Mr. Swanston's horse was burned to death in the stable. The loss is about $300, on which there was no insurance. The fire must have been caused by some one getting into the stable and with the everlasting match and pipe caused this loss, as well as others heard of from week to week everywhere.

Both Town and Village Councils should not delay in placing two or three of these small engines in different parts of the town and village. Their usefulness has again and again been demonstrated. They can be got so quick after the alarm, and one pail of water will suffice to enable [illegible] would to be used. Two or three of these often be successful in preventing the extension of fires, and the cost is so trifling that no one need oppose it. Mr. Dumble [illegible] the matter in the Council on Monday evening. Other [illegible] have witnessed their usefulness since. Let us advise them to support Mr. Dumble in getting a few of them for the outskirts of the town, where they can be used long before the fire engine can be got to the place.

TAKE CARE "OLD MAN."—The last [illegible] has found an error, the Review fancies, in one of our articles in our dialogue. We advise our friend to apply some ice to his temples, as the effort of last week must have induced a heavy fever. If the old man does not keep cool on the approach of the dog days, we may have to administer some applications to alleviate his pain and prevent its return.

London.—Three prisoners escaped from the London Jail on Monday night. One of them named Nixon has been recaptured at Stratford, the other two have succeeded in getting to Detroit, their names are Carson and O'Rielly, each about 23 years of age. They were in for cattle stealing.

The Port Hope Times of last week again expressed conformity with the EXAMINER's views on the subject of "better terms" as applied to Port Hope's debt to the Province. The Times states that it does not quite agree with all its correspondent has said. No more do we; and we have not been afraid to express wherein we differ, instead of simply mentioning the fact that there is a difference.

One sentence in our leading article of last week got considerably mixed by stating that the "Opposition (in the English House of Commons) are a willing war party and ready to turn out one party and the other." This means we know not what; but what was meant was to the effect that one party was a willing war party, and the opposition was ready to turn it out in that issue.

"What we have said before in connection with the Georgian Bay Branch Railway we have no hesitation in saying again appealing to official records to bear us out. Mr. Mackenzie paid ex-Senator Foster $41,000 in hard cash for filling a contract which it subsequently turned out had not been filled at all."—Review.

We don't question the readiness of the repetition; but we do the statement. Mr Mackenzie did not pay ex-Senator Foster $41,000 for filling a contract. Bring on your official record, and see how quickly they will "bear you out" as Ananias and his wife were borne out.

"The late session of Parliament can be borne in mind by remembering that it was the one in which the "Reform" party was forced by the pressure of public opinion to show their Speaker the door in order to save the Government from utter disgrace."—Review.

The Pacific Scandal party would bear defied public opinion, tried to shield the errors, and chose the disgrace. Tait's the way they did in Col. Gray's case, to say nothing of the hero of the "Send-me-another-$10,000" telegram.

The Macdonnell case will come before the Presbyterian General Assembly at Halifax. It is understood that Mr. Macdonnell's report to the Presbytery declares that his views have undergone no change since last year. As the delegates to the Assembly have been generally elected in accordance with their position on this question, there will in all likelihood be a very warm debate on the subject. The issue, whatever it may be, will be looked for by the people of Peterboro' with interest second only to that of Torontonians.

The Steamship "City of Brussels" which carried the Irish Pilgrims to Rome from New York was due at Queenston on the 1st Inst., but as nothing was heard of her for more than a week after that date it was feared that she had such a fate like that of the "City of Boston." The feeling was intensified by the number of families having friends aboard. Senator Frank Smith of Toronto, feared and hoped for the safety of his wife and all his children, while quite a number of the Pilgrims were from Montreal and a few from other parts of Canada. The suspicion was happily relieved on Sunday by a telegram from New York, announcing that the "City of Richmond" had met the missing vessel in mid-ocean, with a broken shaft, but proceeding safely under sail, with all well on board. In Montreal and Toronto thanks to God were offered up in Protestant as well as Catholic Churches.

We commend to the particular attention of our readers an article we reproduce from the Toronto Globe on the Toronto and Ottawa Railway. It contains not only an assurance that the projected line of road is looked on by the principal journal and leader of opinion in the country as a "settled measure of public policy;" it also gives good reasons why by-laws about to be submitted in aid of the project should be carried. These reasons are political and commercial, patriotic and personal in their application. It is very certain that the municipal bonuses constitute the basis on which the whole grand capital of the concern is to be built; and the promptitude with which they are granted is the chief mark whereby we may forecast the future in respect to the readiness of the cities and the Province to aid the project and secure its rapid completion.

"THE POWER OF LOVE."

BY STEWART GRIEVE.

Love comes from Heaven. There love's empire exists in perfection. Human affection we call its great traits borrows from it. It is an imperfect portion of that which animates the hearts of the higher world. It is fearless—conquers many defeats. Earthly objects—earthly tasks—earthly cravings are more or less mingled therewith. In the sweetness of the blessed the love of Divinity, which passes the souls of the Saints, is at once pure—at once perfect—at once sublimity itself. It is the realization of far more than the mind of man can conceive even in its highest flights. The sphere in which love reigns with this exalted majesty is, alas! "Far above the imperfect harmonies of earth; beyond the sunset; beyond the hills."

Love makes a great change in a young man. Before Cupid's dart pierces his bosom he may be tame, quiet, undemonstrative. He may know the power of poetry, alone, and be blind to its dazzling marvelous. The influence of affection is first "the Ever since the time of Homer," its power asserting stern sway has been illustrated on every page of human history. The varied emotions of human heart prove its potency. That heart which once was cold and indifferent to all [illegible] things, melts under the rays of love softens under its brilliant shining beams, until its former coldness and indifference disappear. From the matter-of-fact boy, love creates the enthusiastic, impulsive young man. Literature and science, which before had for him no solitary attractions, now possess many. He can ponder hours and hours over works of philosophy—over Belle Lettres, which but a short time previous had no charms. Nor fiction, nor history but any lessons in their pages, until the twilight halo of love throws a [illegible] into every line. Art, on [illegible] masterpieces he had so [illegible] looked unmoved, now reveals to him a new world—a new fragrant atmosphere does he breathe. The oriental scenes conjured up by the poets, have for him more than an imaginary existence. He feels that his life is as full of joy, as could have been that of the favorites of the immortal gods. The divine art bursts on his senses in more melodious, more harmonic sounds. From his infancy he might have been a great lover of music, but it is only after his heart becomes impressed with the image of his love, that he understands its true expression—its heart speaking language.

He who has seen the dawning of the morning of a bright, clear summers day, can form in his mind some idea of the first and lasting impression of love on the youthful heart. Standing in darkness above a large clear lake, high on the mountain top, and looking upwards he beholds pale luna slowly rise and softly glide across the firmament. The highest point of beauty is realized at the break of day. The moon on this side shedding its beams on the shining, undulating waters, the morn on that, gaining with its mild light on the retreating wave—on the silver-tipped crests—the clouds tipped with burning gold—the brilliant rays of sunshine which pierce those clouds through and rush with outstretched arms to embrace reposing nature, to kiss the dew drops from her lips, and bid her "arise!" "awake!"—these all convey but a dim picture of the pleasing transition which the heart—the mind—the soul experience in their change from the darkness of indifference to the daylight of love.

COUNCIL MEETING.—Council met at Old Town Hall on April the 23th. All the members present. Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. Reeve reported verbally about lock-up in Warsaw, and the Clerk about magistrate's fines. Geo. Killingbeck and 7 others petitioned to have certain lots taken from S. S. No. 11 and added to No. 2. On motion the matter was laid over, being too late for this year. Messrs. Wm. Handbidge and Geo. Payne made statements about an agreement made formerly about a lane to the Indian River that was to have been given in lieu of the present travelled road. The matter was not fully settled. On motion the name of Sylvanus Rorabach was added to the list of Pathmasters, and Robt Parker to that of Pound-keepers. On motion the Clerk was instructed to give the necessary notices with reference to the sale of the 5th con. line opposite lot 3, except that part occupied as a travelled road. On motion the Clerk was instructed to get 400 copies of the By-laws relating to the duties of overseers of highways, and 200 of the By-laws relating to public morals printed in sheet form. Orders granted: To Messrs. Robertson & Co, printing, $7.50. George Forbis, sal, $10. John Ford, charity, $10. By-laws passed: One for the preservation of Public Morals and one relating to the duties of Overseers of Highways and the performance of Statute Labor. Council adjourned to Saturday, June 2nd, to meet at Old Town Hall as a Court of Revision.—Con.

LAYING THE DUST.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

MR. EDITOR,—With your indulgence, and being a ratepayer on one of the back streets of the town, I would like to say a word on the laying of the dust. Of all the concommitants of the summer season none are so unpleasant as the dust. On our main streets the dust is a disgrace to the town, and particularly unbearable. When it gets warm and the wind is blowing clouds of dust, what will become of us? Who have we the right to look to for redress? Does our Town Fathers consider they have any duties devolving on them in this matter for the public benefit, or must we beg of the merchants to put their hands in their pockets and pay for our comfort by having the thoroughfares watered? Will the Council answer these questions at the next meeting, and oblige one who lives on

DONEGAL STREET?

May 14th, 1877.

"OLD DOG TRAY."

To the Editor of the Examiner.

"Let dogs delight to bark and bite.
It's natural if they're rabid."

Now, Mr. Editor, if N.A. was added to the above heading it would indicate vigilance, fidelity and dignity.

Allow me to congratulate the inhabitants of Warsaw and its radius of four miles on the indications that their cellars and other valuables are protected by so vigilant a watch dog as Old Dog Tray, M.A., and let me caution all sinners of seventeen years standing to keep out of his reach, as he appears to be rabid at times, and his bite might prove fatal coming on dog days; and then it seems that by virtue of the M.A. he has authority to use a fine-toothed and very long-handled rake, gathering with it seventeen years of sins and transgressions, and when he fills his cartoon full, dear me, what will he do with them?—give a self-righteous howl and call all the canines together and have a great feast.

I am terrified at hydrophobia; rabid dogs should be muzzled.

AN OLD SINNER.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

DEAR SIR,—In reply to my communication your correspondent could have selected no other more appropriate cognomen over which to write than he did, viz.: "Old Dog Tray." Had he but dabbled himself A.S.M., "Fodder Abraham & Co.," he would not have more clearly defined his real standing here than he did, unless he had signed himself "Old Dog Betsey." This latter amendment would have made his name complete.

The reply referred to favorably reminds me of one of Mark Twain's sketches entitled, "An item which the editor himself could not understand." Possibly "Old Dog Tray" was reading it about the time he penned his answer to "Tedy."

What other conclusion could any person arrive at than that my article was very interesting to your correspondent, and that "Old Dog Tray" was sorry when it came to an end, when he takes up half of his communication in its reproduction?

I was prepared with names, dates and places in proof of my former statements, but as "Old Dog Tray" has no more intention of permitting them ever any change, thereby all committing it, I, therefore, with him must conclude that as my "channel of information" brings me truth, it does work to my entire satisfaction.

Now, Sir, what is the gist of "Old Dog's" snarl? I use the term "Old Dog" in no offensive sense, but for brevity's sake. It is simply this: Mr. P. commits an impropriety for which he gets urgent permission to leave; somebody else has done so and, as [illegible] thinks, therefore Mr. P. has done right. I think he is trying to draw attention from the real offender by his man of straw.

If "Old Dog" knows of any action of mine which, published, instruct, or [illegible], or amuse the readers of your journal, by all means let him trot it out. He will have to commence when I was about six years of age. It is understood in our town that every tub stands on its own bottom, and if he has any doubts as to my identity he can have my photo if he desires. I have drawn no cartoon, and do not intend unless forced to do so. I fail to find the suggestion spoken of in his communication. I have examined it microscopically, and all I can discover is "Old Dog" throughout. There is a question given which I shall answer. I would suggest, however, that any cartoons he wishes to have drawn he take a hand in them himself.

All classes of A.M. subjects are amenable to law, and if "Old Dog" knows of any one breaking it he should bring the culprit to justice, but at the same time he should make himself sure he is right, then being apre to go ahead, otherwise it is barely possible he might find the "decayed scalp" he speaks of in a most thorough state of repair.

One more quotation and I am done:

"Let dogs delight to bark and bite.
For God hath made them so.
Let bears and lions growl and fight,
For 'tis their nature, too.
But Christians you should never let
Your angry passions rise,
Your peace were never made, I'm sure,
To claw out sinners' eyes.

I am, Sir,
TAFFY.

Warsaw, May 14th, 1877.

To the Editor of the Peterborough Examiner.

SIR,—In the report of the Pottery Fire in the Review of the 11th instant appears a couple of paragraphs not very complimentary to the Chief and Assistant Engineers or the Fire Brigade, and were in my opinion dictated, if not written, by one interested in raising a dust, to the [illegible] of the chief mistake might get hid in the storm. One paragraph commences by saying that a misunderstanding seems to have arisen between the Chief and Assistant Engineers and the engine driver as to the placing of the engine. Now this is incorrect, as proof can be got that the engine driver on being told to go to the tank by the Assistant Engineer replied that he could give two streams from the creek and drove on to the creek. Was that a misunderstanding, or is it not more like an act of insubordination? and if the engineers have not the authority of placing the engine and commanding the Brigade then the Council had better do away with those officials. I would like to ask if it was also a misunderstanding when this same engine driver told the Engineer, when asked by that official to give more steam, that he would run the engine to suit himself, and this at a time when there was such a sickly stream that standing 20 feet from the foundation it could not be thrown over Mr. Delaney's kitchen, and this too by an engine, if driven, capable of tearing the shingles off a two story house 1,000 feet. (as witness the trial in Ashburnham of the small engine that came here first.) Then it is sought to be shown that under the circumstances the creek was the proper place for the engine. Granting this to be correct, (which I dispute,) does that exonerate the engine driver for an act of disobedience to the town officers appointed by the Council to direct the efforts of the Fire Brigade, and who are supposed to be the best available men for the position, (and I don't know that they could have done much better); if so, then the sooner the Engineers resign the better, and then allow the engine driver to direct the whole efforts of the firemen as well as run the machine. But I deny that the engine was placed correctly, and so I think would any person of an ordinary amount of intelligence. If the engine had been placed at the tank there could have been two strong streams playing on the fire seven or eight minutes before we had that one puny dribble, and everyone knows that fire or ten minutes at the commencement of a fire is worth twice as long after the fire has got good hold; and in my opinion had this been done the fire could have been confined to the sheds and the fire over in an hour or two, instead of working six hours and then losing two houses that need not have been burned. But if you follow up the line of argument laid down in this instance to its conclusion, then a fire occuring, say in Mr. Wrighton's store, the wind from the north-east, then the proper place for the engine would be on the bridge on Hunter street. If this is correct, then the town has thrown a lot of money away on tanks, as the creek is the proper place on all occasions. It is also stated that the firemen should have more drill, as they bungled badly in coupling their hose. There is no doubt that there is some truth in this, but when you consider that these men are volunteers, and have to work at their different callings for a living, and have not much time for drill, and also that they have two sets of couplings to work, one that the thread turns from left to right and the other set the opposite direction, and the men themselves being in a hurry and excited, I think you can excuse them a little. But I find it is impossible to please every person in fire matters as well as other matters. As an instance, at the station fire one leading citizen abused the whole fire brigade because they did not let the fire go ahead to the west as far as it liked and stop behind and save a few ton of coal that he had in an old shed; and the very men who were loudest in their abuse of the firemen at the pottery fire were the persons who came to the officers of the brigade at Mrs. Watt's fire, corner of George and Charlotte streets, and asked them to let the cursed old fabrics burn. So we cannot suit every person, and do not try to, but do our best on all occasions without favor.

Thanking you for allowing me space to try and put the saddle on the right horse, I remain, yours,

LEONARD DOBBIN,
Sec.-Tr'y P. F. B.

Patent Close Slat Window Shades

SELF ROLLING.

EDWARD GREEN having purchased the right to manufacture the above Window Shades for the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria, is now prepared to manufacture them to order for Stores and Dwelling-houses, in any size from one foot to eight feet in width, and to any length required. Having all the machinery required for the manufacture of these Patent Shades, all orders will be promptly attended to and executed with despatch.

ADVANTAGES:

The advantages of these Shades are that they are close slat and self rolling, strong and durable, cause no trouble or annoyance by rollers falling down, cords breaking, or getting out of order, but are so simple and convenient that they never fail to give satisfaction.

These Shades are sold by the square foot, and left complete upon the window. No extra charge for fitting up.

PETERBOROUGH, MAY 17, 1877.

H. LeBrun has a first-class Cutter, and guarantees a good fit. 17

Suits from T. Bolton & Co's are noted for excellency of style and fit.

Summer Shoes for gentlemen will be out directly. Now don't forget it.

If you want a real Stylish Suit of Clothes, go and leave your measure with H. LeBrun.

Read the advertisement of Mr John Holmes. In another column, we will refer to it in our next issue.

Queen Victoria will be 58 years of age on the 24th of the present month. "God save our Queen."

Gentlemen going to get some real fine Furnishings should not fail to give H. LeBrun a trial.

The Dust.—Thunderer on Tuesday afternoon done for us what the town council will not do, viz: lay the dust.

B. Morrow has a large stock of Groceries, Wines, Liquors, &c., which he is disposing of as "Grangers" prefer. 20-4

Board of Trade.—A meeting of the Board of Trade is to be held this evening, when several matters of interest will come up.

Closed Season.—The closed season for Muskinonge is from the 30th of May to the 30th of June; during which time it is illegal to catch them.

Month of "Mary."—This month is so called by Roman Catholics and is not apart from other months in honor of and for the adoration of the Blessed Virgin.

A Good Price.—Mr. D. G. Henthorn bought a "Jack the Barber" foal from Mr. J. A. Hartley, for $360 this week. Its a long price for a three weeks foal.

Who is Who.—W. H. Rymal has advertised an entertainment in the Music Hall this evening, under the above heading. No doubt but those who attend will find out who he is.

It is time that the Reform Association were awake to see that no errors are made in the assessment rolls. Be awake, gentlemen, and don't let anybody steal a march over you.

Promenade Concert.—The Firemen's Band and the Young Canadians will hold a promenade concert in the Drill Shed on the evening of the 24th of May. Admission, Gents. 15 cts.; Ladies 10 cts.

Salmon Fishing.—Salmon Fishing has commenced and is said to be good at Burleigh Falls. Several very large ones have been caught lately, and quite a number of our sports have been up at the Falls.

Annual Meeting.—The annual meeting of the Peterborough Mechanics' Institute, for the election of officers &c., will be held in the room of the Institute, on Monday evening, the 21st inst., at eight o'clock p.m.

The Campbellford Herald of last week says of our old fire engine: "In four minutes after the arrival of the engine a stream of water was poured upon the building of sufficient power to quench the flames in a very brief period of time."

A Change.—Messrs. Haggart, Bros. have removed to the premises occupied by W. Fairweather & Co. This change to enlarged premises will afford Messrs. Haggart Bros. the necessary accommodation required for their growing business.

"Remember Me."—This is an address by the Rev. John Moffatt, minister of the Church of Scotland in England, describing "The Captivity and Persecution of the Scotch Church in Canada, now published in pamphlet form. Printed by Hunter, Rose & Co., Toronto.

Chocolate Cream and Tablettes.—Mr. David Lemay, confectioner, has just received another very fine selection of Rowntree's celebrated chocolate cream drops and tablettes from England. It is the finest flavoured confectionary of the kind, very much superior to Cadbury's manufacture. 20-1

Obituary.—Mr. Solomon Hyman, father of Mr. Hyman, of this town, died in Kingston, of which city he had been a resident for many years, on Monday, 7th inst. Mr. Hyman was one of the most energetic and successful merchants of the limestone city. His remains were taken to Montreal for interment.

Communication.—We have received a communication from "A Resigned Templar," Warsaw. Owing to its very personal applications we must refuse it a place in our columns. We cannot be the medium for indulgence in personalities. In future everything of a personal nature, not of general interest, will be rejected, no matter from what source it may come. We regret that one appearing this week had to be shortened for the same reason.

In England, Gray's Syrup is known as the GREAT NORTH AMERICAN COUGH REMEDY, and is, we are told, as rapidly growing into favor, as a family cough remedy, as it has in this country. It is a great gain to the physician's art to make a medicine pleasant to take while efficacious to cure - these qualities are found in Gray's Syrup of Red Spruce Gum. All the Tonic, Expectorant and Soothing qualities of this Gum, which is taken from the Red Spruce Tree, are fully preserved. 19-4ins.

Intermediate and Teachers' Examinations.—It is stated on semi-official authority, that in the revised instructions about to be issued to Public School Inspectors, it is intended to allow second-class candidates an option between English literature, prescribed for the intermediate, and the botany and physiology prescribed for the teachers' examination. An opportunity will be given to an intermediate candidate to pass the second and third-class examinations as well as the intermediate.

Personal.—We are pleased to learn that Mr. J. M. Miller, son of Mr. James Miller, Esq., Reeve of Otonabee, has graduated with honors in the medical department of Toronto University. He intends visiting Great Britain this fall for the purpose of graduating at a Scotch University, so as to eminently qualify himself for the duties of his chosen profession. He is a young gentleman of excellent character and industrious habits, and is sure to succeed in attaining to a high degree of skill in the healing art. We predict for him an honorable, prosperous and useful future career.

Teas, Sugars, Coffees, &c., are being sold at W. Fleetly & Co's old stand, very low for cash. Call and see for yourselves. 20-1

Miss. Hunter's Minstrels.—This troupe will appear in Sradbura's Opera House on Monday evening. The Albany Argus speaking of the company says:—"This troupe appeared last night at Odd Fellows Hall, before one of the largest and most enthusiastic audiences that was ever seen in Albany. The hall was filled, crowded and packed, every inch of space being occupied. The performance opened with the usual repertoire of minstrelsy, in which the songs and comic hits of the performers were rapturously applauded and heartily enjoyed. The olio of specialties was made up of dances, songs, and laughable comicalities. The clog dnet by the Love Sisters was especially good. The concluding musical burlesque, entitled, Iron, is an entertainment of merit; it offers opportunity for display of talent. To-night there will be an entirely new programme. The company drew a crowded house last night. If we may judge from the unbounded applause that shook the building (and applause is evidence of appreciation), we may safely say that the troupe of Misses. Rentz was thoroughly enjoyed.

For Readymade Clothing go to H. LeBrun, who has the largest stock in town. Good Tweed Suits for $16.00.

Not so.—The Rev. V. Clementi, intimates, in writing to the Lakefield News, that a garbled copy of his sermon has somewhere been given to the public. As the EXAMINER is the only newspaper, except the News, that published his sermon, we take this opportunity of stating that the Many is the only paper in which his sermon appeared different from what he delivered in St. John's Church. We employed a first-class short-hand writher to report it, and he assures us that a considerable portion of what was given in the News was not delivered on the occasion of his preaching it, so that if a garbled or altered sermon has been given to the public, the party who furnished the copy to the News is the guilty party. The sermon as published in the EXAMINER is verbatim as delivered by the Rev. Gentleman. (With the exception of one or two sentences which he could not hear, hence they were not published.)

The Town Council and the Dust.—We have been somewhat inclined to find fault with the members of the town council because of the indifference to the watering of our thoroughfares, but may we not condemn the stubbornness of the merchants in holding out to get the cost, levied on the whole town. In this attempt to gain their "points" both deserve censure, but to what extent respectively we will not attempt to decide. This one thing is certain, the dust has been intolerable, and requires to be abated. Can the council not provide an improved watering cart, or carts if need be, and make arrangements to supply the water? and then if the merchants and those concerned immediately, will not bear the expense of getting the water applied, let them bear the blame and loss. But surely the dust cannot be allowed full swing any longer.

Hot the Thing.—We see that the white tie fever is coming into vogue again this season, so we repeat the remarks we made last year. In the past, custom has decreed that white ties were alone the distinguishable feature which marked "gentlemen of the cloth" from the more common order of humanity, but the Centennial year has brought in an innovation, and no longer does the rule hold good. On the other side white ties are quite fashionable with sports, to the disgust of the sedate reverend ones who previously have regarded it as their sacred calling. The white tie fever has slightly touched this town, and the supposed "clerical garnie" are fast springing up. The Lindsay Post says that "we have the homliest looking lot of preachers in our town any person ever saw," but we just ask him to strike this town when some of the sports are trying "to put it on," and he can form his own opinion. The fraud is not exactly right, and the best way to curb it is for the preachers to ask them forward to close the meeting.

Laying the Foundation Stone.—The foundation stone of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, took place on Ascension Day, May 10th. A special service was commenced in the school house at three p.m., in which Rural Dean Smithett and the Reverend Messrs. Beck, Clementi, Musson, and Bradshaw, took part. The room was filled to its utmost capacity. An eloquent and impressive sermon was preached by Rural Dean Smithett, from 1st Peter, II. 6. After the service the Clergy proceeded to the site selected for the foundation stone, which was laid by the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, assisted by the architect, J. E. Belcher, C. E. An elegant silver trowel was presented to the Rev. Mr. Bradshaw by the building committee. A case was deposited under the stone, containing copies of the Toronto Globe and Mail, the local papers, Dominion Churchman, a copy of the form of service used on the occasion, and a scroll containing names of church wardens, building committee, and architects, and also the different Canadian coin in circulation. The proceedings were orderly throughout and were witnessed by a large assemblage. A handsome collection was taken up in aid of the building fund. It is calculated that the church will be ready for occupation by the first day of August next.

Removals.—R. Stenson has removed to the new store recently erected by Messrs. Cox & Donnelly....John Garvey has removed to the corner store lately occupied by S. Johnson as a drug store. Mr. Bradburn is having a new Mansard roof erected on it, and when completed will make one of the finest stores in town....Mr. Austin has removed to the stand lately occupied by R. Stenson & Son, where he has opened out a nice selection of jewelry and fancy goods....Haggart Bros. have removed to the store occupied by W. Fairweather & Co., where they will have more commodious premises for their increased business. Mr. Heuback has removed to the store lately occupied by Mr. Slemon, on Hunter street. Mr. Bryant has removed three doors south, to the shop lately occupied by Mr. Heuback....Mr. Berubee has removed from Peterborough to the Midland House, Lakefield, lately occupied by Mr. German....The Ontario Bank has removed to the new premises corner of Simcoe and Water streets....The mechanics institute will remove to the old council chamber as soon as the necessary arrangements are made. Messrs. Lasher Bros. & Co., will remove to the new store adjoining the boot and shoe store of Mr. Stenson, in Cox & Donnelly's new block, as soon as it is completed

Bank of Ontario.—The Bank of Ontario has removed into its new quarters, in the Nicholls Block, corner of Simcoe and Water streets. This building has been especially erected for the Bank, and is fitted up in excellent style, equal to, if not superior to, any in the Province. The position is a very excellent one, and the arrangements inside are the most improved designs. The counters are finished in Canadian ash, beautifully varied with walnut veneering. The railings are of neatly designed castings, and the glass wavey, giving the whole an appearance pleasing and handsome. The manager, George E. Shaw, Esq., is deservedly popular, and has done much to make the Ontario Bank an institution of the town and county. He has now the finest bank accommodations in town, and surpassing the Bank of Commerce, lately erected by Mr. Cox. But perhaps the desire to excel had something to do in fitting up for the Ontario Bank here. It is a pleasing sign of the growth and prosperity of the town when men of wealth are endeavoring to out-rival each other in architectural beauty and internal splendor, and as this has been especially the case in this instance particularly, we congratulate the Ontario Bank manager and clerks in having lived long enough to receive of the result of this ambition, and wish them a happy and long enjoyment of their new quarters. The prosperity of the Ontario Bank is sure to secure for it a fair share of public patronage any where, but if possible even larger patronage in this new building.

Complementary Entertainment.—The complementary entertainment given to Mr. O. Dixon, Ventriloquist, on Monday evening, in the Opera House, was a decided success, both financially and otherwise. The audience was large and select, and the programme was carried through very successfully. The piano solos of Mr. E. Mahon were exceedingly well rendered, and warmly applauded. In the absense of Miss Hattain, Mr. Templeton Brown, Peterboro's old favorite, sang "As I View those Scenes so Charming," and was rapturously encored, Miss Clark accompanying him at the piano. The duet by the Misses Edmison was finely executed and well received. The singing of Mr. J. Ormond was, as usual, strongly applauded, especially after singing the "Dutch Boarding House" in character. Mr. Dixon gave several exhibitions of his ventriloquial powers, which caused no small degree of amusement and applause. He so often aided in the amusements for Peterborough audiences that there is no need to dilate on this rare natural gift. In the farces several of the amateurs acted their parts exceedingly well, seeming quite at home on the stage. The band played appropriate selections and are to be congratulated on their progress during the winter months. The concert was pronounced by all to be eminently successful, and are the "National Anthem" was played by the band, Mr. Dixon expressed his sincere and heartfelt thanks to those ladies and gentlemen for their ardent labors in making the entertainment so successful, and also for the kind heartedness and generosity which characterized the people of Peterborough.

Splinters. Only one week to the anniversary of the birth of her Majesty....The prospects of the fruit crop are excellent in and round Peterborough. Plum trees are covered with fruit buds....The verdict of a large number who assembled to hear the Firemen's Band on Friday evening last was very complementary to the performers....Blue glass is down....The logs are commencing to come down the river, the first of the season made their appearance on yesterday, belonging to Messrs McDougall & Lodgate....The "Whistle-wing" runs at the rate of twelve miles an hour since she received her overhauling....There was a large number in town on Saturday....Vennor is right as to the present weather....The Galt Reporter speaking of the Guelph assessment says: "The population is given at 677, being an increase of 639 over last year"....The Review charges the Insurance Agents with interference with the Branchmen at the late fire. What has the Engineers and Branchmen of the company to say about this? and what are the engineers for, if any person can give the branchmen orders where to throw the water?....The Dominion Bank counterfeit four dollar notes are in circulation. The paper is thinner than the genuine, and has a greasy feeling....Oh! Lay the dust....Boating on the Lake and River is now indulged in. LITERARY.

The cheapest fashion Magazine.—Among the meritorious publications devoted to the sole use of Fashion, we would invite the attention of our lady readers to one, which we think possesses in a large degree the essentials of a perfect work—viz., common sense and taste. We refer to "EBERCHS' FASHION QUARTERLY," the "Spring" number of which has just reached us.

It will be found instructive, useful, beautiful, valuable. The very low subscription price at which it is issued will surprise our lady readers when they examine its contents. The leading idea of the work, the presentation of a reference book and illustrated catalogue of contents of their great establishment, is handsomely conveyed; and the fund of information, instruction and thought thereto added will make it welcome in all homes where taste and refinement dwell. The beauty of its illustrations, the topics so ably presented by its able lady contributors, its practicle commonsense suggestions, above all, the value of its price list, make it the best investment we have seen in its line. Be household should be without it.

To Fortune's favored ones it offers manifold attractions in its choice and rare styles pertaining to the wardrobe and personal adornment. To those in moderate circumstances opportunity is given for a display of the same refinement of taste, though it may be in humbler objects. To all who seek to learn, to cultivate the beautiful, and to adorn "home" and the "loved ones" it will be found a mine of information. the "Spring" number, a large volume of 116 pages, is well worth the whole year's subscription price, which is astonishingly moderate—namely, 25 cents. The publishers are EBERCH & Co., Nos. 237 and 239 Eighth Avenue, New York City, widly known as enterprising and reliable merchants.

Canadian Trade.—We have received a copy of a pamphlet of over 150 pages entitled "A General Review of the Trade of Montreal." It contains also a synopsis of the commerce of Canada and the address upon "Protection for Home Manufactories," delivered in the City Hall London, in January last, by Mr. Thomas White, jun. Messrs. T. & R. White, Montreal, are the publishers. The various statistical tables appear to have been prepared with care.

Companion and Teacher.—This very useful and instructive monthly is well deserving a place on every teacher's table. It abounds with useful hints to teachers, and contains from time to time solutions of difficult questions that cannot but make it sought after by those who are desirous to qualify themselves thoroughly for their profession. It is only $1 a year, and the publisher offers to supply a copy gratis to any one not having seen it.

THE Rev. Mr Torrence will deliver an address in Port Hope on Friday evening on "The Prophet Daniel."

NEW GOODS.—J. Elder has received 6 cases of new goods, which he is disposing of very cheap for cash. 20-1in

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.—It is fully expected that there will be service in this church next Sabbath.

CRICKET CLUB.—A meeting of the members of the Peterborough Cricket Club will be held at the Huffman House, on Saturday evening the 19th inst., at 7:30 o'clock sharp. A full attendance is requested.

HALF the fools in town think they can beat the doctors at curing the sick, two-thirds of them are sure they can beat the ministers preaching the gospel, and all of them know they can beat the editors running the papers.

FANCY GOODS.—Mr. J. F. Austin has opened out in R. Stenson & Son's old stand, a splendid assortment of English, French, German, and American Fancy Goods. He respectfully invites an inspection of his stock.

CHANGE OF TIME.—We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Calcutt's line of steamers in another column. The different newspapers that have contracts with Mr. Calcutt will please change the advertisement.

ASHBURNHAM.—A boys fire company has been organized to work a hand engine and the council proposes to furnish them a uniform. It was owing to their endeavors the fire was kept from spreading on Monday night, till the steamer arrived.

AUCTION SALE.—Haggart Bros. will sell by public auction on Saturday the 19th inst, on the premises, that valuable property occupied by Mr. H. Hartley, corner of McDonnell and Aylmer streets, in the Town of Peterborough. Sale at 2 p.m.

REGISTERED LETTERS.—Postmasters are now instructed by the Department to stamp all registered letters twice on the back with their office stamp. This will prevent letters from being opened or tampered with by officials, or at least they cannot be without its being discovered at what office it was done.

PETERBOROUGH CANOES.—The Kingston News of Saturday says:—"Six canoes are lying at Swift's dock for shipment to Thunder Bay, to be engaged in the Pacific Railway survey. They were built at Peterborough, and are exceedingly light, but strongly built. They arrived in the city by Grand Trunk Railway, and are waiting shipment by the first propeller going west.

EXCURSION ON THE 24th.—The "Whistle Wing" will run an excursion on the 24th, to Hastings, carrying the O. Y. B.'s of Millbrook. The O. Y. B.'s of Peterboro' have been invited, and the "Golden-Eye" will run from here connecting with the "Whistle Wing" at Wallace Point, and returning on the "Golden-Eye" in the evening. She will also carry passengers who may wish to take a trip to Hastings or Harwood, at a reduced fare.

DROWNED.—We regret to learn that Mr. Quinn of Otonabee was drowned in Rice Lake on Thursday evening last. It appears that he had been on a visit to some of his friends in Rochester, and when returning home, was crossing the Lake in a skiff, and by some means it capsized between Roach's Point and Sugar Island and he was drowned. His remains were found on Friday and were interred in the Roman Catholic Cemetery on Sunday last. He was over eighty years of age.

REMOVAL.—Mr. J. Stenson has removed his boot and shoe store to Cox & Donnelly's new block, two doors north of Mr. Loch's fur store, where he has increased facilities for carrying on his business. The store is one of the finest in town, fitted to suit him. His stock is large and well selected. His home made work is of the best style and quality, and hence he must secure a large trade. He is well and favorable known and his new additional attraction together with moderate prices, will induce intending purchasers to pay him a visit.

ATHLETIC.—The Boating Club have made arrangements to have athletic sports in the agricultural show grounds on the 24th of May. The members of the committee have secured a large number of prizes from several of our merchants, and are making every endeavor to have the sports a success, and we have no doubt but that they will be. Posters will be printed in a few days, when full particulars will be given. The Boating Club deserve credit for their enterprise in getting up some amusements for that day. Peterborough is falling off in this line, as there seems to be nothing else going on for the celebration of the birthday of our gracious Queen. The firemen formerly were the first to move in this direction, but there does not seem to be that life in the brigade that once existed. The firemen's band has been engaged, and will give several selections during the afternoon.

TORONTO TO OTTAWA.

(From Monday's Globe.)

The construction of a direct line of railway from Toronto to Ottawa may be regarded as a settled measure of public policy. The commencement of the work will be commenced at no very distant time, but that it day amounts to a certainty. The importance of securing reasonably easy communication between Montreal and Toronto and western cities is admitted. At present it takes, on an average, about seventeen hours to accomplish the journey by the Grand Trunk and Prescott and Ottawa Railways, that should, when reduced to all but an air line trip of 250 miles, be accomplished easily in ten hours at the furthest. It may have been a misfortune that Ottawa was selected as the seat of the Federal Government, but selected it was, and its seat of Government, it is certain now to remain. Every year renders its connections with other parts of the Dominion closer and more intimate; every year sees a larger aggregation of business of all kinds, both during the session of Parliament and the recess. It has been pretty plainly intimated by the chiefs of political parties that their followers must in future expect to spend three months in the year in attendance on their legislative duties, an indication in itself, among many others, of the increasing importance and extent of the interests represented at Ottawa. All this is an argument of the most practical kind in favour of bringing that city within the shortest possible time-distance from the great centres of commerce and industry.

The bold and liberal policy of the Province of Quebec has already all but effected the object that as yet the people of the west are contemplating prospectively. Montreal will soon be within three or four hours' ride of the capital at furthest. To secure a direct line and rapid communication with Ottawa will mean also greater facilities for communication between Toronto and Montreal or Quebec. A new through line of railway built with an eye to Canadian interests and managed by Canadians will put a new aspect altogether on the relations of some of the most important sections of the Dominion to each other.

The railway from Toronto to Ottawa will find—as we have pointed out before to-day—its traffic ready for it. In this respect it will be altogether unlike many roads built in advance of trade or settlement, and designed with the object—praiseworthy enough in its way, but often tedious of attainment—of creating a future trade and developing its future resources. The Toronto and Ottawa Railway will become at once the forwarding agency for the Great Western and Credit Valley lines. The former of those will cease, from the moment the Toronto and Ottawa is built, to be a mere "hewer of wood and drawer of water" to American railways. It will become something more than a link in the chain of roads stretching from Chicago to New York. It may, and no doubt will become a part of a Canadian through route system having its outport on the St. Lawrence, and being thenceforth free to make its own independent arrangements. As to the Credit Valley, that will, in effect, be part of the one line that will stretch from the Detroit River via Ottawa to Quebec. Besides those roads, the Northern, Toronto, Grey, and Bruce, Nippissing, Port Perry and Whitby, Midland, and Grand Junction will all act as feeders to the new line, and find in it a most valuable ally in conveying the traffic they collect to its ultimate destination.

That the city of Toronto will, under certain conditions, enter warmly into the spirit of this enterprise when called upon to come to its aid we have not the least doubt. It has long been regarded as a well understood part of a general plan of railway construction in which Toronto was directly interested—the final arrangement, in fact, by which the city was to be placed in that commanding position with respect to the rest of the Province it has had a laudable and just ambition to occupy. The action of the city of Toronto will, however, more or less depend on the results of the appeals that are about to be made to various country municipalities for pecuniary aid in the shape of bonuses. A considerable sum has already been pledged by the voting of by-laws, the latest contribution being from Perth for $75,000. On the 26th of May the wealthy township of Pickering, in South Ontario, is to be asked to pass a by-law granting $50,000; on the 23rd of May the township of Cartwright, in Durham, will vote on a by-law granting $20,000; Reach, North Ontario early in June is expected to grant $30,000; Scugog and Port Perry will, on an early day, vote on proposals to grant the former $4,000 or $5,000, the latter $12,000—a very modest sum for that municipality. Others will follow in due course. Now, if those subscriptions are granted with fair unanimity, it will be taken as a tolerably conclusive proof that the building of the road is assured. And what the ratepayers of Toronto will most require to know is that they are not being called upon to vote on mere speculation. If the rural municipalities do their duty it is pretty certain the people of Toronto will do their's, and; unitedly, the amount so raised will form a financial basis sufficiently broad and sound to make the obtaining of the further capital required comparatively easy.

The road will not be an expensive one to construct, not costing probably over $20,000 a mile, especially if it can be proceeded with before the increased impetus time will give to trade has again raised the cost of material and labour to its former proportions. As the Toronto and Ottawa Railway will be largely used as a through line by other companies, it will probably require but a moderate amount of rolling stock of its own in the first instance. The municipalities it traverses cannot fail to derive very great benefit from the new connection it will establish and the fresh outlet it will create for their lumber, agriculture products, and other proceeds of their respective industries, while the readier access obtaind to their chief markets, either east or west, will be an enormous benefit. The route will be the natural one for a trunk line, avoiding those objections which, owing to the peculiar circumstanes under which it was constructed, must always attach to the location of the Grand Trunk. It will be at once a local road aiding colonization and settlement, and a through railway forming one of the principal arteries of nations commerce.

THE CITY OF BRUSSELS.

New York, May 13—The City of Brussels, on the third day out from that port, broke her shaft, and is now proceeding under sail to her destination. She was met on Tuesday in mid-ocean by her steamship, City of Richmond, that arrived in this port this morning, bringing the gratifying intelligence that all on board are well, and in the best of spirits.

From the log-book of the City of Richmond it is learned that they sighted the disabled vessel, and ran alongside at 4:48 on Tuesday evening, in latitude 46.30, longitude 41.13, about 1,300 miles this side of Fastnet light.

The City of Brussels was proceeding under canvass to her destination, and reports having broken her shaft on Monday morning the 23rd ult.

The officers of the City of Richmond transferred to the disabled steamer such supplies as she is likely to require to complete the voyage, and in mid-ocean the two vessels parted company, the passengers of the Richmond giving a parting cheer for the pilgrims on their mission to the Holy Father.

The officers of the Richmond express the opinion that unless the Brussels is delayed by a calm or head winds, she will make her port in eight or ten days from the time they fell in with her, so that by Thursday or Friday next we may expect to hear of her safe arrival on the other side of the Atlantic.

J. Gall, of New York, one of the City of Brussels' passengers, who returned in the City of Richmond, states, that when only three days out, during the morning services of the pilgrims, a crash was heard shaking the vessel from stem to stern. The engines were immediately stopped and the shaft was found to be broken. No alarm was felt, and the officers decided to continued the voyage under sail.

The vessel was revictualled by the City of Richmond.

TORONTO AND OTTAWA RAILWAY.

(From the Ottawa Free Press.)

A few days since the people of Perth were called upon to vote upon a by-law granting a bonus in aid of a scheme to construct a railway from Ottawa to Toronto, and we observe that the by-law was carried by a very handsome majority. There is little doubt that nearly all the constituencies between the two objective points of such a railway enterprise would be equally ready to grant substantial assistance in a similar manner. We have very great faith in such a line as of the interest great importance both to the and developing city. As to the prosperity sect almost [illegible] at present railway facilities [illegible] improved with capital of the Dominion [illegible] the of the Province of [illegible] capital we trust the interest in it [illegible] and which has been manifested in Toronto and by the intermediate communities will be reflected in Ottawa, and that the agitation of that road may before long lead to practical results. When the road is once placed on a practical, footing, with sufficient guarantee of the soundness of the scheme and the integrity of those who may be chosen to control it, the Ontario Government will be ready to recommend, and the Ontario Legislature to grant, liberal aid to this road as a colonization road. What is wanted to promote the success of the Ottawa and Toronto railway is that those in charge of the charter should establish a company have stock subscribed, and place the scheme on a resonably fair financial basis. By this means confidence in the undertaking would be inspired, and municipalities would be more disposed to deal favorably and generously with the project when it is brought before them for their support and assistance. When once we are afforded a reasonable certainty that there is a prospect of securing an early construction of this important line, we feel certain that every municipality along the line, including the two cities contemplated to form the termini of the road, will give it a hearty and generous assistance, and that its speedy consummation will be assured. Meantime the promoters of the road should lose no time in giving the people interested a guarantee of their good faith in the matter, and that they have some other object in view than securing the control of a few millions of public and municipal funds. The project is an excellent one from every standpoint, and we believe as a financial speculation affords a better prospect of success than any other of the many railway undertakings now before the Canadian public. The establishment of railway communication direct from Toronto, the building of the Canada Pacific to the Georgian Bay, the connection with the Northern Colonization, and the completion of the Coteau Landing Road, would make Ottawa one of the most important railway centres of the Dominion, and ensure an important and prosperous commercial future for the Capital of the Dominion.

FAST ENGINE BUILDING.

The following item from the Jackson Herald, Michigan, will be of interest to several of our readers who know Mr. Edington, formerly well known in the Village of Keene:

The rapid bunding of engine No. 7 by Edington's gang is still the subject of conversation among railroad men. The men composing the gang are Walter J. Edington, foreman, J. R. Cambell, W. B. McPherson, O. E. Send, Wm. Jackson, J. B Tyson, A. A. Wilmarth, F. B. Johnson, Michael Ryan, John Strong, H. Felthauser James Cole, James Oakley, D. E. McCarthy, S. Connor, C. L. Grandy.

The building of No. 7 in such a short time has been spoken of by the State press and given a local application in Adrian and elsewhere that any of those engaged in building her ever lived. Undoubtedly many railroad men in other shops will refuse to believe that an engine has been put together in the short time taken for No. 7, but the fact is too well established to be doubted, and if proof is wanted, Mr. Edgerly says he is able not only to do it again, but to hook her down another notch, if need be.

No. 7 will make its trial trip to day, a little over eighty hours from the time the boiler was run into the machine shop. The painting cannot be hurried, but to be good must take its time. This is a little better than the usual time for painting an engine, but the putting together in so short a time is where the marvel lies. No. 7 is now in the paint shop receiving its share of attention in that department. It is a counterpart of No. 9, excepting in boilers, the latter having steel, and is for the same line of work.

If you want to get cheap Groceries for cash, give R. Morrow state W. Harty & Co., a call. His stock is complete in every department. 20-1

A DOUBLE CHANGE.

Again we appear before our many customers under a new style of firm and baines of business. For nine years we have tried the credit system and find it unprofitable for both buyer and seller, especially the seller. Looking at the matter in this light we have concluded to do business in future on the CASH SYSTEM. ☞ We will therefore

Close out the Balance of our Stock at Cost,

And in many instances very much below cost.

To our New Goods Just Arrived and on the way, we would invite special attention. They will be marked at the smallest paying prices.

Note some of the Prices:—

Cottons from	5 Cents
Prints from	7 Cents
Dress Goods from	9 Cents
Shirtings from	12½ Cts.

We have a fine assortment of

ENGLISH, SCOTCH, FRENCH & CANADIAN TWEEDS IN STOCK,

And one of the very best Cutters in the Dominion to superintend ordered work

Mr. MADISON'S reputation has been fully established as a Talented and Conscientious Cutter, who has been doing the best fine trade in Town. We have brought the man to Peterboro that can compete with any of the City Cutters, and now think we should have the patronage of those who have gone heretofore to Cities for their Clothing, and all who want neat and stylish garments. Try us!

N.B.—We will give Grangers Goods as cheap as any house in Town, and sell to their neighbours who are not Grangers on equal favourable terms.

Consumption Cured!

An old physician, retired from active practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India Missionary the formula of a Vegetable Remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Catarrh, and all throat and Lung Affections; also a Positive and Radical Cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having thoroughly tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, feels it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a conscientious desire to relieve human suffering, he will send FREE OF CHARGE, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and successfully using. Sent by return mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper.

DR. W. C. STEVENS,
Box 86, BROCKVILLE, O.

GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED SPRUCE GUM,

—FOR—

Coughs, Colds, Bronchial and all Throat Affections.

The Gum which exudes from the Red Spruce tree is, without doubt, the most valuable native Gum for Medicinal purposes.

Its remarkable power in relieving certain severe forms of Bronchitis, and its almost specific effect in curing obstinate hacking Coughs, is now well known to the public at large. In this Syrup (carefully prepared at low temperature), containing a large quantity of the finest picked Gum in complete solution, all the Tonic Expectorant, Balsamic and Anti Spasmodic effects of the Red Spruce Gum are fully preserved. For sale at all Drug Stores. Price, 25 cents per bottle.

MANHOOD:
HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

CATARRH.

Five Years' Sickness Cured by Four Bottles of Constitutional Catarrh Remedy.

Pain in Shoulders, Back and Lungs, as Croppings in Throat Disappear.

ST. ARMAND, P. Q. Sept. 12, 1876.

MR. T. B. HARDING

Dear Sir,—Being desirous that others may know something of the merits of your CONSTITUTIONAL CATARRH REMEDY, I wish to inform you what it has done for me. I am in my fifty-seven years old; had been out of health for about five years. I had employed three or four different doctors, and tried various medicines, without receiving any permanent benefit, but continued rather to grow worse, until last fall, when I had become so bad as to be unable to do an hour's work at a time. Had severe soreness and pain under the shoulder blades and through the shoulders, with a pain in the back, and a Shadiez in my right lung as though there was a weight bearing it down, with continual dropping in the throat and down upon the lungs. Such was my condition when I commenced to take your Catarrh Remedy, one bottle of which eased my pains and gave me an improved appetite, and after taking four bottles I was restored to health so as to be able to endure hard and continued labor such as chopping and clearing land, at which I have been engaged the past season. My recovery I attribute solely with God's blessing, to the use of your Catarrh Remedy.

Yours truly HENRY SNIDER,
Price $1 per bottle. For sale by all Druggists.

READ CAREFULLY.

SAMUEL OSBORNE, Sophiasburg says—"I was affected with Dyspepsia for nearly four years, my lungs becoming affected towards the last. I was induced to try the "Shoshonees Remedy." After using three or four bottles I felt much better, and gained strength rapidly, my health improved steadily and rapidly, and when I had taken three or four bottles more, I was quite restored to health and strength, and have experienced better health than for forty years before. I had been under the treatment of a number of physicians before, but never received any material aid until I used your remedy."

A. MCKAY, Truro, N. S., says "he was very bad with Liver Complaint, but used the "Shoshonees Remedy," and in a month was as well as he had ever been in his life. I am now in business and wish you to send me three dozen by steamer.

A. WOOD, Consecon, says—"That he has tried the "Remedy" for Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia with great success. I have also used the "Shoshonees Pills," and find that they are as good as any I ever tried.

Rev. JOHN SCOTT says—"Mr. McKenzie Booting suffered from an attack of rheumatism, and was unable to move without help but after taking a few bottles of the 'Shoshonees" was able to walk as well as ever." Price of the Remedy in pint bottles $1; Pills 25 cents a box.

WHAT THEY SAY OF IT? A FEW FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.—There are but few preparations of medicines which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people for any great length of time. One of these is Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil. Read the following and be convinced:—Thos. Robinson, Farnham Centre, P. Q., writes, "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for the last ten years, and have tried many remedies without any relief, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and since then have had no attack of it. I would recommend it to all."—J. H. Earl, Hotel Keeper, West Shefford, P. Q., writes, "I have been troubled with liver complaint for several years, and have tried different medicines with little or no benefit, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which gave me immediate relief, and I would say that I have used it since with the best effect. No one should be without it. I have tried it on my horses in cases of cuts, wounds, etc., and think it is equally as good for horse as for man."—A. Mayhew Merchant, Wathworth, writes, "I have sold some hundreds of bottles of Eclectric Oil, and it is pronounced by the public, 'one of the best medicines they have ever used,' it has done wonders in healing and relieving pain, sore throats, etc., and is worthy of the great confidence."—Joseph Bunce, Township Percy writes, "I persuaded to try Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lame knee which troubled me for three or four years, and I never found anything like it for curing lameness. It is a great public benefit."—A. M. Hamilton, Wathworth, writes, "For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which caused me very much. Mr. Hayhoe of this place induced me to try Eclectric Oil, and before one bottle was used I was cured. It is a most remarkable medicine. Sold by all medicine dealers. Price, 25 cents.

A WONDERFUL REFORM IN FANNING MILLS.

Farmers wanting to purchase a First Class Fanning Mill should call on

MINORGAN & ELLIOTT

AND GET ONE OF THEIR

"FARMERS FRIEND."

They are the best and cheapest Fanning Mills in the Market, and cleans from 60 to 100 bush. of Wheat, ready for the market, in an hour, and does not throw the large grain into the tailings. We have received a large number of Testimonials from different Farmers in the County who have used our Mills. They will speak for themselves:—

Greystock P.O., Otonabee, Mar. 12, 1877.—
MESSRS. & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—This is to certify that I have given the "Farmers Friend" Mill a fair trial, and have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion it is one of the best Mills now in use for cleaning grain for seed or market.
Yours etc.,

MESSRS. & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—This is to certify that I have given your "Farmers Friend" Mill a fair trial, and have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion it is one of the best Mills now in use for cleaning grain for seed or market.
Yours etc.,
J. REDMOND.

Balsam Grove, Peterboro, March 13, 1877.
MESSRS. & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—I have tested your "Farmers Friend" Mill and find that it works well, taking out all dirt and small seed, and out of grain and making a good clean article for sale. I can state that your machine will give good satisfaction among the farmers, that is if they want to take good clean grain to market, and get five cents per bushel more for it.
Yours etc.,
J. H. WALTON.

Smith, 4th March, 1877.
MESSRS. & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—I take pleasure in recommending the "Farmers Friend" as being the best Mill I have ever had, and I have had several of what was called the Best Makes in Ontario.
JAS. ELLIOTT.

Peterboro, March 5th, 1877.
This is to certify that we have tested Messrs & Minorgan's Mill and pronounce it to be the best we have ever seen cleaning, and it is the best Superator we have ever seen.
JOHN DOBBIN.
I also endorse the above statement.
WM. DOBBIN.

THE UNION JACK.

Yonder waves old England's Banner,
Still recalling bygone years;
Proved o'er Invasion crossey.
Shone the battle of Waterloo.
It has braved the Royal Alfred,
Faced a haughty foe,
Still the ship through tempestatious dangers,
Can through any
Give a cheer for Britannia's glory,
Raise aloft the Union Jack.

Mark its course upon the ocean,
Trace its path from land to land,
Ever guided in its mission
By a Providential hand.
Over stormy oceans wafted,
Where huge icebergs roar and roll.
And the briny waves in fury
Dash around each dreary pole.
And away in tropic climates,
See our heroes blessed,
While above them floats sublimely
England's ancient Union Jack.

Raise aloft the Royal Standard,
Let it greet the passing breeze;
Still it bravers the ocean billows,
Stands erect on stormy seas.
As it waved above our Nelson,
England's gallant, matchless tar.
At the Nile's terrific combat,
And immortal Trafalgar.
To the mast he nailed his Colors—
Signalled them for close attack.
Midst a peal of British thunder
He display'd this Union Jack.

Wolfe displayed old England's colors,
On the Plains of Abraham,
When in war's impassioned combat,
He encountered brave Montcalm.
Ere the din of battle ended,
Both these gallant heroes fell;
Loud above the roar of battle
Rose the Highland's soldiers' yell.
By a charge of British bayonets,
Then the foe were driven back.
And the day was one of glory
To old England's Union Jack.

Gallant Brock its folds expanded,
On the field of Queenston Heights:
Well the hero did his duty—
Putting Britain's foes to flight
Ere they reached the frowning summit.
Did the gallant hero fall.
For his bright career was ended
By a marksman's rifle ball.
But his countrymen revenged him,
Like a tempest swept the track,
And the day was one of glory
To old England's Union Jack.

Should the war-cry then be sounded
O'er Canadian soil again,
We will guard the hallowed precincts
Where our Wolfe and Brock was slain.
Where the Empire's flag's insulted,
Or a British hero leads,
There Canadians dare to follow
And will emulate their deeds.
Dare to fight for British freedom
We're no coward craven pack,
To disgrace old England's standard,
Or desert the Union Jack.

And brave Scotia's sons are ready,
For their place is in the van—
To repel the fierce invasion
As they did at Inkerman,
And the loyal men of Erin,
Round the cross of red and blue—
Round the battle flag will rally
As of yore at Waterloo.
England, Scotland, and brave Erin,
Have in warefare ne'er been slack.
And now Canada is with them
To defend the Union Jack.

Lives there still one British subject
Who'd refuse his life, his all,
In defence of British freedom!
Who'd rejoice at Britain's fall?
If there is, then curse the traitor!
Pass him by in dark disdain;
Let him bear, while life is left him.
On his brow the mark of Cain;
Let him die a hated coward!
Bury him at midnight black!
He deserves no home, no country.
Who'd desert the Union Jack.

TORONTO TO OTTAWA BY RAIL.

(Ottawa Free Press.)

We reproduce elsewhere an article from the Toronto Globe in reference to the projected connection by rail of the capitals of the Dominion and the Province of Ontario. The article is not addressed to the people of Ottawa, but its arguments apply with as great, if not greater, force to the circumstances and interests of this city. The principal hope of the future of Ottawa is to make it a railway centre, and that if a hope which has a fair prospect of realization. With the road to Pembroke, built by the enterprise of Hon. A. B. Foster, with the Eastern extension of the Canada Pacific Railway, connecting us with the trade of Chicago, and the West as well as opening up the rich country in the Nippissing region, with the Northern Colonization Railway and the Coteau Landing Railway, now in course of construction, and the St. Lawrence & Ottawa and Canada Central Railways already in existence, Ottawa would become one of the most, if not the most, important railway centres of the Dominion. Heretofore, except in the case of the St. Lawrence and Coteau Landing Railway, our people have contributed little or nothing to the development of a system upon which so much of our future depends, and it is therefore reasonable to expect that when our people are called upon to aid the projected route to Toronto, and the extension to Pembroke, to which we are fairly indebted, they will be found ready to deal with these important enterprises in a just and liberal spirit. We are even more interested than Toronto in this matter, and when we observe the spirit manifested in that city, of which the article is the Globe is an evidence, we have a reasonable hope afforded that this enterprise will soon be placed on a footing to justify the people of this city and section in giving it a hearty and generous support. Let this project be but placed on a proper footing, and an earnest of a practical intention to carry it out be manifested by those who have it in charge, and we have no doubt the people of Ottawa will be sufficiently alive to their own interests, to join heartily with the people of Toronto and the intermediate municipalities in giving it every assistance in their power to afford. When the scheme is once placed in that position, the Ontario Government will subsidize the road as a colonization road, and thus place the success of the scheme beyond peradventure.

"HARD TIMES" IN RUSSIA.

A letter from St. Petersburg in the Vienna Tagblatt says that the distress among the lower classes in Russia is daily increasing. The commercial crisis, which caused the failure of numerous banking and mercantile houses, has been followed by an industrial crisis: some of the largest factories have been closed, and thousands of men and women are out of work. In St. Petersburg and its vicinity no fewer than 90,000 artisans depend on the Government or private benevolence for the means of existence; and at Moscow, the centre of Russian industry, 40,000 workmen have been reduced to beggary—to say nothing of the multitude of clerks who have lost their employment in consequence of the closing of banks and merchants' offices. The general distress has been much increased by the inundation which occurred in various parts of the empire last month. Several villages on the river Bug have been completely destroyed, and even the fortifications of Brest, in Lithuania, have been greatly damaged by the inundations. The railway from Warsaw to Terespol is in such a dangerous state, parts of the line having been almost washed away, that traffic has been suspended. In the town of Terespol itself there are only three houses uninjured; the inhabitants had to ascend the roofs to save their lives.

THE CONTENDING FORCES.

A comparison of the Armies in Numbers and Armament, by a French Journal.

"There is," says the Avenir Militaire, "every indication that Turkey is in a position to make a strenuous defence upon the Danube and in the Balkans. In addition to the Army, properly so called, she possesses 200 battalions of territorial infantry in the Vilayet of the Danube, and Sadyk Pasha, the late Ambassador at Paris, and now governor of this Province, is displaying great activity. The places situated on the banks of the river are entrenched and well provided with supplies, and some of them, such as Widdin and Varna, are very strong. The latter town has eight advance forts and 200 siege pieces, a fourth of which are Krupp guns. The garrison is under the command of Blum Pasha, a Prussian Jew, who came to Turkey about 20 years ago. The Turkish fleet will assume the offensive in the Black Sea, where it disposes of 16 large ironclads, as many vessels of lighter draft, a powerful artillery, and good English engineers. The Russian army is composed as follows:—First—The army of the South, which was formed in September, under the command of the Grand Duke Nicholls, with General Niepoligiski as chief of staff, comprises four complete army corps, each with two divisions of infantry, one of cavalry, and artillery in proportion, four battalions of chasseurs, two divisions of Don Cossacks, four regiments of light Cossacks, and three battalions of sappers, making 36,000 men to each corpse or 200,000 men in all. The advance guard is already at Ungbéni, which is the junction of the Roumanian and Russian

THE "MURMURS" CONSIDERED.

Opposition papers are in the habit of drawing the consolation they are unable to find in their own thin scandals from the various utterances of the Ministerial press that strike them as contradictory. They see in every slight difference of opinion between Reform journals an evidence of "a house divided against itself"; whereas such differences give the best proof that the journalistic support given the present Government at Ottawa is not founded on blind party zeal but on reason and reflection. It shows party strength rather than weakness that, unlike their Tory contemporaries, Reform papers are not afraid to express adverse opinions on particular points of government while they give the Ministry a hearty support on their general policy. The criticisms of friends is a compliment, as it involves an idea of ability to stand it; and that must be a very weak government that requires nothing but fulsome praise from supporting it. Different journals in the Reform ranks display different predominating ideas, and those who object to the natural and independent expression of these ideas are just those Tories who cannot understand the broad principles of freedom that underlie the fabric of Reform. They would, as experience has shown them to have done before, sink individuality and distinct thought, and bury it beneath the mantle of party expediency; and, taking their cue each from the leader or leading journal of the party, follow the path pointed out to them rightly or wrongly, their general policy being acclamations for all the acts of their own partizans and fault-finding with those of their opponents. Such is Toryism; and in the comparison we have just been making may be seen the chief characteristic difference between it and Reform.

Acting on an inability to understand how there can be friendly party criticisms or suggestions the Mail of Saturday last published under the head of "Ministerial Murmurings" extracts from three papers, all containing reflections of different degree and of entirely different character on what are considered as either negative or positive errors in government. The first from the Port Perry Standard is merely a suggestion for improvements in the manner of disposing of timber limits, and an expression of surprise that the Reform government has not done something toward a better systematizing of the Crown Lands Department and the preservation of the forests. Only this, and nothing more. Surely the chief Opposition organ feels that its party is sadly in need of consolation, when it offers it to them in the shape of an article the like of which has been written time and again in papers on both sides of politics, during the time the system complained of was continued under Tory rule. And now because a Reform paper suggests to its friends in power the necessity for improvement there is joy in the scandal-batching heart of the Tory rib stabber.

The next extract is from the Elora Observer, and contains what the Mail calls an acknowledgement that a loss of $30,000 has no doubt been made in the Goderich harbour works. A reading of the Observer's article will show that it was written with a personal object, irrespective of any political effect it might have. It is plainly aimed at Mr. John McLay, against whom the editor of the Observer, Mr. Donald Ross, maintains a feeling of bitter enmity, owing to certain circumstances that formerly occurred in the County of Bruce, and out of which Mr. Ross came—well, not exactly the victor. Thus we see that the "acknowledgement deserving of notice" is merely a roundabout and not very creditable way of getting a rap at an object of personal dislike.

The third extract, from the Cornwall Freeholder, and others from the same source, needs more extended reference. The Tory papers have for months been in the habit of making to them congenial quotations from this paper and dubbing it a Reform journal. Its right to that title, and the value of its "Reform" articles will be easily estimated by those who know the man, when they are seized of the fact that it is controlled and edited by Mr. Henry Sandfield Macdonald, a son of the late Hon. John Sandfield Macdonald. The son cherishes an hereditary hatred toward the political opponents of his father; and the intensity of such feeling can only be fully understood by those who know the bitter factionist feeling that has long existed and is still kept alive in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry. There was once a paper called the Gazette in Cornwall, the editor of which, Mr. Geo. Burden, re-published from a Montreal paper a scandalous story concerning the conduct of Mr. H. S. Macdonald, and for which judgement for libel has lately been pronounced. The Gazette failed soon after the publication of this libel, and was purchased by Mr. H. S. Macdonald, who then perpetrated the most contemptible act ever known in Canadian journalism. Without announcing the change, he published as if coming from the hand of Mr. Burden the most abject apology to Mr. H. S. Macdonald, and articles pleading Mr. Burden in the position of a most servile lick-spittle and spiritless cur. This is the high-minded Macdonald who assumes under the guise of friendship to administer weekly stabs to the government that has done the unpardonable wrong in his eyes of not acknowledging him as a coming representative of the constituency he disgraces. We emphatically assert that Mr. Henry Sandfield Macdonald is not a Reformer. He may be a Tory; but we rather think his politics reach no farther than Henry Sandfield Macdonald. Certainly he would not bring moral strength to any party, as may be judged by the character given him in an article in the Canada Law Journal of December last, entitled "Bench and Bar". To those who would know more of "the Young Pretender" we would recommend a visit to any lawyer's office, and the obtaining of the favour of reading that article. To know him would not lead to his personal admiration.

These be the sources from which the Mail draws comfort for its Tory readers. No wonder it is on its last legs.

WHENCE ARISES TORY ENTHUSIASM.

The Opposition organs are trying to keep their courage up by boasts of what they will do at the next election. If we are to believe them honest, they think a special Providence watches over them, as a reward doubtless for the honour and honesty of their works before an evil spirit helped the Grits to turn them out of office, and for the purity and charity of their allusions the present Ministry since it came into power. They expect "something to turn up" before the next general election; and so great is their faith in that something and its certainty to point to the zenith in the very nick of time, that they are highly impatient for the precipitation of the election. What matter that they lately scented a desire on the part of the Ministry to go to the country at once, and denounced in unmeasured condemnation the imaginary outrage. In full assurance of that "something will turn up"; and that it will give them miraculous advantages they now cry, "Lead us to the field! Show us the foe!"

Is this superstition or buncome? There may be some of the former in the Tory anticipations; there is certainly much of the latter. There is doubtless a firm belief in the good Conservative mind that by right divine Toryism must rule; but now that it does not, there is little to encourage the thought that it will in the near future. There is absolutely nothing to show any strength in the Conservative party; but, on the contrary, there are numerous signs of weakness. The Opposition made but a poor display at Ottawa last Session; the policy of the government was sustained on every point by what are rightly considered powerful majorities; the votes as the session progressed showed no gain to the Opposition. Where then is the tremendous wave of reaction that is to engulph the Grits, and carry on its crest the Tory raft into the official haven off which they hover with covetous eye! They speak of Ministerial blundering, and the general condemnation of the governments' policy. The so-called blunders have brought no dire result; the damning voice has been that of exasperated Tories, angered at the apparent solidity of the Grit rule they so much hate—even as Satan hated the rule against which he rebelled. The late elections are pointed to as the sole cause for the visions of victory seen by the faithful in the Conservative camp. As we showed last week, they really are but evidences that things are in pretty much the same condition as they were at the last general election. Grit and Tory have been re-elected, and the relative power of parties remains unchanged. Even if it were not so, we fail to see how one or two elections in constituencies not represented by leading men of either party could foreshadow the result of the next general election. If, as we are told, by the Tory press, the Ministry trembles for fear of its existence, it must be because of inward terrors; for there are none visible without. The Tory paper that declares the Reformers have given up Quebec as lost, may know more about it than the Reformers themselves; but it isn't at all likely. If Quebec is surrendered by the Ministerialists, and they have very little hope of success in the minor provinces, with their candidates "driven from the field where there is a square party vote" in Ontario, what hope is there for them? What need of work by the Tories? Victory, if we are to believe them is assured to them. Why then are they so continuously putting up little,—contemptibly small—political jobs? Their indulgence in this unnecessary and undignified labor is "one of those things no fellow can find out, as in the fulfilment of the prophecy that, in constituencies where there is a square party vote then (the Administration's) candidates will be driven from the field." In a majority of the constituencies the square party vote gets round the Tory candidate. Either the prediction is palpably false, or we don't understand what is meant by "a square party vote."

The enthusiasm of the Tories is not real. If it were they would not see the chief organ of their party dying before their eyes, and the eyes of the world;—That is the best gauge of their strength, and it has gone down to its lowest register before ceasing to register totally. A meeting of the "Mail" Company has been called for the 30th inst. to take such action in connection with its financial condition as may seem best calculated to secure the continued publication of the newspaper. Truly a sad state of affairs for the chief organ of the "very enthusiastic" Tory party. If the mass of the people really favoured the truths set forth in that journal they would pay for it, that they might read it, and patronize it as a friend. But the opposite is the case. It is despised and rejected, along with those whose political fortunes it follows. The same may be said of the lesser Tory organs. They are also unpopular and unpatronised, and as a consequence exceedingly bitter. On the other hand the Reform journals, from the "Globe" down are increasingly prosperous, because popular; and popular because patriotic. The fact is, the cry for a general election, re-echoed by the minor Tory organs, was started by the "Mail", not because of any belief in party success by an immediate contest, but because its very existence depended on the revenue it could make out of the party during a contest. Whatever may have been the recklessness of the "Mail" in the past, its manager in sharp enough to know when the needful can be most easily obtained. He has this quality of cunning, whatever be his honesty of purpose; and we shall wonder if the coming meeting of the "Mail" Company does not demonstrate plainer than ever yet, that he has had an eye to the main chance in all his dealings with the party.

THE EASTERN WAR.

War news is still scant and often unreliable. On the Danube there is still gathering a great concentration of forces—on both sides. Russia is preparing for crossing the River at several points at once, and the Turks are preparing to counteract them. Nothing of a decisive character has transpired on the Danube. In Asia Minor, near Kars, there have been several skirmishes, the chief one of which resulting in the Russians taking Ardahan, a small out fort of the Turks. The taking of this fort will, to some extent, open the way towards Kars, and must be a considerable loss to the Turkish Commander in Asia.

Turkey has a fleet in the Black Sea, and in consequence is doing damage to Russian Towns, and property. Roumania has declared her independence. The Greeks are also on the brink of, if not actually in rebellion, and on the Russian side, the inhabitants of several districts near the Caucasus, and in southern Russia, are in rebellion, so that both the belligerent parties appear to have trouble on every side. Britain has not yet done anything towards meddling in the trouble. She has a fleet at the mouth of the Suez Canal, but merely to protect her own interests, and there are rumours that England understands that Russia is not seeking territory, but to force Turkey to Reforms in Government, especially towards the Christian Subjects of the Sublime Porte.

Bismark is in said again assumes control of German affairs. France is in general disorder—and fears are entertained that the disordered state of the body politic may lead to war—civil—or perhaps to regain her former position in the settlement of European family troubles. The war already assumes the character of a Religious one, and may lead to consequences detrimental to the prosperity of Europe. Some are looking for the great conflict so long and often referred to by writers on future events. Of the end of all this few can speak definitely. One thing is certain, the end of this conflict is not yet.

THE LATE REV. MARK BURNHAM.

The decease of the Rev. Mark Burnham, which took place at his residence Ashburnham, on Thursday last, will be lamented by all who knew him. During the winter the Rev. Gentlemen had enjoyed his usual health except for a short time, when he had had an attact of intermittent fever. From this he had recovered fairly and was able to attend Church Service on the Sabbath previous to his death, and even on the day previous, he had driven to town. On that evening, however, he received an apoplectic stroke from which he never returned to consciousness and expired next day about 11 o'clock in the forenoon. The deceased gentleman was in the 73rd year of his age. He was the only son of the honorable Zaccheus Burnham of Cobourg, who for many years was Treasurer of the old North umberland and Colborne districts, and afterwards of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham. The subject of this short obituary was born at Cobourg, and received his early education there under the present Bishop Bethune of Toronto. His education was completed at Queens College Oxford, where he graduated. He had chosen the church as the field of his labor and was appointed Rector of St. Thomas, where he remained 23 years, when he was appointed Rector of Peterboro. In 1858 he resigned that position, and retired from immediate parochial duties, but continued to preach in Otonabee and Warsaw, which were without stated Ministerial labours. These self imposed duties he continued till about a year ago. When the Rev. Mr. Bradshaw was appointed permanent Incumbent, and a parish was formed in which to work, principally we believe through the influence of the Rev. Mr. Burnham. The deceased inherited considerable wealth from his father, and in consequence had a great deal of business with many people in this town and county, and in those relations he was pre-eminently respected for honorable dealing and for a generous and obliging disposition. And it is no small tribute to his memory that he has never been known to put any man to trouble or expense or any account notwithstanding that he must must have had many compliated and important matters to settle. He was a wise councillor, cautious and pains taken in all his relations. For many years he served on the old Grammar School Board, and was peculiarly noted for his honesty of purpose. He was quiet, unassuming and beneficent; charitable and kind to the distressed, ever ready to bestow when by doing so he thought he could do good. His giving was not with ostentation: as only the recepients were taken into his confidence.

His funeral took place on Saturday and was numerously attended. as a token of the great respect in which he was held. He was interred in the Little Lake Cemetery. He leaves a widow, four sons and one daughter. Zaccheus Burnham Esq., of Otonabee, John Burnham Esq., Barrister, the present Warden of the County, George Burnham, jr., M. D., and Charles, and Mrs. Revell, wife of R. Revell, Esq., Mayor, and Barrister of Woodstock.

His memory will long be respected not only by his near relations but by all who knew him.

The establishment of direct railway communication between Toronto and Ottawa is beginning to be recognized as a necessity, even by those who might be expected impulsively to oppose the building of a line in opposition to the Grand Trunk. Long ago we pointed out that a second through line remote from the lake shore and river bank would not only develop the local resources of the back country, but also aid those of the front by relieving the Grand Trunk somewhat from the undue pressure of through traffic. The through freight which now unbarrasses the one line will furnish plenty of business to two, giving some chance for the good performance of the work and also for a much needed recognition of the claims of local traffic. It would seem that some of the dwellers at the front begin to perceive the value of this view of the case. Not long ago a Whitby paper expressed itself strongly in favor of the Toronto and Ottawa Railway, and now we have the Napanee Beaver alluding to it in kindly terms. These are signs of the times that point directly to great popular appreciation of the projected air line,—an appreciation that shows a healthy growth as time goes by and as prejudices give place to reasonable observation and reflection.

THE MIDLAND RAILWAY.

On Wednesday night last some person was guilty of an outrage on the property of the Midland Railway Company, that deserves the severest censure and punishment, we refer to the burning of the red bridge over Moncrief's or Medlar's Creek, about a mile north of Frazerville. This act is the more foolish when it is considered that those who might have suffered would have been wholly innocent of any wrong doing to the perpetrators. If it were merely the loss to the company of the bridge, or one of their locomotives or cars, that might have ensued, it might be overlooked, because of the sins of the company, but the fact that innocent men, women and children on the train might have been hurled into eternity in a moment, causes the thoughtful to shudder in contemplation that there are persons who would run such a terrible risk merely to be avenged on the company for some short coming. We say to be avenged on the company, as it is said that the late attempts to throw the train off the track have been caused by the disordered state of the management. Accounts unpaid, and little disposition manifested to pay them, it is said, is the motive for these outrages, (we do not know how true this is) that all along the line timber, cordwood, ties &c., have been purchased, taken away and sold, and the proceeds used for the use and benefit of the company or its managers, and that the articles have not been paid for, nor can the parties hope to collect the price of their stuff, as the company has everything locked up, or in a position that to collect such a small account would entail an outlay which no return could be hoped for. There are these rumors, and whether true or false they deserve to be investigated, for the safety of the travelling public cannot be sacrificed for fear of touching an over sensitive individual, but not sensitive enough to meet his engagements, while the money that should pay them is being used to extend the route to please the President.

We do not say that these rumors are true, but every one knows that they are current, and the currency ought to be a sufficient reason for holding a public meeting and making enquiry, and if false to afford a public opportunity of proving the falsity, but if found true then for public by censuring the management of a company which leads to such outrages, in order to be avenged for injustice. It is true no mismanagement of the company can be sufficient excuse for any person endangering the lives of parties who innocently have bought a ticket for Millbrook, Port Hope, or Lindsay. As some extenuation of these acts, we understand that the parties manifested a wish to prevent injury to any one but the company as they had placed ties across the track at a distance as a warning to the engine driver. This may indicate a desire to prevent injury to the innocent, but would be no excuse in the eyes of the law, if the perpetrators be discovered The extension of the line to Midland is a laudable object, but this should be secured without withholding either the wages of the laborer, or of accounts for articles purchased and used by the company, or by any of its management, as is currently hinted abroad.

If the Bobcaygeon Independent's Peterborough news is written on the bank of the Bob it is sometimes well done. For instance the following appeared last Saturday:—"We are having lots of excitement; frequent fires and squabbling among the fire brigade folks; squabbling between the Grit and Tory papers; squabbling about Mr. Clomenti's historic sermon, which he now wishes to crawfish out of, alleging that it was badly reported; squabbling about municipalities indebtedness and deficiency; squabbling about the dust; in fact squabbling all round; and the only person who keeps cool is your correspondent, who with the aid of a little iced St. Jullien preserves the pleasant temperature of the preverbial cucumber. As regards the dust it has been simply awful. What shall I say about our Council, who alone are to blame! The fact is the Council is bringing our town into discredit. The last Council was nothing particular, but it was a far more experienced, responsable, and business like body of men than the present, who seem to care about nothing so much as letting off speeches. Meetings which should be devoted to business are given up to oratory, and so notorious is this that in Port Hope, Lindsay, and all the adjacent towns, if you go into an hotel and see a man holding forth or speaking oratorically you hear some bystander remard "Oh, he must be a Peterborough Councillor!" I don't wish to make any remarks disrespectful to our Council, but it really does want brains."

Who is this Bob. Ind. Cor.?—Ed. Ex

The St. John Globe summarizes Sir John A. Macdonald's speech from the Toronto Leader, and remarks that its tone and style "must make men feel sad at the idea that there is any possibility of the person who delivered it ever holding a high position in the government of the country. It was course and vulgar. It lacked alike patriotism and courtesy. It was deficient in ideas and was simply such a harangue as might be uttered to a mob. Surely a great statesman like Sir John A. Macdonald is thought to be could have given utterance to something more dignified, more refined, more thoughtful than this in talking to the people of Toronto at the close of a three months' session of the House."

Of the Toronto and Ottawa Railway the Madoc Review says:—There is little doubt but that its success is an established fact, as every municipality as yet that has been asked for a bonus has been carried by large majorities in favor of the road. The Council of Lanark Village has submitted for the voice of the ratepayers a by-law granting ten thousand dollars to the Toronto and Ottawa Railway Company on condition of the road passing through that village. Meetings favorable to the line have been held in Ontario County this week, at Claremont, Bougham, Whitevale, Greenwood and Duffin's Creek; and to-morrow meetings will be held at Altona and Dunbarton, in the same County.

The Mail says what is not true when it says Mr. Mackenzie "allowed the session to pass without even alluding to the promise which he made to his constituents," at Watford, when he told them he would hold Sir John Macdonald responsible for pic-nic salaries. Shortly after the session opened the Premier challenged a production of evidence in these slanders, but the slanderers were dumb. Again when the session was about closing he reminded the slanderers that they had failed to allude on the floor of the House to anything but the Goderich Harbour Contract; and declared since they would not bring their slanders up to be disposed of, he would, by moving for a committee next session to enquire into and report upon alleged collated wrong doing by the Ministry.

PORT HOPE AND THE MIDLAND RAILWAY.

The cancellationist correspondent of the Port Hope Times has evidently been flattered by our references to his appeals for the extinction of the debt of that Town. He evidently wants to argue, seeing that he is prone to indulge in wordy contestations of minor issues. We have neither time nor space to gratify him in hunting him through all his windings, nor have we the inclination, believing we can be better engaged in other ways. Our former references to the debt of Port Hope and their proposition for its cancellation have had for their object the bringing out boldly of the chief outlines of such a question. And especially the evil effects of giving it a political bearing, whoever may have been the originator of that mischievous phase of the discussion. We first noticed this part of the cancellationists crusade, and expressed our strong disapprobation of it and some other—absurdities, so plainly in fact as to be accused of a feeling inimical to Port Hope. And now we are accused of losing our temper. If we have been annoyed at anything in connection with this affair it has been at the raking of all kinds of irrelevant remarks into what professed to be a sober dissertation on a very important subject. It is we perceive a constitutional fault, for we notice numerous repetitons of it in the last letter of this very diffuse newspaper correspondent. What possible connection, for instance, can Cato and Carthage have with, the cancellation of Port Hope's debt to the government? If there is anything to advance in favour of a further reduction of Port Hope's debt, (and we are willing to admit there is), let it be brought out plainly and forcibly, instead of smothering it in a mass of useless verbiage. It seems plain to all that the Midland Railway is inseperable from the consideration, and it is somewhat satisfactory to notice that even the zealous and wordy champion of cancellation (he does not like the word ("repudiation") has been forced to see the edge of one of the difficulties of the question in the late reduction of harbour tools. Let, like observation be applied to other unconditional surrenders, wherein Port Hope has paid for losses incurred through the bad management of the road that, (according to the showing of her own self-elected champion,) "has" not advanced her local interests, and perhaps there is a broader view of the Provincial side of the case may be gained.

The following patriotic words which we take from last Wednesday's Globe on the Canadian militia, will find a ready echo in many hearts:—"We do not, of course, ask or expect American publicists to enter into the sentiments and sympathies with which Canadians regard the present hostilities between the Russians and the Turks. We shall rejoice if the conflict extends no further than at present. But let Great Britain once be involved in the quarrel, and there are thousands of Canadians who would be ready to prove in a manner the most unmistakable that to them British connection is not an idea but a proud reality."

The Tory papers have as yet attempted no explanation as to why Sir John Macdonald was deserted by his following in the hour of his greatest tribulation last session, when his non-official Secret Service payments were condemned. Do they wish him to understand that the nearer he comes to oblivion the less likelihood there will be of a Tory saying even one good word for him? Or is it really the fact that they did the shabby thing in order that the vote might be taken while many of the ministerial benches were vacant? In either case it was a small piece of business, and a Tory stap in the face for Sir John.

The Port Hope Times has so much space to spare that it can afford room for two columns of nonsensical trash and abuse of this paper. If the editor of the Times thinks he can palm these windy asperations off as arguments, we can only say, his sense of honor and intelligence falls far below what we have hitherto been accustomed to attribute to him. We cannot, however, allow ourselves to sink to the level of the Times correspondents' scurrility.

"There are stirring times ahead, and during the parliamentary recess the people will have no reason to complain that they are left in ignorance of the faults and failings of either party. In a contest of that kind the Opposition have nothing to fear."—Review.

This is rather a candid statement that the policy to be chosen by the Tories is one of slander. The opposition feeling they cannot be worse than they are, are determined to try and blacken the character of their opponents.

The man of dull wit who selects the Mail's political scraps actually took this as an utterance complimentary to Sir John, and it was actually republished in the Mail as such. Other Tory papers made the same blunder, among them the Port Hope Times. A brilliant lot, truly!

Commenting on the remark of a Tory organ anent Reform newspaper criticisms of Mr. Anglin's case that "occasionally a spark of independence is manifested in the ranks of the newspaper supporters of the Government," the Toronto Telegram says:—"As a matter of fact, the Reform papers show more independence of their leaders than do the Conservative organs. Does anybody remember having read in a Conservative journal a frank, honest and unqualified condemnation of the conduct of those members of the Opposition who fattened on the Northern Railway? Not one."

"AN OLD SINNER."

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Sir:—It seems, from your last issue, that "An Old Sinner" has been badly bitten by "Old Dog Tray;" but, wounded and "terrified," he was under a lamentable delusion as to whence came the bite. He charges it to a certain "M. A." Possibly before this he may have discovered his blunder; but, being the only "M. A." in this vicinity, I beg to inform your readers that I had nothing whatever to do with "Old Dog Tray." or his communication in your paper. The honor of that production belongs to someone else, who, it seems, was shrewd enough to escape detection by them as their terror would like to have somebody shoot or "muzzle" him.

Please allow me to suggest to "Tuffy," "An Old Sinner," and all the rest of the "Sinner" family, that if ever hereafter they should get into any such trouble again, they should take time to cool down a little before they aim false "personalities" at any one, and it might not be amiss for them to beg the use of a grandmamma and get their wits sharpened up a trifle, lest in seeking to show their smartness they show the opposite, and canvas when they mean to hurt.

Yours, &c.,

Of the firm of Colgate & Co., Manufacturers of Flavoring Extracts, 21 Blandstone St., Boston.

Somerville, Mass., Dec 4, 1876.

Messrs, Seth W. Fowle & Sons:

Gentlemen—Last spring my little daughter, aged five, became very much emaciated with loss of appetite, and great prostration of strength, so much so that we were obliged to take her out of school. This continued through the summer and caused us much anxiety. After trying various remedies without deriving any benefit, our family physician recommended the use of PERUVIAN SYRUP. After using it one week we saw a marked improvement in the childs condition, and in a month she was rapidly gaining in health and strength, her appetite being excellent. At this date she is perfectly well, with round plump cheeks, and healthy color, and is again attending school regularly. I consider her restoration to health entirely due to the PERUVIAN SYRUP, and feel that I cannot too highly recommend it as a tonic.

Very gratefully yours.

The Irishman who thought the druggist stingy because the emetic was so small, is only surpassed in his parsimonious drollery by those who persistently adhere to the use of those nauseating, disgustingly large and drastic pills, while Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets, which are sugar-coated, and little larger than mustard seeds, will, by their steady and gentle action on the liver, correct all torpidity, thus permanently overcoming constipation. In South America they have almost entirely superseded all other pills, and are relied on fully by the people, and often used as a preventive of the various affections of the stomach, liver, and bowels, so prevalent in that climate. Pierce's Pocket Memorandum Books are given away at drug-stores.

R. V. Pierce, M. D.:

Dear Sir—I write to inform you that I have used your Pellets for some time, and find them to be the best medicine that I ever used. I have also used your Favorite Prescription in my family with entire satisfaction. I have seen your People's Common Sense Medical Adviser and I think it is the best thing that I have ever seen. Yours truly,

The Great Shoshonees Remedy and Pills.

The success that these medicines have met with since their introduction to the public some years ago, proves plainly to the most skeptical that they are medicines that perform what they are advertised to. The virtues of these medicines have been well tested, and have withstood their trial in a most satisfactory manner. For disease of the Blood, Liver, Lungs, &c., they are unsurpassed. We have testimonials of miraculous cures of these diseases, and of many others If any one is afflicted, let him try a bottle of the Remedy and a box of Pills. No injurious effects will follow their use to the most delicate person as they are purely vegetable, there being no mineral matter in them. The cost is small, while the advantages derived from their use "Doubly pay you for your expense and trouble. The medicines are widely known throughout the Dominion, and are for sale by the principal medicine dealers. Try them, and be convinced that these medicines are no humbug. No one who has tried the Shoshinees Pills has ever pronounced an unfavourable opinion of them, to family where they have been used will be without them. Full information may be had on all particulars touching the use, and the experience of those who have used them, by securing the Treatise or the Circular from any druggist in the Dominion, Free. Price of the Remedy in pint bottles $1; Pills 25 cents a box.

DIED.

BURNHAM.—Died in Ashburnham, on the 17th May, Rev. Mark Burnham, aged 73 years.

NIXON.—In North Monaghan, on May 11th Mrs. May Nixon, aged 73 years.

HELM.—At his residence, in Cobourg, on the 12th instant, Deceased was the father of Mr. W. Helm of this town.

We deeply regret that we have this week to announce the demise of a very old resident and one of the oldest men in this section of country. Mr. JOHN HELM was within one month of being ninety years old when he died, but his health, though feeble, had not a short time back been such as to give hopes to his friends that his life would be further prolonged. He came to Canada in 1819, or nearly 60 years ago, and stopped some time at the Carrying Place, but the principal part of his active life had been spent in Cobourg. He was among the first, if not the very first, to start the foundry business in Cobourg, in which he employed for many men, and was known as an upright, conscientious business man. In fact his whole life was a living illustration of the beauties of the christian religion, and it was impossible for the mouth of slander to sully his fair fame, as a man of exemplary Christian character. He acquired considerable property, but owing to reverses in business, lost most of his means. But he never murmured at his losses, and his declining years, though not in penurious circumstances were unblessed with many comforts that in middle age he might reasonably have expected to enjoy. Every dispensation of providence was met with a cheerful and contented spirit, and it was evident to all that his affections had long been set on heavenly things, and that he enjoyed a peace which the world could neither give nor take away. We cannot more full conclude these remarks than in the words of the patriarch Job: "May I die the death of the righteous, and may my last end be like his." We would further state that the funeral on Tuesday last was large and highly respectable, quite a number of residents of Port Hope being present, where he was known, and where his son, John Helm Esq., has long held a high position as a successful business man.—Sentinel.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

NOTICE.

As some Widows and Grass Widows have been trying to injure my character by telling what is not so of me, I beg to state in all my acts I have been justified in, and I defy any person to meet me face to face before any Clergyman or Majistrate and prove what they say.

Welland Canal Enlargement.
Notice to Contractors.
SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for the Welland Canal," will be received at this office until the arrival of the Eastern and Western mails on THURSDAY the 5th day of JULY next, for the formation of a new line of canal from Marlatt's Pond, at Thorold, to Allanburg, including the construction of a lift lock, guard lock, several culverts and piers and abutments for swing bridges, &c.
Also, the enlargement of about two miles of the canal, from the Junction downward, together with the construction of an Aqueduct over the Chippawa River, a lock between the canal and the river at Welland, piers and abutments for bridges, &c.
And, the enlargement of the canal from Ramey's Bend to Port Colborne, including the construction of a guard lock, weir, and supply race, &c.
The works will be let in sections of a length suited to circumstances and the locality.
Maps of the different localities, together with plans and specifications of the works can be seen at this office on and after MONDAY, the 28th day of June next, where printed forms of tender can be obtained.
A like class of information relative to the works north of Allanburg can be seen at the resident Engineer's office THOROLD, and for works south of Port Robinson, plans, &c., may be seen at the resident Engineer's office, WELLAND.
Contractors are requested to bear in mind that Tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and—in the case of firms—except there are attached the actual signatures, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the same: and further, an accepted bank cheque or other available security for the sum of from one to five thousand dollars, according to the extent of work on the section, must accompany each Tender, which sum shall be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the works at the rates stated in the offer submitted.
The amount required in each case will be stated on the form of Tender.
The cheque or money thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose Tenders are not accepted.
For the due fulfilment of the contract, satisfactory security will be required by the deposit of money to the amount of five per cent on the bulk sum of the Tenders, of which the sum sent in with the Tender will be considered a part.
Ninety per cent only of the progress estimates will be paid until the completion of the work.
To each Tender must be attached the actual signatures of two responsible and solvent persons, residents of the Dominion, willing to become sureties for the carrying out of these conditions as well as the due performance of the works embraced in the contract.
This Department does not, however, bind itself to accept the lowest or any Tender.
By order,
F. BRAUN,
Secretary.

The Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, MAY 24, 1877.

Closed Season.—The closed season for bass commenced on Friday, the 18th inst., and continues until 15th of June, and not meskinonge as stated in our last.

Personal.—We learn with pleasure that Mr. C. W. Sawers, of this town, has passed his law examination at Osgood Hall, and is now both attorney and barrister.

Local News. Owing to the number and length of editorials this week, we have been compelled to omit several local items. We will try and make up for this again.

White Ties are still in vogue, but a dry goods clerk—or an Editor—can be distinguished from a clergyman, by having his hair sub. divided into two equal sections, with a footpath between.

R. Stevens & Son is determined to settle up at once the affairs of the late partnership, they are offering their whole stock of Boots and Shoes at and below wholesale cost price for cash, and cash only. 20-11n.

Young Men and Old will find with W. J. Wallace, Lakefield, a full stock of New and fashionable Felt and Straw Hats, white Shirt Collars, and Ties also a splendid line of Ducks and heavy Shirtings, all new goods opened this week. 21-2

Promenade Concert. Remember the Promenade concert in the Drill Shed this evening. The Drill Shed will be illuminated with Chinese Lanterns, and Jacob and Rachel will be at the well. Admission: Ladies 10 cents; Gents 15 cents.

Who Should go to Manitoba?—In answer to intending settlers the Winnipeg papers say there is in Manitoba a superabundance of bookkeepers and that class, also of printers. Farmers is the only interest that cannot be over done. There are good openings for both small and great capitalists.

Teachers' Examination.—By reference to the advertisement in another column it will be seen that some changes have been made with respect to the Teachers' examinations. First-class candidates will be examined at Toronto and Ottawa Normal Schools, and third-class candidates, commencing on the 16th instead of the 10th July.

New Mills.—On the first of this month the Consolidated Bank commenced the issue of their new bills in denominations of $1, $3, $20, $50, and $100. No teas are issued owing to the theft of a quantity of unsigned bills of that amount some time since and until these are recovered it would be unwise to issue tens. Any $10 consolidated Bank bill is therefore not genuine.

Who is She.—The entertainment advertised under the above heading, and for the benefit of W. H. Brent, was a complete failure, there being only 10 cents taken in at the door. The Times office had there representative at the door taking tickets, and the Huffman House clerk took the money; but returned it to the parties who were inquisitive enough to find out "who she was."

"The Union Jack." The stirring, patriotic poem on the first page of this issue will be read with pleasure by all who take pride in "the flag that has braved for a thousand years the battle and the breeze." At the present juncture of affairs in Europe when England is massing her war strength for a struggle with the Muscovite power, it will appeal to ever loyal Canadian with special force.

Personals. Mr. J. Riordan, of the St. Catherines Paper Mills, has been in town during the past week....We are pleased to see that Mr. N. D. Beck, of this town, has passed his second intermediate examination last week successfully, and without an oral.... Mr. H. B. Weller has also passed his first intermediate examination successfully.... We wish our young men success and will always be glad to herald it.

Boating.—We understand that there is to be a four oared boat race between two crews of the Peterborough Boat Club, representing the Bankers and Lawyers of the town, respectively. The race takes place on Tuesday next, at half-past four p.m., and will be run over a course of a mile, commencing just below the locks. As both crews have been in training for some weeks, a keenly contested race may be expected.

In England, Gray's Syrup is known as the GREAT NORTH AMERICAN COUGH REMEDY, and as we are told, as rapidly growing into favor, as a family cough remedy, as it has in this country. It is a great gain to the physician's art, to make a medicine pleasant to take while efficacious to cure—these qualities are found in Gray's Syrup of Red Spruce Gum. All the Tonic, Expectorant and Soothing qualities of this Gum, which is taken from the Red Spruce Tree, are fully preserved. 19-41m.

A Period.—A period is the end of all things, and to this intent we must say that there must be a period to the Warsaw correspondence. The writers, with perhaps an exception, are forgetting themselves and becoming so personal that we recommend more equinimity, and less personal acrimony. The EXAMINER cannot be the medium for any more "Taffy," or other "Pulls." We have received so many communications that would be no honor to the writers and less to us, that we have consigned all together to forgetfulness.

Selwyn Temple.—On Monday night, of last week, the following officers were installed in the Selwyn Temple:—

Bro. Robt. Reades, W. C. T.
Sister M. Sanderson, W. V. T.
Sister Lizzie Nicholls, R. H. S.
Sister Jane Bell, A. H. S.
Bro. E. D. Lewis, P. W. C. T.
Bro. James Roberts, W. M.
Bro. J. G. Lewis, W. Sec.
Sister Jane Blewett, W. A. S.
Sister Bella Sanderson, D. M.
Bro. Jas. Kinkaid, W. F. S.
Sister Hannah Branch, W. Treas.
Bro. K. Robinson, W. O. G.
Sister Huldah Mann, W. I. G.
Bro. S. A. McKee, W. Chap.

H. LeBrun has a first-class Cutter, and guarantees a good fit. 17

A New Sort of Matrimonial Advertisement.—Here is a translation of a matrimonial advertisement that recently appeared in the Israelite of Mayence: "I would like to marry my daughter, who is educated domesticated and comely, to an energetic business man of good family. I would transfer to him my business, which has been established for many years. Fortune desirable but not absolutely necessary, applicants may send, in confidence, their address and photographs to No. 834, care of this journal, both of which will be returned to non-successful applicants. Anonymous letters will receive no attention."

Suits from T. Dolan & Co's are noted for excellency of style and fit.

Watering the Streets.—At last the council has come to business in the matter of watering the streets, and although it may not be in full accord with the merchants, they should now fall in and put an end to the contention about so little. We understand that the committee has agreed, on behalf of the council, to find a watering cart and the water, and to tax the interested parties with a local rate for paying on the water. This ought to be accepted by those on George street, and inside the limits to be watered, and let the man be got to work at once, before a return of the dust and damage of last week overtake them.

If you want a real stylish Suit of Clothes, go and leave your measure with H. LeBrun.

Bogus Bills.—Bogus four dollar bills on the Dominion Bank are in extensive circulation, shapers have palmed them off on farmers in large numbers. They are the old form of "deers," in which the vignette represents a farm yard with horses, pigs, etc., in the foreground. On the left of the bill is a picture of Prince Arthur. The engraving is dark and coarse. The signature, "W. H. Howland," on the left is written in the original, but in the bogus bills it is engraved. The latter work unremains the figure 4 on the right is poorly executed, and the number is badly done. It would be well for all to be on the look-out for "the queer."

Gents who want to get some real fine Furnishings should not fail to give H. LeBrun a trial.

Time Bonus.—Mr. Hugel, President of the Midland Railway, has applied to the town council for a bonus of $6,000 towards rebuilding the station house here. He promises to erect buildings worth $15,000 if he receive this aid from the council. It is said that several of the councillors favor the application; at any rate they favor submitting the matter to the ratepayers. If they do it will be voted down, without doubt. But we will wait the action of the council before doing anything for or against the proposal. In the mean time our opinion is; pay off floating debts before putting our hands into the public purse to build railway stations for a railway that has universally found its interest at variance with the interests of Peterborough.

B. Morrow is selling groceries at bottom prices for cash, as can be seen by giving him a call, at Hardy's old stand. 20-4

Monument Houses to be Moved.—About the first of June Messrs. Lesher Bros. & Co., of the Montreal House, expect to move to Messrs. Cox & Donnelly's new shop, next to R. Stevens & Son's boot and shoe store. As they have advertised for several months back, they are going out of the general dry goods line altogether. They do not intend to move anything in that line that they can get cost, or in the neighborhood of cost, for. Heavy reductions for the next two weeks therefore in the balance of their dry goods stock. Some new worsted and English and Canadian tweeds received this week. They are still running off Thompson Bros. stock, bought at 49 cents on the dollar. Their whole attention in the future will be devoted to custom tailoring, gents furnishings, ready-made clothing, etc. J. O. Madison, cutter. 21-11n

B. Morrow has a large stock of Groceries, Wines, Liquors, &c., which he is disposing of at "Grangers" prices. 20-4

Peterborough, Hastings, Harwood, Cobourg.—The Cobourg Sentinel says:—"As will be seen by our advertising columns, Mr. H. Calcutt is again at work in providing accommodation between Peterborough and Cobourg. His two staunch steamers, the Waldo Wing and Golden-Eye, are now running, and are in first-class order. In view of the efforts which Mr. Calcutt has made to establish a pleasant and quick passage between Peterborough and Cobourg we think he is entitled to the support of both towns. Connection will be made at Harwood with the C. P. & M. R. We ask all from Cobourg who intend going to Peterboro' to make the trip from Harwood on Mr. Calcutt's steamers. We are confident that this line will carry most if not all the freight between Peterborough and Cobourg; and the energetic gentleman who has made this possible will be amply repaid."

Teas, Sugars, Spices, &c., are being sold at W. Harty & Co's old stand, very low for cash. Call and see for yourselves. 20-4

The Canada School Journal is the name of a new educational publication just started in Toronto, under the management of a strong editorial committee. The first number, for June, opens with a portrait and biographical sketch of Rev. Edgerton Ryerson, D.D.L.L.B., well known throughout the land as superintendant of Education in upper Canada for many years. This is written by J. G. Hodgins, L.L.D., equally well known as Deputy Superintendant. The editorials relate to the new School Act, the coming Teachers Convention, quarterly payments to teachers, and hints to candidates at teachers examinations. An able letter on the High School Intermediate Examinations is reproduced from the Queen's College Journal. Under "Practical Education" Mr. Jas. Hughes, P.S.I., Toronto, contributes a paper on the teaching of drawing, and in the Mathematical Department Dr. McLellan, H. S. I., gives a number of arithmetical and algebraic solutions. There are also educational notes and views from all the Provinces of the Dominion, and views of several educational works. The journal is neatly arranged in a convenient form and well printed. It will prove a welcome monthly visitor to all educationists.

For Readymade Clothing go to H. LeBrun, who has the largest stock in town. Good Tweed Suits for $10.00.

Another Fire.—On Saturday evening, about 9 o'clock, the stable and sheds attached to Mr. G. Schneider's hotel, George Street, were consumed by fire, and the dwelling and grocery attached had a very narrow escape. We learn that about 12 o'clock the same night a second attempt was made to complete the destruction of the whole property, as a parcel of splinters and straw, saturated in coal oil, was discovered laid up in the Porch and fired; but this was discovered in time to prevent any injury. The motives to this attempt to destroy Mr. Schneider's property, and perhaps adjoining property, cannot be known, as Mr. Schneider is a peacable and inoffensive citizen. The current idea is that the incendiary was actuated to the deed by the fact that a relative made it his place of resort to get drunk. This certainly is a motive, but one that cannot relieve the guilty party, if found out, from the severest penalties due to such a crime. It is a matter for public concern, if there are amongst us persons who would be guilty of such an outrage, on any pretence whatever. But nevertheless such is the expressed opinion of many who have given the matter consideration and investigation. And the Ashburnham fire is accounted for in the same way, and this last attempt to burn out Mr. Schneider would favor the report.

If you want to get cheap Groceries for cash, give B. Morrow (late W. Harty & Co.) a call. His stock is complete in every department. 20-4

What's all This For? There are several streets in this town not opened, and not needed by the citizens. These streets have been, and are still to some extent, in the possession of private persons. Some of these are Rubidge street, between McDonald and London streets, part of Downey street and part of Murray st. These streets are not now required for public use, and what harm can their be in fencing them in for a while. It appears as though Romaine has also fenced in a portion of an allowance (not altogether a street,) for public purposes, along the bank of the river, near his brick works. In doing so he injures no one. He has spent a large sum of money in building brick works, this allowance on the river bank is perhaps of some use to him, but of little use to any one else, then why prevent, or seek to prevent him using it. When Mr. Romaine, or any other man, spends $10,000 or $15,000 in endeavoring to promote commercial or laudable enterprise, we should rather encourage than oppose his progress and prosperity. It shows a very great degree of narrow-mindedness when we would seek to prevent Mr. Romaine, who has spent a large sum of money in the neighborhood referred to, from using a street (if street it is) that in no way interferes with any one, except those who spend their time in river side promenades. If it is public property, or intended for a street, he will not hesitate to remove his fences when requested to do so.

Choice Groceries of all kinds can be obtained at B. Morrow's, late W. Harty & Co.,) for cash cheaper than the cheapest. Try our tea, they cannot be excelled in quality, and he prices will be found lower than Grangers can purchase elsewhere.

Splinters.—The Court House Green has assumed quite a refreshing appearance since the rain fell. There were quite a large number of people in town on Saturday, and there was a very good market....Of all the creatures to be despised is the snob—whether male or female....This kind of weather makes us think, with a sigh, of the good old days when we had several first-class swimming holes in the River....Eight cents worth of straw, and seven dollars worth of taristan will make an average spring hat. White lace mittens instead of kids is the new fashion in England. Truth says, that for a young woman a garland of leaves and flowers is becoming, but above an aged face it is out of place. But when does a lady cease to be young? Preserve us from attempting to solve so delicate a question....Thirty thousand young salmon fry, from Mr. Wilmots establishment, arrived last week, for our back waters....A wise son maketh a glad father," and a prompt paying subscriber causeth an editor to laugh....The picnic season is approaching, and the boys take a livelier interest in the Sunday school....There was no band on the Green on Friday evening last, on account of the death of Mr. Robert McWilliams....This is the 24th of May....There has been a great many strangers in town during the past week....Mr. Croft and Mr. Cavanagh have planted shade trees around their hotels, on the corner of Hunter and Water streets....Don't throw off all your flannels in too big a hurry....Oil-cloth coats and umbrellas were at a premium during the past week....The foliage of the trees and vegetation of all kinds are making glorious growth....There is a strong feeling in England as to the ill-luck of marrying in May. Considering the number of bachlors around Peterborough, we should think there were about eleven other unlucky months....The high price of butter is explained by the farmers on the ground that they have a whay of making cream into cheese....Barnum's greatest show on earth is coming....The farmers say they never knew finer growing weather....The London Advertiser of the 17th says: "Gowan's Grand Organization failed to show last night. The company is now engaged in counting the ties between Brantford and Ottawa"....All who are willing to supply the public with ice cream and soda water should make their willingness known through the columns of the EXAMINER....One of our hotel keepers is at present researching over the department of one of his boarders, who "skipped out," a few days ago, without the trifling formality of settling up his board bill....Parties who have complaints to make against their assessment should read the advertisement in another column....A runaway on Sunday evening last caused the destruction of a buggy belonging to E. Belcher has about completed the plans of the new Post Office to be erected by Mr. Geo. A. Cox....This sort of weather leads to the horrifying suspicion that Vesuvius has entered into a conspiracy with the manufacturers of ice cream and soda water....What Church, Society, Sabbath School or organization will be the first to send us an advertisement announcing its annual pic-nic.

TOWN COUNCIL.

The Council met on Monday evening pursuant to adjournment.

Present his worship the Mayor in the Chair, and Messrs. Cahill, McBain, Haggart, Millar, Smith, Baptie, McWilliams, Yelland, Dumble, Elder, Rountree and Hamilton.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS

From E. Pearse and W. Eastland, Auditors, asking for the Council to consider the matter whether the allowance as Auditors was sufficient for the work performed.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

From, H. Calcutt, asking for an equal bonus with any competing line. As the freight rates have been kept down considerable by his running his boats in opposition to the Midland Railway.—Referred to the Committee appointed to consider Mr. Hugel's proposition.

From H. Calcutt, asking for permission to continue the wharf on King Street 50 feet further down, as the wharf at the present time was not sufficient to do the business

On motion Mr. Calcutt and Mr. Romaine addressed the council in reference to this matter when it was referred to a committee composed of Messrs Smith McWilliams Cahill and Mr. Dumble.

From W. A. Morrow, Secretary of the School Board, forwarding the council a copy of a motion passed at the School Board with reference to the council handing over money received from S. S. No. 11 Douro.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

From Mr. Heffernan asking for something to help to support his family.—Referred to the Street Inspector.

From J. Edwards asking for a couple of weeks leave of absence during the summer—Granted.

From Mary Winch asking to have repaired the drain on Part street corner of Chamberlain street.—Referred to the Street Inspector.

From J. McFadden and A. Kane asking for water-table on Donegal Street,—Referred to the Street Inspector to report.

From Messrs Denne and Sperry calling the attention of the council to the state of King street and asking them to bear half the expense in building a wharf.—Referred to the street Inspector to report.

From W. H. Moore and 110 others asking that the street between Mr. Bradburn and Mr. Dumble be sold to Mr. Bradburn, he offering $1000 therefor and that it be not opened—Received.

From W. C. May asking to be allowed to extend his fence out 12 feet, Mr. Bearss having moved his fence 12 feet—Referred to the Street Inspector.

From Mr. Christie asking to be paid for 14 days board for Charles Kennedy—Ordered to be paid.

From J. I. Davidson forwarding the following resolution passed at a meeting of the merchants held on Thursday evening last.

Moved by Mr. John Erskine, seconded by Mr. J. I. Davidson—That this meeting of merchants desire respectfully to direct the attention of the Town council to the state of our streets arising from the dust in the business portion of the Town, and that the council be requested to reconsider the matter of watering the streets, and make the tax required to defray the expense of the same a general one. That the following gentlemen be a committee to address the council in support of the above resolution: Messrs Mason McClelland and Ormond.

From, Dr. Kincaid, in reference to the sending of C. Kennedy to the Hospital.

Moved by Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. Baptie, that the Chairman be a Committee to visit that gentleman and see what can be done for him, with power to act.—Carried.

ACCOUNTS.

From, J. C. Kennedy	$2.50
C. Stapleton	10.00
Geo. Benton	1,75
Geo. A. Stewart	4,00

The accounts were referred to the Finance Committee with the exception of Messrs Kennedy and Benton's which were ordered to be paid if found correct.

WATERING THE STREETS.

On motion Mr. Mason addressed the Council in reference to the watering of the streets. He said that at a meeting of the merchants the other evening, they had came to the conclusion that there was another side to the one taken by the Town Council. The merchants have put up with the dust for the past two months, and they were prepared to put up with it for the remainder of the season if the council would not have the streets watered by a general tax. The merchants pay the greater portion of the tax of the town and some consideration should be given them. The water limits last year were circumscribed, and the streets that were watered did not represent the water limits. The merchants do not wish to interfere with the rights of anyone. They looked at it in this way, that the poor man who is assessed for $400 or $500, if by general tax would only have to pay about five cents, and surely it was worth this to escape the annoyance that there has been for the past week or two. The dust is inclosed in a very narrow space by very high walls and must come in contact with those who are on the streets. The councils in other places have sufficient taste to keep the streets perfectly clean and watered. The merchants do not come asking for special favors, they come only asking for their rights. The dust has been notorious for some time past, and in view of the large sum paid last year by the merchants for the street watering, they do not feel like paying a similar tax this year.

Mr. Smith said, that the way the streets have been for some time was a disgrace, and Moved, seconded by Mr. Haggart.—That in the opinion of this Council, some immediate steps should be taken to have the streets watered, and in order that no unnecessary time be lost, be it resolved, that the whole question now in dispute as to the watering of the streets, and as to the manner by which the same shall be paid for, shall be referred to a special committee, with power to act, such Committee to be composed of the following members that is to say, Messrs. Dumble, Haggart, Cahill, McWilliams, Elder and the mover.

Mr. McBain said, that he would certainly vote against the streets being watered by a general tax.

Mr. Dumble opposed levying a rate on the entire town for the purpose of watering a few streets. There was no justice in the demand of the merchants, and the dust nuisance was not the fault of the council but of the merchants. In all other years the Merchants within the water limit has asked that a local rate might be imposed on them to defray the expense. This year the council to make it easier for them early in the season passed a resolution to buy a first-class water cart at the general expense, but the merchants told the council that the tax must be put on the entire town as they would not submit to a special rate. Thus it was that no action was taken. Then let us see how the matter stands. Its true that all citizens enjoy immunity from dust, but not all suffer from the dust to the same extent. The person from the outskirts may come down town once a week or even once a day, but the merchants come down in the morning, home to dinner, back again, home to tea, back again. Then he sits or stands all day in the dust, cleaning his shop and his goods. The dust injures his goods and makes extra expense to him, thereby they are not on the same footing, he gets everything the outsider gets but he gets much in addition which he wants the outsider to pay for. He gets sewers, gas light, the best service of the fire engines. A large part of the stock he does business with, because it is owed for, pay no taxes and yet he demands as a right that his counters shall be kept clean at the expense of the whole town. I assume that if he were right in his demand here, the same claim would commend itself to the justice of all other communities. What are the facts? Cobourg, Belleville, Brantford, Chatham, London, Guelph, Hamilton, Kingston, Ottawa and St. Catherines the Streets are watered by local tax. Now when the rate struck two years ago for a local tax it was found that the property assessed was just one fourth of the entire assessed value of the property, so that the outsider pay three fourths to one fourth. He said he was as much annoyed by dust as any one but I think the people generally benefitted should pay the larger share of the cost. George Street is the best paying property in town, and in proportion to its value it pays less taxes than other property I will meet the merchants in any fair arrangement, but I do not intend to submit to let them impose on the town in this matter and thus make a precedent for every other year. We have offered them a cart and they spurn it. I will go further and give them both the cart and pay for getting the water, and to this end he. Mr. Dumble seconded by, Mr. McBain, That the council will furnish a water cart and the water. The balance of expense of watering the street to be borne by a local rate if the ratepayers within the water limit accept this offer, and that Messrs Haggart, Smith, McWilliams and the mover be a committee to give effect to this resolution.

Mr. Millar was in favor of having it done by special tax.

Mr. Cahill said that he felt like Mr. Dumble, and that as Mr. Mason had stated that the merchants would not compromise the matter, it was no use passing the motion.

Mr. Elder and Mr. Haggart spoke in favor of having the streets watered at once.

On a vote being taken Mr. Smith's motion was carried on the following division:—

YEAS.—Messrs. Cahill, Haggart, Elder, Millar, Smith, Dumble and the Mayor.

Mr. McWilliams and Mr. Baptie voted against both motions, as there was a motion passed some time ago to get the cart and water for the streets but the merchants would not accept the offer.

Mr. Dumble said that before voting for Mr. Smith's amendment he wished to explain that rather than take the position that we will only give the cart, and so as to show that we are willing to be liberal. I will vote for Mr. Smith's motion as my amendment is lost, rather than have Mr. Smith's also lost, and thus leave matters at a stand-still.

Moved by Mr. McWilliams, seconded by Mr. Rountree,—That the Street Inspector be instructed to have that part of of Rubidge street between London and McDonnell streets opened, and that the sum of five dollars be appointed for that purpose.

Moved in amendment by Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. McBain,—That all the streets in town be opened, and that $300 be appointed for grading and bridging Wolfe street across Spalding's Bay.

Moved in amendment to the amendment by Mr. Smith, seconded by Mr. Elder that the question of the advisability of of opening up all the streets in town be referred to the Street Inspector in pursuance of the resolution passed at the last meeting of the Council.

The amendment to the amendment was carried.

Moved by Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. Millar,—That a committee be appointed to purchase four small fire engines—one for each ward, at a total cost for engines, hose, and reels not exceeding $250, and that the following be a committee—D. W. Dumble, D. Haggart and H. H. Smith. That said committee be authorized to place said engines in the care of persons in the several wards who will be responsible for their safe keeping and good order, and that the committee be authorized to organize a small volunteer fire company for each engine who may assume the responsibility of bringing the engines to fires, and working them, it being expressly understood that no compensation shall be allowed to such volunteer firemen.—Carried.

FINANCE REPORT.

Mr. Cahill, chairman of the Finance Committee, reported as follows:—The Finance Committee beg leave to report that they have carefully considered the best means of meeting the deficiency due on the 1st of January last, and recommend that it be met as follows:—That is to say by accepting a discharge from the Commissioners of the Town Trust for the amount due and levied for them last year and retained by the Council, and that a By-law should be submitted to the ratepayers providing for the issue of Debentures for the balance. Your Committee beg leave also to recommend the payment of the following accounts:

Geo. A. Stewart	$18.00
Jas. Stewart	2.50
McKee & Davidson	19.00
J. James	43.31
R. Romaine	33.00
R. White	16.00

Mr. Jame's account being for work done on roads and bridges under the immediate supervision of the street Inspector, would recommend that the same be sent to the street inspector to settle, and that in future all such accounts be entered on pay sheets. All of which is respectfully submitted.

(Signed) THOS. CAHILL,
Chairman.

Council Chamber, 21st May, 1877.

On motion the report was received and adopted.

On motion Mr. Calling addressed the council in reference to parties taking sand from about his lot, and coming so near that his fence was about falling. The street Inspector was instructed to have the matter attended to at once.

Moved by Mr. Smith, seconded by Mr. Cahill,—That the Mayor be added to the Court of Revision.—Carried.

FIRE REPORT.

Mr. Haggart, chairman of the fire committee, reported as follows:—The fire committee beg to report that, after hearing the statement of the different officers in connection with the fire department, have arrived at the following conclusion: that there existed a misunderstanding as to what constituted the duties of the different officers, and would recommend the council to revise the present by-law, as it stands at present it does not cover the cases in dispute, and would further advise the council to procure a more suitable place for the hose and engine. All of which is respectfully submitted.

D. HAGGART,
Chairman.

On motion the report was received and adopted.

A By-law was read a first time in reference to the standing rules of the council.

Moved by Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. Elder,—That the clerk be instructed to get a number of the most important of the maps or plans belonging to the town mounted on rolls.—Carried.

Mr. McWilliams gave notice of motion for opening of Rubidge street.

Mr. Cahill gave notice of motion in amendment for the grading of Wolfe street.

The Treasurers bonds were ordered to be given up and the new ones put on fyle.

The council adjourned for one week.

A SERMON preached in the Church of St. Luke the Evangelist, Ashburnham, and in St. Mark's Church, Otonabee, on Whit Sunday, May 20th, 1877, on occasion of the death of the Rev'd Mark Burnham, A.B., (Oxon) formerly Rector of Peterborough, by W. C. Bradshaw, Incumbent of Ashburnham

We this week present our readers with a sermon delivered on Sunday morning last, at St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, by Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, on occasion of the death of the late Rev. Mark Burnham. The building was appropriately draped in black as a token of respect for the deceased gentleman, and the congregation was large, devout and attentive.

"A time to die" ECCLESIASTES iii. chap., part 2nd verse.

It is under no ordinary circumstances of trial, but with feelings of the deepest sorrow and keenest regret, I have selected the few words just read as my text, in order that I may pay the last feeble tribute of respect to the memory of a departed friend. Though the Anniversary—the Festival which the Church keeps today is a source of great joy and exultation to all Christians second only to the glad tidings which the Resurrection of Christ brought to fallen man we meet at this hour as mourners. For us, as well as for the bereaved family, it is a season of affliction and of sorrow—a sad time of parting, for alas! "a leader in Israel has fallen." A revered benefactor, a steadfast friend, a generous friend, a tried friend, a generous friend from early in the days of our Church has passed away of the world, triumphed over the errors the fears of hell, the pangs of death and freedom and to God. Arisen to light, to so simply depicted by the "time to die" has suddenly, and somewhat unexpectedly, come to our departed friend, manifested form and face of one so familiar here all our services and communions for months past, and so well known to many of you for years, will be seen by us again no more for ever. If there be ever a lawful time to indulge in grief and let our tears flow with freedom it surely is a time like the present, when we stand almost at the margin of a lost friend's grave. To be insensible to the loss we have all sustained in his death whose body we yesterday consigned to the lonely grave, were a calamity and a crime. To shed a tear of sorrow on an occasion like the present is natural, is religious, is useful and right, and that God, who, by the grave of Lazarus wept bitter tears of sorrow for a much-loved friend, will surely send His Spirit now to assuage the grief of the mourner and comfort the sorrowing and distressed.

By the text we are reminded of a fact than which there is none more certain, that there is "a time to die." Well will it be for us my brethren, if (dwelling on the certainty of this fact, which none are so foolish as to controvert) our minds and thoughts and hearts are carried forward to the due consideration of that awful judgment which follows. God would have us thus employ and improve the mournful occasion on which we meet. It is by the agency of such and circumstances, under the controlling hand of a Divine Creator, that the finest and purest principles of our nature are brought to light. The All-wise Being employs different modes of instruction to guide and counsel, to warn and direct His wayward children. His voice at one time sounds to us as the sweetest, softest music, then, as the voice of many waters, and again as the loud reverberating thunder rolling along the clouds of heaven. Often too in a still small voice, which like a calm and gentle zephyr pervades our inmost being. He seeks to draw our dull earth-bound hearts upward and onward to Heaven and to Himself. But perhaps we best heed His voice when we feel His chastening hand laid heaviest upon us, and when in the dark sorrowing hour of our affliction we gently bow our heads in grief and cry "Father, if it be possible let this cup pass from me," and then in a christian spirit add "Nevertheless, not as I will but as thou wilt." It is death which often touches our heart when all other means fail; which gives to it a new, full, free action; which damps its levity, kindles its human sympathetic dispositions; subdues its evil influences, and frequently under the benign, vivifying, enlivening influence of the Holy Spirit, prepares it for the saving impressions of the Living God. At the grave, the sorrows and the pleasures of affliction often blend their streams, and like a gentle flood break over the chastened spirit; at the grave friendship most keenly feels its loss, dwells on its past omissions and pays its last tribute of respect; and there perhaps we are best taught to value, to desire, to ardently long for the communion of heaven which knows no trials, no death, no partings, no changes, no end.

Nothing can remind us more forcibly of our sinful nature and show us in its true aspect the dread consequences of transgression, than the thought that we are mortal—that there is a time to die." Oh that the memory of this would sink more deeply into our hearts—that when we sleep, and when we are awake, when we rest, and when we pray, when we labor, and when we rest we might ever remember that we are marching to the silent grave, where there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, nor cunning. Death I said teaches us that our nature is sinful. "The wages of sin is death." By one man sin entered into the world and death by sin." "Sin when it is finished bringeth for h death." And as we read "Death reigned from Adam to Moses, from Moses to Christ" and so we must admit death reigns from Christ to this very hour. The grass withereth, the flower fadeth, the beast perisheth but this is natural, and we all expect it. But for man—man made for immortality—fashioned in the likeness of the Creator—born to govern and control—filled with the Divine essence—for him to pass thro' the gloomy portals of death to the glorious light beyond—this, brethren, we must admit is unnatural. His path was to be a path of life in which he was to move onward and upward still; gathering fresh energies; discovering fresh splendors and glory within glory; leaving behind all mists, dimness and imperfection behind, and entering farther and farther into the clear, bright light of the eternal day. But death, by the fall, blocked up the path, and to regain it we must pass through the darkness of the grave. Standing then to-day under the dark shadow of this heavy affliction which has fallen upon us so suddenly, we remember that our lot is cast in a fallen world—where foul sin has set up its hideous abode—quenched its lights—chained its liberty—embittered its enjoyments—and ruined its prospects and pursuits.

Another reflection arises too while we dwell upon the words of my text. Surely my brethren they teach us not to grasp greedily at the treasures of this life—not to be too deeply engrossed in its fleeting trifles and passing enjoyments! To some of us the summons for departure may come very soon, and the swift messenger of death may ere long still the life-blood now coursing through our veins by one fatal touch of his cold and icy fingers. Shortly we may be called upon to part with all our earthly possessions and yield obedience to the King of terrors. Certain it is our time will one day come. If our sole trust at last is placed in the things of this life what comfort will those vanities bring us then? O brethren what folly it is to cling for support to any earthly prop which the ruthless hand of death can in a moment snatch away! How criminally guilty are we in putting off the preparation for that limitless life which follows our brief existence! I stop not to-day to enter into a learned disquisition proving the immortality of man. These things befit the philosopher perhaps, but not the peasant; the scientist, but not the yeoman; the study, but not the grave. I speak now to a congregation of Christians whose faith I trust rests firmly on the Word of Truth. I address those who believe that this doctrine is a revelation from heaven, as well as a firm principle engrafted upon our nature. "Jesus Christ hath brought life and immortality to light by the Gospel." "If we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with Him." This is the glory of our faith, the bright golden promise of a life to come, the noble pennant hung aloft which cheers the Christian onward in his darkest conflicts with sin and satan, and fills his mind with the sweetest comfort in every trial and distress. We cling to this a precious reality. It is not the dream of a speculative philosophy, nor the fancy of an ambitious mind, but a fact—a living, abiding fact which gives to Christianity its splendour, its power, its worth. Deprive it of this and it becomes a little earthly thing—dim, dark and cold; deprive it of this and its doctrines lose their harmony, its promises their sweetness, its motives their power, and the blood of its Author is shed in vain. Deprive it of this and it blooms on earth alone—with earth its only sphere, its paradise, its grave. Christ has gone to heaven. Lately we kept the Anniversary of His Ascension. Soon will He come again and take us to Himself; and we too may rise with Him. In our affliction let us comfort one another with these words. The body of our honoured friend and benefactor lies in the grave, but though its dust mingle with the clods of the valley that form shall rise again: Christian brethren, and as in this dispensation to us all—stern and almost awful as are its lessons—teaching us the sinfulness, the mortality of our nature, and the transitory character of all things sublunary, blessed be God, we are not left without this solid and abiding comfort as we cluster round the honored grave of our departed friend.

Of him we speak as a man respected and honoredby all; a man of irreproachable character, sound judgment, and possessing a well-balanced, well-stored, active mind. He was a true christian—an eminent scholar—a steadfast, unwavering attached clergy man of our beloved Church, whose name for nearly half a century has appeared on the roll of her faithful and devoted servants. He was ordained in 1829, by that saintly and venerated man whose Apostolic labors are gratefully remembered by the Canadian Church—I mean the great and good Bishop Stewart. Some idea may be formed of the position of the Church in this country at that time and of the hardships of her early missionaries when we are told that Upper and Lower Canada made numerous excursions, and had a staff of Clergy first appointed over a score! His prosperous was to what is now the Thomas, and the flourishing town of St. 20 years, faithfully discharged for over ter's service, and contributed by His Ma his wise tact and sound judg quiet, unobtrusive unassuming as well as by his earnest painstaking conscientious labors to the ad Christ's truth and growth of Church. To this day his mem fondly cherished there; his numerous services gratefully remembered; his name highly revered and respected, and deeply enshrined in the hearts of a faithful people. When he was about to leave them they gave expression to their feelings and showed their appreciation of his services by the presentation to him of a very costly and elaborate service of plate—a souvenir to be still more highly valued now by his mourning relatives—as an enduring, though insufficient memento of his worth, and of the esteem in which he was held by the congregation to which he ministered so faithfully for nearly a quarter of a century.

In 1852 he was appointed to the Rectory of Peterborough, which he held, although not formally inducted thereto, for nearly six years, resigning in 1858. It is quite unnecessary for me to allude to the very high estimation in which his name was held here by all classes and all creeds both in town and county. Many a token of this has come to my knowledge since my advent among you. In many a place within a radius of 20 miles there remain marks and traces of his labors, of his active deeds of piety, of his generous liberality, which stand now as monuments of his enduring worth,—abiding tokens of the reality and earnestness of his faith. Among his numerous good deeds I cannot pass over one in which we are all so deeply interested. It is to him we owe the establishment of this as a separate parish, and a great measure, if not all, the success which, under God, has been attained here since its inception, is due to his fostering hand and liberal aid. Next to the bereavement which his mourning family have sustained, our loss as a congregation will be most keenly felt. They will miss his loving guardianship and paternal affection, his cheering voice, his wise counsel and companionship. We have lost at a critical moment a warm advocate, a wise and steadfast friend, a zealous helper, a generous giver, an able and experienced counsellor whose place none among us can supply. But now "the rests from his labours and his works do follow him", and none would like less to have his good deeds spoken of "before men" than himself. His retiring, unobtrusive habits, and his manner of life were somewhat similar to those of his honored and lamented father, concerning whom these words were spoken by a living dignitary of the Church: "He was not of an impulsive disposition, nor given to excitements; but tranquil and even in his temperament. The work of religion, was, therefore with him a quiet, settled principle,—not obtruded on ordinary occasions, and rarely set forth with pronuisence. What is so deep and sacred it is not a characteristic of good and pious men to deal with as a common thing: it works in the heart, rather than speaks by the lips: it is evinced in the LIFE more than by a marked and ostentatious profession."

But he is gone. The voice of the Lord has called him to a higher, nobler station as a faithful servant who had labored long and who had well employed the many talents committed to his care; as one who had already passed the allotted span, and whose head was crowned with hoary locks blossoming for the grave. Tenderly we lay him to rest in an honored tomb—well assured that he is "not lost, but gone before."

To his sorrowing family, to his bereaved widow, we tender to-day our heartfelt and sincere sympathy, and earnestly we pray that God would strengthen them to bear this great affliction. May He teach them to rest upon His Almighty arm for that comfort and assurance, that spiritual grace and consolation which alone can aid the feeble, the sorrowing, the mourner, and the distressed.

And you, brethren, to many of whom our departed friend once bore a close relationship—a tie like that which binds you now to me—remember him who had the rule over you, who spoke to you the word of God. Follow his faith; raise your thoughts to where he now is, and where you hope one day to be. And may the Almighty God, who has raised our brother to his eternal rest, be your constant guide and support, may the gentle wing of heaven be over him, and the pillar of light direct thy footsteps through the desert paths! The Gum which exudes from the Red Spruce tree is, without doubt, the most valuable native Gum for Medicinal purposes.

Its remarkable power in relieving certain severe forms of Bronchitis, and its almost specific effect in curing obstinate hacking Coughs, is now well known to the public at large. In this Syrup (carefully prepared at low temperature), containing a large quantity of the finest picked Gum in complete solution, all the Tonic Expectorant, Balsamic and Anti-Spasmodic effects of the Red Spruce Gum are fully preserved. For sale at all Drug Stores. Price, 25 cents per bottle.

MANHOOD:
HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

CATARRH!

Five Years' Sickness Cured by Four Bottles of Constitutional Catarrh Remedy.

Pain in Shoulders, Back and Lungs, on Droppings in Throat Disappear.

ST. ARMAND, P. Q. Sept. 12, 1876.

MR. T. B. HARDING

Dear Sir:—Being desirous that others may know something of the merits of your CONSTITUTIONAL CATARRH REMEDY, I wish to inform you what it has done for me. I am twenty-nine years old; had been out of health for about five years. I had employed three or four different doctors, and tried various medicines, without receiving any permanent benefit, but continued rather to grow worse, until last fall, when I had become so bad as to be unable to do an hour's work at a time. Had severe soreness and pain under the shoulder blades and through the shoulders, with very lame back, and a feeling in my right lung as though there was a weight bearing it down, with continual dropping in the throat and down upon the lungs. Such was my condition when I commenced to take your Catarrh Remedy, one bottle of which eased my pains and gave me an improved appetite, and after taking four bottles I was restored to health so as to be able to endure hard and continued labor, such as chopping and clearing land, at which I have been engaged the past season. My recovery I attribute solely, with God's blessing, to the use of your Catarrh Remedy.

Yours truly HENRY SNIDER.

Price $1 per bottle. For sale by all Druggists.

READ CAREFULLY.

SAMUEL OSBORNE, Sophiasburg, says—"I was affected with Dyspepsia for nearly four years, my lungs becoming affected towards the last. I was induced to try the "Shoshonees Remedy." After using three or four bottles I felt much better, and gained strength rapidly, my health improved steadily and rapidly, and when I had taken three or four bottles more, I was quite restored to health and strength, and have experienced better health than for forty years before. I had been under the treatment of a number of physicians before, but never received any material aid until I used your remedy."

A. MCKAY, Truro, N. S., says "he was very bad with Liver Complaint, but used the "Shoshonees Remedy," and in a month was as well as he had ever been in his life. I am now in business and wish you to send me three dozen by steamer.

A. WOOD, Connecon, says—"That he has tried the "Remedy" for Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia with great success. I have also used the "Shoshonees Pills," and find that they are as good as any I ever tried.

REV. JOHN SCOTT says—"Mr. McKenzie Booting suffered from an attack of rheumatism, and was unable to move without help but after taking a few bottles of the 'Shoshonees" was able to walk as well as ever." Price of the Remedy is in pint bottles $1; Pills 25 cents a box.

WHAT THEY SAY OF IT? A FEW FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.—There are but few preparations of medicines which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people for any great length of time. One of these is Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil. Read the following and be convinced:—Thos. Robinson, Farnham Centre, P. Q., writes, "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for the last ten years, and have tried many remedies without any relief, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and since then have had no attack of it. I would recommend it to all."—J. H. Earl, Hotel Keeper, West Shefford, P. Q., writes, "I have been troubled with liver complaint for several years, and have tried different medicines with little or no benefit, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which gave me immediate relief, and I would say that I have used it since with the best effect. No one should be without it. I have tried it on my horses in cases of cuts, wounds, etc., and think it is equally as good for horse as for man."—A. Mayhew Merchant, Warkworth, writes, "I have sold some hundreds of bottles of Eclectric Oil, and it is pronounced by the public, one of the best medicines they have ever used; it has done wonders in healing and relieving pain, sore throats, etc., and is worthy of the greatest confidence."—Joseph Rason, Township Percy writes, "I persuaded to try Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lame knee which troubled me for three or four years, and I never found anything like it for curing lameness. It is a great public benefit."—A. E. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes, "For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which annoyed me very much. Mr. Mayhew of this place induced me to try Eclectric Oil, and before one bottle was used I was cured. It is a most remarkable medicine. Sold by all medicine dealers Price, 25 cents.

A WONDERFUL REFORM IN FANNING MILLS.

Farmers wanting to purchase a First Class Fanning Mill should call on

MINORGAN & ELLIOTT

AND GET ONE OF THEIR

"FARMERS FRIEND."

They are the best and cheapest Fanning Mills in the Market, and clean from 60 to 100 bush. of Wheat, ready for the market, in an hour, and does not throw the large grain into the tailings. We have received a large number of Testimonials from different Farmers in the County who have used our Mills. They will speak for themselves:—

Greystock P.O., Otonabee, Mar. 12, 1877.—
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—This is to certify that I have given the "Farmers Friend" Mill a fair trial, and have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion it is one of the best Mills now in use for cleaning grain for seed or market.
Yours etc.,
J. SMITHSON.

Otonabee, March 21, 1877.
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—This is to certify that I have given your "Farmers Friend" Mill a fair trial, and have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion it is one of the best Mills now in use for cleaning grain for seed or market.
Yours etc.,
J. REDMOND.

Bakon Grove, Peterboro, March 13, 1877.
MESSRS. MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—I have tested your "Farmers Friend" Mill and find that it works well, takes out all dirt and small seeds out of grain and is a good clean mill for the sale. I am sure that your machine will give good satisfaction among the farmers, that is if they want to take good clean grain to market, and get five cents per bushel more for it.
Yours etc.,
J. H. WALTON.

Smith, 5th March, 1877.
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—I take pleasure in recommending the "Farmers Friend" as being the best Mill I have ever had, and I have had several of what was called the Best Makes in Ontario.
JAS. ELLIOTT.

Peterboro, March 5th, 1877.
This is to certify that we have tested Moore & Minorgan's Mill and pronounce it to be the best we have ever seen cleaning, and it is the best Separator we have ever seen.
JOHN DENNIS.
I also endorse the above statement.
WM. DENNIS.

Smith, March 5th, 1877.
This is to certify that I have seen Moore & Minorgan's Separator in my barn. I consider it the "Best Mill."

THE TALK ABOUT A DISSOLUTION.

Last week in alluding to the artificial enthusiasm of the Tory party, we set down the spring of the cry for a dissolution of parliament to be the desire of the management of the Mail to brace its sinking fortunes by bleeding its political friends during the excitement of an election.—This is the only apparent reason for the astonishing clamour raised by the weaker party, that it should be led to a field contest with the stronger. Still the cry goes up from the commercially interested Tory press; and we see they have been joined by a professedly independent paper of Toronto which would also derive "casual advantages" from a general election. It will thus be seen that the advocates of an appeal to the country are not mere pretenders. They feel for that they contend for. Theirs is no sham desire, seeing that it is founded on the first law of nature—self-preservation. So very material is their desire, however, that they can scarcely be looked on as impartial judges of the question their own wish has raised. A dissolution of the House of Commons would be the best thing that could happen for them; therefore they wish for such a dissolution, and seek for reasons (other than the true one) to advance as to why they favour a dissolution.

It is held by these advocates for a general election that the House contains at least thirty disqualified members, and that therefore it should go to the country to be purged. Purged from what? No one pretends that these men were not the honest choice of their constituents. The dissolution of the House after the Pacific Scandal disclosures is not at all analagous. Then the electorate had been directly debauched by Sir Hugh Allen's money, and probably a good share of the Secret Service Fund. Many members who sat in the House owed their seats to purchased votes; and instead of being the freely chosen representatives of the people were only the representatives of the bribable portion of the electors. That House was not a representative body—this one is.—No matter what the subsequent errors or offences of members may have been, they can fairly claim to have been freely chosen at last election by unbought votes. The difference is easily discernable, being simply between purchased constituencies and purchased representatives, if it be allowable to put the harshest construction on those cases of contracts with the Crown referred to in speaking of the thirty disqualified members. In the case of a purchased electorate it was perfectly just that each and every constituency should have a chance to free itself from possible misrepresentation; but in the case directly under consideration in which the error, or sin if you will, can be traced not only to constituencies, but to individuals, it is not reasonable to ask that the whole country should be put to the trouble and cost of an election. Certain men elected to the House have legally forfeited their right to sit in the House. It is said they are some thirty in number; but were they sixty it matters not as far as the relative positions of the country, their constituents and themselves are concerned. Their disqualification came by their own act, whether wittingly or unwittingly. Their constituents and the country had nothing to do with it. It has been decided that they are disqualified by law from taking their seats in the House.—They cannot alter the law; but they can free themselves from the disqualification. By the Act of last session all who have unwittingly offended are shielded from persecution by civil process, until next session. Their honour, the rights of their constituents, and every other high sentiment of fairness calls on them to resign in the meantime; to rid themselves of that which disqualifies them, if they intend to go again to the House; or, if they mean to hold guver ment contracts rather than seats in the Commons, to allow the immediate election of a representative of the constituency. Though the Amendment Act of the late session defends them during the recess, it does not protect them from any of the consequences of disqualification by Crown Contract if they attempt to take their seats at an other session. It is therefore to their own interest, rather than of any other person or persons, that they should free themselves from all the position in which they now find themselves. This point is very well put by the Whitby Chronicle, though it was trying to argue for a dissolution instead of against it. It says:—

"Members themselves would scarcely run the risk of sitting in Parliament next session with a penalty of two thousand dollars a day hanging over their heads."

Under these circumstances we think it is plain that the country need not, neither indeed should it be troubled about those thirty seats.

Courting the Catholics.

Considerable of the ludicrous appears in the attempts made by the Tory press to angle for the Catholic vote of Ontario. There is an absurd comingling of the Orange and Green—absurb because insincere. The Belleville Intelligencer, for instance, the paper of the Most Worshipful Mackenzie Bowell, high and mighty promoter of Protestantism, (when it can be made to do political service) prating about Grit injustice to Catholics, and inviting them into the camp in which flaunt Brother Bowell's Orange banners, is a satire too rich for serious contemplation. The Kingston News too, and even the old Leader, takes up the "cause" of Catholic representation in a manner which, were it but blessed with a sincerity a tenth as great as its political earnestness, would lead us to hope that bigotry was about to give place to benevolence; and that the reign of Charity was just about to obliterate all traces of the party feuds brought over from Ireland and unhappily transplanted in Canada. But when we know all this gush to be so much bathos, we can only laugh at the simplicity of those who fancy they can deceive anyone with it, while we are compelled to sneer at and despise their hypocrisy.

These papers all have some words strongly denunciatory of a bargain said to have been entered into by George Brown and certain other persons, whereby the Catholic vote was given to the Reform party in return for certain offices, &c. This is somewhat a contradiction to those Tory papers that have time and again claimed that Catholics as a body have voted for them; and those who are trying so hard to conciliate the Catholics must be very stupid not to see that the reiteration of the idea that the votes of the Catholics of Ontario as a body could be, and were, bargained for and secured by a few men, whoever they were, cannot but be offensive to all independent Catholic electors. The Roman Catholic has, and should be granted without discussion, the same right enjoyed by all electors, to form his own political opinions, and to vote for whom he pleases. We have before stated,—but it will bear repetition—that when men give up their personal judgment, to vote in conjunction with any church or other society, they prove themselves unfit to be entrusted with the franchise; and when anyone seeks to induce a church or other society to mass itself with any political party, that man thereby proves himself no friend, but rather an enemy of the body he thus tries to degrade in the eyes of the whole world. Members of any church, and of any benevolent society, can agree to differ on political questions. If not and if politics be made the common aim, then the society degenerates into a mere political club, and takes rank as such in popular estimation, whatever may be the pretensions of its members. Therefore we would, in all sincerity, advise the Roman Catholics (and we would give like counsel to Orangemen or any other body,) to beware of those men, whether Reform or Conservative, be they within or without, who strive to make them a passive body, gravitating in a lump toward any political party. Protestant though we be, we say honestly that even the Roman Catholic Church is too good to be dragged in the mire of politics, from party to party, until it becomes a mere instrument to aid political ambitions; and gets to be despised not only by those who use it, but also by those who compose it. Religion, be the tenets what they may, is too sacred to be used as the instrument of designing politicians; while politics are certainly bad enough now without dragging into them as a prominent element, that of religious differences. We do not say the Church should not exercise an influence even in politics; but we do say that it cannot hope to do so by allowing politics to influence it. By correct influence upon its members it can make them better citizens, and thus better fitted to exercise their citizenship but when any church stoops to seek material benefits in exchange for its political influence, it at once weakens its ecclesiastical influence. Or, if its members set themselves up as distinct political rivals to some other class, they, and the society which marks them as distinct, must abide the consequences of the rivalry they thus set up; nor complain if the gap they throw down be promptly taken up, greatly to their disadvantage. Blind bigots political (and only such will try,) may for a time lead blind bigots religious (and only such will follow) for a time; but the certain result is a fall into the ditch for both.

The Records that were Appealed to.

The Review evidently thinks that all is fair in politics, and that therefore it is not at all wrong to utter political falsehoods. It also possesses in a strong degree the Tory principle, that having once told a lie it must stick to it. It has so often borne false witness on the subject of ex-Senator Foster's connection with the Georgian Bay branch of the Pacific Railway, that we would imagine it now believes its own utterances to be truth, were it not that it studiously avoids the direct question and tries every pretext to repeat the story while avoiding the point of our plain denial. At last week had the supreme impudence to say we were quibbling on a word, and thereupon attempted to attribute to us language and ideas we never penned. We again must give the denial direct to the Review. We did not say "Mr. Mackenzie did not pay Mr Foster $41,000 for 'filling' a contract, for the reason that the contract never was filled." The Review in a former issue made use of its pet assertions in regard to ex-Senator Foster, and being particularly bold that week, it appealed to the official records to bear it out. We, without any dependence on the "filling" or the non-fulfilment of the contract simply declared that the $41,000 was not paid in the manner or on the account stated by the Review, and we challenged it then to bring on the official record to which it so vauntingly appealed. Does it do so? Far from it. It knows the official record will condemn it, and it therefore accuses us of "quibbling over a word." In order that there shall be no possible mistake for this lover of mistakes we now plainly state as we believe we done in a former issue, that the $41,000 paid had no connection whatever with the contract of which we hear so much from scandal-manufacturing Tories. It was not as the "local Tory Lyre" so childishly puts it, paid "either on the ground that the contract had been filled so far as it went, or because the Premier was lacking in common sense." Neither was the money lost to the country, as will be seen from the following extracts from the official records to which the Review "appealed," but which it feared to show its readers in connection with its version of the story:—

(Extract from a letter of Sandford Fleming to the Secretary of the Public Works Department, 17th Nov., 1874.)

"The proper course, in my judgement, is for the contractor to carry on the surveys with every possible energy, until a line coming within the terms of the contract be found."

(Extract from a letter Mr. Foster to the Minister of Public Works, 23th Dec., 1876.)

"I am under the necessity of making certain modifications and concessions, without which it may prove impracticable to carry out some of the provisions and stipulations of the contract."

(Then followed the concessions sought for.)

(Extract from a report of a Committee of the Privy Council, approved by His Excellency in Council, 26th Feb., 1876.)

"That upon the whole he [i.e.—the Minister of Public Works,] has came to the conclusion that it will be to the public interest that the contract for the construction of the Georgian Bay Branch with Mr. Foster should be cancelled, and that fresh tenders should be asked for the construction of the branch and other works of navigation alluded to, and with this view he recommends that the contract be annulled.

"Under the circumstances he recommends that Mr. Foster be repaid his deposit of $50,000, and the fair value of the works of explorations, survey and construction performed by him so far as they were necessary to or can be made available for the prosecution of the work."

(Extract from a letter of Mr. Sandford Fleming to the Secretary of the P. W. Dept., 29th April, 1876.)

"Noticing the value of the works of exploration, survey and construction performed by the Hon. A. B. Foster, I have made every enquiry into the subject, and I feel assured that in the event of the Georgian Bay Branch being proceeded with the expenditure incurred will generally be available in the prosecution of the work."

(Extract from Report of a Privy Council Committee approved by His Excellency in Council, 12th May, 1876.

"That the total sum obtained by Mr. Foster is $50,000, viz. composed as follows:—

Buildings &c. at the mouth of French River	$ 9494 83
Surveys	31838 15
Head Office, expenses and fees to consulting Engineers	5000 00
Contingent expenses, say ten per cent. and outstanding accounts	4633 39
	$50966 37

"That the accounts having been submitted to the Chief Engineer of the Canadian Pacific Railway, that officer reported that, after full enquiry, he felt assured, in the event of the Branch being proceeded with, the expenditure incurred would be generally available in the prosecution of the work.

"Mr. Walter Stanley, C. E., who was employed by Mr. Foster as Consulting Engineer of the work, has certified that the expenditure on the survey, considering its length, is by no means extravagant or unreasonable, and that the whole outlay, exclusive of that at the mouth of the French River, of which he was not in a position to speak, is fair and reasonable for the work performed.

"That the Department has not yet been furnished with the necessary information to judge properly the value of the structures at the mouth of the French River, nor is there any evidence to show that the sum of $1,633.39 charged as for contingent expenses, outstanding accounts, interest, etc., is a charge that should properly be paid.

"The Minister therefore recommends that these sums should be deducted from the amount of the account presented, and the balance of $38,538.15 be paid, deducting the sum of $20,000 already paid.

"The Minister further recommends that he be authorised to pay the remaining accounts, the gross amounts paid not to exceed the said sum of $50,966.37, as soon as such vouchers are presented as shall be satisfactory, first as to the character and usefulness of the works at French River; and secondly, as to the actual payment of the several sums for the purposes defined in Order in Council of February 26th, 1876.

(attest.)

GEORGIAN BAY BRANCH.

1876. Mar. 13.	Cert. 1242, Pd. Hon. A. B. Foster on acct. Exploratory Survey	$20,000
May 6.	Cert. 1394, Pd. Hon. A. B. Foster on acct. Exploratory Survey	4,000
" 9.	Cert. 1412, Pd. Hon. A. B. Foster on acct. Exploratory Survey	4,000
" 10.	Cert. 1433, Pd. Hon. A. B. Foster on acct. Exploratory Survey	8,000
" 30.	Cert. 1478, Pd. Hon. A. B. Foster on acct. Exploratory Survey	5,000
		$41,000

These are the official records to which the Review was rash enough to appeal. While they prove that it falsified the case for its own purposes, they also show plainly that the $41,000 was not paid on account of the contract at all, neither because "the Premier was lacking in common sense." It is someone who writes for the Review that lacks in that respect.

OPPOSITE INTERESTS—OPPOSITE ACTIONS.

As our readers will see from our report of the Town Council proceedings last week there is a difference of opinion between Mr Calcutt, owner of the Golden-Eye and Whistle Wing, and Mr. Romaine, who owns property contiguous to Mr. Calcutt's wharf on the East end of King street. Mr. Calcutt wishes to extend the wharf about 25 to 50 feet South, so as to allow ladys passengers and others to get aboard when they are going for pleasure or on business. He also complains that owing to the shortness of the present wharf, and the placewhere Mr. Romaine's scows are left, his boat cannot always get clear without running the risk of damage. Mr. Romaine on the contrary says he has possession, if not ownership, also, and that he will not allow any one encroach on it. There does appear something of the dog-in-the-manger disposition here. Both these gentlemen should know that there is room in Canada for every one, and that a little come-and-go can be of no detriment to either of those concerned. If the wharf were extended both could use it now and then, and without loss to any one. We are ready to condemn the interference of any one with Mr. Romaine in carrying on his outerprise, but he should not forget that Mr. Calcutt has rights and interests that should be respected and encouraged. Extreme selfishness may be very pleasant to its possessor, but is not in complete harmony with doing to others as we would wish others to do to us. Can our Town Council not settle this matter? They can do other strange and almost impossible things.

TORY TACTICS.

The Tory way of doing things is shown by a scandalous falsehood first published in the Ottawa Citizen, and since reprinted in other faithful Tory journals, among them, of course, being the "local Tory lyre." On the 18th May, just before the polling in Ottawa, a letter appeared in the Citizen purporting to be from two workmen on the Government buildings, who had been discharged because they told the contractors they were going to vote for Currie. It was doubtless intended to influence the election, which, in spite of their boasting since, the Conservatives then thought was going to be a very close one. Be this as it may a prompt exposure of the falsehood followed. the Free Press next day containing a letter from one of the men whose name was to that in the Citizen, declaring the use of it was unauthorized and without his knowledge. The contractor, too, published a statement that the other man was discharged for incompetency; that nothing was known of how he would vote, or if he had a vote; and that so far from his being discharged for an intention to vote for Currier, the contractor himself was a Conservative and voted for Currier. In spite of these facts, all made public two weeks before, the "local Tory lyre" republished the original falsehood among its "Political Notes." Truly the impudence here displayed is only excelled by the dishonesty of the whole affair from beginning to end.

WALKERTON, Bruce, has had an extensive fire; forty-two houses were destroyed. The loss is about $100,000. About one-half the amount is covered by insurance.

FIRE IN MONTREAL.—Yesterday morning 15 fifteen houses were destroyed by fire. Loss very heavy but not yet known. The fire originated in a stable.

WORSTED.

Our contemporary, the Review, not able to make a case against Mr. Mackenzie and the Grit Government, and being worsted in the discussion with us, betakes himself to abuse the plaintiff. He takes us to task as if we had attributed to him only a small modicum of brains, so that he could not understand reason or truth. We must ask our contemporary to withdraw this libel, or we will be compelled to advise our attorney to take an action for damages, as we never believed or said or wrote, that he had any brains at all, and if he wishes to cultivate anything in this line the attempt will be futile, as applications of either heat or cold, no matter where applied, cannot bestow what nature never intended he should possess. We admit we made a mistake in advising cold applications to his head on the approach of the dog days. The advice, we will admit, cannot be carried out, as our dear friend well knows that that portion of his otherwise human body is only pulp. It may be charged against us that in this style of writing we are answering a certain character according to his folly—well—well—this is the only sort of an answer that such men can understand. Anything else only makes them wise in their own conceit.

WAR NEWS.

In the state of the contending parties on the Danube and in Asia Minor there is no very material difference since last week. The Russians have obtained slight advantages by the blowing up of a gun boat on the Danube, and the taking of an out fort in Armenia. The Czar is to take command in person on the 7th June, when more activity will prevail.

The news of great disorder in Constantinople is confirmed. The whole Turkish people are in a state of ferment. Redif Pasha, Minister of War, has become dictator. Divisions at home must prevent concerted action in the field.

The Czar and the Emperor of Austria are to have a meeting at Hermanstadt. The object is kept secret.

The British fleet at Plymouth has been ordered to Gibralter, but their destination may be further East as there is rebellion in Crete, and perhaps it is in the interest of Great Britain to watch their own affairs in that direction.

Advices from Athens report that the Greek Ministry has resigned.

There is great excitement among the population of the island of Crete. Patriotic meetings have been held at which it was decided to wait twenty days for an answer from the Turkish Government, after which an appeal will be made by the Cretans to the Great Powers, asking for the appointment of Mr. Gladstone under the title of "Prince of Crete."

The news is meagre, but events transpiring may change the polity of Turkey in Europe as well as in Asia. It is foolish to speculate too much on results until more definite plans and aims are known.

HERESY.

The churches in general are having or are likely to have the conference and convention season pretty well occupied with the discussion of schism. In the Presbyterian Assembly McDonnellism (for want of a better name) will have to be reheard and perhaps rediscussed. In the Scotch Assembly there promises to be a warm time discussing similar and other somewhat different heresies. The Methodist conference in Canada have what may be termed Royism to settle. The Episcopal church has had, and still has Ritualism to disturb her, and where the other religious denominations may drift in a few days, who can tell? This unsettling of religious creeds is matter for serious, faithful, and intelligent enquiry so that its extension may be prevented. It is not in the interest of any of the churches to find a sister church in a war over the fancies and doubts of ambitious members, and we trust that all those in trouble over the heresies of any of their members shall see their way to a settlement, that will allow the laity to be in harmony with the simple teachings of Him whose doctrines and promises have afforded so much consolation and peace to troubled mind for so many centuries. The burden of the Roy Heresy will be found in the following extract from his pamphlet:—

"Goldwin Smith, at the close of an "address delivered some years ago, at a "convocation of the University of Victoria "College, remarked that Methodism, "having arisen from opposition to no "existing form of Christianity, but only "from opposition to sin, had the best op"portunity for becoming the nucleus of "a reunion of the Church of God. The "sentiment is worthy of attention from "its suggestiveness. It unfolds the "primary aim and spirit of the body re"ferred to, and suggests many thoughts "on the relation of that reforming spirit "to its historical development and future "prospects. But the sentiment becomes "more deserving of notice from the "character and advantages of him who "expressed it. His wide culture, his "freedom from necessitarianism his ob"servation of the effects of theological "questions and ecclesiastical organization "upon the destiny of the world, and, "above all, his practical acquaintance "with Methodism in the United States "and Canada qualify him to speak with "authority either for or against the "Church whose ministrations he for some "time attended. In the Methodist church "is the elements necessary to success in "the work of leading the way to victory. "Let her but set the example of Catholi"city, and others will follow. She can "do it without any violence to her standard. "Let her but assert her first principles, "Let her remember the progress in the "investigation of fact in Scripture and "out of it, which has been made since "Wesley's time; and, in his spirit, frankly "accept the situation in which she finds "herself, conforming herself to the wants "of this present time; and what a vista "opens up before her! Lot large states"manship grapple with the questions "that must come up for her discussion, "and more than one blessing will attend. "Unions there shall be of denomina"tions—tired of separate effort and ener"gies wasted in the maintenance of "struggling existence, and, finding, per"haps, in conjunction with her, the "liberty and life they need—increasing "in scope till, in ever growing confeder"tions, dropping at last all denominational "names and conventionalities, Jew and "gentile form one Church of God! "Mystery shall be abandoned, and "Christian truth simplified, till, in un"biassed loyalty to fact, scientist and "theologian seek the common Truth! "Popular education, demanded, alike by "teacher and taught, no longer neglected, "dreaded, or shunned, will spread among "the masses an intelligence that will go "far to banish superstition, disease, and "vice! Beneficence, the rule of Christian "piety, will spread comfort and peace to "the utmost bounds of human life! "Christ shall reign on the earth, in the "reverent spirit of universal love!"

Simon writing the above, we learn that Mr. Roy and his members have seceded and formed a Congregational Church.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.

CELEBRATION AT PETERBOROUGH.

EXCURSIONS, SPORTS, ETC.

Fifty-eight years ago last Thursday, Alexandrina Victoria, daughter of the Duke of Kent, fourth son of George III. and of Victoria, Maria Louisa, Princess Dowager of Leiningen, was born, heiress presumptive to the Crown of England, and on the death of her uncle William IV. she became Queen of Great Britain and Ireland. June 20th, 1837, her reign, one of the most beautiful in the pages of history, thus extended over a period so far, of almost forty years. As sovereign, she has commanded the love, respect and obedience of her subjects throughout the world, and as a simple woman, her many excellent qualities have won her the admiration of people of all nationalities. Posterity will reverence her memory, and her page in the annals of her country will be like a luxuriant flower garden in the midst of the wilderness of more than a decade of centuries. Never during any previous reign was there such a desire manifested to maintain the world in peace, and never before were such efforts made to allay any discontent that might exist amongst her subjects. Then it is no wonder if in Canada, as well as in England, the anniversary of Her Majesty's Birthday is celebrated annually in a becomming manner. At the date last year she was simply "Victoria, Queen of Britain and Ireland," etc., but since then by Act of Imperial Parliament she has had the title of Empress of India conferred upon her, and therefore, her American colonies did honor to her on the 24th for the first time as Empress of that great and rich country in the East, from which England derives so vast a portion of her revenue, and which she is now jealously watching against the encroachments of the northern bear. Whatever offence the assumption of the additional title may have given at home, it must now be admitted by all, since the bursting of the war cloud that England's strengthening of her grasp on her prize in the East was most opportune and wise. But we must leave the far east for the present and hasten to these Western wilds whose people have always evinced a spirit of pride in doing homage to the throne of England.

The morning did not seem as if the weather was going to be any better than the year previous, looking a much like rain, although the temperature was a little more genial in the afternoon. A bleak wind blew throughout the entire day. The town presented a very dull appearance in the morning, so much so that it seemed as if every person had left the place. There was not the usual amount of fire crackers, as the council had notices posted up, warning boys under a penality not to set off these detestable little explosives. There were a few flags to be seen here and there about town. The celebration of the Queen's Birthday in this town did not partake of the enthusiastic character which it did in the past. About one o'clock the town began to assume a little more lively appearance, when the Firemen's Band came out and played up to the Agricultural Show Grounds, where the

under the auspices of the Peterborough Boating Club, were to be held. This being the only centre of attraction quite a number betook themselves thither, and a lively interest was taken in the sports. The prizes were distributed to the successful competitors in the evening. The committee did everything in their power to keep order, and carry the games through, and are deserving of praise. The Firemen's Band remained on the ground, and played some nice selections. The following is a list of the successful competitors:—

Putting the Weight.—(Seven entries) 1st prize, Hat, by S. Hyman and cash $1.50, J. O'Connor. 2nd, cash $1.00, C. McDonald.

100 Yards Race, Boys 12 and under.—(twelve entries) 1st prize, cricket bat by B. Shortly. Geo. Orde; 2nd, cash 75 cents, W. Cottingham.

Vaulting.—(five entries) 1st prize, silk garnsey Lasher Bros. Eddy Hatton: 2nd, pair of spurs by H. LePrane, C. McDonald.

Sack Race.—(six entries) 1st prize, cash $2.00 Pasely: 2nd briar root pipe by J. Clifford, Hughes.

Half Mile Race, Boys 15 and under.—(sixteen entries) 1st prize, saltseller, Fred. Grills: 2nd, cash $1.00, Flemming.

Quarter Mile Race.—(four entries) 1st prize, silver speprge, G. F. Griffin; Lawbreyge of Winner by J. Little, A. Strickland.

Three Legged Race. (seven entries) 1st prize, 1 box segars by Rush & Elliott, Kane and Davis; 2nd, pair of Razors, Griffin and Strickland.

Running High Jump.—(six entries) 1st prize, glass decanter by Dixon Bros. 2nd, table bell, Lannin estate, O'Donnell and Rackham were tie in this race.

Consolation Stakes.—(ten entries) 1st prize, iced cake by D. Lemay, Shoeley; 2nd, cash, $1.00, Yelland.

It is to be regretted that more boys and young men do not go into practical training for a month or six weeks before these kind of sports come off, as it would make them much more interesting, and would do what sports are really intended to do—develope the muscles of the youth of our Dominion.

EXCURSIONS.

Taking advantage of the low fare, a number of our citizens left by the Midland Railway for Toronto and Whitby, to the races, but owing to the delay of the Grand Trunk, they did not reach their destination till late in the afternoon.

The "Golden-Eye," left her wharf about the usual time, with excursionists for Harwood and Hastings; but we are sorry to say that she met with an accident by the breaking of a bolt, and did not reach Harwood in time to connect with the Cobourg Railway for Cobourg. Several parties who were on board, bound for the Consert to be held at Port Hope the same evening, had to engage rigs at Harwood for Cobourg, and got there just in time to miss the Boat for Port Hope, and had to engage rigs for Port Hope, getting there a short while before the concert commenced. The boat, however, was not long in getting repaired and sped on for Hastings, returning in in the evening.

RIFLE PRACTICE.

A number of the members of the County Rifle Association met for practice at the range, where we believe some good scores were made.

BASE BALL.

A match game of base ball was held in the morning, between the Collegiate Institute club and the Foresters, resulting in a victory for the Foresters of 53 runs. In the afternoon another game was played between the Lindsay club and the Peterborough club, and resulting in a victory for the former.

A match was also played at Campbellford between the "Britannia" club of that place, and the "Pine Grove" club of Peterborough, resulting in a victory fort he "Pine Grove" club by 4 runs. The following is the score:—

Innings.	1.	2.	3.	4.	5.	6.	7.	8.	9.
Britannia	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	2.	1.	—3
Pine Grove	2.	0	1.	0	0	0	0	1.	0.	—7

THE PROMENADE CONCERT.

The Promenade Concert held in the Drill Shed in the evening under the auspices of the Firemen's Band, and the Young Canadians L. O. L., was very largely attended, there being in the neighborhood of 600 persons in the shed. The Band played some good selections during the evening, and were loudly encored on the singing and playing of the "Maple Leaf For Ever".

FISHING.

PICTORIAL EXCURSIONISTS down the river didn't come back in the evening laden down with fish.

A NUMBER OF PRIVATE PIC-NIC parties left the town for various parts. The enjoyment of these excursionists was somewhat marred by the cold weather.

THE LIVERY STABLES furnished a quota of the enjoyment of the day, and if the enjoyment derived from the temporary control of horse flesh, was at all consummate with the cost of the same. A good many of our young men and maidens must have had there full share of the pleasure of the day.

THE DAY ALTOGETHER, passed off in an unusually quiet manner.

and a better quality of White brick than can be had at any other place in the Town or County of Peterborough. The Public are invited to Visit my Yards

and see for themselves, and if a brother brickmaker comes into the yard he will be treated with the greatest civility, and I will not use such polite language to them as Mr. Rosser Romaine used to me last week, when I chanced to visit his brick and tile establishment as he calls it. He very politely put his hand on my shoulder, and told me to get out, using language only heard from the mouths of loafers The lanrage was not fit to be repeated by any gentleman. He professes to say there is some peculiar art in making brick, but I think there is just as much art in it as there is in sweeping a chimney, and I trust that if I ever get astray in his great establishment again that he will use language that will not shock polite ears, and more becoming to a man in his line of business.

Parties wishing to get a

The Examiner.
PETERBOROUGH, MAY 31, 1877.

Don't forget that we are doing job printing at bottom prices.

Look out for W. Fairweather & Co's. new advertisement in our next issue.

Farmers' Sons entitled to vote will do well to see that their names are on the assessment rolls.

Patronize those who advertise. They are the men who depend on large sales instead of exorbitant profits.

Cricket Club.—The adjourned meeting of this club will be held on Saturday evening next, June 2nd, at the Huffman House, at 7:30 p.m.

Remember the sale of those valuable brick and clapboard houses in Ashburnham, belonging to Mr. Taylor, at 2 p.m. on Friday, 1st of June. See advertisement.

How Long?—Rev. Mr. Hunter, of Ottawa, says when he sees a flower garden on a woman bonnet, he knows there is nothing in the heart. How long will a patient millinery trade submit to such remarks?

In Season. Ice cream and soda water are now in season, and the apparatus necessary for their manufacture and use, which have laid idle so long, are once again in requisition. These toothsome refreshments are now in considerable demand.

Bill-heads. A large stock of bill-head paper always kept in stock at the EXAMINER job room. The rates of printing are as cheap as can be obtained in any office in Ontario, while the quality of the work will in all cases be guaranteed first-class.

Fire.—Over 100 cords of wood were destroyed in the Midland Railway yard, at Lindsay, one day last week, which it is supposed caught from a spark from a passing engine. The fire brigade turned out, and after a good deal of hard work succeeded in subduing the flames.

Fire Brigade. The following are the officers of the Ashburnham fire brigade: George Rogers, Captain; Francis Adams, Lieutenant; M. Mowry, Secretary. Messrs Mowry & Forsythe have kindly given the use of their hand engine till the council obtains a more suitable one.

Bad Sidewalks.—The sidewalk on the East side of George street, near Dr. Taylor's corner, is in a disgraceful condition, and has been so for a considerable time, without any steps being taken towards its improvement, although the attention of the authorities, we believe, has been repeatedly called to it.

Refrigerators—Mr. H. Best has just imported several very nice articles in this line. Any one requiring such an article should call and see Mr. Best's as they are both useful and ornamental. He has also some handsome grates for fire places, which parties who are erecting comfortable residences should not fail to see.

Miss McPherson's Children.—A party of children left the Glasgow and Edinburgh Houses on Tuesday, the 15th inst., and are expected to arrive in this country shortly, and proceed to Belleville. All applications for boys and girls for adoption or otherwise, to be made to Miss Bilbrough, Marchmont Home, Belleville.

Passed By.—Madam Rents and her troupe of half-dressed young women gave carnivals of elevated calcitration in Port Hope and Peterborough last week. It requires a good deal of refined taste to appreciate entertainments of this kind, and these towns have the reputation of possessing the desired quality. Lindsay Post. "Now don't give our young men away like that."

Assembly. The mechanics of Peterborough had an admirably little assembly at the Opera House, on Wednesday evening last. The House was decorated for the occasion, and excellent music was furnished by Freeman's Quadrille Band. A most recherche supper was provided by the host of the Caisse House, and, on the whole, the company spent a very enjoyable night.

Furniture Polish.—By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that Mr. W. Kane is commencing to canvas the town for his Superior Furniture Polish. We have seen some of it used, and we must say that it is beyond what we expected it to be, and far superior to anything we have seen in that line. It makes old furniture look as bright as when new, and as a piano polish he says it has no equal.

Barnum's Great Show.—On Wednesday next Barnum's own and only great show will exhibit at Port Hope. Owing to there not being enough of room at the Peterborough Station for "shunting" the show will not come to Peterborough. The superbly decorated car, upon which the advertising brigade is transported, was in Peterborough on Thursday last, and was inspected by a large number, who were both surprised and delighted at its unique elegance.

New Agency.—We wish to call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Mr. Duncan McLeod, a former resident of Peterborough, who has opened an agency here for the sale of agricultural implements, in the south store in Bradburn's new Town Hall. By reference to the advertisement it will be seen that he has the agency for a number of machines which he warrants equal to representation. The public are invited to call at the ware-rooms and see samples and learn prices.

P. B. C.—Monthly meeting of the Boating Club on Monday evening. Adjourned meeting of the stock-holders at the same time. A report will be made as to the sale of part of the land. Members and stock-holders especially are requested to be present in full numbers. It is proposed to have a number of Club races about the 1st of July, in which junior members will be given a fair chance. All members who wish to go in for rowing are asked to send their names at once to the Secretary.

Progress.—Mr. Peter Hamilton has just completed very extensive additions to his Agricultural Foundry Works. He has now more orders in than he could hope to complete in his old premises, and hence the necessity for this addition so as to enable him to get the whole in the hands of workmen promptly. Mr H. is a great favorite with all his customers, and the farmers generally. He makes good machines and merits that popularity, we wish him still greater prosperity and popularity.

Mandelssohn Quintette Club.—This celebrated club will give a concert in the Opera House on Tuesday evening next. That they have maintained their position as the finest musical organization on this continent for over twenty-five years, is the strongest proof of their great ability, and their visits here have always been welcome to the lovers of the best compositions of the best masters. The programme is selected with a view to the interpretations of some very fine examples by famous composers. A treat of the highest order will be given, and the attendance, no doubt, will be very large.

Excursion and Pic-Nic.—The Good Templars of Peterborough intend to have an excursion to Mount Julian and Burleigh Falls, on Thursday, June 7th, by Midland Railway and Steamer "Chippawa." The train will leave Peterborough at 8:10 a.m., the steamer will leave Lakefield wharf at 9 a.m., and return about 8 p.m. Fare on the train to Lakefield and return, 35 cents; fare on the steamer, Gentlemen 50 cts; ladies 25 cts.; boys under 16 years of age 25 cts. The committee will provide hot water and tea for the party. Good meals can be obtained on the boat for 25 cts.

School Holidays.—In the instructions published by the Educational Department relative to midsummer examinations, the following paragraph occurs: It is expected that in towns or cities where the Intermediate examinations are being held, the High School Board will dismiss the school, under Section 19 of the Act of 1877; and, so far as the Minister can authorize the same, such public schools in towns or cities, any of whose teachers are candidates for first or second-class certificates, may be closed after Friday, 6th July, on application being made to the Department.

Appreciating.—The manner and the matter of the proceedings of the council at the last meeting were not calculated to elevate the Town Fathers in the estimation of thinking men, and if a generous press favours such conduct with the charity of its silence, that charity should not be too far presumed upon. Coarse sentiments, expressed in a loud voice and bad English do not constitute forcible speaking, nor should the crowd in the "Auditorium" be permitted, for a moment, to applaude or censure remarks made by members. It is time, that this style of speaking was dropped.

Spare the Birds.—Under the wise law which forbids, under heavy penalty, the killing of insectivorous birds, the number of such birds is increasing year by year. Many of them are beautiful of plumage and others of sweet song, and so they are ornamental as well as useful allies of man in his war against the insect pests which would otherwise work much greater damage than they do. In spite of the law, however, many of the birds of gay plumage are shot by thoughtless boys in mere wantonness. Parents ought to put a stop to this by refusing the use of guns and pistols to boys at this season, as there is nothing to shoot just now but insectivorous birds.

Warner.—We have received a communication signed Father Abraham, to the effect that "Taffy" has been unwarrantably connecting "A. S. M." and "Father Abraham" with the Warner "Taffy" correspondency. The writer distinctly denies that "A. S. M." or "Father Abraham" had anything to do with "Old Dog Tray," and further states that "Taffy's" writings are not reliable. The whole correspondence was, and continues to be, foolish and so far as we are concerned must cease. The communications of "A. R. T." "O. D. T," "Taffy," and all others on this subject must go to increase our store of waste paper. In the interest of the writers this is necessary.

Another Bridge Gone.—Some worthless or heartless wretch, on Tuesday night set fire to another bridge on the Midland Railway and destroyed it. It is a great pity that such miscreants cannot be detected and punished. If the Railway Company cannot afford to have these acts stopped, so much endangering the live of the traveling community, the municipalities along the line of railway should take action by offering rewards for information that will lead to bringing the guilty to justice. This is now the third act of incendiarism within a few weeks. Who can tell but the next one may entail fearful loss of life, or the mangling of numerous innocent, harmless persons.

Hand Engines.—Mr. Wm. Hamilton has been making some very serviceable and useful hand engines, for fire purposes, which he is offering at a very cheap rate. It has been demonstrated at the last two or three fires, that one or two of these small machines are invaluable. They can be brought into use in such a short time, and in the very places where required, and where most useful. Two or three men or boys can work them readily. They prevent the spread of fire by being available in every corner, and with a small supply of water. One of them prevented the destruction of several thousand dollars worth of property at the Schneider fire. The Town Council should not miss this opportunity to secure at least four of them, (one for each ward,) and have them placed under the control of some person in the ward, where they could be available at once. By doing so they will be conferring a boon on the people, and one that will ten times repay the outlay in the protection of property.

In England, Gray's Syrup is known as the GREAT NORTH AMERICAN COUGH REMEDY, and is, we are told, as rapidly growing into favor, as a family cough remedy, as it has in this country. It is a great gain to the physician's art, to make a medicine pleasant to take while efficacious to cure—these qualities are found in Gray's Syrup of Red Spruce Gum. All the Tonic, Expectorant and Soothing qualities of this Gum, which is taken from the Red Spruce Tree, are fully preserved. 19-4ins.

BOAT RACE.

The race that had been arranged between two four oared crews, one of lawyers, the other of bankers, came off on Tuesday last, over a course of about a mile and a quarter, commencing just below the Locks Dam. The crews were composed of the following gentlemen:—Messrs. R. B. Mowatt, bow, A. D. Braithwaite, No. 2, J. Jardine, No. 3, and W. P. Shaw, stroke, representing the banks, with Philip Smith, cox. Messrs. N. D. Beck, bow, E. R. Edwards, No. 2, G. M. Roger, No. 3, and E. H. D. Hall, stroke, representing the legal profession, with Maxwell Dennistoun as cox. At the start both boats got off well together, and although the Bankers kept about half a boat's length ahead for about 100 yards, the Lawyers then took the lead, which they kept to the finish, winning by about four boat lengths. Both crews rowed well, and did credit to their trainers, who were Mr. Alfred Belcher, who coached the Bankers, and Mr. Geo. Rogers, who performed the like duty for the legal crew. After the race the winners were presented with the champion flag by Miss Hatton. It is made of beautiful blue satin with the monogram P.B.C. worked on it in white silk, and having a fringe of crimson and white. We are glad to see that there athletic contests are encouraged by the people of Peterborough, as was evidenced by the large number who were on the river and scattered along its banks to see the race, and we hope the Boat Club will get up some more of these friendly contests during the summer.

BURLESQUE RUN.

The Ontario Government has done very generous and very wise act on the Burleigh Road, that cannot but merit the approval of all the settlers, and of the country generally. It was learned on reliable authority that several families, not less than 30 to 40, especially of those who lately went in to settle, and of those who have been improvedent, were really suffering, and likely to suffer more severely from starvation, if aid did not arrive from some quarter. This was made known to the Commissioner of Crown Lands, through Mr. Bertram, Mr. Hall and Mr. D. Anderson, and on learning the truth of the statement he at once appropriated $1,000 to be expended on the road so as to give employment to those in need, and relieve them, and at the same time perform the double benefit of putting the road in a state of repairs. Our informant, a settler on the road, and a Conservative, adds:—

DEAR SIR,—Allow me to inform you that in twelve days after writing the letter I mentioned to you respecting the destitution of a portion of the settlers on the Burleigh Road, and with the aid of Mr. Bertram, M. P., we had a gentleman from Toronto with a thousand dollars to expend on repairing the Burleigh Road. Sir, I feel confident that it is acts such as this that must raise the Government in public estimation. I am satisfied that a number of settlers on the Burleigh Road will not forget this act of kindness.

I feel also that it is more than a compliment to myself that the Government acted so promptly on my suggestion.

OUR OWN MANUFACTURES.

We lately had the pleasure of a visit to the brick yards of Mr. Mark Curtis, on the Boundary between Douro and Ashburnham, and were astonished to find the amount of work Mr. Curtis is carrying on. We found twenty-five men with some boys at work. Some were making the brick, some were preparing the clay, others were placing the newly made brick in hacks or rows, where they are protected from storms. These hacks cover about 3 to 4 acres of ground. About seven men and two horses were engaged in bringing in and building the dried brick in the kiln where they are to be burned for use. He had a kiln ready for being burned containing 200,000 brick, and intended immediately getting another on the way containing 400,000. He makes 14,000 a day with the present number of hands, or 100,000 a week.

Mr. Curtis has long been noted for making the best brick in the country.—His clay is of superior quality, and his experience in making, seeing after, and burning them, enables him to turn out the best article in the market. His white brick can not be surpassed in Canada, as any one can verify by examining the buildings erected in Peterboro during the last 10 or 15 years. He also makes a very superior machine made and machine pressed brick, which for form, colour, hardness and durability is considered the best made in Ontario. Another test of the popularity of his make is that he has orders to ship by railway to other towns and villages, and we understand that even with all this handling scarcely one of them suffers to any extent. It will be seen that Mr. Curtis pays about $600 a month in wages, independent of other expenses, and does his portion of providing employment for those requiring it. We are sure our readers will be glad to learn that Mr. Curtis is succeeding in his business, as all who are so enterprising deserve to succeed, and we can add, that all who desire a first-class article in his line cannot do better than go and examine his yard, or the beautiful buildings in this town for which he has supplied the material, and see that he can supply what they require.

TOWN COUNCIL.

The Council met on Monday evening pursuant to adjournment.

Present his worship the Mayor, and Messrs. Cahill, Dumble, McBain, Baptie, McWilliams, Hamilton, Haggart, Rountree, Smith, Yelland and Millar.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

ACCOUNTS.

T. Rutherford drawing engine to fire..... $0 00
G. McGinty, Assistant Constable.... 6 00

The accounts were ordered to be paid.

From T. Bradburn, offering the Council another Street for that portion of Rubidge street between McDonnel and London streets or one Thousand Dollars for it.—Received.

From T. Leonard, asking for a crossing across the street on George street, East of Wolf street, and also for a sidewalk to his residence.—Referred to the Street Inspector.

From C. Kennedy, asking for assistance and to be sent to the Hospital as he was unable to do anything. The prayer of the petition was granted.

From, R. Weir and others, asking for the Council to open Rubidge street between McDonnel and London streets.

Moved by Mr Smith, seconded by Mr. Hamilton that the petition be referred to a Committee composed of the following, Messrs. McWilliams, McBain, Rountree, Baptie and Haggart.

Mr. McWilliams said, that he did not believe in referring matters to a Committee. The Council should be ready to do the business openly and while in Council.

Mr. Dumble said, that he was desirous of pleasing the people and introduced a By-law for the making of a Park out of the street, which he thought would suit them.

On motion, Mr. Weir, addressed the Council on behalf of the petition in reference to the opening of the street.

Mr. Haggart could not see the necessity for opening this one street, if they open one, let the Council open all of them. There was a petition in at the last meeting of the Council asking the Council to keep it closed, and the men whose names were on that petition were just as good men as the names on Mr. Weir's. There was $600, spent on a street a little East of this Rubidge street and there has not been a dozen teams passed over it in a year, and it would take $400, more to make the street as it should be, but if any sensible man would say that the street was required he would vote to have it opened.

Mr. Dumble said, that before he bought that property it was a gully and the trees were all being broken, burned, and cut to pieces, and if he had not purchased it at that time there would not have been a tree left there at all. He had his pasts there for his fence for two years, and as soon as the Council would carry the motion he would fence in his property.

Moved in amendment by Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. Haggart.—That all the streets in town be opened; that $250 be appropriated towards the grading and bridging of Wolf street across Spalding's Bay.

Moved in amendment to the amendment by Mr. McWilliams, seconded by Mr. Rountree.—That Rubidge street be opened between McDonnel and London streets as a Public Park, and that the sum of $5.00 be appropriated therefor.

The amendment to the amendment on being put was carried, and Mr. Smith withdrew his motion.

Mr. Dumble moved for the first reading of a by-law for the opening of this street, which was left as a notice of motion.

From W. C. May, asking the Council to sanction the authority that he got from the Street Inspector in reference to extending of his fence.—Received.

On motion, Mr. G. E. Shaw addressed the Council in reference to the Mechanic's Institute getting the Old Council Chamber, at once. The Commissioners have granted a lease and all that was needed now was for the Council to pass it, which they said they would do at once.

The Finance Committee headed in a very long report, one clause of it being to give the Rent, one clause of it being Eastlund, $70 00 [illegible] Messrs. Pearse and as previously passed by the Council.

A lengthy discussion took place in reference to the extra grant, in which nearly all the Councillors spoke, after which the report was read and adopted.

Moved by Mr. Smith, seconded by Mr. Haggart.—That a by-law to appoint assessors to take the assessment for 1876 be read a first time.—Carried.

The by-law was then read a first time.

A By-law prohibiting the running at large of any horse, mare, gelding, bull, ox, heifer, steer, calf, sheep, pigs, lambs, geese, ducks, or poultry, and a By-law appointing Pound Keepers and Pounds were passed through there several readings.

On motion Mr. Cummings addressed the Council in reference to building the wharf at the foot of King street, which was referred to him, after which it was Moved by Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. Baptie.—That the sum of $25.00 be granted to Mr. Deane towards the construction of a wharf at the end of King street.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Smith, seconded by Mr. Cahill,—That the moneys levied for the Commissioners of the Town Trust for the year 1876, and retained by this Council, towards the paying off the deficiency of last year, be charged against moneys received by the Commissioners from the sale of lands in the South Reserve.—Carried.

FINANCE REPORT.

The Finance Committee reported, recommending the payment of the following accounts:—

G. A. Stewart.....$4 00
Chas. Stapleton.....10 00
J. C. Kennedy.....2 50

All of which is respectfully submitted.

T. CAHILL,
Chairman.

Moved by Mr. Smith, seconded by Mr. Cahill,—That in view of the number of fires that have recently occurred and that in view of the fact that the additional water facilities are urgently required in the opinion of this Council, it is highly commendable that a system of Water-works should be established. Be it therefore resolved that the Clerk be and is hereby requested to invite leading citizens to meet this Council in order that the said question should be discussed and considered.—Lost.

Moved by Mr. Smith, seconded by Mr. Hamilton.—That the application of Mechanic's Institute be referred to the Fire Committee with instructions to report.—Carried,

The Clerk was instructed to get two signs painted in order to prohibit fast driving over the Smith Street Bridge.

The Council then adjourned for one week.

MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.

Ninth Annual Report of the Directors—The Treasurer's Statement—Election of Officers.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Mechanics' Institute was held at their rooms on Monday evening, May 21st. The minutes of the last general meeting having been read and confirmed, the Secretary read the annual report as follows:—

Ninth Annual Report of the Board of Directors of the Peterborough Mechanics' Institute, for the financial year, ending May 21st, 1877.

The Board of Directors herewith submit, in compliance with By-law No. 3, Section 4, their ninth annual report for the consideration of the members of the Institute.

DEATH OF THE LATE SECRETARY.

They desire in the first place to express the sense they entertain of the great loss the Institute has sustained by the death of their late active and efficient Secretary, Mr. William Johnston.

NUMBER ON ROLL.

They think they may congratulate the members of the Institute on the fact that notwithstanding the financial depression from which the Town of Peterborough, equally with other places, has been suffering, the number of members during the past twelvemonth is as large, being one in excess, as that of the previous year being 242.

CHANGE OF ROOMS.

They feel confident that could more commodious rooms be secured the membership would be largely and rapidly increased, and they are not without hope that at no distant day some arrangement may be made by which the use of the old Council Chamber with other rooms appertaining to it, may be obtained at a very moderate rent.

LIBRARY.

The number of books issued by the Librarian 4,606, is larger than the number circulated during the previous twelvemonth by 378 volumes, indicating an increased desire on the part of the members to avail themselves of the advantages offered by the library, the average issue having been a fraction over 18 volumes for each member.

PURCHASE OF BOOKS.

The President of the Institute and the Chairman of the Library Committee visited Toronto last January for the purpose of purchasing books and were enabled to make very satisfactory terms with the booksellers, 25 per cent having been deducted from their bills. The total number of volumes purchased was 218 at a cost of $276.44.

ALPHABETICAL CATALOGUE.

The Chairman of the Library Committee has made a catalogue of all the books contained in the Library, which it is hoped will prove useful for reference.

PERIODICALS.

The Reading Room has been regularly supplied with a large number—27—of Periodicals and Papers.

CLASSES.

The evening classes, 3 in number, under able instructors, have been very meagrely attended, owing perhaps, partly to the hardness of the times above alluded to; and it is much to be regretted that a larger number of young men cannot be persuaded to avail themselves of the instruction which would in all probability, prove of material service to them in after years when entering upon the active business of life.

R. ROBERTSON,
President.

GEO. E SHAW,
Secretary.

AUDITORS REPORT.

To the President, Directors and Members of the Peterborough Mechanics Institute:—

GENTLEMEN,—We the undersigned auditors of the accounts for the past year, beg most respectfully to say that we have carefully examined the accounts of this Institute, and feel much pleasure in being able to testify to the correctness both in detailed and general accounts.

We have also examined the detailed accounts as required by statute for the establishment of claim for Government Grant, and find the same correct in all particulars.

We are, gentlemen, yours respectfully,
JOSEPH J. BAGULEY,
A. H. MACDOUGALL, } Auditors

Peterborough, May 19th, 1877.

The report as audited was received and adopted.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The officers for the current year were then elected as follows:—

PRESIDENT.—Mr. Geo. E. Shaw.

FIRST VICE-PRESIDENT.—Rev. V. Clementi.

SECOND VICE-PRESIDENT.—Mr. W. H. Trout.

TREASURER.—Mr. G. Barlee.

DIRECTORS.—Messrs. R Robertson, A. Clegg, W. English, A. H. Delaney, G. A. Johnston, J. English, G. M. Roger, E. B. Edwards, W. J. Nesbitt, E. Pearse, E. J. Toker, and A. Macfarlane.

Votes of thanks were passed to the auditors and to the scrutineers.

The First Vice-President having taken the chair, Mr. G. M. Roger moved a vote of thanks to the late President and Treasurer, speaking of the value of their services for many years, the former as President and Librarian, and the latter as Secretary and Treasurer. The motion was duly seconded and being put from the chair was carried by acclamation.

Mr. R. ROBERTSON and Mr. G. E. Shaw returned thanks in appropriate terms, the latter speaking of the great benefit of such institutions.

The newly elected President having taken the chair, the late President moved a vote of thanks to the Rev. V. Clementi for his assistance to the Librarian, especially in making the very useful alphabetical catalogue. The motion was duly seconded and Mr. Clementi returned thanks.

The meeting then adjourned.

GRAND OPENING.

JOHN HOLMES.

His Extensive Boot and Shoe Establishment.

For the past week all has been hurry and bustle in the Boot and Shoe Store recently occupied by Adam Hall, in the Dixon block, and now leased for a term by John Holmes, Wholesale Boot and Shoe Manufacturer, 16 Front street, East Toronto.

The speedy manner in which the store has been transformed into one of the largest and most imposing retail shoe stores in the Dominion, proves that business is meant, and that men who are thoroughly posted are at the helm. Having the greatest facilities for manufacturing in his large new premises in Toronto, steam power and all the newest and best machinery being used, the proprietor is enabled this season to place a superior class of goods in the market at lower prices than ever before. He has concluded to handle his own goods in Peterboro, in preference to placing them in the hands of others. In this way the consumer is supplied at precisely the same prices that the goods have hitherto been sold to the dealers, and the purchaser is only paying one profit instead of two. Nothing but the best material is used, and from the high reputation of Mr. Holmes' manufactures which have been known from one end of Canada to the other for years, to be of the best stock, workmanship and finish. Perfect satisfaction is guaranteed. From the immense success attained since its commencement, and from the business like way it has been entered into, we feel that this establishment will take its place amongst the foremost of our business houses, and as such it will be heartily welcomed.

To the Editor of the Peterborough Examiner

DEAR SIR,—By giving the following letter an insertion in your columns, you will much oblige the undersigned, and confer a favor on a number of your respectable readers in this locality.

In your issue of the 26th inst., we notice a report of a School Meeting recently held in School Section No. 4 South Monaghan, which, though not lengthy, is remarkable for its want of candor and fairness. We do not complain on our own account, being well used to that kind of treatment, but we desire to see a young man of undoubted character and ability, grossly misrepresented in the very first sentence, for not only was the resolution (at the meeting referred to) correctly reported, but it was also read to the meeting and no exception taken. It is to say the least a bad plea for a bad case. The qualifying phrase, ("not willingly however") seems too slippery, the fact is the resolution was so defective and meaning, less that any attempt to patch or bolster it up only makes it worse. Dr. Hodgins must have thought so, or he would not have pronounced so emphatically upon it, but perhaps your reporter thinks the Dr. is defective in judgment, as some of the party he represents, tried to show that Mr. Tilley, had not the power to call a meeting, but showed only how little they read the School Act, and to what lengths in absurdity their distempered zeal could lead them. According to his own showing the overwhelming majority that went against him, has not modified his (never too charitable) opinion one whit, and we can only say to this, that he must be one of those, who are wiser than seven men that can render a reason. We have not written in defence of our course of action as we see no necessity for it, nor yet to provoke discussion, unless it be sought after, but at the urgent request of numerous friends, who believe as we do that there are two ways of telling a story.

Signed, { WILLIAM EMMERSON.

GRANGE.—By request, Mr. Staples, of Baltimore, delivered an address in the Town Hall on Tuesday evening, the 22nd, to large meeting of farmers on Grangeism, which conclusively showed the benefits derived from them, and on Thursday he fully organized a Grange of between twenty and thirty members, and from the officers selected there is no doubt of its ultimate success. On Saturday the same gentleman organized another at Frank Hill school house, about five miles from Emmismore Grange. It appear that the farmers, if they cannot evade the so-called ten-cent beef by-law, are determined to the merchants of Peterborough.

FIRE.—We regret to learn that the dwelling house of Mr. John Reed, of the township of Emily, was destroyed by fire on Tuesday morning last. Having some grass seed to sow, and it being a damp morning, one of his sons got up about daylight to light the fire in the stove, after the rest of the family in bed, and chimney so dense so soon discovered the ignited, and [illegible] fire. The roof soon house was enveloped in an instant the large two-story building [illegible] ly, and the family [illegible] rapidly scarcely anything was saved [illegible] in bed, cords of wood piled in the yard [illegible] five burned, and only through the strenuous exertions of the neighbours were the barns and out-buildings saved: The loss is between $1,200 and 1,400; only a small insurance on the building.—COM.

THOUSANDS OF AFFIDAVITS.

Many having used "patent" and prepared medicines and failed in finding the relief promised, are thereby pre-judiced against all medicines. Is this right? Would you condemn all physicians because one failed in giving the relief promised? Some go to California in search of gold, and after work ing hard for months and finding none, return home and say there is no gold there. Does that prove it? Many suffering with Catarrh and pulmonary affections have used the worthless preparations that crowd the market, and in their disappointment say there is no cure for Catarrh. Does that prove that they have failed to employ the proper remedy There are thousands of people in the United States who can make an affidavit that Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery have effected their entire cure. Many had lost all sense of smell for months, and pieces of bone had repeatedly been removed from the nasal cavities.

BIRTHS.

LAING.—At Port Perry, on the 16th inst., the wife of J. B. Laing, Hardware Merchant, of a daughter.

DIED.

SHUTTLEWORTH.—In the city of Buffalo, on Monday, May 28th, 1877, William Shuttleworth, painter, aged 36 years.

"Blessed are the dead that die in the Lord"

Deceased was father of Mr. Edward Shuttleworth of this town.

Consumption Cured!

An old physician, retired from active practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India Missionary the formula of a Vegetable Remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Catarrh, and all throat and Lung Affections; also a Positive and Radical Cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having thoroughly tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, feels it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a conscientious desire to relieve human suffering, he will send FREE OF CHARGE, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and successfully using. Sent by return mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper.

DR. W. C. STEVENS,
Box 86, BROCKVILLE, O.

GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED SPRUCE GUM,

—FOR—

Coughs, Colds, Bronchial and all Throat Affections.

The Gum which exudes from the Red Spruce tree is, without doubt, the most valuable native Gum for Medicinal purposes.

Its remarkable power in relieving certain severe forms of Bronchitis, and its almost specific effect in curing obstinate hacking Coughs, is now well known to the public at large. In this Syrup (carefully prepared at low temperature), containing a large quantity of the finest picked Gum in complete solution, all the Tonic Expectorant, Balsamic and Anti-Spasmodic effects of the Red Spruce Gum are fully preserved. For sale at all Drug Stores. Price, 25 cents per bottle.

CATARRH.

Five Years' Sickness Cured by Four Bottles of Constitutional Catarrh Remedy.

Pain in Shoulders, Back and Lungs, as Droppings in Throat Disappear.

ST. ARMAND, P. Q. Sept. 13, 1876.

MR. T. B. HARDING

Dear Sir,—Being desirous that others may know something of the merits of your CONSTITUTIONAL CATARRH REMEDY, I wish to inform you what it has done for me. I am twenty-nine years old; had been out of health for about five years. I had employed three or four different doctors, and tried various medicines, without receiving any permanent benefit, but continued rather to grow worse, until last fall, when I had become so bad as to be unable to do an hour's work at a time. Had severe soreness and pain under the shoulder blades and through the shoulders, with very large beats, and a bloating in my right lung as though there was a weight bearing it down, with continual dropping in the throat and down upon the lungs. Such was my condition when I commenced to take your Catarrh Remedy, one bottle of which eased my pains and gave me an improved appetite, and after taking four bottles I was restored to health so as to be able to endure hard and continued labor, such as chopping and clearing land, at which I have been engaged the past season. My recovery I attribute solely, with God's blessing, to the use of your Catarrh Remedy.

Yours truly HENRY SNIDER.

Price $1 per bottle; For sale by all Druggists.

READ CAREFULLY.

SAMUEL OSBORNE, Sophiasburg, says—"I was affected with Dyspepsia for nearly four years, my lungs becoming affected towards the last. I was induced to try the "Shoshonee Remedy." After using three or four bottles I felt much better, and gained strength rapidly, my health improved steadily and rapidly, and when I had taken three or four bottles more, I was quite restored to health and strength, and have experienced better health than for forty years before. I had been under the treatment of a number of physicians before, but never received any material aid until I used your remedy."

A. MCKAY, Truro, N. S., says "he was very bad with Liver Complaint, but used the "Shoshonees Remedy," and in a month was as well as he had ever been in his life. I am now in business and wish you to send me three dozen by steamer.

A. WOOD, Consecon, says—"That he has tried the "Remedy" for Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia with great success. I have also used the "Shoshonees Pills," and find that they are as good as any I ever tried.

Rev. JOHN SCOTT says—"Mr. McKenzie Snoting suffered from an attack of rheumatism, and was unable to move without help but after taking a few bottles of the 'Shoshonees" was able to walk as well as ever." Price of the Remedy in pint bottles $1; Pills 25 cents a box.

WHAT THEY SAY OF IT? A FEW FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.—There are but few preparations of medicines which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people for any great length of time. One of these is Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil. Read the following and be convinced:—Thos. Robinson, Farnham Centre, P. Q., writes, "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for the last ten years, and have tried many remedies without any relief, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and since then have had no attack of it. I would recommend it to all."—J. H. Keri, Hotel Keeper, West Shefford, P. Q., writes, "I have been troubled with liver complaint for several years, and have tried different medicines with little or no benefit, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which gave me immediate relief, and I would say that I have used it since with the best effect. No one should be without it. I have tried it on my horses in cases of cuts, wounds, etc., and think it is equally as good for horse as for man."—L. Mc. Bee Hardman, Warkworth, writes, "I have sold some hundreds of bottles of Eclectric Oil, and it is pronounced by the public, 'one of the best medicines they have ever used;' it has done wonders in healing and relieving pain, sore throats, etc., and is worthy of the great confidence."—Joseph Rowan, Township Percy writes, "I persuaded to try Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lame knee which troubled me for three or four years, and I never found anything like it for curing lameness. It is a great public benefit."—L. H. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes, "For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which annoyed me very much. Mr. Hayden of this place induced me to try Eclectric Oil, and before one bottle was used I was cured. It is a most remarkable medicine. Sold by all medicine dealers Price, 25 cents.

A WONDERFUL REFORM IN FANNING MILLS.

Farmers wanting to purchase a First Class Fanning Mill should call on

MINORGAN & ELLIOTT

AND GET ONE OF THEIR

"FARMERS FRIEND."

They are the best and cheapest Fanning Mills in the Market, and clean from 80 to 100 bush. of Wheat, ready for the market, in an hour, and does not throw the large grain into the tailings. We have received a large number of Testimonials from different Farmers in the County who have used our Mills. They will speak for themselves:—

Greystock P.O., Otonabee, Mar. 12, 1877

MOORE & MINORGAN:

Dear Sirs,—This is to certify that I have given the "Farmers Friend" Mill a fair trial, and have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion it is one of the best Mills now in use for cleaning grain for seed or market.

Yours etc., J. SMITHSON.

Otonabee, March 21, 1877.

MOORE & MINORGAN:

Dear Sirs,—This is to certify that I have given your "Farmers Friend" Mill a fair trial, and have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion it is one of the best Mills now in use for cleaning grain for seed or market.

Yours etc., J. REDMOND.

Balsam Grove, Peterboro, March 13, 1877.

MOORE & MINORGAN:

Dear Sirs,—I have tested your "Farmers Friend" Mill and find that it works well, taking out all dirt and small seeds out of grain and making a good clean article for sale. I am sure her your machine will give good satisfaction among the farmers, that is if they want to take good clean grain to market, and get five cents per bushel more for it.

Yours etc., J. H. WALTON.

Smith, 5th March, 1877.

MOORE & MINORGAN:

Dear Sirs, I take pleasure in recommending the "Farmers Friend" as being the best Mill I have ever had, and I have had several of what was called the best Makes in Ontario.

JAS. ELLIOTT.

Peterboro, March 5th, 1877.

This is to certify that we have tested Moore & Minorgan's Mill and pronounce it to be the best we have ever seen cleaning, and it is the best Seperator we have ever seen.

Welland Canal Enlargement.
Notice to Contractors.
SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for the Welland Canal," will be received at this office until the arrival of the Eastern and Western mails on THURSDAY, the 5th day of JULY next, for the formation of a new line of canal from Marlatt's Pond, at Thorold, to Allanburg, including the construction of a lift lock, guard lock, several culverts and piers and abutments for swing bridges, &c.
Also, the enlargement of about two miles of the canal, from the Junction downward, together with the construction of an Aqueduct over the Chippawa River, a lock between the canal and the river at Welland, piers and abutments for bridges, &c.
And, the enlargement of the canal from Ramey's Bend to Port Colborne, including the construction of a guard lock, weir, and supply race, &c.
The works will be let in sections of a length suited to circumstances and the locality.
Maps of the different localities, together with plans and specifications of the works can be seen at this office on and after MONDAY, the 28th day of June next, where printed forms of tender can be obtained. A like class of information relative to the works north of Allanburg can be seen at the resident Engineer's office, THOROLD: and for works south of Port Robinson, plans, &c., may be seen at the resident Engineer's office, WELLAND.
Contractors are requested to bear in mind that Tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and—in the case of firms—except there are attached the usual signatures, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the same; and further, an accepted bank cheque or other available security for the sum of from one to five thousand dollars, according to the extent of work on the section, must accompany each Tender, which sum shall be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the works at the rates stated in the offer submitted.
The amount required in each case will be stated on the form of Tender.
The cheques or money thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose Tenders are not accepted.
For the due fulfilment of the contract, satisfactory security will be required by the deposit of money to the amount of five per cent on the bulk sum of the Contract, of which the sum sent in with the Tender will be considered a part
Money per cent only of the progress estimates will be paid until the completion of the work.
No such Tender must be attached the names of two responsible and solvent persons, residents of the Dominion, willing to become sureties for the carrying out of those conditions as well as the due performance of the works embraced in the contract.
This Department does not, however, bind itself to accept the lowest or any Tender.
By order,
F. BRAUN, Secretary.

A WARNING.

She was only sixteen' she was pretty: Her foot was be witchingly small; And her father was "warm," as the phrase is, (Which to some may be quite the reverse.)
Let the scene of this please, be last summer: Time—June, in N. B.!
I was there on a pleasure excursion. Had revelled both the people. When it chanced I met with this charmer. You'll excuse my not mentioning how: Suffice it to say that her father— (I can taste his Madeira even now.)
Knew some of my friends or relations. And in hearty Canadian style, Declared me his guest for a fortnight. And would take no denial the while. And she? Oh, she blushed and said nothing. But she looked so deliciously sweet, I'd have gone if he lived in the almshouse. Instead of on Oliver street.
We'll omit the events of my visit; Enough, that with rapture I buried: And, as mentioning before, I had caused For supposing my love was returned: And we'll come without further preamble. To the story I started to tell. Of the service she asked me to do her. And the fate that my efforts befell.
She said she'd a cousin in Boston, To whom she'd some trifles to send; And there came the daintiest blushes, Regarding me, quite as a friend. She asked, as a very great favor, That I'd take a trunk under my care: And then, I remember, she gave me I won't tell you what, I declare.
We were just coming up Boston Harbor. When a man in blue flannel went around, And, demanding the keys of their owners, Examined what baggage was found. Imagine my consternation, When, in very gruff tones, I was told, That the duties on what that trunk carried, Would be nineteen eight dollars in gold.
I paid it—it took all my money. And some that I borrowed, before The trunk was released from its distance And allowed to be carried on shore. And the warning I wish to inculcate. On each who this episode sees, Is never to bring trunks up to Boston. From people who live in St. John's.

Sir John and the Delay of the Report on the Anglin Case.

(From the St. John, N. B., News.)
Our readers will recollect that the report of the Committee of Privileges and Elections on the Anglin case was submitted to the House of Commons too late to permit of its being read before the House was summoned to appear in the Senate Chamber to receive its congé. The accounts of the proceedings shew that, while the report was being submitted the Usher of the Black Rod was knocking at the Commons' door, charged with His Excellency's summons; that Sir John A. Macdonald thereupon exclaime!, sub rosa, "don't admit him!" "Let the report be read," or words to that effect: that after a brief pause the Speaker ordered the door to be opened; that the messenger was admitted, his summons heard and obeyed by the House, and that thus the consideration of the report was staved off till the next session.
It has been stated by a Ministerial journal at the Capital, likely to be well-informed, that the case was brought up by Mr. Bowell too late to admit of a finding and report thereon by the regular committee until within a day or two before the close of session, that it was felt to be undesirable at that late stage to involve the House in the trouble and inconvenience of a new election to the Speakership, and that to avoide that result it was unanimously resolved by the Committee, Sir John being a prominent member thereof, to time the submission of its report so as to prevent its adoption by the House. Hence the course pursued.
Now, if this statement is substantially true in its main features, it is clear that Sir John A. Macdonald was precluded from taking any action fitted to frustrate the object aimed at, as well as from all criticism reflecting on the Committee's choice of means for its attainment. In such a case he could not honorably either take the action or indulge in the criticism. Nor could Opposition organs denounce the device resorted to by the Committee without including Sir John in the denunciation.
The leading Opposition organ, the Toronto Mail, objects to the statements of the Ottawa journal in this matter. It asserts that Mr. Bowell is not chargeable with delay in bringing the case before the House, and avers that, on the contrary, he proceeded in it at the very earliest possible moment. It also charges that unseemly delay in the Committee, due to Messrs. Mills and Guthrie, was indulged in.
None of these arguments touch the main question, which is, did Sir John, as a member of the Committee, concur with his colleagues in the resolution acted upon to delay the report until it should be too late for the House to deliberate thereon? The Mail does not deny the alleged concurrence. It rather by implication concedes it. For it says, referring to this very matter, that "Sir John Macdonald acted with the utmost generosity towards Mr. Anglin." And what might the utmost generosity in such a case be—generosity consistent with the verdict that Mr. Anglin had voided his election by accepting Government contracts? Why, to withold the verdict until it should be too late for the House to enforce it during the then current session. But if he consented to that with-holding, how could he with out breach of faith and wilt stultification try to defeat its object, and attempt to make political capital out of it, against his opponents? The Mail shirks that question, and manifests great impatience at Mr. Anglin's non-resignation.

THE CASTELTON MURDER.

ABORTIONISTS AGAIN AT WORK.

Arrest of the Supposed Murderers.

COLBORNE, Ont, June 1.—The short despatch which appeared in this morning's Globe gives but a faint idea of the fearful crime which was committed in the little country village of Castleton, a few days since, or of the horror which it has caused in the community. It is difficult to learn at this point all the details of the tragedy, but so far as can be gathered from the rumors afloat here to-night it is in many respects the counterpart of the Jennie Gilmour case in Toronto, though its ghastliness appears even to exceed that of the Davis case. Briefly told, the particulars seem to be as follows:—The victim, Miss Alberta Wade, was a daughter of John Wade of Brighton township, and was engaged as a school teacher in the neighbour

PETERBOROUGH, JUNE 7, 1877.

THE BEST MEN.

The reason given by an Opposition paper for "the decline of the Reform party," that the best men have been removed from its ranks to public offices, is a high compliment to Reform rule, tho' it was not so intended. Perhaps it is a pity that the Reform party cannot keep its officers and give them to the country at the same time; but as these officers and the party as a whole recognize the incongruity of public servants engaging in party strife they have been willing to take a little from the great strength of the party to cure the weaknesses of the public service, which had got into a very bad way under its late managers, and which still needs a considerable purging of the old leaven and a further infusion of the new blood before it approaches perfection. What the country needs is the filling of its offices with the best men, and not that they be kept as leaders of a party while inferior material is used in the making up of the public service.—The policy of the Conservatives would appear to have been the retention of their ablest men in the political field, while the efficiency of the public service was sacrificed by the introduction of inferior men, or those whose placing at the public crib would conciliate influential friends or secure votes to Tory candidates. This will account for the army of incapables found in the public offices at Ottawa, and elsewhere, on the accession of the Reformers to power, and for the number of civil "servants" whose chief occupation was to draw their salaries. The country has reason to be glad that a change has come whereby the "best men" are placed in the public offices, and by which the policy of placing party before the general good has been reversed.

The Reform party can afford to place its best men in office as public servants better than the Conservative; not only because of a feeling of strength that will spare such a sacrifice, but also because of an inherent principle of renewal of vigour that is largely denied the Tory party. It is well known that Conservatism is a sort of antiquated belief, relying in great part on tradition and blue-blooded descent. The old men are the firmest adherents of Conservatism, and the older they become the more Conservative they appear to get. Thus the olders in the ranks are eminently fitted to be Conservative leaders, while the younger men with less cultured illiberality would be utterly unfitted for such leadership. Their minds though vigorous have not attained the orthodox narrowness of view, which requires years of concentrated attention on Tory twits. Reform principles, on the other hand are such that the vigorous mind of youth turns readily to them, and expands and strengtheus in their contemplation. They appeal at once to the reason and the rectitude of the man, are easily understood in the abstract, while their application opens up on all hands an unlimited range of progress. Age in their study only brings experience of their adaptability to still further advancement: and while old and experienced students are peculiarly fitted to become able and conscientious public servants, the simplicity of the Reform principles that have led them on thus far enables their more youthful and vigorous fellows to intelligently and thoroughly understand the position, and to take up the work at the point where another has dropped it, and and proceed with it with a diligence enthusiasm denied by nature to the more aged. Such being the case, there is not much fear that the Reform party will be destroyed by the drafting of its "best men" into the public service; for it always has good men ready to fill positions thus vacated But even supposing Reformers to go out of office by such weakening of their party as that referred to, they would go out with honour, and leaving such a record as would inspire the people of the country to return speedily to power again.

PARTY ORGANIZATION.

We are glad to see that our Reform friends in many constituencies throughout the Province are completing their party organization so as to keep an eye on the voters' lists, and on other matters wherein our political opponents have been in the habit of "stealing marches" on us.—We scarcely think it likely that this activity among Reformers betokens a general election so close at hand as Tory journals in their eagerness for paying excitement would wish; but there is great necessity for thorough organization, barring all expectation of an immediate appeal to the people. The voters' lists now being prepared may, and most likely will, be those used at the next general election, even should there be two sessions before the dissolution of the present House of Commons; and beyond this there are strong reasons why an early beginning be made in the matter of party co-operation for party interests. We should prefer a continuous activity of County and Township Reform Associations, by the holding of meetings, either monthly or quarterly, to discuss matters of general polity, to hear essays and to have discussions on the principal political questions of the time. By such means much general knowledge would be diffused among the members of the Associations, common understanding made instinctive as well as rational, and concertated action would become a habit. There is a proneness in the party to rely entirely on the strength of the principles it upholds, and to be careless of preparation except just at or immediately before an election contest. This will not do when the Opposition is largely one of slanders that must be refuted, and of misrepresentations that must be exposed, else they will have some effect on people who do not know their true value, and only judge of them by their being uncontradicted or disproved. A good example of the difference between a party organized and the same party careless of its organization is furnished in the neighbouring consituency of East Durham. With thorough organization the Reformers of that Riding in 1872 redeemed the seat in the Commons by electing their candidate with the handsome majority of 240, and again returned him at the last general election with comparatively no opposition. Indeed the only injury the Tories could hope to do to the Reform cause was to induce a Reformer to run against the regular nominee of the party and thus introduce disunion into the party they could not cope against while it stood united. Whether this had any effect in producing the weakness subsequently displayed, or whether it may be wholly due to carelessness in not keeping up the very good organization of 1872, we cannot presume to determine: but we rather think carelessness had most to do with it. At any rate we do know, that at the last local election, with an abler man for candidate, the Reformers of East Durham were defeated by a majority larger than that by which they had redeemed the Riding from Tory representation in the Commons. There may have been other causes, but the principal reason was undoubtedly the lack of that thorough organization which mainly led to the former brilliant success of Reform in East Durham. This being the case where majorities are large, proves that early and complete organization is doubly necessary in constituencies like Peterborough's where candidates, of whatever party, are elected only by the narrowest majorities, and where a little carelessness may lose the election, and a thorough organization of Reformers is certain to win it. We notice that the Conservatives are not blind to this fact, and that they are preparing for an organization of their forces, so as to put them in workable order. We think it is high time the Reformers of Peterboro', both East and West, were following the example of their political friends in other parts of the country, and mustering their men in a manner calculated to bring about unity of feeling, preconcerted action, and the very valuable knowledge of assigning to each the peculiar work he is best calculated to do to advance the party's interests

SECTARIANISM AND NATIONALISM.

In another column will be found an able letter by Mr. Jas. W. Fitzgerald to the Toronto Tribune, which paper is (to parody the words of the journal's shattered prospectus) "a journal for Catholics, written by Catholics." This letter leads us to supplement our remarks of last week on Catholic courting: and we do so the more readily in having in Mr. Fitzgerald a Catholic supporter of the views we then briefly expressed, and which we had announced months before, on the insincerity of those of either party who would entrap the Catholic or any other religious or benevolent body on a pretence to materially benefit it, but really to degrade and weaken it. The honest indignation with which Mr. Fitzgoral speaks of this class of politica suitors is refreshing in the midst of so much sham and trickery in the question of Catholic representation. We do not know if James W. can trace any relationship to "Fighting Fitzgerald," but his letter shows him to be entitled to the name of "Fearless Fitzgerald", and we can all honour him for his candour and fairness the while he is denouncing with true Hibernian warmth the pretensions of so called leaders, whom he describes, with more truth than tenderness, as knaves and noodles.

It is an undoubted fact that there is bigotry among both Reformers and Conservatives, and among Protestants as well as Roman Catholics. It is a some thing that pertains to the whole population irrespective of party or creed, so that none of these can very well accuse the other of bigotry without provoking a "you're another" sort of reply. Such accusations are the fertile sources of the continuation and spread of the very quality of which they are in a particular sense denunciatory. It is not by setting up the presumed rights of Catholics to representation as a distinct class of the electorate that Protestant bigotry will be allayed. Such an aggressive course is rather adding fuel to the flame: and this continual cry, raised principally by demagogues, for the recognition of a peculiar people within a people, begets more bigotry and does more harm to all concerned than even the processional parades of Old World feuds, which, as the country increases in intelligence, are looked upon more and more as masquerades to be laughed at rather than demonstrations worthy of serious attention.

The nationality cry, too, is a fruitful source of evil. Carried to its logical effect it can only produce that sentiment called knownothingism. nativism, or Canada First views, which all parties are so ready to denounce. For if Irishmen as Irish, or Scotchmen as Scotch, claim recognition, it is but right that Canadians as such shall assert their claims, which they can, in point of numbers, do to the utter obliteration of those who will persist in being Scotch, Irish, or of any other nationality in Canada, which cannot by any amount of juggling be made Irish, Scotch or French, neither laid out into divisions representing the various Old World nationalities. We cannot have our country made into an ethenological checker-board, and we would not if we could; so there's the use of attempting to lay out nationality squares? Canada is a place where all nationalities and all creeds can meet on a common level, if they only will; and if they will not the fault must lie in themselves and their attempts to peddle their nationality or their creed as a Yankee pedlar would his cheap wares.

As for odious comparisons with regard to "lack of education" and "ignorance," we look upon them as the natural outcome of other evils we have been considering. They amount to nothing in themselves; and merely show the tendency of aggression to create counter aggression. It ill becomes any nationality or creed to accuse another of "ignorance," while both are displaying it in the simple carrying on of the discussion. No class, as a class, in Canada can fairly taunt another with "lack of education." Any class may be educated, while it cannot be denied that many in all classes of society are sadly lacking in scientific knowledge. There is, however, education and education; and we should have thought that the kind that comes by experience would have taught warring sectarians and nationalists the unprofitable and actually wasteful and injurious effect of their doctrines, on themselves as well as on the community at large. Let us hope that they will all increase in practical education.

PETERBOROUGH AND VICTORIA FISHERIES.

The Fishery Overseers in the Peterborough and Victoria division are Messrs. George Cochrane, Jas. Sutherland and Daniel Bowon. The yield, that is the catch during the year 1876 showed an increase of about ninety-four per cent over the former year. Mr. Cochrane considers this due to the stricter observance of the close season, and also to the number of persons who, being out of other employment, resorted to fishing as a means of their livelihood. The same gentleman declares that the greatest abuses in the division are the throwing of mill rubbish into the streams and the want of fishways at dams. He promises to try to put an end to these two evils, so that offenders in these respects had better mend their ways. He last year prosecuted one party for illegally killing fish by an explosive; and the offender was fined $5, and costs amounting to $4.20 The Fish and Game Protection Association has done much to preserve the fisheries in this locality, and have rendered valuable aid to the Overseers in the prevention of abuses. It and the Overseers are backed up by public sentiment in their efforts to enforce the law, and offenders who may be punished meet with no wide-spread sympathy, however loud their few friends and abettors may cry out against their just sentence. Last year 337 angling permits were granted, only two of which were to foreigners, at a fee of $5 each, the others being granted free to British subjects.

Rice Lake division is under the charge of Mr. Chas. Gilchrist, who has succeeded in putting a stop to the illegal practice of spearing and of fishing during close seasons in those waters. Three hundred and ninety-two permits were granted during the season to fish in this lake.—Fifty-four of these were to Americans, yielding fees amounting to $180.

DEBASING JOURNALISM.

In the last issue of a town paper, there appears a mean attempt to injure the private character of a citizen. Under the caption "A Benefactor" the writer gives a stab in the dark, that indicates a low state of moral influence in the author, as well as a mark of debasing and degrading journalism which deserves to be condemned by all right thinking men. This defamer of private character says

> "A well-known Councillor from the Fourth Ward interested in keeping Rubidge Street closed, always shows on as a plea that there is "a poor old man" living on it, who will be deprived of a home. Some years ago when this same Councillor moved to that quarter, he built a fence in front and to the rear of the same "poor old man," hoping by that to drive him off the place. The "poor old man," however knew he had as much right to the street as any other man, and being in possession he remained. Pressure was brought to bear upon the charitable(?) Councillor and he was compelled to have a gate put in for the accommodation of the "poor old man," whom he now brags of doing so much for."

Holding Mr. Dumble, the gentleman referred to, in the highest esteem and respect, and believing him incapable of anything uncharitable or unkind, we made it our business to call on the "poor people" referred to, and to enquire as to the truth or falsity of this base attempt to drag private character before the public.

We asked the old couple whom we found in the place how long they had resided in there? to which they answered 24 or 25 years. To the question, did Mr. Dumble ever treat you unkindly since he came to reside here? they said, "Himself and wife are the best of neighbors, and have told us to take what we wanted out of their garden and cellar."

Did he ever try to get you away from this place? A. "He never so much as spoke of such a thing to us."

Is it true that he tried to put you away? A. "He never did anything of the kind."

How does he generally treat you? A "He always treats us well, often sending us nice little things; frequently they send us milk and other kindnesses, and tell us to take anything we want."

Did he ever build a fence so that you could not get out or in, with a view to driving you out of this?

"He once built a fence along the street, but he put in a gate for us, and we at present use his gate to get in or out what is too large for the small one. It is entirely untrue that he has ever done anything to remove or injure us, and he and Mrs. Dumble are exceedingly kind to us always, and have been so ever since he came here."

They also stated that Mr. Dumble never attempted to build a fence in the rear or on the side of the place.

Is not this a complete refutation of the vile attempt to injure a citizen at the expense of honor, truth, and journalistic decency?

In a late issue we showed the value of three extracts published by the Mail, we commented on as "Ministerial Murmurings" against Reform rule. One we then characterized as an intelligent suggestion such as true supporters of the Reform government claim it is their right and their duty to make; another we pointed out was begotten of personal enmity, and not of political judgment; while the third came from a pretended Reform journal, but really a thoroughly unprincipled organ of one man, if an unmanly course has not long ago deprived him of the right to be called man, as will be seen from an article in another column, from the Port Perry Standard, our judgment in respect to that paper was correct; and we can say that it was not formed on better knowledge than that in regard to the others.—The Standard's article gives forth no uncertain sound in favour of the Reform government, against which the Mail declared it murmured, while it at the same time points forcibly to the petty tactics to which the chief organ of the Opposition descends in striving to find something to say against Reform Administration of affairs.

The best answer to those who point to the United States as a proof of the benefits of Protection, is furnished in the fact that a policy is being framed in that country, whereby, by a lowering of the tariff, it may secure some trade.

Mr. Patrick Boyle, through the Irish Canadian, "tickets" candidates for the next Commons election in Ottawa, Cornwall, East Toronto and Lincoln. Did it not strike Mr Boyle that such presumption on his part, interfering with the free choice of the electors of these constituencies, was the surest way to destroy all chances of a nomination of the men he names. But perhaps this was the intention, that the great complainer might have a grievance. The representative men thus patronized will scarcely thank their patron for his mistaken kindness, if kindness it be; and the electors of the constituencies Mr P. Boyle would furnish with ready-made members will be inclined to exclaim, "Confound the fellow's impudence," while they laugh at the fun of the thing.

In their desire to provoke national bitterness in the ranks of the Reform party the Conservative journals are publishing a story to the effect that a Reformer at the nomination of a ministerial candidate in Ottawa declared "there was no use of nominating Mr. J. P. O'Hanly, for the Scotch Reformers would not vote for an Irish Catholic." Even supposing this to be "the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth" it would merely prove the utterer of the words to be possessed of more honesty in the expression of an opinion than party discretion, or admiration for Scotch Reformers either. But the story is shorn of its purpose in the light of the fact that it was not the "Scotch Grits," but the Irish Catholics of Ottawa that opposed the nomination of Mr. J. P. O'Hanly, for purposes best known to themselves, but which are made no secret, the principal one being, of course, that he was not considered the best candidate.

We are always glad to turn to the columns of our lively and sensible contemporary, the Bobcaygeon Independent, for we always feel sure of seeing in them something worth reading and we are seldom disappointed. In the course of a recent article on the Chinese immigration into Canada the Independent has the following remarks:

> It is probable that the number of Chinese immigrants will largely increase, and that some branches of industry may be almost entirely monopolized by the Chinese element. This, however, should cause no concern. The cheaper the production of such articles as the Chinese can produce the better for the rest of the population. It must never be forgotten that Canada's natural destiny is to raise grain and meat. We can never be overstocked with cultivators of the soil. Therefore, the cheaper the farmers can purchase those articles of consumption which he cannot himself raise, the better for the farmer, and the better for the country.

The italics are ours, but the meaning is perfectly unmistakeable without them. We express no opinion just now on the "Chinese cheap labor" question, but we believe with the Independent that "Canada's natural destiny is to raise grain and meat," and that "the cheaper the "farmer can purchase those articles of "consumption which he cannot himself "raise, the better for the farmer and the "better for the country." The Independent is manifestly ultra free trade in its proclivities, and may expect to find itself by-and-by read out of the Conservative ranks.—London Advertiser.

"Belles Lettres."—We recommend a perusal of the Tory organs of this County by all lovers of polite literature. The gentleman's organs are in full keeping with the character and style of their Chief, in the House, at their Pic-nics, and at his "Blazes" meeting, in Toronto. Reason in a gentleman's organ is out of the question, Logic is foolishness. Billingsgate is their weapon, and the language of fishwomen and gypsies their sweetest morsels. We cannot and will not give space to reply to the trash and abuse that they are so conversant with, and seem to delight and glory in. Filthy, abusive language they roll like sweet morsels under their tongues, and delight to wallow in this about as freely as a certain animal is said to do in the mire. We expect nothing better from them. The leaders are of similar tastes. What may we expect from the rank and file? Some of them in this county could not thrive unless in the mud. Let them enjoy their strange tastes.

Mr. Mackenzie has succeeded admirably this season with the weather. Never before in the history of Canada were farmers so well pleased in this respect. We hope that he will soon turn his attention to Eastern matters and compel Turkey and Russia to cease from shedding blood. As a matter of fact he does all these things, or rather, he is the procuring cause.

WAR NEWS.

The news from the seat of war is still very indefinite. No advances have been made during the week. The Russians have spread themselves along the Danube with a view of crossing at the first favorable opportunity or locality. There are 200,000 men on the other side to meet them, but the present state of the river forbids the Russians attempting a crossing. It is believed that no attempt will be made to cross over before July, when the water will have assumed its accustomed summer height. In Asia Minor matters are as before reported. The Russians so far have made no great headway. Kars and Erzeroom have not been assailed. Nor is it known to any extent what the contending forces have been doing in Armenia These armies are now between Mount Ararat and the Black Sea, and a little west from Persia. Greece is also having troublesome times, and in consequence the Sultan has ordered out the militia in the Provinces bordering on that State. The chief features of the present state of both parties will be found in the following telegraphic news:—

On the Danube the Russians have at last occupied the chief positions, and their lines extend from Galatz to Kalafat. But the formidable river bars their way, and until the stream returns to its normal summer level it will be perilous, if not physically impossible to take the army across. It is now hardly possible that the Russians can execute this great military operation for the next three weeks. They may come to close quarters with the Turkish armies about the beginning of July, so that the campaign will probably be prosecuted under the greatest heats of summer. The region of the Lower Danube is terribly unhealthy for strangers, so it may be presumed that the Russians will endeavour to traverse with all celerity the more unhealthy districts. Those troops will fare worst which have to sit down before a fortress or guard a strong place in the chain of communications, as an army in movement will generally keep health better than garrison or investing forces. The character and duration of the struggle in Bulgria are the subject of much speculation, particularly in Germany and Austria, where every officer seems to have made his own particular study of the campaign. The general tenor of these criticisms is adverse to the Turks, not from any doubt that they will make a good fight and even inflict serious reprises on their enemy, iority in numbers, efficiency of organization from the prepossession that the superstition, and strategical ability are on the side of the Russians. There are 240,000 Russians in position on the Danube, without counting the Roumanians or reserves that are being brought forward, which amount to 60,000 men. There are 80,000 men east of Ibrails, and 20,000, with considerable reserves, at Bolgrad, which is the point of support for this part of the line. The strength and position of the works at Reni and Ibrails indicate that they are defensive and not offensive, the precautions taken being directed against an attack by the Turkish fleet, and to prevent the passage of the river by the Turks. At Ibrails there are three batteries—one west of the town sweeping the Danube with four twelve-pounders and two guns of larger calibre up to the point formed by the Matchin Channel, and two east of the town raking the Matchin Channel, one of which is armed with four guns of position and four howitzers, and the other with eight pieces of still larger calibre and two mortars, from which projectiles are said to have reached Matchin Ibrails up to the lines of Bucharest and Ottenitza, and Bucharest and Giurgevo, there are no troops except the number requisite to guard against a possible surprise. But between Bucharest and Giurgevo the concentration is on a large scale. The forces are in three camps, each containing 50,000 men, to which must be added another 10,000 at Giurgevo. Thus there are 160,000 men now concentrated on the Bucharest and Giurgevo line along the railway, who may be directed either against the line of Rustchuk and Turtukai or Rustchuk and Sistova. On the spot it is believed the latter will be chosen, and that the demonstration at Ottenitza is merely a feint. The second concentration is on both sides of the River Aluta. East of the river are 60,000 men in two camps, both on the high road to Turnu-Magurelli. West of the Aluta four camps representing about 80,000 men. This may be regarded as the centre of the line. Farther west, on the line of Kalafat and Turn-Severin, last accounts stated the number of Russians to be over 40,000.

The Turkish army on the Asiatic side appears to have been deplorably neglected. The troops are worse disciplined, worse equipped and provided than those on the Danube; but the nature of the warfare in Asia to some degree makes deficiencies of the armies less vital. The campaign will be one in which strategy will be of less and hard fighting of more importance. Even irregular troops may be able to do service in some positions which it is in the power of Mukhtar Pasha to defend. The Russian right wing has advanced from Ardahan on Ourout to Pennek, fifteen miles north of Bardoo. Of the centre we have no reliable information.

ANOTHER ABORTION AND MURDER TRAGEDY.

A fearful tragedy has been enacted in the neighborhood of Castleton, about seven miles from Colborne, in the county of Northumberland, the victim being a Miss Wade, a school-teacher, and the murderers a young man named Mallory, her seducer, a friend of his named Weldon, and a wretch named Smith, who appears to have been a professed abortionist, and was known in this capacity in the neighborhood. Miss Wade, the murdered girl, was about 19 to 20 years of age, and the daughter of respectable parents. She went to board at Mallory's in January last. Ery Mallory, the father of the young man, is said to be a pious and respectable person, a local preacher. His son, however, does not appear to have kept good company, but his worst companion was a relative named Marven Weldon, who is about 28 years of age and married. As soon as Mallory and Weldon learned of the pregnancy of the young woman they applied to the wretch, Smith, who readily undertook the vile work for them, but for a time failed in his attempts. finally, as the evidence shows, one of their attempts proved fatal to their unfortunate victim, as she absolutely expired in their hands. The confession of old Smith settles the whole matter as to the manner of the murder, and is substantially that Weldon and Mallory arranged with him that on Tuesday night, the 22nd of May, they should bring Miss Wade with them for the purpose of having an operation performed on her; that on the appointed night the three parties came, but that his attempts to procure an abortion on that occasion failed. For some reason or other—perhaps because they were apprehensive of discovery if they went to his hut—the grove which lies east of and at some distance from his den was made the rendezvous of the party. That night an appointment was made for the following Friday night—the evening, it should be borne in mind, on which Miss Wade was last seen alive. Smith states that on the Friday night, shortly after midnight, Weldon and the young lady came to his hut. While he was performing the operation Weldon noticed the poor girl give two or three gasps, and then, as he imagined, she fainted away. The two attempted to restore her to consciousness, soon the horrible truth dawned upon their minds that she was dead. The both naturally became alarmed, Weldon, according to Smith's story, being so terrified that he seemed incapable of word or act. On Smith asking him, after a few minutes had elapsed, what he proposed to do, Weldon said he would go and bring Cope Mallory. He went out for that purpose, and returned in ten or fifteen minutes bringing Mallory with him. According to this statement it would appear either that Mallory was waiting a short distance off (probably in the woods on the other side of the road, where Weldon had left the buggy), or that he had been behindhand in his appointment at the hut, and was on the way there when Weldon met him. The two young men carried the body across the three fields that lie between Smith's shanty and the road running north from Castleton. Smith gathered from the conversation between the parties that the horse and buggy was standing in the grove on the other side of the road. Smith's confession so far as it affects the case at present, ends here, but he hinted vaguely that there was "another party" mixed up in the affair, though he refused to reveal the name. The most probable supposition is that Weldon and Mallory, after reaching the buggy, drove with the body in a northerly direction. The place in which it was afterwards found was about a mile and a half from the grove opposite Smith's hut, where the buggy was tied. It is supposed that they drove down either to this place or to some other in the stretches of wood that lie here and there along the road, and hid the body temporarily with the intention of returning that night or the next and hiding it more completely. This supposition is likely, it is said, to be borne out by the medical evidence as to the state in which the body was found, and also accords with the fact that Mallory made his appearance at his father's house about one o'clock the following morning, as the distances are such as to make these circumstances consistent with one another. Mallory appears to have left for the station immediately and to have gone westward the following day Weldon, either alone or with some one to assist him, probably returned on Saturday or Sunday night and hid away the body in the secluded spot in which it was afterwards found.

The chief witnesses at the inquest were Mallory's father and a Phynetta Miller, who formerly lived with Smith. Their evidence is as follows:—

Ery E. Wallery, having been sworn, said: Alberta Wade boarded at my house; she was last there on Friday night; she taught school on that day; she left my place with my son between five and six o'clock in my buggy with his horse; don't know where they went, but they drove off south; my son returned, I think, about one o'clock on Saturday morning; I was sick during the night; I saw a light, and supposed they had come home; I called but got no answer. I called Barnett (witness's daughter), and when I called Cope, but got no answer; in a few minutes he came to the door and said, "Pa, come out doors"; I jumped out of bed; then went out without my Clothes; came back and dressed myself; went out and asked what he wanted; he said, "Oh, Pa!"; I asked "What is the matter?"; he said, "Bert (meaning Miss Wade) is in a scrape, about three or four months gone"; I asked, "Where is she?"; he said "Oh! has gone to the station, and taken the train to go east"; I said, "Have you done anything to cause abortion?" he said he had not: he said, "I am going away"; I said, "In the name of Heaven go and marry her;" he said, 'I am ready now to go to the station;" I told him if that horse had been driven to change it; I changed the horse; he gave me his hand and said "Good-bye;" I said, "Wait until I get my coat, I will go with you;" I got my coat and drove a mile or more; I gave him some money in the house before I went out; I asked him what he had done with his money, and he said he gave $9 to Bert; I asked him when he was coming back; he said he did not know, he might come in a month, or he might never come back; I asked him if he would marry the girl, and he made no answer; I said, "Will you go where she is?" and he made me no reply; I asked "Will you go where you can hear from home?" he said "I will" or something to that effect if I remember aright; I asked him what it meant; he said "Don't fret;" he told me the names of three parties that owed him money; I got chilly and concluded not to go to the station; he said "all right;" he said he had a good mind to drive off and leave me when I was getting the horse, after I jumped out of the buggy he said he would send a letter back to tell me where the horse was; he was out home over fifteen minutes; he told me he had sent her east to her friends; I never knew anything of the affair until I was told on friday by my son. I understood some time in March or April that all was not right with the girl, as she was sick at my place at the time, she appeared cheerful when they left my place on Friday night, never saw her down-hearted, but she was always cheerful; I took tea with Miss Wade that night; I sent a letter to Diogenes Mallory, my nephew, who lives in Smith's Creek, Mich, concerning my son: the horse that he took away in the evening was a cream coloured horse with black mane and tail; I went to Colborne next day and received a letter from the hand of John Kemp from my son that my horse was under Hart's shed; I borrowed Weldon's buggy to go to Colborne, Darwin Weldon told me that my son was at his place on Friday night until 10 or 11 o'clock; he said Miss Wade was not there with him; my son was 20 years of age.

Mrs. Phynetta Miller, sworn, said—I was not acquainted with Alberta Wade; never saw her to my knowledge; heard of her disappearance last Tuesday afternoon (29th May); David Smith told me he had been with Alberta Wade and had a trial upon the lady, but without effect, I cannot remember exactly when this conversation took place; it was within the last two weeks. he told me he had used an instrument, but without effect; he told me that Mallory's son had brought her to see him; he did not tell me what day it was; he told me it was done in the night in McHugh's woods, back of Castleton, opposite Smith's house; I asked who was with the lady, and he said Cope Mallory; he said he expected them back the following Friday night, about midnight; he spoke of it as a business transaction, and as if he was accustomed to perform such operations; he has often spoken to me before of having performed such operations.

Phynetta Miller recalled, said—I saw Smith operate on a young girl some years ago; I had some conversation with Marven once, I asked him if he heard of the death of Alberta Wade; he said "Yes;" I asked him if he thought it was true; he said he was afraid it was; Smith's trunk was brought down to my place by a little boy; I never opened it; I gave it up to the foreman of the jury; I understood from conversation with Smith that the operation was for the purpose of causing abortion; I have seen the instruments used by Smith; he told me one of them was for the purpose of blowing air into the womb; I do not think that was the one used upon Miss Wade; the tube covered with leather is the one used for blowing air into the womb

The following are the circumstances of finding the body:

A search was instituted on Thursday morning last by some fifteen or twenty of the neighbours, who scoured the woods in all directions, and within two hours after the party started out the body was found by Mr. John Spung. Considering that it was buried at a distance of about two miles from Castleton, and that there are several large tracts of woods and shrubbery on all sides of the village, the finding of the poor girl's grave within so short a time after the alarm was spread, was not the least remarkable feature in this strange case. Mr. Sprung states that he noticed the track of buggy wheels leading off the main road into a rough and little travelled "near-cut" through the woods After following this track a short distance, he observed that the tracks diverged from the usual path into the woods, and ceased at a tree within about thirty rods from the main road. Here it appeared that the horse had been tied, and Mr. Sprung on going a few rods further into the woods noticed that a rotten stick of wood lying on the top of a fallen pine tree had been freshly broken. This led him to the spot where the body was found covered with some loose soil, decayed pine tassels, moss, &c., making the surface look as natural as possible.

Marven Weldon and old Smith have been committed to Cobourg jail, and on Saturday Mr. Marlyn, Deputy Sheriff of the county, and constable Casey, armed with the necessary papers, started for Smith's Creek Mich., where it is said young Mallory is under arrest.

The Ontario Government have appointed a commission to inquire into the subject of prison labor. The Commissioners are Hon. W. P. Howland, ex-Lieut. Governor, James Noxon, of Ingersoll, and an American gentleman, experienced in systems of labor across the border.

From Hon. W. H. Jones, of Vermont

"I have been troubled from my boyhood with chronic or hereditary lung complaint. Some years since, early in the Winter, I took cold, which as usual settled into a severe cold, which continued to increase as the season advanced, although I made use of all the cough remedies I had knowledge of. My family physician also prescribed for me, but I experienced no relief. During all this time I was gradually running down, losing flesh and strength, until my friends as well as myself, became very much alarmed, thinking I should waste away in consumption. While in Boston, during the Spring following, I was induced to try WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY. After one day's trial I was sensible that it was relieving me; in ten day's time my cough had entirely ceased, and I was soon restored to health and strength. I have ever since kept the BALSAM in my house, and whenever any member of my family has a cough or cold, it is immediately resorted to. No family should be without it." 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by all druggists.

The Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, JUNE 7, 1877.

This is the "leafy month of June," and the month of roses.

Business is surely recovering and the Grits still in power.

We must soon have a Strawberry festival or die of expectation.

The Regular Monthly Meeting of the School Board will be held on Tuesday evening next.

The latest combination in feminine fashion cardinal red bonnet-strings. Have you got them?

St. John's Church. Rev. P. Tocque, of Minden, preached in this church on Sunday evening.

Clergymen are beginning to announce their intention of shortening their sermons during the heated season. Sensible.

Strawberries. Bailey Bros have them the first of the season large, luscious, and delicious. Only 30 cents for a well-filled box. Try them.

Mr Beavis informs us that the pound in the first ward is now ready for use. Parties allowing anything to run at large contrary to the By-law, will now know where to find them. If lost.

A Musical and Literary Entertainment in aid of the St. Andrews church, will be given in the S. S. Building on Tuesday evening next, 12 inst., at 8 o'clock.

What have the Tories to say about the fine weather that the Mackenzie Government is giving us? If they don't look out the farmers will have good crops this fall. Where is John A.?

New Firm.—It will be seen by advertisement that Messrs. W. H. Moore and Campbell W. Sawyers have formed a partnership in the law business. We wish the new firm a large measure of success.

Granger's Pic-Nic. The Otonabee Grangers celebrated the anniversary of their order by a Pic-Nic at Rice Lake, on Saturday last. There were about 250 present and the day passed off very pleasantly.

The attention of the Ladies of Lakefield and vicinity is directed to the special lines of Linen and Grenadine Dress Goods suitable for the present season, which will be disposed of at very low prices. W. J. Wallace. 23-2.

Another Fire. On Friday night last, about 1:30 a.m., a fire broke out in a house in Ashburnham, lately occupied by Mrs. McAniffe. The building was consumed. Loss about $400. We have not heard whether it was insured or not.

A Runaway. A horse belonging to W. G. Sawyers, capered down George street, on Thursday afternoon last, with part of a waggon after him, but no driver. No damage was done with the exception of breaking the waggon pretty badly.

Base Ball. There will be a match at Base Ball on Saturday next, between the "Mutuals," of Lindsay, and the "The Grove," of Peterborough. The match will be played in the south of the town, on Mr. Chamberlain's lot, at 2 p.m.

Trunks, etc. W. R. Cuttle has commenced the manufacture of trunks and satchels over the store occupied by W. J. Stenson. Parties desiring a good article in this line would do well to call on him. Samples of his work may be seen in the best and show store of Mr. Stenson.

Peterborough Watering Cart. One of Stephenson's superior watering carts is now being built by Mr. James Hamilton and Messrs. Stephenson & Thompson for the town of Peterborough. It is something like the one in use here only larg r, and will be completed this week. Post.

Job Work at Reduced Rates. We have received large additions to our stock of type, and always keep a full assortment of writing and printing papers, cards of every description, and everything usually found in a first-class printing establishment. Active enquiries will be found to be low enough to suit the times.

The Beautiful rains that have fallen during the past few days have changed the whole face of nature, causing everything to put on an even more inviting appearance. Farmer have been left without a word of complaint. The prospects for an abundant harvest were never brighter than this season.

The Streets.—Many new and useful improvements are now being made on some of our streets. Sidewalks are being laid in many places, and others are contemplated where a necessity for their renovation exists. The work is being done under the supervision of the Street Inspector, and is being done in an economical and efficient manner.

Filthy Literature. The Collector of Customs here has received instructions to seize and destroy all filthy and obscene publications, such as the "Police News," "National Police Gazette," "Days Doings," and other publications of a like tendency. Parties selling them, offering them for sale, or exhibiting them for sale, are liable to a fine of $100 for every offence. One half of which goes to the informer.

New Goods. John Elder has received another supply of new goods which he is disposing of at prices in keeping with the depressed state of business at the present time. The different varieties received will be seen in his new advertisement in this issue. He is also prepared at the shortest notice to turn out clothing in the most stylish manner, at low prices. Gents furnishings in great variety.

Fat Cattle.—Harry Winch, of Peterborough, during the past week purchased a number of fat cattle in this section for the Montreal market. Some of them weighing from 1,020 to 1,370 lbs. and were sent principally by Mr. T. Hodgson, of Emily, and Mr. Nicholas Weldon, of Mariposa. The latter is well-known as a stock raiser. Our town butchers should have secured these animals for their Lindsay customers.—Lindsay Post.

District Meeting. The Peterborough District Meeting of the Methodist church for this year was held in the Methodist church, Millbrook, on the 22nd and 23rd of May. Net increase of Members during the year, 321. The financial returns were nearly all in advance of last year. The following were elected to represent the district on committees:—Rev Isaac Weldon, Stationing Committee; W. A. Morrow, Missionary Committee.

Is it a Biped or a Tripod. Mr Henry Sherwood of this town has a curiosity in the way of a gosling, that has rarely been witnessed. This animal has three well formed feet and legs. They are placed in a straight row, all are webbed and the whole legs well developed; but it uses only two of them in locomotion. The middle one merely drags along. The third appendage, therefore, is more for curiosity or ornament, than for use. The young gosling is about 24 days old, is the largest one in a flock of ten, and appears to be thriving well. This animal is not a biped, and although possessed of three legs is not a tripod. Then what is it?

More Rails Removed. On Thursday morning last, as the train South was proceeding to Millbrook, and was about Needler's Hill, the engine driver discovered some rails that were removed. The train had to be delayed till they were replaced, when it proceeded to Millbrook. Returning again to the same place on its way north, other rails were found removed while they were southward, and they found a note to look out for nooks. If this conduct is permitted to go on undetected and unpunished, the consequences may become serious. Why does not Mr. Hugel place a detective on the line, and put an end to these acts of Vilainy?

R. Morrow is selling groceries at bottom prices for cash, cannot be seen by giving him a call, at Hardy's old stand. 20-4

Another Wind-fall. Any of our readers fortunate enough to be Shepherds will peruse the following with pleasure:—Proceedings have been commenced in the English courts on behalf of a number of residents of this city and Long Island to recover, as heirs at law, $12,000,000 in money. It seems that in 1810 Robert Shephard deposited in the Bank of England a million pounds to the credit of his sister, who had married John Shephard and gone to Canada. Lately an advertisement appeared inviting Robert and his sister to claim this money which is now estimated as accumulated to thirteen million dollars. Altogether about eleven persons in this country lay claim to a share in the money."

Accident. On Wednesday evening, the 30th ult., a sad accident occurred in the Village of Ashburnham. A new brick building is now in process of erection on the lot owned by Mr. Robt. Scott, on Maria street, and is now being roofed in. About 6 o'clock on the above day, one of the labourers, named Zimri Blodgett was in the act of carrying up a bundle of shingles when the scaffolding gave way and he was precipitated to the ground a distance of over 16 feet. Providentially he struck the under scaffolding in his fall, which somewhat turned his course, and prevented his falling on a large pile of brick, which must have caused instant death. As it was he received some severe contusions, two broken ribs, a very bad scalp wound, and a fracture of the wrist, but is progressing as favourably as possible under the care of Dr. Bell.

Examination Papers. Messrs. Adam Miller & Co. have published in arithmetical form, the examination papers used since 1871, together with a large number of additional questions, by teachers of unquestionable ability. The solutions given are calculated to render the student independent of Mechanical rules. They are founded on what is known as the Unitary system; solving every question to the value of a unit, and from that to the value of any number of units. This appears to be the only logical method of arithmetical solutions, and by constant practice therein for a very few months, the student will attain to a clearness of perception of the requirements, and of the mode of operation of the most difficult questions, and to become master of the whole subject, which formerly required years of laborious rule-getting and plodding. The questions have been arranged and solutions appended by Dr. McLellan, M. A., L. L. D., and T. Kirkland, M. A. Every teacher and student should obtain it and become acquainted with the principles and solutions therein. The Messrs. Miller & Co., are also publishing a series of school books on all the subjects taught in the schools of Ont. This series has been prepared with great care and simplicity, and are likely to take the place of many of the books now in use. All the new books can be obtained at Mr. Metzler's book store.

R. Morrow has a large stock of Groceries, Wines, Liquors, &c., which he is disposing of at "Grangers" prices. 20-4

Mendelssohn Quintette Club. This celebrated club of Bostonians, composed of the following artists: Wm. Schultze, violin; Chas. N. Allen, violin; Thomas Ryan, viola and clarionette; Edward Heindl: viola and flute; Rudolph Hennig, Violoncello, and Alexander Heindl, violoncello and double bass, to whom was added Miss Ella C. Lewis, gave a concert under the auspices of the Peterborough Cricket Club, in the Opera House on Tuesday evening last. The audience was large, appreciative, and discriminating. The programme was full of gems, and though thoroughly classical in matter, was neither dreary or heavy. It contained the following selections: Overture, "Semiramis," Rossini, arranged by Wm. Schultz; Cavatina from "Lucia di Lammermoor," "Regnava nel Silenzio," Donizetti, Miss Ella C. Lewis; Quartette in B flat, Haydn, concert stock for flute, Pomeroy-man, Edward Heindl; ballad, "Sands o' Dee," F. Clay, Miss Ella C. Lewis; fantasie for violoncello on "Polish Themes," S rvias, Rudolph Hennig; Adagio, from the Septette Op. 20, Beethoven, condensed for six instruments by T. Ryan; Solo for double bass, Bottesini, Alexander Heindl; Musical kaleidoscope, Wm. Schultz. The whole performance was remarkable for the quiet, artistic, tasteful manner of rendering the pieces—a manner that could only have been the result of long and continued practice. Miss Ella C. Lewis possesses a powerful, sweet, well cultivated, mezzo-soprano voice, of great flexibility, and rendered the songs assigned to her in a manner that evinced the greatest possible taste. The same praise must be given to all the other performers, in fact to mention one in preference to another would be an extremely invidious task.

Teas, Sugars, Spices, &c., are being sold at H. Hardy & Co's old stand, very low for cash. Call and see for yourselves. 20-1

Presentation and Address. On Monday evening last at the close of the choir practice held in the Methodist Church, Millbrook, Mrs. Barker, (who has presided at the Organ for the last two years,) was presented with a beautiful Silver Fruit Basket, a Toast Rack, and the following address:

To MRS. R. BARKER, Madam

In behalf of the Choir of the Millbrook Methodist Church and a few of your friends in this Village, permit us to present you with this Cake Basket and Toast Rack as a small token of the high esteem in which you are held, and as a slight appreciation of the efficiency with which you have conducted the musical portion of our Church Service during our short stay among us, and of the great interest you have taken in assisting the choir in the performance of their duties. Wishing you and your esteemed husband in your future field of labor, health, happiness, and prosperity, you may rest assured that your departure from Millbrook will be regretted by every one who has enjoyed the pleasure of your acquaintance.

(SIGNED) CARRIE HUTHERINGTON,
VIOLA LAIDLEY.

Miss BARKER in reply said, I am sure it is difficult for me to find words to express my gratitude to you for such a beautiful and useful present. In endeavouring to discharge my duties as organist, I feel that I have only done my duty. As regards the service of song, I think it occupies an important part in public worship and if I have been any assistance to the choir leading the congregation in that part of divine service I am grateful to Him whom I am endeavoring to serve. Since I came to Millbrook I have become acquainted with many persons whom I now regard as warm and cherished friends, and among these are the members of the choir. Our intercourse has been pleasant and enjoyable, and I assure you I sincerely regret that the law of our church will ere long compel a separation; but, though far from you, you will ever have a place in my memory. Your gift I value not so much for its intrinsic worth as an expression of your esteem and regard. I hope you will have no difficulty in securing another organist, and that the choir will continue to lead the congregation in singing the praises of God, and when the pricing of life is completed, may we all take part in singing the New Song.

ELIZA H. BARKER.

If you want to get cheap Groceries for cash, give R. Morrow date W. Hardy & Co.'s a call, his stock is complete in every department. 20-1

CROAKERS.—There is a certain class of people in every community that a local reporter cannot please. He may use his best endeavors to get all the local news that may prove of interest to the readers of the paper on which he is employed and serve it up in an acceptable shape, but no matter what he writes some one is sure to find fault with him. Readers and the general public should remember that everybody can't be pleased.

GOOD FOR PETERBOZO BOYS

From the published results of the examination of the Toronto University, we find that several Peterborough boys have obtained honors in several subjects.

FIRST YEAR.

In Mathematics we find the name of W. A. Stratton and J. M. Lodgate, two Peterborough boys out of 8 who obtained honors.

In English we find the name of J. M. Lodgate, out of 14.

In French we find again W. A. Stratton and J. M. Lodgate, two out of 16 who obtained honor.

In German we also find the names of Stratton and Lodgate, out of nine obtaining honors.

When it is considered that they had to compete with a very large number who had attended the University, and therefore had opportunities which they had not, we cannot but congratulate them on their success.

SECOND YEAR.

We find the name of F. W. O. Haultain obtaining honors and classics, and in metaphysics and ethics we find the name of T. A. Haultain. Both of Peterborough.

FOURTH YEAR.

Among the graduates we find the name of W. A. Hunter, formerly of the Collegiate Institute, as gold medalist in metaphysics, ethics, logic and civil polity.

It is no small honor to Peterborough that five of her young men have obtained honors at the highest educational institution in the Dominion, and several of them high honors. We trust their career will be one of continued honor through long and useful lives in whatever sphere of activity they may select.

LITERARY.

Ontario Business College Journal.—We have received the ninth edition of the Ontario Business College Journal, published by the above named college at Belleville, which is intended as a general directory for the institution which it represents. It contains much information which young, middle-aged and even old men could read and heed with benefit to themselves and the community in which they reside. The college is now firmly established in the good opinion of the public, and its patronage exceeds that of any other like institution in the Dominion. We would advise our young friends to get a copy of the Journal and carefully peruse its columns. It will be sent free to any address on application to the College.

Pettingill's Newspaper Directory for 1877. New York.

Canadian Newspaper Directory for 1877. T. F. Wood & Co., Montreal. We find from the first named of these volumes that there are 4119 publications, ranging from daily to quarterly, in the United States. The proportion in Canada is but as 62 to 100, for we have 455 publications, 334 of them weeklies, 45 dailies and 37 monthlies. Of the total number, 264 issue from Ontario, 86 from Quebec, 89 from the three Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland, 16 from Manitoba and British Columbia. Pettingill's Directory, besides a wood cut group of representative N. Y. editors, gives admirable portraits on steel of Dr. Irenaeus Prim, Wm. Cullen Bryant, and Robert Bonner.

School Books.—James Campbell & Son, Toronto, have just published a revised and improved edition of their school Geography. The plates are also new, and several of the maps have either been improved or new ones inserted. The letter print of the work, as well as that of the maps, is very clear, and better calculated to aid the student than the old plates and old Geographies, which, in this respect were faulty. A very pleasing feature of this work is the large space devoted to the geography of Canada. It is for sale at Mr. Menzies book store.

The Sunday School Ensign for June, published at Bowmanville, Ont., is a very attractive number, interesting to both old and young. The large illustration—"A Balloon Accident" is very striking, picturing a terrible scene above the clouds. "Old Bruin" adorns the fourth page. The Editor has a keen appreciation of the wants of the Sabbath-school, and his bill of fare is discerning and satisfying. Specimen copies sent free, on application. Address, C. Barker, Bowmanville.

Belford's Monthly.—This increasingly popular magazine is to hand for the month of June. The contents comprise the usual amount of interesting reading, including stories, historical sketches, poetry and music. The evenings in the Library, and Current Literature, are worth reading. Belford Bros., 60 York street, Toronto, are the publishers.

Music. We have received a copy of the "Vocal Waltzes," composed by S. Turney, of Hamilton, author of several popular pieces of music. Price 50 cents. For sample copies at 25 cents, address S. Turney, 25 James street north, Hamilton.

Welcome Tidings. This is the title of a musical work published by Biglow & Maine, New York. It includes a number of the Sankey hymns, and the best hymns and music of the late P. P. Bliss.

PETERBOROUGH CRICKET CLUB.

FALL RECORD FOR 1876.

President, Henry T. Strickland; Vice-President, T. Rutherford; Secretary, R. B. Rogers; Treasurer, J. E. Hammond; Committee, W. H. Rackham, W. J. Vaughan-Lloyd, J. Montgomery. The returns of this club arrived so late that our review is necessarily a hurried one and not so complete as we could wish.

June 9th ...	Port Hope ...	85	27 ... 112
Peterborough	Peterborough	83	... 83

Decided by first inns. Port Hope lost 4 wickets.

June 27th ...	Port Hope ...	124	61 ... 185

Port Hope won 7 runs.

July 4th ...	Campbellford ...	36	19 ... 55
Peterborough	Peterborough	77	... 77

Peterborough won by a man in hinge by 22 runs.

Montgomery was top scorer for the winners with 26. R. B. Rogers having 13 and V. Lloyd 10. For the losers A. Denmark scored 11 and 4. V. Lloyd and Heardley each took 3 wickets.

July 21st ...	Peterborough ...	64	... 65 ... 129
Cobourg ...	Cobourg ...	61	... 59 ... 120

Cobourg won by 1 wicket.

July 30th ...	Peterborough	99	86 ... 185
Peterborough	Fenelon Falls	26	33 ... 59

Peterborough won by 66 runs.

Rutherford (abs. and 35) played a very fine innings for the home club. Hammond (9 and 10) also batted well. The visitors, who were somewhat upset by travelling all night, did scarcely anything with the bat. J. C. Grace (2 and 19) alone reaching double figures, and though the first innings were excitingly close there was not much spirit in the match. V. Lloyd's bowling was very destructive; Rutherford and Rackham also doing some execution. For Fenelon Falls C. J. Logan and in the first innings J. C. S. Badgley bowled very well, and the fielding was excellent; J. A. Barron kept wicket in splendid form, stumping two men in the first innings.

Aug. 2nd & 3rd.	Lindsay ...	57	50 ... 107
Peterborough	Peterborough	98	10 ... 108

Peterborough won by 7 wickets.

For Lindsay no one reached double figures. Barron heading the score with 9 and 9; Veitch and Logan bowled well. The principal scorers for Peterborough, were Heartley (24 and 0), Montgomery (11 and 0), and Rackham (11 and 8 not out). V. Lloyd and Rackham did most of the bowling. On the second day a return match was played, Lindsay scoring 47, Peterborough 50 for 7 wickets, Hartley and R. B. Rogers each made 13, the former not out.

Aug. 4th ...	Canadians ...	120	... 4 ... 143
Peterborough	Old Countrymen	79	... 63 ... 143

Canadians won by one run.

On the winning side, J. B. scored (not out) 21; Hartly 18; E. Rogers 17; J. C. Grace, 11; R. B. Rogers, 11; and Logan's 8 included a fine or drive out of the ground. Battersley headed the score for the Old Countrymen, with 26 and 6 (not out); C. H. Lloyd scoring 6 and 18; Haultain 3 and 16; Rackham 10 and 1.

Aug. 5th ...	Lakefield ...	52	60 ... 112
Peterborough	Peterborough	140	... — ... 142

Peterborough won in an innings by 30 runs.

For Lakefield, J. Cooper obtained 2 and 17; Hammond 17 and 0; Purser 16 and 5 (not out); Arnott 3 and 11; R. C. Strickland 3 and 11. For Peterborough, Vaughan-Lloyd (48), and Logan (39), did some good hitting, the latter getting several drives out of the ground. Hartley and R. B. Rogers each scored 11; and F. Armstrong who made a hit over the fence showed good cricket for 6.

Total matches played 8: won 5; lost 2.

TOWN COUNCIL.

The Council met on Monday evening. Present—His Worship the Mayor, and Messrs Cahill, Dumble, McBain, Elder, Baptie, Hamilton, Smith, Yelland, Roundtree, Millar, Haggart.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Mr. Elder objecting to their being adopted on account of the increase of $35 passed at the last meeting to be given to the Auditors.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Geo. A. Cox and twenty others, asking that the water limits be extended as far north as Murray street and 100 feet east of George street on Brock.—Received.

From E. Courtney, volunteering his services to take care of the hand fire engine for No. 2 Ward.—Referred to the Special Committee on Fire, Water and Gas.

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were presented and referred to the Finance Committee:

John McDonald ...	$16 96
George Beesham ...	35

INSURANCE.

The Clerk said that according to instructions he had enquired from Mr. Edwards and learned that the Smith street bridge was insured for $3,000 for three years.

GRADING GEORGE STREET.

On motion Mr. Cox addressed the Council in reference to the grading of George street at the intersection of Brock street. He had made arrangements for the erection of a building on the corner lot which would cost some ten or twelve thousand dollars, and he could not build till the street was graded. He did not think that the expenditure would be one that would be disapproved of by the ratepayers.

The Councillors were in favour of having the street graded if it and the other work could be done within the $2,500 appropriated for streets and bridges at the beginning of the year, and Mr. Smith moved that it be referred to the Street Inspector to report on at the next meeting of the Council.

Mr. Cahill moved in amendment that a sum not exceeding $250 be expended in grading George street, and that the excavation therefrom be deposited in Wolf street between George and Aylmer streets.

Mr. Elder suggested referring it to a Special Committee.

The motion was carried.

STANDING RULES.

On motion the Council went into Committee of the whole on the second reading of the By-law for the regulating of standing rules for the Council; Mr. Millar in the chair.

After the by-law had been read over and the different clauses passed, the Committee rose, and on motion the By law was read a third time and passed, and the Clerk instructed to have a number of copies printed.

ENGINE HOUSE, ETC.

Mr Haggart said that the Committee had met the firemen, and they (the firemen) had came to the conclusion that they would remain where they were for the present. They also thought of buying a piece of land to build a suitable place for the firemen. They had made enquiries and found that they could purchase from Mr. Smith, on Brock street, opposite Mr. Fitzgerald's carriage shop, land that would make a suitable place for an engine house for $40 per foot. The firemen do not feel inclined to move over the market house, and, moreover, it would be considerable expense in fitting up, etc., which might be done away with if the Council intended building a suitable engine house. He would submit a full report at the next meeting.

Mr. Smith said there was some talk of selling the property and erecting suitable premises for the firemen.

The Mayor suggested the authorizing of the Commissioners to sell the property, and further to hand the money over to the town for the erection of more commodious premises.

Mr. Dumble said that the building should be erected so that it would answer for years to come.

Mr. Haggart said that the Mechanics Institute was going to make the Commissioners an offer for the property.

WATER WORKS.

Mr. Smith gave notice of motion for the Council to take into consideration the erection of water works.

APPROACH TO THE RIVER.

Moved by Mr. Millar, seconded by Mr. Dumble, that the Street Inspector be instructed to examine the approach for the fire engine to the river on Water street north, with power to act.—Carried.

SMITH STREET.

There was a lengthy discussion as to the advisability of grading Smith street, after which it was referred to the Street Inspector with power to act.

POUNDS.

Moved by Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. Millar, that the Town Treasurer be directed to advance the sum of $20 towards erecting the Pounds.—Carried.

The Council then adjourned for one week.

LETTER FROM MR. JAMES W. FITZGERALD.

To the Editor of the Tribune.

Sir,—The leading party organs in Canada, especially those of Toronto, are just now showing an unusual desire to cultivate kindly feelings with the Irish Catholic body. The Globe and Mail are actually vieing with one another and have nothing but words of sympathy and friendship for us, and except the occasional display of a little independence to suit their special readers, appear very solicitous as to our future political welfare.

These innocent sheets are really beginning to see us in a new light. They will now understand, and well it may be, that an acknowledgment nevertheless, that we have grievances which should be remedied, but the trouble is how to do it, you know.

Both parties have their bigots into whom the leaders say they cannot drive a sense of justice or fair play.

On the one side the rank and file of the Orange and Blue refuse to come into line for their leaders, although the latter will themselves on the eve of an important political crisis consent to shout amnesty for O'Donoghue, but striving at the same time to blacken and damage the public standing of one of the most staunch and genuine Irish Catholics in British America—Hon. Mr Anglin.

On the other side, the cold and stern puritanism of our Scotch friends forbids them coming half way—nay, one inch—to meet, on the basis of amity, union, and equal rights, the generous and warm-hearted Irishman. No, Scotch Presbyterians will not vote for Irish Catholics, and this also can't be helped, you know.

Nothing can be done for us in our own way.

Protestant brains, whether Grit or Tory or hailing from Derry or Dundee, know best what's good for us—we have but to rest and be thankful.

And, after all, this state of things is not to be wondered at

While the honest and intelligent masses of our people suffer themselves to be used as tools by any party or clique of unlicensed political hucksters who trade on the people's confidence and credulity, it will be so.

The Irish Catholics of Ontario are led to death.

It would indeed be a great blessing conferred on them, if about half a dozen of those noisy, self-constituted leaders, those periodical conveners of leagues and conferences were summarily decapitated.—I mean politically.

This consummation is rapidly coming about, but until it is finally and unmistakedly accomplished, the Irish Catholic vote in Ontario at all events, will be used by those gentry as a mere marketable commodity, and the rightful position and power of Irish Catholics of solid worth and weight in the country, will not, cannot, and ought not to be respected. It is not long since an Irish Catholic, a certain Inquacions gentleman at Ottawa, who is rather fond of dabbling in politics, and lately it would appear in Buckle literature if I remember rightly, told Irish Catholics that they were inferior in intelligence and education to Scotchmen, meaning Scotch Presbyterians I suppose, and that the advanced positions held by Scotchmen in this country is attributable to their superior intelligence and education, and that to comparative ignorance at least, and lack of education, is due the backward social and political status of his country men and co-religionists in Canada.

I don't care who the author of such an accusation may be, or how he may feel about it, but I pronounce it a falsehood and a slander. I admire, as much as any one, the intelligence, tact, and business shrewdness of the ordinary Scotchman, but as to education in its abstract sense, I deny emphatically that a Scotch labourer, mechanic, clerk, merchant, lawyer, engineer, doctor, politician, or statesman, in Ontario or anywhere else, possesses the article in a greater or more perfect degree than an Irishman of the same class. On the contrary I believe the very opposite to be the fact, and I could, if necessary, point out many instances of prominent Scotchmen who, in one day, do more violence to the Queen's English than an Irishman, aspiring to a similar position, would be guilty of in one year.

In every respect, and in every walk of life I have always found Irishmen at least the equals of any men they have come into contact with, and generally more modest. It is true there are amongst us those who will wash their dirty linen in public, but they are very few and far between.

Surrounded as we are in Ontario by a dominating, if not a hostile press, for the most part, and by cunning politicians who have for years been making our faith and nationality a battle ground, and our votes the weapons by which to fight their battles, our first duty to one another, and when an honest man from our own body, from either party, comes to the front—who by ability and capacity for legislation, and not by trashy, empty high-sounding words, proves himself worthy of our confidence—to support and strengthen him, to build him up, but when knaves and noodles appear on the scene to knock them down.

Like most men, I like ability even of a weak and mediocre kind, but I like common sense better, and especially do I like it in the utterances and published writings of those of our countrymen who presume to instruct and guide us.

But what I ask, can sensible people say of our judgment or reason, when one of our leaders, par excellence, in discussing our case the other day in the Globe, holds forth in the following fashion:—"Let us throw our premises into the form of a series of Syllogisms." Would any sane man, writing on the plain, palpable subject of our wrongs, clearly understood by every one, pen such bosh as this?

Why, the most finished pedagogue or bedlamite in Canada would not think of it.

Let us, I say, throw such syllogisms, sophisms, and stuff, to the winds.

Let not the common sense Irish Catholics of Ontario listen to such wordy nonsense from this disinterested patriotic gentleman, who, though he has, for nearly a quarter of a century, been offering himself up as a holocaust and sacrifice for his people, has not appeased the gods, and is not yet sacrificed, but, like another phœnix, has come forth from his own ashes.

It would not be difficult to tell how much this gentleman has sacrificed himself for his people during all these years, and especially of late years. A reference to certain pigeon-holes in the public offices would throw light on the patriotism and "syllogisms."

No one envies this gentleman his good luck, but it is really to much for respectable men, to suffer him eternally to be parading his unselfishness, his services and sacrifices for the cause of Irish Catholics.

I will say nothing of the questionable taste of this admittedly educated and well bred gentleman, in dragging from the sanctity and privacy of the domestic circle the members of his family, their relations, and the kind of blood in their veins. That, I suppose, is his own business.

But I will say, based upon this gentleman's own confession, the result of twenty-three years experience, of mistakes and failures and sacrifices innumerable, that he and those other disappointed philanthropists and patriots who now threaten a change of base, have forfeited their claims to leadership and will not be considered safe guides for the future.

Within their own spheres there can be no objection to them doing and acting for those who may have confidence in them, but when they step outside that limit, they must not be surprised if their works and pomps will be disregarded.

Of late these gentlemen profess a horror for the "Scotch collar." Let them beware of the Orange halter.

Good and true Irishmen see little difference.

Yours truly,
JAMES W. FITZGERALD.

Peterborough, 28th May, 1877.

ASHBURNHAM.—New life seems to have been infused into the out station of this Parish, St. Mark's, Otonabee. The communicants have increased four fold within a year, the attendance at all the services is very large, and Sunday School has just been established under the superintendance of Mr. Hill, with a very fair attendance, and good prospects of success. Lately too, the congregation, determined to render an earnest, hearty service of praise, have purchased one of Prince's excellent organs, the catalogue price of which was two hundred and fifty dollars. In order to aid in wiping out the indebtedness incurred by this purchase, one of those social gatherings, so loudly aimed against by some parties, but which after all have many redeeming features, was held on Tuesday, 22nd inst. The ladies of the congregation at great expense and trouble generously and liberally provided the refreshments, and the whole was rendered by the choir from St. Luke's. Excellent addresses were delivered by the Revds. Rural Dean Allen, V. Clementi, J. W. R. Beck, and the Incumbent. The proceeds added $40 to the organ fund. Much credit is due to all the ladies for their kind assistance at the social to Mrs. J. Wilson, Miss. H. Greystock, and Miss Scoble, for their efforts in getting subscriptions and to Mark Greystock, Esq. for advancing the purchase money, and thus making "better terms." The debt on the instrument is now reduced to a little over $50.—Dominion Churchman.

Referring to the meeting of Catholics at the Mariborough House, Toronto, on the 24th, May, the Tribune says:—It is scarcely necessary to say anything more than to correct misapprehensions which have gone abroad and which will, no doubt, find authoritative contradiction at the proper time from those who were present. In the first place the meeting has been called a Convention, and that term conveys a wrong impression. It is correct so far as it expresses the coming together of a number of Catholics, but no further. Those present were not there in any representative capacity—they had no delegated authority whatsoever, each man merely represented himself. The meeting was called by notice in two of the city papers, in one of which it was intimated that circulars would be issued, in the "other, parties who attended or were invited to attend" the meeting of '75, "were simply requested to hold themselves in readiness to be present." Fifteen out of thirty-one responded to the call and of these fifteen, three received no circulars. The object of the meeting, as stated in the notice, was to enable the delegation appointed in 1875 to "make their report." Some of them offered what was called "a report," but it was not adopted, nor were its contents in harmony with those of the sealed minutes drawn up and signed at Ottawa. The meeting appointed a committee of five, viz, Messrs. P. Hughes, O. Donohue, Mc Crimson, Merrick, and Evans, to call a meeting at a future time to consider means for securing increased Catholic representation in the Dominion Parliament.

MR. DIOGENES

This singular man lived in Greece. He was distinguished for his eccentricities, bad manners, and bad disposition. It was his chief business to find fault. For example, he took a lantern one day when the sun was shining brightly and went out to search for an honest man, thereby insinuating that such person were exceedingly scarce. When Alexander, a distinguished military gentleman, paid him a visit, and enquired what he could do for him to "get of his sunshine," to cap the climax of his oddities, he dressed like a beggar and lived in a tub! He was a saucy, crabbed, crusty old bachelor. We infer that he had no wife, first, because history does not mention her; second, no woman would take kindly to one of his habits, dress, or manners, or aspire to become mistress of his mansion "There was an old woman who lived in a shoe." It is true, but the woman who would live in a tub, and especially with such a companion, has not been heard from. The misandee to disordered digestion and a billiousness, one of the prominent symptoms of which is a morose, fault finding disposition. The tongue is heavily coated, tiring rise to a bad taste, the appetite is not good, and the patient feels dull, sleepy, or dizzy, and is apt to be fretful. Unfortunately, Mr. Diogenes lived several centuries before Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets were invented, a few doses of which would have relieved him of his "bile," and enabled him to find scores of "honest men" without the aid of his lantern. Under their magic influence, combined with that of the Golden Medical Discovery, to cleanse his blood, he might have been led to take a more cheerful view of life, to exchange his tub for a decent habitation, to "spruce up" in personal appearance, and at last have taken a wife to mend his clothes and his manners, both of which were in evident need of repairs, and become happy sires of little Diogeneses who would have handed down to posterity the name, not of a cynic philosopher, but of a cheerful healthy, happy, virtuous man.

"CONTEMPORARY OPINION"

From the Kingston Whig.

To the Provincial Tory organs the royal road to fame lies open through the columns of the Mail. Their keenest satire, are prosaic and most facetious humour, dope of arrant, the local sheets in the plies the shears to the eye of the man who and thrice happy is the leading organ; himself in rored in the columns who finds for contemporary opinion. It reserved imagined that the dazzling prize of may be a publicity would have an elevating effect on the general Tory press. So far from that, however, the literary rank and file have long since learnt that whatever is most personal, scurrilous, and vindictive, will be deemed the most acceptable and appropriate and be most likely to see the light again in Metropolitan columns. The demand of the market determines the character of the supply and the veriest literary garbage is frequently served up again as the most reliable hash to the readers of the Mail. These extracts are often amusing when they are not disgusting. For example, in a recent issue of the gentlemen's organ the Chatham Planet is permitted to declare in reference to a question on protection propounded by a contemporary "The nut is as soft as the mushy brain of the Advertiser scribe." Another, the Peterborough Review, is allowed to say "Perhaps we can get the facts through our unusually thick-headed contemporary's wool by putting them in another form." While still another delicately suggests that Mr. Edgar "is blest with a maw as capacious as the famed whirlpool of Niagara for swallowing all within its reach," that he "scents filthy lucre from afar, and never did barnacle cling to an old hulk with greater suction than, etc., etc." If rubbish like the above can find space in the

Five Years' Sickness Cured by Four Bottles of Constitutional Catarrh Remedy.

Pain in Shoulders, Back and Lungs, as Droppings in Throat Disappear.

ST. ARMAND, P. Q. Sept. 12, 1876.

MR. T. J. B. HARDING

Dear Sir:—Being desirous that others may know something of the merits of your CONSTITUTIONAL CATARRH REMEDY, I wish to inform you what it has done for me. I am twenty-nine years old, and been sick of health for about five years. I had employed three or four different doctors, and tried various medicines, without receiving any permanent benefit, but continue I rather to grow worse, until last fall, when I had become so bad as to be unable to do an hour's work at a time. Had severe soreness and pain under the shoulder blades and through the shoulders, with very lame back, and a feeling in my right lung as though there was a weight bearing it down, with continual dropping in the throat and down upon the lungs. Such was my condition when I commenced to take your Catarrh Remedy, one bottle of which eased my pains and gave me an improved appetite, and after taking four bottles I was restored to health so as to be able to endure hard and continued labor, such as chopping and clearing land, at which I have been engaged the past season. My recovery I attribute solely, with God's blessing, to the use of your Catarrh Remedy.

Yours truly HENRY SNIDER,

READ CAREFULLY.

SAMUEL OSBORNE, Sophiasburg, says—"I was affected with Dyspepsia for nearly four years, my lungs becoming affected towards the last. I was induced to try the "Shoshonees Remedy." After using three or four bottles I felt much better, and gained strength rapidly, my health improved steadily and rapidly, and when I had taken three or four bottles more, I was quite restored to health and strength, and have experienced better health than for forty years before. I had been under the treatment of a number of physicians before, but never received any material aid until I used your remedy."

A. McKAY, Troor, N. S., says "he was very bad with Liver Complaint, but used the "Shoshonees Remedy," and in a month was as well as he had ever been in his life. I am now in business and wish you to send me three dozen by steamer.

A. WOOD, Consecon, says—"That he has tried the "Remedy" for Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia with great success. I have also used the "Shoshonees Pills," and find that they are as good as any I ever tried.

Rev. JOHN SCOTT says—"Mr. McKenzie Booting suffered from an attack of rheumatism, and was unable to move without help but after taking a few bottles of the "Shoshonees" was able to walk as well as ever." Price of the Remedy in pint bottles $1: Pills 25 cents a box.

WHAT THEY SAY OF IT? A FEW FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.—There are but few preperations of medicines which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people for any great length of time. One of these is Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil. Read the following and be convinced:—Thos. Robinson, Farnham Centre, P. Q., writes, "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for the last ten years, and have tried many remedies without any relief, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and since then have had no attack of it. I would recommend it to all."—J. B. Earl, Hotel Keeper, West Shefford, P. Q., writes, "I have been troubled with liver complaint for several years, and have tried different medicines with little or no benefit, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which gave me immediate relief, and I would say that I have used it once with the best effect. No one should be without it. I have tried it on my horses in cases of cuts, wounds, etc., and think it is equally as good for horses as for man."—L. Hayhoe Merchant, Warkworth, writes, "I have sold some hundreds of bottles of Eclectric Oil, and it is pronounced by the public, one of the best medicines they have ever used; it has done wonders in healing and relieving pain, sore throats, etc., and is worthy of the great confidence."—Joseph Reams, Township Percy writes, "I persuaded to try Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lame knee which troubled me for three or four years, and I never found anything like it for curing lameness. It is a great public benefit."—A. M. Bamilton, Warkworth, writes, "For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which annoyed me very much. Mr. Mayhew of this place induced me to try Eclectric Oil, and before one bottle was used I was cured. It is a most remarkable medicine. Sold by all medicine dealers Price, 25 cents.

A WONDERFUL REFORM IN FANNING MILLS.

Farmers wanting to purchase a First Class Fanning Mill should call on

MINORGAN & ELLIOTT

AND GET ONE OF THEIR

"FARMERS FRIEND."

They are the best and cheapest Fanning Mills in the Market, and clean from 90 to 100 bush. of Wheat, ready for the market, in an hour, and does not throw the large grain into the tailings. We have received a large number of Testimonials from different Farmers in the County who have used our Mills. They will speak for themselves:

Greystock P.O., Otonabee, Mar. 12, 1877

MOORE & MINORGAN:

Dear Sirs,—This is to certify that I have given the "Farmers Friend" Mill a fair trial, and have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion it is one of the best Mills now in use for cleaning grain for seed or market.

Yours etc.,

J. SMITHSON.

Otonabee, March 7th, 1877.

MOORE & MINORGAN:

Dear Sirs,—This is to certify that I have given your "Farmers Friend" Mill a fair trial and have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion it is one of the best Mills now in use for cleaning grain for seed or market.

Yours etc.,

J. REDMOND.

Balsam Grove, Peterboro, March 13, 1877.

MOORE & MINORGAN:

Dear Sirs,—I have tested your "Farmers Friend" Mill and find that it works well, taking out all dirt and small seeds out of grain and making a good clean article for sale. I am sure that your machine will give good satisfaction among the farmers, that is if they want to take good clean grain to market, and get five cents per bushel more for it.

Yours etc,

J. H. WALTON.

Smith, 8th March, 1877.

MOORE & MINORGAN:

Dear Sirs,—I take pleasure in recommending the "Farmers Friend" as being the best Mill I have ever had, and I have had several of what was called the Best Makers in Ontario.

JAS. ELLIOTT.

Peterboro, March 8th, 1877.

This is to certify that we have tested Moore & Minorgan's Mill and pronounce it to be the best we have ever seen cleaning, and it is the best Seperator we have ever seen.

JOHN DOBBIN.

I also endorse the above statement.

Bloomed there richer, redder rose,
Where the Lesbian earth
All of Sappho! Where repose
Meleager, laid to sleep
By the olive-girdled deep,
Where the Syrian maidens weep,
Bringing surplelot in posies!

Ah! it may be! Greece had leisure
For a world of faded pleasure;
We must tread a tauter measure,
To a milder heavier lyre;
We must lend a paler fire:
Less less perfume on the pyre,
Be content with poorer treasure!

Were the brown-limbed lovers bolder?
Venus younger, Cupid older?
Down the wood-nymphs warm white shoulder
Trailed a purpler madder vine?
Were the poets more divine?
Brew we no such golden wine
Here, where summer suns are colder?

Yet for us too life has flowers,
Time a glass of joyous hours,
Interchange of sun and showers,
And a wreath of leafy glades,
Meant for loving lorn and maids,
Full of warm, green lights and shades,
Trellis-work of wild wood bowers.

So while English suns are keeping
Count of sowing-time and reaping,
We're no need to waste our weeping.
Though the glad Greeks lounged at ease
Underneath their olive trees,
And the Sophoclean bees
Swarmed on lips of poets sleeping!

COURT OF REVISION.—The Municipal Council of the township of South Monaghan met as a Court of Revision in the Council Chamber, Centreville, on Monday, the 28th day of May, 1877, at 11 o'clock a.m., pursuant to adjournment of last Council meeting. Members all present. They each took their respective oaths of office and then took their seats. Moved by the Reeve, seconded by Mr. Rutherford, that Mr. Waterman preside in the Chair. Moved by Mr. Rutherford, seconded by Mr. Wood, that the Reeve read over each man on the roll.—Carried. After a few brief remarks by the Assessor on the assessment for the current year, the Court proceeded to business. R. A. Stewart appealed to have one dog struck off his assessment. On being sworn, he testified to have disposed of the same out of the township shortly after the Assessor was around; struck off accordingly. Alex. Anderson appealed to have one dog struck off his assessment; struck off accordingly. Jos. Barnard appealed to have one dog struck off his assessment; struck off accordingly. Moved by the Reeve, seconded by Mr. Rutherford, that Samuel Campbell's assessment of real property be lowered $400.—Carried. Moved by the Reeve, seconded by Mr. Lightfoot, that this Court adjourn for dinner.—Carried. At 12:15 a.m. the Court adjourned. At 2.15 p.m. the Court resumed business. Wm. Emberson appealed to have his assessment altered as follows, viz.: east half lot 14, con. 3, 65 acres wood, valued at $1,000, to be assessed to Wm. Creber, and Robert Hetherington to be assessed for part of lot 1, con. 2, $200. Moved by the Reeve, seconded by Mr. Wood, that Mr. Emberson's assessment be altered as requested.—Carried. Moved by the Reeve, seconded by Mr. Rutherford, that $400 personal property be struck off Thomas Fair's assessment.—Carried. Moved by Mr. Wood, seconded by Mr. Lightfoot, that one dog be struck off Geo. Goodfellow's assessment.—Carried. John Lang appealed to have his assessment altered as follows, viz.: north-east corner lot 18, con. 3, 20 acres, valued at $200, to be assessed to Robt. Mills, the latter having recently leased the same. Moved by the Reeve, seconded by Mr. Lightfoot, that John Kerr's assessment be altered as requested.—Carried. Moved by the Reeve, seconded by Mr. Rutherford, that Mr. Morrison's assessment be confirmed.—Carried. Moved by Mr. Lightfoot, seconded by Mr. Rutherford, that one dog be struck off J. W. McBain's assessment.—Carried. Moved by the Reeve, seconded by Mr. Wood, that John Newton be assessed jointly with his son, Frederick Newton, for north-west part of lot 8, b.f. 58, acres.—Carried. Moved by Mr. Rutherford, seconded by the Reeve, that Robison Pacy's personal property be added to the real property where he now lives; and that J. R. Pengelly's name be erased from the roll for south part of lot 8, b.f., and Robison Pacy's name be erased from the roll for North-east quarter of lot 1, b.f., and J. W. Lucas' name be inserted in lieu thereof.—Carried. Moved by the Reeve, seconded by Mr. Rutherford, that Nelson McDonald's name be erased from the roll for part of lot 2, con. 1, and that R. Parker's name be inserted in lieu thereof.—Carried. Moved by Mr. Rutherford, seconded by Mr. Wood, that W. A. and J. T. Pue have one dog struck off their assessment.—Carried. Moved by Mr. Wood, seconded by Mr. Rutherford, that one dog be struck off John Rutherford's assessment.—Carried. Moved by the Reeve, seconded by Mr. Wood, that one dog be struck off Samuel Smithson's assessment.—Carried. Moved by the Reeve, seconded by Mr. Lightfoot, that John Stevenson's personal property be lowered $300, and that one dog be struck off his assessment.—Carried. Moved by the Reeve, seconded by Mr. Lightfoot, that one dog be struck off Joseph Wood's assessment.—Carried. Moved by the Reeve, seconded by Mr. Wood, that Robert Wood be entered on the roll and assessed for one-half acre south-east angle north half lot 5, now assessed to James Pimmet, and that the latter's assessment be lowered accordingly. Moved in amendment by Mr. Rutherford, seconded by Mr. Lightfoot, that James Pimmet's assessment be confirmed. Former motion carried. Moved by the Reeve, seconded by Mr. Wood, that the following names be entered on the assessment roll under the Farmer's Sons Act, being an Act for the right of farmers' sons voting in certain cases, passed in the Legislature Assembly of Ontario in 1877:—Geo. L. Fair, William Thompson, Wesley Thompson, Ezra Stevenson, Joseph Perrin, Geo. Dawson, John Armstrong, John Moncrief, Wm. Ditte, Wm. McClelland, Andrew McClelland, Robert Lang, jr., J. A. Smithson, Thomas Emberson, Alex. Emberson, Stephen Thorn, John Thorn, Thomas Thorn, D. E. Morrison, Joseph Perrin, Chas. Perrin, John Waterman, jr., Wm. Kerr, John Dawson, A. J. Goodfellow.—Carried. Moved by the Reeve, seconded by Mr. Rutherford, that this Court adjourn for half an hour.—Carried. At 6.15 p.m. the Court adjourned. At 7.15 p.m. the Court resumed. Moved by the Reeve, seconded by Mr. Rutherford, that the roll be passed as revised and amended.—Carried. Moved by the Reeve, seconded by Mr. Lightfoot, that a vote of thanks be tendered to the Assessor for the business-like manner in which he performed the duties imposed on him pertaining to that important office.—Carried. The Chairman then gave a hearty thanks for the same. Carried. Moved by Mr. Rutherford, seconded by Mr. Lightfoot, that this Court of Revision do meet again on some day, the exact one to be named on Tuesday, the 31st of May, 1877, at 10 o'clock a.m.—Carried. The Chairman declared the Court closed.—Con.

To the Editor of the of Examiner:

DEAR SIR.—I notice in the EXAMINER of the 31st May a correspondence from the Trustees of S. S. No. 4, South Monaghan taking exception to a report of a school meeting, sent by me some time previous.

In the said letter I am charged with giving a report which is remarkable for its want of candour and fairness. This charge I feel called upon to say a little about. With regard to the resolution which was passed at the meeting referred to, it was moved by J. W. McBain, seconded by myself,—That a [illegible] school site be chosen on or about [illegible] north corner of Thomas Armstrong's [illegible] resolution [illegible] any one for omitting to write what he did not hear, and the Secretary of said meeting is a young man of too good a standing in society to do anything of this kind willingly. When the Trustees say that the resolution was correctly reported they say what is not true. For myself, I would never have seconded the motion had that clause not been contained in it. I think I was sober, sane, and knew what I was doing when I seconded the motion. I believe the minutes of the meeting were read at its close. But the meeting was considerably disorganized, many having gone out, and considerably talking going on. I did not detect the omission at the time, nor did any one else. Be the resolution as it stands, bad as may be, one of the said Trustees, who at the time was not a Trustee, voted for it, and it comes with ill grace for him to be a party to what was said in that letter regarding it. All the Trustees were satisfied with it at the time it was passed.

Some time after the meeting the Trustees took upon themselves to choose and define where, on or about, meant, and choose a sight some distance east.

PETERBOROUGH, JUNE 14, 1877.

WAR NEWS.

There is little news of exciting character concerning the struggle in the East. What little we can rely on is anything but favorable to Russia. The Turks have in almost all engagements come out successful, repulsing their opponents with more or less slaughter. There has been however since the opening of the conflict no great engagements—that is there has been none of such an importance that a determination hung on its result. There may be a pacific end to the trouble brought about through German influence, in a short time.

PARDON OUR PRESUMPTION.

If there is one thing more than another for which Tory journals are remarkable, it is duplicity. Following Hamlet's advice to his mother as to virtue they accuse their Reform contemporaries with blind and unreasoning devotion to party; yet when a Reform paper says anything that may by any effort be construed into a criticism of its political friends, a howl of joy goes up from the Tory press at what they are pleased to call division in the Reform camp. In one issue a Conservative paper will complain that the Grit organs (as Reform journals are usually dubbed) have no opinions except they take from the leaders of the leading journal of their party; and in the next issue of the same Tory journal some expression of opinion by a Reform paper is seized on as an evidence of disunion in the Reform ranks or desertion from the Reform party. In a late issue we took occasion to show the very small value as a Tory argument of three extracts published by the Mail as "Ministerial murmurings." They amounted to simply nothing in the sense attempted to be attached to them; but the use the chief Conservative paper tried to make of them was an evidence of the value it places upon the open opinions it would like to see in Reform journals. It would like to see them, to turn them to some petty party use. This is the encouragement it gives to an independent expression of opinion, which it pretends so greatly to admire. The truth is the Reform papers are far beyond their Conservative contemporaries in plain speaking to their party associates, and criticizing the action of their leaders. It is well that such should be done, both for parties and for the country; but there is little encouragement to do it when one's words, though the ideas expressed by them cannot be questioned, are by a misrepresentation of their spirit, turned into a weapon of attack on one's own friends.

Last week the Review makes a feeble attempt to play this paltry game with some of our remarks of the week before in an article headed "Courting the Catholics." We have to thank our contemporary for republishing even a part of that article. Its truths may thus reach a few who otherwise might not have enjoyed them; and who will thus be enabled to read something infinitely superior to the matter usually furnished them in the columns of the Review. In fact we have no objection to that paper republishing all our matter, with or without credit; for then it would become a better paper, and one more creditable to the town. It may be "impudent" and even "presumptious," as we are told by the Review for THE EXAMINER to express opinions which even the high and mighty critic who looks down upon our presumption deigns to acknowledge are "commendable sentiments;" but when we are accused of "hypocrisy" in the enunciation of our views we object, and beg leave to deny the severe impeachment. Our remarks plainly applied to either party and all creeds, in fact Reform and Conservative were both named, as were also Protestant and Catholic. We had no desire that our "commendable sentiments" should apply to one creed more than another, and we cannot for the life of us see, in the face of our plainly written words, how they could be so applied, except of course in part and designedly. But surely our high and mighty contemporary would not do anything so impudent, presumptions and hypocritical as that?

With the "Catholic League" with which our unpretending and modest monitor mysteriously connects, us we have no more to do than with the alliance the Conservatives are now trying to effect with the Roman Catholics. Our former remarks in regard to Churches or other Societies and political parties will apply equally to each case. We did not know that we ever approved of what is known as the "Catholic League," and we cannot understand how a few persons in a political party can by covenant with a few persons in a particular church bind that party and that church to certain conditions. It may be presumptious to thus refer to our understanding; but we have attained our majority, and this is a free country. One thing is plain, even to our youthful and presumptious intellect.—Whatever be the Tory idea regarding the "Catholic League", which Tory organ disposed so much, the Tories are just now sedulously courting the Catholics for their solid vote. We don't know if our courteous and humble contemporary here would accept the votes of Roman Catholics; but we rather guess he would. If so his references to them are by no means happy. He plainly accuses them of selling themselves for a promise of representation and patronage, and illustrates his idea by instancing a division of spoil by thieves. "The price of the prostitution" of the Catholic Church is not a choice phrase, to say the least of it, for one who may ere long be begging the members of that church to vote for a certain party to whom he is a staunch friend, and who several times did court it in person in this country, even attending mass for that purpose.

AN EVIDENCE OF WILFUL BLINDNESS.

We did not suppose that the "local Tory lyre" (we use its own style of reference) would be satisfied with our plain history of the Georgian Bay Branch affair, it is so determined to find fault with. The official records to which it in a spirit of bravado appealed were not forthcoming, though we called for a fulfilment of its own appeal; consequently we supplied the records so valiantly referred to and afterwards so pusillanimously suppressed. The paper that can thus make a virtual promise of proofs and fail to produce them when challenged so to do, will stop at nothing in the way of misrepresentation. We have no other desire than the presentation of a plain statement of facts to the public, in this as in other matters of public interest. Such a statement we gave, and backed it up by liberal quotations from the very official records on which the "local Tory lyre" professed to rely to substantiate its view of the case. Did it draw its proofs from such records? Does it attempt to do so now? Far from it. Instead of presenting facts to its readers, it dishes up to them another mixture—its own bold assertions and reckless accusations. This will hardly go down, even with those who are trained to swallow its flapdoodle from week to week. They will naturally ask why they are again treated to a column of the old and threadbare charges, without one line of the expected official records. Those of them who have seen the "documentary evidence" in the EXAMINER will place their belief on the proofs so given rather than on the special pleading of an advocate who suspiciously keeps out of court a witness on whose testimony he formerly boasted. Those of them who have not seen the official records cannot but suspect some reason for the nonfulfilment of the promise virtually made to produce them; and as the only assignable cause is the probability of the records not sustaining the Tory advocate's laboured pleading, they will begin to estimate said advocate at his true worth, both as a "bluffing" bully and a dealer in misrepresentation.

Our slippery antagonist complains that we have refrained from showing by what authority the money (the $41,000 to Mr. Foster we presume is meant,) was paid. We had imagined our cullings from the public records made this plain enough; but we cannot undertake to furnish brains as well as plain facts to our obtuse neighbour; nor to make anything evident to those who are so blind they will not see. Another perusal in a lucid interval of the "official records" given in the EXAMINER of the 31st ult. will show him that the $41,000 was paid out of a claim of $50,966.27, and on the authority of His Excellency the Governor-General in Council, 12th May, 1876. He will, by divesting himself of partizan blindness, discover that so far from their being any proofs that "the money was squandered," as he contended, Mr. Sandford Fleming, whom he has been pleased to call "the ablest surveyor in the country" expressed the assurance that the works performed by Mr. Foster would be generally available in the event of the Georgian Bay Branch being proceeded with, as it undoubtedly will be. Not only this; he will by an impartial examination of our extracts from his favourite "official records" see that Mr. Walter E. Shanly, another engineer whose ability even he will scarce have the hardihood to impeach, certified that the expenditure in the survey was by no means extravagant or unreasonable. No wonder he went back on his "appeal to the official records."

It is quite evident the player on "the local Tory lyre" does not understand his music. He puts in too many variations. The note that Mr. Foster "required easier terms—which of course he got" is a false one. It doesn't belong to the bar at all. The fact is it was deemed advisable in the public interest to annul the contract rather than grant the modifications asked for by Mr. Foster. Again the player gets on another sheet of the music altogether, and mixes up part of another tune, when he strikes in on the removal of rails and the denial of a recommendation by Mr. Sandford Fleming. These had nothing on earth to do with the payment of the $41,000, which so troubles the local lyre performer. His mixed measures may make good enough music for a Tory lyre, but they don't contain the elements of true harmony, or harmonious truth.

Opposition to the letting of a contract before surveys are made comes with a very bad grace from those who were and are the diligent apologists of those who sold a contract to Sir Hugh Allen for a road of which the line is not yet surveyed, though the work has been diligently prosecuted for years. This Georgian Bay Branch "job" as it is called by Tory sheets is a scandal originated with the double purpose of having something to say against the government and also against Ex-Senator Foster, who, in the veracious language of "the local Tory lyre "betrayed Sir John Macdonald during the troubles growing out of the Pacific Scandal." All who are suspected of any connection with the exposure of the iniquities of Sir John and his followers must be hounded down: and "Tory lyres" are found very useful for such a purpose.

Last week "John A's Peterboro lyre" has the following:—

"As Speaker Anglin is the only member of the House on whose case the Committee on Privileges and Elections specially reported, and as they declared his seat to be vacated by law, we certainly think that that high-toned representative of "Reform" could take the advice of his Peterborough organ, and hand in his resignation."

As Speaker Anglin has acted exactly in accordance with the advice referred to, we trust it will prove a source of satisfaction to those who "thought he ought to." We would now presume to tender Mr. Anglin the further advise, that he should show a good big majority on his re-election. By-the-By, Mr. Anglin is an Irish Catholic. Why is it then, that those who have shown such solicitude for the return of Irish Catholic representatives should be so bitterly opposed to him? Perhaps some kind Conservative will deign to explain this case nicely?

Protestism and Protestion.

The Tories are frantic at attempting to demonstrate that they alone are the farmers' friends, and that therefore the Grangers should as a body support the Opposition. The remarks that we have of late made regarding political promises to particular churches or nationalities, will apply with equal force to the Grange.

The moment the Grange begins to mix its political strife, that moment begins the decay of whatever usefulness it possesses. So well have its originators understood this that they have laid it down as a principle that politics should be eschewed at Grange councils and meetings. Yet knowing this there are men who have the bad taste to go to Grange gatherings for the express purpose of talking politics; and the chief journalistic representative of the Tory party has published article after article addressed specially to the Grangers with political significance. The Protectionist ideas of some of the speakers at Grange pic-nics have furnished the Mail with a text that it threatens to tear to tatters before it drops it. Assuming that the farmers—at least those who belong to the Grange—are advocates of that shadowy thing called "agricultural protection," the organ of the Conservatives promises that they shall have it if they will but aid in wresting the administration of public affairs in Canada from the hands of Reformers and handing it over to those from which it had to be taken but lately because of untrustworthiness. These same Conservatives who now preach protection in the hope of influencing the votes of manufacturing monopolists were not actuated by the spirit they profess during the days not very long past, when they had the power to grant what they now ask from their opponents. Then the general tariff was fifteen per cent., and they declared it to be ample, now that it is seventeen and a half per cent. they pretend to think it is not enough. That it is sufficient for revenue they must admit: but they ask a tariff that will protect the industries of the country. We can understand the manufacturer's desire for such a tariff as will exclude foreign competition for his benefit; but for which his customers—the general public—must bleed at the pockets. This is just what protection to manufacturers means; and from such protection it is the interest of the farmer to be protected. It is thus that special favours to any one class is at the expense of some other class; and thus it goes in the matter of protection round the whole circle. For this reason the Protectionists can never agree on any practical demand; some wanting one thing, some another. But protection in its crudest sense is not applicable to Canadian farmers. The proposition that there shall be a war of tariffs between the Dominion and the United States, by making the Canadian import duty equal to the American, is sheer madness. All the agricultural products of Canada find a ready market, either at home or abroad; while any that are imported are either for the improvement of stock or seed, or for the purpose of saving a super or article for sale by the substitution of an inferior imported article for consumption on the farm. Thus the Canadian farmer cannot grow corn to advantage; but he finds it an excellent plan to import western corn for feeding purposes, thereby saving his own finer grain for marketing at a very considerable profit. The agricultural products of Canada will sell in any case at the ruling prices. Any tariff levied on them when they go into the United States is paid by the purchasers. It is a sort of middleman's perquisite, a thing the Granger's are particularly down upon; yet a certain class of politicians would like to deceive them into placing just such a middleman's tax on themselves and their fellow citizens generally, and that too for no earthly gain to them, or anyone else that we can see, except perhaps those who can manipulate votes by sophistry. There is Protection and protection. The Protection that seeks for an increased import duty is not the protection the farmers want; and we are certain that the majority of them know it.

RE-ADJUSTMENT OF THE CABINET.

The following changes have been made in the Dominion Cabinet:—

Hon. Edward Blake, President of the Council.

Hon. R Laflamme, Minister of Justice.

Hon. J. E. Cauchon, Minister of Inland Revenue.

These changes have been in contemplation for some time, and have been occasioned through the continued ill health of the Hon. Mr. Blake, who found himself unable to sustain the severe labors entailed in the Department of Justice, and whose friends were apprehensive of the result of continued application to them. As the President of the Council Mr. Blake's services will still be retained for the country, while the less arduous nature of his duties will enable him to seek a change of air during the coming summer which, it is hoped, will restore him to full strength and vigor.

In the important office of Minister of Justice, Mr. Blake is succeeded by Hon. Mr. Laflamme, a politician of experience and matured judgment, and a barrister of thirty years standing, and of exceptional prominence in his profession. Mr. Laflamme's legal knowledge and industrious habits well fit him to be the successor of the distinguished statesman, who has been unfortunately compelled to take a less active share in the administrative duties of Government.

Hon. Mr. Cauchon has had a large experience as an administrative officer, having been Commissioner of Crown Lands in the McNabb-Tache Government, and Commissioner of Public Works in the Macdonald-Cartier Administration. He was selected by Sir John Macdonald to form a Government for Quebec in 1867, but did not do so owing to insujstable difficulties. He has been President of the Council since December, 1875.

These changes do not at all affect the personnel of the Government. the offices having been re-arranged simply with a view to relieving Hon. Mr. Blake from the severe strain on his health, entailed by the incessant labor and application involved in the duties of Minister of Justice. They will not detract from the efficiency of Departmental administration, and will enable the public to retain the services of a statesman whose retirement, which otherwise might be necessitated, would be a matter of sincere regret to the whole country.

SENATORSHIP.—The names of B. Devlin, M. P., and J. L. Cassidy, Montreal, are spoken of in connection with the vacant Senatorship.

Advertise in a paper of universal circulation in Peterboro and adjoining Township's—a paper read by all classes and parties. Such a paper the Peterboro EXAMINER is conceded to be.

THE CRITICISM OF A FRIEND.

The so-called "Independent" Montreal Star, which the Conservative journals are fond of quoting when it refers to the government in terms of condemnation—which by the way is easier than argumentation writing,—has a reference in a late issue to the Tory rumors of a general election. The Conservative press seem to have overlooked this political reference from their usually well conned contemporary; so we venture to draw their attention to it, under the appropriate heading unnecessary hysterics the Star has the following:

There appears to be a good deal of idiocy rampant in the Conservative press just now. Day after day rumors the absurdest are put forth as to the intention of the Government to order general elections, to summon Parliament suddenly and impeach Sir John A. Macdonald, prior to appealing to the people on a lively cry of Tory crookedness, and goodness knows how many other insanities. The wildest evolutions of the inner consciousness of the Opposition editor spoiling for a sensation is good enough for circulation, and the public is deluged with concentrated nonsense. Thus sort of thing may be all well enough to men who are feeling the pressure of the silly season, but it is bringing Conservative journalism into contempt.

* * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

As to impeaching Sir John, all we have to say is that it is very curious to find the first hint of anything of the kind coming from the Conservative side of the political puddle, and it indicates a lurking existence of that species of conscience which is its own accuser.

SUGGESTIONS FOR A SPEECH FOR SIR JOHN.

There are several points upon which Sir John will, no doubt, enlighten the public during the summer at one of his "Blazes" Bun Feeds:—

(1) As to when he intends to pay back the $6,600 of Secret Service Money.

(2) As to whether he intends to pay back the $2,500 given to his testimonial fund, now that he knows it was fraudulently taken from Northern Railway (i. e., Public) Funds.

(3) As to how he justifies his extortion of illegal fees from poor Ordnance Lands debtors to the Crown.

(4) As to why Mr. Mackenzie is to be blamed for paying $54 per ton for steel rails, when it was all right for Sir John's own Government to pay $85 per ton.

(5) As to why he said at Peterborough he "wished to Heaven he could catch Reil" when all the time he was giving Reil Four Thousand Dollars to enable him to get out of the way of being caught.

(6) As to why he said at Peterborough that "these hands are clean," while at the time he wanted another ten thousand" of Sir Hugh Allen's money.

(7) As to any guarantees the people of Canada have that he would not perpetrate another Pacific Scandal if restored to power.

These are points upon which it is to be hoped Sir John will not consider it beneath him to throw some light.

THE MAIL NEWSPAPER.

The Toronto "Telegram" gives some interesting facts concerning the "Mail" and its management which may be of interest to our readers. It asserts that Mr. Robert Beatty, broker, and Charles Belford, present editor-in-chief of the "Mail," are rivals of Mr. Pateson in the endeavor to secure the possession of the paper, and that Josiah Blackburn, superintendent of the "Mail" at its inception, has the same object in view. Among Mr. Pateson's extravagances, it mentions that he spent $1,200 in entertaining English cricketers here a few years ago. With reference to the finance of the "Mail," the "Telegram" says: "As much as $120,000 has already been sunk in the publication of the "Mail" and it would require $45,000 or $50,000 to wipe out its present liabilities, while the plant &c., would not produce more than $10,000. John Riordan, paper manufacturer, of Merritton. nr St. Catherines, holds a mortgage on the plant for $20,000 or $22,000 for paper furnished, and there is also due him an open account about $2,000 or $3,000 more. The "Mail has lost about $35,000 a year since it started, and the meeting which was held last week to consider the situation was adjourned until the 29th instant.

GRIP'S LATEST.

Last week Grip gives us a master Cartoon. It is entitled:—"John A's New and Greatest Show on Earth!" Barnum is completely eclipsed. John A's most obedient horses on earth" can go through their facings to the satisfaction of the audience. John A. carries the whip, Brother Boyle is the Tattooed Greek. He is "tattooed politically from head to foot with Scotch Ascendency." In John A's Museum of Natural Curiosities will be found the famous Cow.—"The best broken animal ever on exhibition" "The splendid political Giraffe—the greatest stretcher extant' can be seen at each exhibition. It resembles Dr. Tupper. "Mons Cauchon, the strongest (smelling) man in the world will be brought out at each and every exhibition." "The wickedest man now living! (Mackenzie) to be seen only in John A's great show. But the daring act of "Dissolution," wherein John A. thrusts his head into the lion's (the country) mouth, with a sure prospect of having it taken off, seems to give unlimited satisfaction to two boys, Geo. Brown and Alex. Mackenzie. All to be shown in "two gigantic tents—pic-nic and circus."

BILL-HEADS.—A large stock of bill-head paper always kept in stock at the EXAMINER job room. The rates for printing are as cheap as can be obtained in any office in Ontario, while the quality of the work will in all cases be guaranteed first class.

CHARITY.—The City of Kingston General Hospital has a wide constituency. The Peterboro' Town Council last year sent down one of its poor sick dependents to the Hospital, and now is about despatching another (named Kennedy) to be cared for, at any rate, to be foisted off its hands. The questions that naturally arise are: Is Kingston Hospital to be a receptacle for the whole country, and is to be a poor house for Peterboro', which might send its outcasts to Toronto for a change.—Kingston Whig.

CAMILETON MURDER CASE.—The Coroner's Jury in this case has rendered a verdict of wilful murder against Cope Mallory, Marven Weldon and Smith. It is not known whether Mallory has been taken but the others are in Cobourg Jail.

INFIDELITY BECOME OFFENSIVE.

For a long time the Times of this town has been somewhat covertly propagating infidelity and sneering at Christianity. To this we have drawn the attention of the editor and proprietors once and again, but for our kind offices, intended to prevent the use of a newspaper for such vile and immoral work, we only received abuse and calumny. For this we were fully prepared, as the creature who can exalt himself and defy his reason can generally use the most scurrilous language and the most unhallowed means to belittle any one who will not worship his self-made idol. Another source of wonder to us was, that in a professedly Christian community and in the midst of a church-going people, a paper could be tolerated that from week to week and from month to month sneered not to deride the teachings of the New Testament and to revile the ministers of the gospel, and at the same time sneer at the most cherished doctrines of the Christians of this town and county. These infidel and profane ebullitions reached their climax on Saturday last in the issue of the paper referred to, when the skeptic boldly attacked the teaching and preaching of the Rev. Mr. Torrence in reference to his sermon of the previous Sabbath, in which he very scripturally and reasonably discussed the question of future punishment. This last straw, however, has broken the camel's back. Christian people will no longer support a paper to revile their teachings, which they believe founded on truth and contained in the revealed will of their Almighty Creator and Redeemer; and as a manifestation of this determination, so many good men and ministers were withdrawing their support that the skeptic has been silenced, at least so far as the airing of his views through a Peterborough paper is concerned, (at least, so we have heard). This is so far wise and discreet, and let us advise the proprietors in future to be more careful in the selection of writers and more circumspect of the matter that may appear in their columns. It may be and is sometimes necessary for newspaper writers to offer advice even to ministers of the gospel of the New Testament, in order to prevent their tendencies to error wherever and whenever they manifest a tendency to wander from the doctrines of their mission. Reproof administered even to ministers, for they are men, may have a wholesome effect; but this differs widely from attacking the doctrines and teachings of the Son of God. Every newspaper should be prepared to frown down error, but never to lend its columns or to use them to propagate the senseless and unmeaning egotism of a writer. For what is infidelity but an attempt to defy and apotheosize some puny creature (generally the writer) who would be as gods. Perhaps this advice may receive the reward awarded to all previous advice on this question. Abuse for pursuing the right course and condemning the folly and madness of men will never annoy us; nor will it silence us. We would scorn to take any man's money professedly to serve him, while openly using it to oppose his most cherished ideas, and while we are entrusted with the control of a newspaper which preaches weekly to a congregation of at least 8,000 to 10,000 persons, its columns cannot and should not be allowed to propagate error, nor should we be silent when another attempts to oppose the divine law.

METHODIST CHURCH OF CANADA

Toronto Conference in Session at Whitby.

The Stationing Committee of the Toronto Conference of the Methodist Church of Canada met in Whitby on Friday, the 8th inst. Revs. N. R. Willoughby, M.A., and Isaac Weldon represented the Peterborough District. The first draft of stations, which are subject to revision during the Conference, must be read the first day of Conference, on the 13th inst. We furnish below the first draft for this district. We learn with satisfaction that there will not probably be any change in the ministers in this town this year, and we also understand that nearly all the following are likely to be permanent for the year:

PETERBORO—N. R. Willoughby, M.A., Coverdale Watson, John Sanderson, superannuated.

MILLBROOK — W L. Scott, J. W. Wicket.

SOUTH MONAGHAN—W. C. Washington, M. A.

KEENE—Robert McCullough.

NORWOOD—James Thorn, B.A., W. M. Patteyson, superannuated.

LAKEFIELD—Isaac Weldon. W.J. West.

MUD LAKE—To be supplied from Lakefield.

HIAWATHA—Wm. Andrews.

BETHANY—Robert Walker, David N. McCamus.

BALLYDUFF—W. C. Jolley.

WARSAW—Wm. Buchanan.

BLAISTON—Wm. Torrance.

CHANDOS—George. W. Marvill.

Of those on this district last year whose names no not appear above, W. R. Barker retires for a year on account of ill health. Henry Wilkinson is at Stouffville, E D. Lewis at Pickering, and J. W. McCamus at Omemee.

KNOWLEDGE IS POWER.

This is a nation of enlightened freemen. Education is the corner-stone and foundation of our government. The people are free to think and act for themselves, and that they may act wisely it is necessary that they be well informed. Every individual gain increases public gain. Upon the health of the people is based the prosperity of a nation, by it every value is increased, every joy enhanced. Health is essential to the accomplishment of every purpose; while sickness thwarts the best intentions and loftiest aims. Unto us are committed important health trusts, which we hold not merely in our own behalf but for the benefit of others. In order that we may be able to discharge the obligation of our trusteeship and thus prove worthy of our generous commission, it is necessary that we study the art of preserving health and prolonging life. It is of paramount importance to every person not only to understand the means for the preservation of health, but also to know what remedies should be employed for the alleviation of the common ailments of life. Not that we would advise every man under all circumstances to attempt to be his own physician, but we entrust him to acquire sufficient knowledge of his system and the laws that govern it, that he may be prepared to take care of himself properly, and thereby prevent sickness and prolong life. In no text book will the people find the subjects of physiology and hygiene, or the science of life and the art of preserving health, more scientifically discussed or more plainly taught than in "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," by R. V. Pierce, M. D., of Buffalo, N. Y. It is a volume of over nine hundred large pages, illustrated by over two hundred and eighty-two engravings and colored plates, is elegantly bound in cloth and sils, and is sent post-paid, to any address by the author at the low price of one dollar and fifty cents a copy. Nearly one hundred thousand copies have already been sold, and the present edition, which is revised and enlarged and more especially adapted to the wants of the family, is selling very rapidly. It treats of all the common diseases and their remedies, as well as of anatomy, physiology, hygiene, human temperaments, and many other topics of great interest to all, and is truly what its author styles it, "Medicine Simplified."

FROM THE TROY DAILY TIMES.

PERUVIAN SYRUP is a standard remedy for building up and renewing broken-down or nervous constitutions. For Dyspepsia, Debility, Liver Complaint, Kidney and Bladder Diseases, or part of the many irregularities of the various organs of the human frame, it is sovereign remedy. It is a tonic without alcohol. This medicine is two well-known already to require any commendation from us. It is only necessary for us to say those who have never given it a trial that it will accomplish all that is claimed for it. Now is the time to tone up the system before the hot months of Summer fairly set in. Sold by all druggists.

NEW ADVERTISMENTS.

ICE! ICE! ICE!

Parties requiring ICE during the summer months can be supplied with the same at a very reasonable rate. The Ice cart will call any place in Town and deliver it as often as required during the season. If those who require Ice will leave their names at the EXAMINER OFFICE or with the undersigned, they will be promptly attended to.

THE ATTENTION of FARMERS is called to our

AMERICAN MAMMOTH RYE;

or DIAMOND WHEAT.

For Fall or Spring sowing. A new variety, entirely distinct from the Common Rye or any other grain ever introduced.

It was first found growing wild on the Humboldt River, Nevada; since which time it has been successfully cultivated wherever tried. It yields from 60 to 80 bushels to the acre. Mr. J. A. Dufur, United States Centennial Commissioner from Oregon, asserts that he has known it to yield 87½ bushels to the acre. It was awarded the highest and only premium at the United States' Centennial Exposition, and pronounced the finest and only grain of the kind on exhibition. It has been grown as a Fall and Spring grain with equal success. Single grains measuring one-half inch in length, and the average close to that. Price per package 25 cents; five packages, $1.00; one doz. packages, $2.00. Sent post paid by mail. Agents wanted everywhere to introduce this wheat.

DESIRABLE BUILDING

LOTS FOR SALE.

The undersigned offers for sale on easy terms the following lands:—

1. Fifteen first-class building lots, containing from 1 rood and 21 perches to acre and a half, each fronting on Argyle and Sunnyside Streets, and West of George street, adjoining the property of Alexander Smith, Esq.

For desirability of location and conveyance these lots cannot be surpassed in Peterborough, and for those wishing to purchase homesteads, no more healthy or advantageous position can be procured.

2. Also, a Park Lot, containing 10 acres, which will be sold either together or in parcels to suit purchasers. This Park Lot adjoins the lots above mentioned, and is excellent land and well adapted for building purposes or for Market Gardens.

3. Also, a Village Lot in Bobcaygeon, being a corner lot having a frontage of 111 feet on Sherwood street and extending 165 feet along John street. This is a very desirable lot and in a central position.

The above mentioned property will be sold cheap and on easy terms.

Any further information in regard to prices, terms of payment &c., may be obtained by applying at the Offices of Messrs. Edmison & Wood, Barristers &c., where a plan of the property may be seen, or to the undersigned on the premises.

The Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, JUNE 14, 1877.

Cool after the rain.

Counterfeit ten cent pieces are in circulation.

The Voice of the pic-nic orator (Dr. Tupper) is heard in the land.

Sir John follows Barnum to London. The competition is keen.

A Literary and dramatic club has been formed in Millbrook.

Miss Rye is reported to be en route to Canada with a score of children.

And now the wholesale grocers of Toronto are going to try a trade sale.

It will take a good many pic-nics to galvanize the dead duck into life.

Mr. Belcher has the proposed plan of the Midland Railway station about completed.

The Premier speaks at New Market on the 2nd July, and at Peterborough on ————!

Look Out!—The question of Water-Works is again before the council. Wire-pulling will again be in order.

Passenger tickets between Cobourg and Peterborough are reduced to 80 cents via the Cobourg Railway and Calcutt's line of steamers.

For the Old Country.—Mr Joseph Walton left town this morning for a visit to England. He will be gone about 3 months. We wish him a safe and pleasant voyage.

Bonus Carried.—A bonus of $16,000 in favor of the Toronto and Ottawa Railway was carried on Saturday, in the Village of Lanark, almost unanimously. Only five voting against it.

Fruit Store.—Bailey Bro. fruit store. Fresh confectionary, oranges, lemons, dates, nuts, and candies of every kind, canned goods of every description, etc., All fruit in season. 24-7

The attention of the Ladies of Lakefield and vicinity is directed to the special lines of Linen and Grenadine Dress Goods suitable for the present season, which will be disposed of at very low prices. W. J. Wallace. 23-2.

Notice.—In compliance with the request of his friends in the township, Mr. Bertram, M.P., will deliver an address in the Town Hall, Enniskmore, on Friday the 22nd of June, at 7:30 p.m., on "the Public Questions of the Day."

Barnum's.—A large number of our townspeople visited Port Hope on Wednesday last, to see Barnum's greatest show. They were of various opinions, some saying it was the best they had ever seen, and others quite the contrary.

To Farmers.—We call the attention of the farmers, and others interested, to the advertisement of Mr. R. Hall, in another column, announcing his readiness to do gristing and chopping, etc., he having purchased the flouring mills known as Martyn's Mills.

Postponed.—We are requested to state that the meeting which was to have been held in the new hall, at Lakefield, on Friday night, has been postponed, as Captain Dutton, who was expected to be present, and address it, will be unable to reach Lakefield before Saturday.

Nothing like Success.—The sale of Insolvent stock in Lundy's old stand is attracting a good deal of attention. Purchasers flock there in crowds, and without exception the greatest satisfaction is expressed at the cheapness of goods, as well as the courtesy shown to purchasers.

Personal. T. M. Miller, Esq., M. B., left yesterday for Scotland, to complete a thorough medical course at Edinburgh, after which, we understand, it is his intention to commence practice in Keene. We wish him a pleasant voyage, high honors and a safe return to his native Canada.

Hats.—Reader, if you have not yet bought one of those new and stylish hats at S. Hyman's, you should not fail to call and get one before the most desirable shapes are picked out. The stock is very large, varied and cheap, and no better assortment is kept in the largest city establishments.

Personal.—Among those who took degrees at the annual examination at Toronto University, we notice the names of J. F. Jeffers, M. A., principal of the Collegiate Institute, H. T. Beck and T. C. Armstrong, formerly of the Collegiate Institute, Peterborough, and now of Hamilton. Our congratulations, gentlemen.

The City of Peterborough.—By reading the report of the last meeting of the town council it will be seen that that august body is going to wait on the Ashburnham council to obtain terms of a union of the two municipalities towards asking for Legislation to become a city. By all means let us become a city as soon as both councils can agree on terms of union. The City of Peterborough would sound about as well as the City of Guelph, or the City of Brantford, or even the City of Toronto, although not so populous.

Something in a Name.—Led by the Globe, the newspapers of Canada and the United States have a good joke on Peterborough in the suggestion of the Warden, that the old burying ground would be a suitable place for the performance of the Fireman's Band. The suggestion that the market be removed to the old burying ground, will furnish a still better skit at the town, the other one principally hitting the band. Why not change the name of this plot to something suggestive of its present uses, rather than stick to the old and funeral appellation clung to in such a conservative manner for years.

Entertainments.—There is no reason why the people of Peterborough shouldn't be happy if entertainments are all that is needed to make them forget the cares of life, for there are few towns in Ontario better supplied with entertainments than Peterborough. Now, we have to announce the Agnes Wallace-Villa Combination, which is to appear at the Opera House, on Monday and Tuesday, the 18th and 19th of June. This company was here a few years ago and their entertainment will be remembered, with pleasure, by those of our readers who witnessed it. Miss Wallace is, without doubt, entitled to rank with the foremost in her profession, possessing brilliant talent. The company, by whom Miss Wallace is supported, are from some of the first Metropolitan theatres in the country.

He Paid while not intending it.—A Peterborough man thought he could provide provisions for his family at his store-keeper's expense. His credit was good for a certain amount, but when that was exhausted he found he could get no more goods until his bill was paid up. His account was furnished again and again, but against all dams he was proof. However, he promised to pay cash for all he got in the future. "All right," said the store-keeper. "In that case the other one stand for a time." But that time promised to be a very long one, and the storekeeper tired of waiting, at last hit upon an ingenious, if not a novel plan of shortening it. "Give me fifty cents worth of meat," said the customer. He received value for forty, and little by little that account disappeared until it was wiped out entirely.

Water.—The man that works the watering cart has been at work since Monday, and appears to be pleasing everybody. The cart is a good one, sprinkles well, and looks well. There are a few murmurers because the cart was not made by every one of them; but there always will be grumblers, and they are necessary for the general welfare. One complaint is: "It was not made in Peterborough." If there had been time after the council and merchants came to an agreement, it would have been as well to give the work to some of our mechanics. But the streets required to be watered at once, and the Committee felt this, and acted promptly, so as to lay the dust. We say the Committee, for we do not believe it honorable for each member of the Committee to agree in the purchase, and then try to escape the responsibility of their own advice and vote.

Hymeneal.—"Happy is the bride whom the sun shines on" is an old saying, and we have little doubt of its being verified in the case of the two young ladies who on Wednesday last cast in their lots "for better or for worse" with two gentlemen well known and respected in this town. The happy parties were Mr. A. S. Melville, one of our most esteemed and enterprising merchants, and Miss Sarah Dyrell, niece of Mr. David Browne, Collector of Customs, the interesting ceremony taking place at an early hour, at the residence of the bride's uncle. Immediately after breakfast the happy couple took the 9 o'clock train on their wedding tour. In the afternoon of the same day the residence of Mr. William Milne was the scene of a similar ceremony, the interested parties being Mr. Peter Hamilton, one of Peterboro's most prominent citizens, and Miss Milne, sister of our esteemed townsman, Mr. Milne. Both parties were accompanied to the station by large numbers of friends, and departed with hearty wishes of prolonged happiness.—Lindsay Post.

Pleasant Trips.—One of the most delightful trips open to the enjoyment of the inhabitants of Peterborough is that presented by Calcutt's line of steamers down the Otonabee. The "Golden-Eye," and "Whistle-Wing" have of late carried quite a number of excursionists. We ourselves had the pleasure of sailing down to Harwood on Saturday last. The scenery on the river banks, especially the right, is very pleasant, and in some places, (as for instance at the entrance to Rice Lake,) very picturesque. Though wanting in that rugged boldness of outline, which has such charms for the tourist, the natural surroundings of the Otonabee cannot fail to delight the eye of the lover of rural views. The right bank is margined with green foliage the whole way. On the left is seen, at intervals, very good pasture and farming land. The invigorating air which arises from fresh water is not the least of the attractions of a steamboat trip. We know of no pleasanter way of spending a few idle hours than is the above manner. We beg to thank the captain of the "Golden-Eye," and Mr. Calcutt, Jr., for their kind attention to us. But it is characteristic of the officers on the line to be gentlemanly and obliging at all times.—Con.

County Court and Quarter Sessions.—The general sessions of the peace and county court sittings opened on Tuesday the 12th inst., at the Court House, before His Honor, Judge Dennistoun. The following is the civil docket: Treanum vs. Campbell (Poussette for plaintiff, and Dumble for defendant). Cockrane vs. German, (Hatton for plaintiff, and Moore for defendant). Moloney vs. Holmes. (Hatton for plaintiff, and Dumble for defendant). Newhall vs. Robinson, (Scott for plaintiff, and Dennistoun for defendant). McDonald vs. Dale, (Scott for plaintiff, and Hatton for defendant.)

WEDNESDAY.

The case of Newhall vs. Robinson was settled before trial. In the case of Cochrane vs. German, a verdict of $16 without cost was rendered for the plaintiff. The stealing case the Queen vs. McDonald, charged with the larceny of a gold watch, belonging to one Buckett, occupied the attention of the Court from ten o'clock a.m., till two o'clock p.m. Mr. Edwards (of the firm of Scott & Edwards) defended the prisoner in an able manner; (delivering a very fine address to the jury) and the jury found the prisoner "not guilty." The suit of McDonald vs. Dale was then opened. In Treanum vs. Campbell, judgment was reserved by His Honor.

Splinters.—Three sports from the country made themselves conspicuous on Saturday by their furious driving around town.... "How are your potato bugs?".... The Lindsay Warder says that "the lad who does the scribbling for the Times would make a suitable driver for the Water Cart." Too thick in the head altogether.....Mr. Cox is fixing up rooms for the Friendship Temple, over the store lately occupied by Haggart Bros. They will be ready about the 15th July.... Martyn's Mills are in running order again.... County Council meets on Tuesday next.... The receipts of Barnum's show at Port Hope were $6,000. That may be said to be big business....The base ball match between the Lindsay and Peterborough clubs, which was to have taken place on Saturday, was cancelled. Lindsay not tying an appearance.... The pupils of the Ashburnham schools ran an excursion to Harwood on the steamer "Golden Eye," on Saturday.... Rain is very much needed in the vicinity of the town .....The crops through the country are reported as looking well....When you stand at a gate with a pretty girl, and the moon is shining too brightly for kissing, ask her to fix your necktie, which will require you to stoop, and her to stand on tiptoes....Theatrical people are not grasping or selfish—they believe in giving everybody a show....He has come—the hardy-annual man. This organ business is a great nuisance, and the able-bodied varrant engaged in it should be arrested.... There is every promise of a general yield of Strawberries this season.... Trot out your duster....Straw hat weather.... To keep your secret is wisdom, but to expect others to keep it is folly.

POLICE COURT.

Mr. Romaine, on Friday afternoon, charged Lieut Dion, Captain of the "Golden-Eye," with running into his steam yacht on the day previous, with intent to injure the same. Mr. Dion pleaded not guilty. The P. M. after hearing the evidence of the plaintiff sent the case to the assizes for trial. Mr. J. F. Dennistoun for plaintiff. Mr. Dumble for defendant.

SELLING LIQUOR WITHOUT LICENSE.—A. Johnston, of Selwyn, was fined $20.00 and $2.00 costs for selling liquor without license, on Tues day.

TOWN COUNCIL.

Council met on Monday evening pursuant to adjournment.

Present—His Worship the Mayor in the chair, and Messrs. Cahill, Elder, Dumble, McWilliams, Baptie, McBain, Rountree, Smith, Millar, Hamilton and Yelland.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From W. H. Pendry, asking that his salary as Auditor for the past year be increased to the same amount as the auditors received this year.—Received.

From the Town Treasurer, handing in his statement of the receipts and expenditure for the month of May: Receipts, $102.50; expenditure, $1,093.00.

From W. H. Scott, President of the Toronto and Ottawa Railway, asking for an extension of time for the commencement and for the completion of the work.—Received.

From W. W. Johnston and a number of others, asking that a special rate be levied for the watering of the streets.—Received.

From J. Gibbs and G. L. Mitchell, Chief and Assistant Engineers, stating that they had inspected the fire tanks and find them all right, except the one on Rubidge street, which was in a leaky condition.—Referred to the Fire Committee.

From J. A. Delaney & Son, offering to supply the water cart with water for the season for $150, or by the week at $12 per week.—Referred to the Committee on the Watering of the Streets.

From W. Cummings, Inspector of Streets, stating that it would cost $535.25 to grade George street at the intersection of Brock street, but ten cents per yard woul be allowed for the gravel, which would make an actual cost chargeable to George street of $321.16.—Received.

From Clement Gordon, asking for a culvert to be repaired on Park street as it was unsafe for travel, and asking for a few load of gravel to be deposited in a hole in the middle of the street in front of his place.—Referred to the Street Inspector.

From Lion Dion and others, asking that Water street be opened along the bank of the river, now enclosed by Mr. R. Romaine and Mr. T. Leonard.—Received.

From James Pillar, asking that the hole in the street in front of his residence be filled in.—Referred to the Street Inspector.

ACCOUNTS.

Accounts were received from the following:—

Peter Hamilton	$150 00
R. Romaine	30 00
F. W. Hall	7 85

The first two were referred to the Finance Committee and the latter was ordered to be paid.

Moved by Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. Millar, that the Town Clerk be and is hereby authorized to order from the Crown Land Department, at Toronto, a certified copy of the original plan of so much of the town of Peterborough as lies east of George street; also, certified copies of the fyled notes of survey of all lots fronting on the river Otonabee, or any street or road allowance along the banks of the river.—Carried.

On motion of Mr. Smith, the Council went into Committee of the Whole on the second reading of a by-law for the appointing of Assessors for the year 1878; Mr. Millar in the chair.

On motion blanks were filled in with the following names: Cornelius McGrath, Charles Cameron and Robert Rowe, and their respective salaries to be $177.

On motion the Committee rose and the by-law was read a third time and passed.

Moved by Mr. Smith, seconded by Mr. Rountree, that it is advisable that all property in the town should be assessed at its true value; be it therefore resolved that a Special Committee be appointed to confer and advise with the Assessors, so that the assessment to be made this fall shall be made in accordance with the provisions of the Statute, Committee to consist of Messrs. Haggart, McWilliams, Dumble, Cahill and the Mayor.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. Millar, that all license moneys unpaid be collected forthwith, and that Mr. Johnston be instructed to enforce such payment without further delay.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. McWilliams, seconded by Mr. Baptie, that the Street Inspector be instructed to proceed with the grading of George street at the intersection of Brock street according to the plan prepared by Mr. Story, and that the same be done by contract, and that the gravel be deposited on Wolfe street under the direction of the Street Inspector.

Moved in amendment by Mr. Smith, seconded by Mr. Haggart, that the application of Mr. Cox be referred to the Street Inspector, with instructions to comply with Mr. Cox's request, provided the same can be done under the resolution of the Council limiting the expenditure to $2,500, and that the gravel be deposited in Wolfe street in case the said work be done.

The motion was carried.

Moved by Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. Haggart, that the Town Clerk be directed to communicate immediately with the Chairman of the Town Trust Commissioners in reference to coupons now due in England, and that they be requested to take immediate action in the matter, and that the Clerk be instructed to forward to the Secretary of the Commissioners a copy of that portion of the Finance Committee's report adopted on the 28th of May, relating thereto.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. McWilliams, that Messrs. Elder, Hamilton and the mover be a Committee to draft resolutions and a memorial to the Government in the matter of the Toronto and Ottawa Railway, as requested in the communication of the President of the company, and to report the same to the next meeting of this Council.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Smith, seconded by Mr. Cahill, that in view of the numerous fires which have recently occurred, and in view of the fact that additional water facilities are greatly required, in the opinion of this Council it is highly desirable that a system of water works be established; be it therefore resolved that the Clerk be and he is hereby requested to invite leading citizens to meet the Council in order that the said question should be discussed and considered.—Carried.

On motion Geo. E. Stewart and Mr. Trout addressed the Council in reference to Water Works, Mr. Stewart dwelling principally on the cost of the water works in Port Hope.

Moved by Mr. Smith, seconded by Mr. Rountree, that whereas the municipality of the village of Ashburnham adjoins the municipality of the town of Peterborough, and it is expedient that the said village should be requested to unite and form part of the town of Peterborough; and whereas there is reason to believe that the ratepayers of the said village would be in favour thereof, provided that in case of such union the said two united municipalities could be incorporated as a city; and whereas in view of the fact that the said municipalities contain between eight and nine thousand inhabitants, and that the population thereof is rapidly increasing, and that the said municipalities by reason of their present and proposed railway facilities, their large manufacturing and mercantile interests, their magnificent water privileges and their situation in the midst of a rich agricultural and lumbering district, are now and will continue to be an important commercial centre; and whereas in view of the foregoing facts it is highly desirable that the said two municipalities should become united, and that the necessary steps should thereupon be taken to have the same incorporated as a city. Be it therefore resolved that a Special Committee of this Council be appointed with instructions to the said Committee to meet the Ashburnham Council and ascertain on what terms and conditions the said union can be brought about in order that the object hereinbefore set forth may be carried into effect, such Committee to consist of Messrs. Cahill, Haggart, Elder, Hamilton and the mover.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. McBain, that the account of W. McDonald, amounting to $16.96, be paid.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Dumble, seconded by M.. Cahill, that an additional grant of $100 be given the Committee for the purpose of buying small fire engines, and that Messrs. McBain and Yelland be added to the Committee.

FIRE, WATER AND GAS REPORT.

Mr. Haggart, Chairman of the Fire, Water and Gas Committee, reported as follows: That they have examined the present Fire By-law, and find it does not state the duties of the different officers of the company sufficiently clear, and would recommend that the Council amend the By-law as it now stands, that is to say: The Chief Engineer to have control of the entire brigade, or in his absence the Assistant Engineer, and said officers to direct the placing of the engine at all fires, and give such directions as they think necessary; and would further recommend that an engineer be employed by the year at a salary not to exceed $400 per annum, said engineer to devote his time and attention to the fire department, and keep everything in first-class order, and shall sleep on the premises; and said engineer shall test the boiler of the engine and keep it in good order, so as to be able at any time when required by the officer in command to give a pressure at least of eighty pounds of steam to the square inch boiler; the engineer to have a man from the company who shall be under his control at the the time of fires to assist him in any way he may require; any dispute between the officers to be settled by the Fire Committee. We would further recommend the purchasing of 500 feet more hose the same as the last, as there is not sufficient hose at present to meet the requirement of the company.

The report was received and adopted.

The Council then adjourned.

SCHOOL BOARD.

The Board met on Tuesday evening.

Present—The Chairman, J. Stevenson, Esq., in the Chair, and Messrs. Dennistoun, Smith, Robertson, McClelland, Loch, Shaw, Pentland and Kincaid.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Amelia Blaisdel, asking for leave of absence from the 28th of June to the end of the quarter.—Granted.

The principal, Mr. Jeffers, handed in his report for the month of May, giving the attendance at the different schools and the number on the roll:

	NO. ON ROLL.	AVE.
Collegiate Institute	143	127
Central School	563	495
South Ward School	269	25
Auburn School	92	62
Total	1,067	809

From J. F. Jeffers, asking the Board to appoint a Committee to meet with him and the Town and County Inspectors to consider the advisability of forming a Model School.—Received.

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were presented:

E. Green	$14 34
T. E. Fitzgerald	30

The account of Mr. Fitzgerald was ordered to be paid, and that of Mr. Green was referred to the Finance Committee.

MODEL SCHOOL.

Mr. Jeffers and Mr. Stratton addressed the Board in reference to the obtaining of a Model School in Peterborough, after which it was Moved by Mr. Pentland, seconded by Mr. Robertson, that Messrs. Shaw, Dennistoun and McClelland be a Committee to consider the propriety of obtaining a Model School for the county, and further to ascertain if the County Council would render any assistance in the matter.—Carried.

RAISING FUNDS.

Moved by Mr. Pentland, seconded by Mr. McClelland, that it be resolved that for the purpose of supplying the funds which were required to carry on the operations of the Board and to meet its pecuniary obligations until the Board is placed in funds by the Town Council, the Chairman and the Secretary be and they are hereby authorized to borrow for such purposes as require money to the amount, if not exactly, the sum of eight thousand dollars, and for that purpose to make or endorse such promissory notes as may be necessary, and that this resolution be sealed with the common seal of the Board, so as to give the same the character of a by-law, and that the affixing of the seal be attested by the Chairman and Secretary.—Carried.

BUILDING COMMITTEE REPORT.

Mr. McClelland, Chairman of the Building Committee, submitted the following report: Your Committee, acting upon instructions, proceeded to ask for tenders for the erection of a building in accordance with a plan submitted to and adopted by this Board, and your Committee have received nine tenders for the completion of the same, and would recommend the acceptance of W. J. Rombough's tender, as being the lowest, for the sum of two thousand five hundred and ninty dollars, and that a contract be drawn out and bonds taken for the due performance of the work as early as possible. Your Committee estimate the entire cost of building, furnishing, heating, fences, sheds, grading, etc., to be about $4,000, and we would suggest that an application be made for that amount for the purpose.

On motion the report was received and adopted.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED.

Moved by Dr. Kincaid, seconded by Mr. Shaw,—That Messrs. Smith, Cox, McClelland, and Stevenson be a building Committee to see after the erection of the Third Ward School.

Moved in amendment by Mr. McClelland, seconded by Mr. Pentland,—That the old committee who have had charge of the matter previously be the Committee to see after the same.

The amendment was carried.

REPAIRING SHEDS.

Tenders for the rebuilding of the play sheds were received from E. Green and G. H. Leslie, which were received.

4,000, WANTED.

Moved by Mr. Dennistoun, seconded by Dr. Kincaid,—That the Secretary at once give notice to the Town Council through their Clerk that this Board will require to be furnished with the sum of $4,000 for the erection and completion of a School House in the Third Ward, and that the money will be required $1,000 a month in the month of July, August, September and October next.—Carried.

REPAIRING SHEDS.

Moved by Mr. Shaw, seconded by Mr. Robertson,—That the Property Committee ascertain as soon as practical the necessary repairs required for the Union Schools and Sheds, and advertise for tenders for the completion of the same and report to the Board at its next meeting.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Loch, seconded by Dr. Kincaid,—That in future money orders issued by Teachers drawing an their salary be not accepted by this Board, that the salary be paid them personally when due.

While some of the members of the Board were discussing the advisability of passing the motion, Messrs. McClelland & Pentland went out leaving the Board without a quorum.

The Board then adjourned, leaving the motion as it was.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

DEAR SIR,—Perhaps your readers may be interested in the following account of the most destructive tidal or rather Earthquake wave in the Pacific, culled from my last letters.

The little village of Hilo, lying on the Eastern shore of the island of Hawaii, the largest of the Sandwich group, was most destructively visited. The quietest, dreamiest place in the broad Pacific, with the lazy surf beating sleepily up on the palm fringed sand beach; with no rude airs than the soft sea breeze during the day, and the cool land breeze at night: with the snow capped mountains eternally keeping guard over it, one would think Hilo safe from any such commotion.

Under the date of May 10th I have the following:—

"This has been one of Hilo's dreadful days; just at daybreak before most of us were up, we were aroused by the announcement that a tidal wave was in, and surely it was; the sea was up to Reinhardt's and Kaina's houses, (some 500 or 600 feet from the shore) and when we went down street, as we did as soon as we could get dressed, we found a scene of ruin indeed.

Waiakea, (the southern end of the village) dwelling houses, bridge, storehouse, wharf and market were taken. Mr. Rose's tin shop was carried across the street, turned half way round and safely deposited on the other side. Reed and Sisson's lower storehouse was carried away, 20 bundles of shingles, windows, doors and various other building materials were bobbing about on the water; the 600 barrels of oil just stored by the whaleship "Pacific" were either carried inland or sent floating; a line of debris at the very doors of the shops along Front street showed how far the force of the wave had extended. The water had splashed up on the verandas, and had entered Conway's store damaging his stock to the amount of $300.

It was much higher than the one of 1868, but with no earthquake and not much noise, not more than the surf often makes, only more prolonged, and most of the waves since have been noiseless. The water would run out leaving a wide beach, far below the limit of the lowest tide; and a long line of rocks just below the wharf uncovered, then, very quietly it would come in, rising almost to the top of the wharf, and sometimes quiet over it.

Mr. Severence timed some of the waves: one was ten feet above the lowest mark, and in fifteen minutes went down to it, in ten minutes more it had risen 11½ feet again; but none of those during the day were so high, destructive or rapid of action as the first in the morning.

All day the waves have risen and fallen and we feel to-night the truth of the text: "Thou knowest not what a day may bring forth."

The results as far as known are five lives lost, many more injured, and 160 people left homeless and in a destitute condition, 37 houses washed away and 17 more injured. The Waiakea bridge was carried several hundred feet inland and landed apparently intact; dead pigs, cattle, horses and dogs are scattered along the beach; so great indeed has been the change that Waiakea is not recognisable. One sick woman, unable to swim, was found dead 5 miles out in the bay, another woman came in from Keaau yesterday, escaped the first wave, and when it receded went back to save her horse, the wave returned, she was taken and the horse saved. Two little children were drowned crying in vain to their mother who already lay a lifeless plaything for the relentless waves. The fish ponds were broken down and fish without number have been picked up along the shore. At one time we could see that ocean-nut island was submerged, but it has come up again alright, though every vestage of a house is gone.

Of course we cannot account for the wave yet, but think it must be from the South American coast as there was no earthquake here. The volcano became suddenly quiet last week, after a season of unusual activity followed by 13 earthquakes in one evening. No fire is to be seen even in Haleomaumau."

Our own later advices have settled the cause of it as being the South American earthquake.

Yours &c.,

J. M. LYDGATE

SURLEIGH.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

I noticed in your last weeks issue an article giving credit to the Commissioner of Crown Lands, for the assistance given to relieve the want of a number of settlers on the Burleigh Road. But I see after the Commissioners have so generously granted that amount of money for the purpose of giving those in want an opportunity of earning an honest living, it is not treating them fairly to have the money all go into the pockets of interested persons, or persons who are well to do, as is the case at the present time. In the article it is stated that your correspondent is a Conservative but I think it would be difficult for him to decide upon which side he is. It would be interesting to the settlers in this neighbourhood to have the pay list published, so that really were those who have been engaged on the road. The pay list should have been engaged on the understood that to [illegible] where it is well you must be in debt.

As the one thousand dollars [illegible] to satisfy both Mr. Anderson and [illegible] they have decided to apply for [illegible] thousand." It is amusing to have the gentlemen claiming the credit of obtaining this money from the Commissioners, and I think your correspondent must be one of these gentlemen. Yet he well knows that the money was obtained through one to whom no credit is given. The gentleman sent here to spend the money is a stranger, and has to be advised by parties here, and it is a matter to be regretted if his advisers have not rectitude enough to deal fairly with those in need as well as with the government. I complain that the parties really in need are not always those employed.

Yours, &c.,

BURLEIGH.

The Brighton Ensign says:—"At the inquest on Tuesday such a bitter feeling of hatred towards Marven Welton was shown by the crowd in attendance that fears were entertained that an attempt would be made to lynch him there and then. The confession made to the constables by Dave Smith describes Welton's conduct toward Miss Wade as brutal in the extreme, on the night of her murder, and if what is reported be true regarding it, then the formula of a trial becomes a farce, and the execution of summary vengeance at the hands of an infuriated people could be leniently looked upon." Isn't the Ensign a trifle blood-thirsty?

BIRTHS.

The Great Shoshonees Remedy and Pills.

The success that these medicines have met with since their introduction to the public some years ago, proves plainly to the most skeptical that they are medicines that perform what they are advertised to. The virtues of these medicines have been well tested, and have withstood their trial in a most satisfactory manner. For disease of the Blood, Liver, Lungs, &c., they are unsurpassed. We have testimonials of miraculous cures of these diseases, and of many others. If any one is afflicted, let him try a bottle of the Remedy and a box of Pills. No injurious effects will follow their use to the most delicate person as they are purely vegetable, there being no mineral matter in them. The cost is small, while the advantages derived from their use doubly pay you for your expense and trouble. The medicines are widely known throughout the Dominion, and are for sale by the principal medicine dealers. Try them, and be convinced that these medicines are no humbug. No one who has tried the Shoshonees Pills has ever possessed an unfavorable opinion of them, so family where they have been used will be without them. Full information may be had on all particulars touching the use, and the experience of those who have used them, by securing the Treatise or the Circular from any druggist in the Dominion, Free. Price of the Remedy in pint bottles $1; Pills 25 cents a box.

NO RISK.

Thomas' Eclectric Oil! Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest Medicine ever made. One dose cures common Sore Throat. One bottle has cured Rheumatism. Fifty cents' worth has relieved an Old Spavined Colt. One or two bottles cures bad cases of Piles and Kidney Troubles. Six to eight applications cure Salt or Exceriated Nipples or Inflamed Breast. One bottle has cured Lame Back of eight years standing. Daniel Pfaak, of Brookfield, Tioga County, Pa., says: "I went thirty miles for a bottle of your Oil, which effected a Wonderful Cure of a Crooked Limb, by six applications." Another who has had Asthma for years, says: "I have half of a 25 cent bottle left, and $100 would not buy it if I could get no more."

Rufus Robinson, of Nunda, N.Y. writes: "One small bottle of your Eclectric Oil restored the voice where the person had not spoken above a whisper in Five Years. Rev. J. Mallory, of Wyoming, N.Y., writes: "Your Eclectric Oil cured me of Sciatchitis in one week."

It is composed of six of the Best Oils that are known. Is as good for internal as for external use, and is believed to be immeasurably superior to anything ever made. Will save you much suffering and many dollars of expense.

Beware of Imitations.—Ask for Dr. Thos. Eclectric Oil. See that the signature of E. N. Thomas is on the wrapper, and the names of Northrop & Lyman are blown in the bottle, and Take no other. Sold by all medicine dealers. Price, 25 cts. NORTHROP & LYMAN, Toronto, Ont., Proprietors for the Dominion.

Note.—Eclectric—Selected and Electrized 19-4ins.

PETERBOROUGH, JUNE 21, 1877.

IMPUDENT and IMPERTINENT.

The sins of the late Conservative Government, which had been piling up for years, culminated in what will always be known in Canada as the "Pacific Scandal." This, though far from being the only offence through which the Macdonald Ministry retired in disgrace, was the principal one in the long catalogue, the contemplation of which induced the electoral power to cast the unworthy occupants from the place of power. In this last and most heinous of the political crimes of Sir John Macdonald and his colleagues the people saw most vividly the betrayal of their trust, and they are not likely soon to forget either the offence, nor the prompt punishment they meted out to the offenders. The strong popular condemnation given the late administration was calculated to prove a lesson, not only to the culprits for all time, but also to all who after them might be entrusted with the administration of public affairs in Canada. The lesson plainly enunciated was, that Canadians will have honest administrators; and this was first taught to the dishonest persons who were made an example of and thro' that punishment to all. It would appear however that the very persons to whom the lesson most directly applied have not learned it as they ought. They do not by their conduct display any evidences of having been improved by the discipline they have undergone in the power and just indignation of the electorate. The first proofs of moral improvement are confession of having done wrong, and contrition for the evil done. These will beget better conduct as naturally as the fruit succeeds the flower. But even the blossoms of a better life politically are unseen in a contemplation of Conservatism—or, if they have ever blown, the unkindly air in which they found themselves has blighted them. So far from the members of the late Conservative Ministry confessing the faults which led to their overthrow and showing contrition for the great public wrong they did, they jauntily allude to it as a come hing in the line of an unsuccessful attempt to do a clever trick, for trying which they expect to be applauded rather than denounced. They surely must have a poor opinion of the moral condition of the people before whom they thus appear

Sir John Macdonald and Dr Tupper, the chief offenders and his first lieutenant, have recently delivered public addresses, in which they speak very lightly of the political crime for which the public visited them with condign punishment. They display a spirit of bravado, not of contrition. Doubtless they were sorry when the wave of popular feeling engulfed them in its indignant swell; and they may then have felt that they were justly dealt with. Many of the Conservative journals then spoke in terms of disapproval of the great wrong that had been done. Now, however, those publicly denounced charter-sellers again appear to claim public support. And on what plea? Do they promise to do better than before? Not they. They advance no improvement of public policy, offer no apology for their former misdeeds, suggest no modification, even of their past plans. They would return in their old character, pursue their old practices, and treat the public domain as though it were designed expressly to further their personal aims. It were flattery to call this impudence on their part. It may be that led away by a much magnified opinion of their own transcendent ability and their equally enlarged idea of the ignorance and positive immorality of the whole people, they do not see the painful grotesqueness and polar frigidity of their position. Their hope of producing any effect by such a barren appeal can rest only on an exceedingly low estimate of the morality of the electorate, which condemned them but a few years ago, and which is now asked to restore to favour the sinners, unrepentant and aggravating by presumptions. True they have done their best to lower the tone of political discussion. They have concocted tales against their political opponents, accused them of almost every species of crime, and applied to them all sorts of vile epithets, in the hope that public judgment might be obscured in the dust of detraction; and that the black offences of the late government might be lightened by the presentation of scandals against the present ministers. Particularly plain were these tactics during the late session of Parliament, when the whole Opposition policy seemed to consist in mere vituperative detraction of the government; and it would seem that these tactics are to be kept up at the party pic-nics during the summer. For instance neither Sir John nor Tupper can find anything worthy of the lightest praise in the doings of the Mackenzie administration; yet they can try to justify the charter-selling of themselves and their colleagues in the former ministry. Evidently the lesson taught by the elections of 1874 will have to be repeated. Sir John, Tupper, and other aped gi-ts for the Pacific scandal must again be taught that the offer of impenitent wrong-doers and their abettors as representatives is an insult to the electors of Canada which they will severely resent when the time comes that they can do it with dignity.

A VERY PRETTY QUARREL.

On the 24th ult., the EXAMINER contained an article showing the straits to which the Mail was put to trump up some accusation against the Government. We then referred to the Cornwall Freeholder and Mr. Henry Sandfield Macdonald, its proprietor, and showed what manner of paper and what manner of man it and he are. Our evidence to that effect has since been corroborated from a Conservative source; and the Mail can have no reason to feel proud of the character given its witness by its friendly and brotherly contemporary the Montreal Gazette. A correspondent of the latter journal, signing himself "A Conservative of Glengarry," after stating that he had observed the EXAMINER's article, proceeds to combat a statement the EXAMINER never made. He declares that "Mr. Henry Sandfield Macdonald is not now, never has been, and never will be allowed to be a member of the Conservative party." This is worse than we ever thought of saying of Mr. H. S. Macdonald, who must certainly have sunk very low when he must be denied admission to the Conservative party, which took in Hon. William Macdonald even after had denounced the Conservative leaders as disloyal and damnable. But while we heartily endorse that our truthful statements concerning Mr. H. S. Macdonald were not intended to be complimentary, we did not impute to him the shame of adherence to the Conservative cause, though we did express a suspicion that he was fit for such a discount. After a very brief illustration of the character of the Cornwall Gazette and its proprietor, we asserted that "he is not a Reformer. He may be a Tory; but we rather think his politics reach no farther than Henry Sandfield Macdonald." Here is a direct expression of our thought that the person in question does not give either party an honest allegiance, any more than he could bring honour to either. The letter to the Gazette says: "The EXAMINER, however, does not know to what extremities the noble cause of Reform is reduced in this vicinity" (Glengarry.) Though we do not know all the minute details of the Reform differences in that county, we do know that what even "A Conservative of Glengarry" is forced to truly term "the noble cause of Reform" is injured by the clannish feuds of the locality. These we referred to in our former article by the phrase "hereditary hatred," and stated then that "the intensity of such feeling can only be fully understood by those who know the bitter factionist feeling that has long existed and is still kept alive in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry." If "A Conservative of Glengarry" had observed our article a little closer he might have discovered that we do know something of the "extremities he refers to, which we consider are evidenced plainly enough through Mr. H. S. Macdonald and the Cornwall Freeholder under his ownership and control Of course the Conservatives are delighted at dissentions among Reformers in a constituency, and try to make the most of them, as did the Mail with the utterances of the Freeholder. In so doing, however, it was only relying on the evidence of one who, according to the Montreal Gazette, "has not the faculty of impressing people with his sincerity." The same Conservative authority declares that the "outspokenness of the Freeholder may be due to the inate cussedness" of Mr. Henry Sandfield Macdonald. The Gazette's reference concludes with the statement that "there are some calamities too heavy to be borne, and that (Mr. H. S. Macdonald's conversion to Conservatism) would assuredly be one of them," —evidently referring to the many calamities that have already fallen on the Conservative party—Mr. T. White, jr, for instance.

This brings us to another phase of this peculiar affair—to the "pretty quarrel" between two men of similar ambitions and similar disappointments. Both Mr. T. White, jr., and Mr. H. S. Macdonald would like wonderfully well to get into Parliament, and neither one of them have succeeded in attaining the darling object of their hopes. They know and reflect each others weaknesses. That is the reason why the Montreal Gazette speaks so knowingly of Mr. H. S. Macdonald, and why the Cornwall Freeholder, as it did last week, can so ably estimate Mr. Thomas White. The Freeholder declares that it owes no party anything, and establishes a comparison with a "prominent Conservative organist in the East who was found by a Government Commission, on the evidence of Mr. White himself, as well as the other party to the transaction, to have taken five thousand dollars as the price, not of his opinions, but of the recantation and reversal of his opinions." After another reference to the Freeholder not being encumbered with obligations, for which its proprietor is probably a good deal concerned, as far, at least, as the personal favor of a parliamentary nomination goes, it remarks that its opinions "are its own and not made to order at the instance and for the benefit of prominent contractors, capitalists and politicians whose interests are, of course, adverse, in that selfish sense by which all individual interests are governed, to those great public interests with which the press is understood to be charged, and with regard to which there can be no doubt as to the duty of the press." All of which refers to Mr. White's newspaper, as the "individual interests" spoken of are not intended to reflect on any one connected with the Freeholder, however much they may so reflect. The same idea of reflection may be applied to the following sentence from the Freeholder:—"But while there must always be cherished a hope for the sinner, we are bound to confess that Mr. Thomas White and his newspaper are about the hardest objects upon which our hopes have yet been expended." Perhaps the most severe retort is contained in the statement that Mr. Macdonald "has no desire to jolt Mr. White on the pay roll of the Conservative party—no desire to share with him the fees of an itinerant sputter of Conservative "pot," or to enjoy with him the swag which in some way sometimes proceeds from getting a contractor or a capitalist or a politician into a corner. The thrift of the Freeholder may be admirable; but of its independence the less said the better for Mr. Thomas White."

But the similarity of desire that leads the respective proprietors of the Gazette and Freeholder to know and appreciate each other at their true worth crops out most conspicuously in the reply to the Gazette's prayer that the Conservative party may be spared the burden of Mr. Macdonald. The Freeholder says:—"Considering the source whence it comes, this remark must be tainted with jealousy. A gentleman who has offered himself to five several constituencies, and whose advances have been rejected every time, who has thus, it may be assumed, lost five seats to the Conservative party and kept as many better men than himself out of Parliament, all of which are amongst the achievements of Mr Thomas White in the service of his party, may not unnaturally be jealous of a possible rival."

Altogether it is a very pretty quarrel; and while we see in the mutual exposures of the parties directly concerned a corroboration of our former estimates of each of them, we also have the satisfaction of thinking that the general public will be enabled to see them as they are, and judge of them and their professions as they deserve. Messrs. White and Macdonald can certainly do no great moral injury to each other, while they may produce a considerable mental awakening among the people. Thus out of evil comes good.

"CHARITY VAUNTETH NOT ITSELF."

The journals owning allegiance to the Opposition are never tired of reiterating their disapprobation of the very light tax on tea imposed by the Government during the last session of Parliament, though they at the same time are advocates of Protection by an increased tariff. They profess great pity for the severe tax on the poor man's beverage, while they cry aloud for increased taxation on every article the poor man must buy in the shape of food, clothing, fuel and other necessaries. It is well known that the reduction of the tax on coal oil has been of immense benefit to the country, to the poorer classes especially; and it is equally notorious that the "oppressive" tax on tea, of which we hear so much, has not made the slightest increase in the price of that much-used article. The increase of the tax, while sufficient to produce an appreciable addition to the revenue derived from a percentage on the whole quantity imported, was so small as to render impossible an increase in the retail price of tea, especially in the face of the strong trade competition existing between both retailers and wholesale dealers, not to say anything of competing fields of production.

The Tory paper of Napanee strives so hard to make something out of this cry that it actually declares the removal of the tax on coal oil to be "a mere trifle to the poor man," while it calls tea "preeminently the poor man's drink." We are willing to grant the general consumption of tea; and to hold that that very competition tends to keep the price fixed even with a small extra import duty. We cannot admit, however, that the price of coal oil is "a mere trifle" to the poor. While the rich burn gas, the poorer classes in the cities and towns, and the dwellers in rural districts, rely entirely on oil for light. Though artificial light may be a small matter to the agriculturist in summer, he feels the need of it in the winter months; and the artizan depends largely on it to eke out the time that may be devoted to bread winning. How many are there in the Standard's own town who would find it hard to make ends meet were it not for the coal oil lamp? The opposition must surely be hard up for a grievance when they thus try to make one out of simply nothing The insincerity of the whole cry is apparent when we consider for a moment that those who apparently display so much tender solicitude for the farmer, the artizan and the laborer are the very persons who want by an increased tariff to raise the price of the farmer's implements, and the tools of the artizan and laborer. They would, by pretended kindness, rob these classes of the most of their substance, and ask their applause of the act.

The reference from the Presbytery of Toronto commonly known as the Macdonnell case, the consideration of which engaged the attention of the last Assembly during its sitting in Toronto a year ago, has been the subject of discussion by the Assembly now in session at Halifax. The Rev. Mr. Macdonnell, in conformity with a resolution of the Assembly requiring him to report through the Presbytery whether he accepted the teachings of the Church on the eternity of the future punishment of the wicked, handed in a statement to the effect that he "holds no opinion at variance with that teaching." After Mr. Macdonnell's statement had been read, a motion was put by the Rev. Mr. Mcgregor to the effect that Mr. Macdonnell having declared that he "holds no opinion at variance with the teachings of the church," the proceedings in regard to the matter now terminate. Then followed a motion from the Rev. Dr. Topp to the effect that Mr. Macdonnell should give a categorical answer to the question put to him: that is to say, that instead of replying to the interrogatory whether he accepted the teachings of the Church on the point in question by the assurance that he "holds no opinion at variance with the teachings of the Church,' he should answer yes or no. An amendment to this was moved by the Rev. Mr Macpherson, to the effect that the matter should be thrown over until some future time. Later on, however, a motion was submitted by Prof. McLaren to the effect that the discussion of the case should be continued until a decision had been reached. This was carried, the result of the discussion being the adoption of Rev. Dr. Topp's motion calling for a more definite answer from Mr. Macdonnell. Mr. Macdonnell thereupon refused to give a more definite answer, and demanded that the Presbytery should proceed to libel him in due ecclesiastical form.

Since writing the above this case has at last been settled. He agrees to the Confession of Faith and the teachings of the Presbyterian Church in reference to the future punishment of the Wicked. He has not advanced the cause of true religion in the position he has taken hitherto, but all good men will hope that his experience will add to his wisdom and end to the glory of the Church.

DR. MCLELLAN, High School Inspector, suggests that the Legislature should make an extra grant of $75 per annum to every School Board employing a first class, and $25 to those employing a second class teacher.

It is announced that counsel for the Sarnia Canadian has made an offer to the Premier for a settlement of the libel case, but the latter refuses any settlement unless the Canadian acknowledges publishing a deliberate falsehood.

ANOTHER TORY MARE'S NEST.

Soon after Mr. Sandford Fleming sailed for England, on leave of absence, the Mail, on the 19th May published an article in which it was stated that the reason for his departure was a disagreement with Mr. Mackenzie, who was blamed in the Mail's usual coarse style for depriving the country of the services of so valuable an engineer. This new scandal, like its predecessors, was eagerly reproduced by scores of Conservative papers, the managers of which either will not perceive the utter unreliability of Mail utterances, or persist in the republication with a full knowledge of their doubtful character. The story being taken in question by the Ottawa Free Press, the Halifax Herald, Dr. Tupper's organ, announced itself as the authority for the original statement, and maintained that it was a fact. This "confirmation" only went the rounds of the enterprising Conservative journals, and many anxious Conservatives began to think a point had assuredly been made against Mackenzie this time. Alas! for their hopes and expectations! Last week Mr. Fleming added fact he had mailed an emphatic contradiction of the story; and thus another Tory scandal has been run to earth. We should not be surprised however, to see the falsehood published in opposition sheets, without any reference whatever to the contradiction.

FOUND HIS LOST FRIEND.

The Lakefield News man has for some time past been in search of a lost relative, and judging from the noise in the last issue of that delectable sheet, it would appear that he has found his brother. A full column of abuse of the EXAMINER confirms us in the opinion of the general rejoicing. This is strengthened by the following touching quotation mingled up with the horse laughs of the editors. It runs thus:—"If a donkey kicks you, is it any reason why you should kick back?" Presuming that the News man is more familiar with his friend's habits than he is with the etiquette of respectable society, now that he has found his dear relative there can be nothing wrong in falling into his arms and embracing him. The advice of the American writer must not be lost on us hence in future when a donkey either kicks or brays, we will say: everything after its kind. And to use a bar-room phrase—a language the editor of the News well understands—"blood will tell, even though it be the blood of a donkey. Nature always betrays its origin." As for example, in the twin editors of the Lakefield "Blazes rag." Few ever outlive early habits, and hence it is not to be expected that an editor whose balmy days were spent in bar-rooms could outlive the moral (?) effect of the atmosphere he there breathed. He need not be surprised if in future he be considered the long-eared animal whose bray he delights to imitate.

A meeting of the East Durham Educational Association was held at Millbrook, on the 8th and 9th June. A. Purslow B. A. L. L. B. Head Master of the Port Hope High School was chosen President. Addresses on educational topics were delivered by Inspector Tilley, Prof. Macoun, Albert University; Mr. Brown, Ontario College Belleville; Mr. Goggin, Port Hope Public Schools; Mr. Grandy and others. On Friday evening Prof. Macoun gave a lecture on "The North-West" to a large and appreciative audience in the Town Hall.

During the Conservative demonstration at London, an ardent admirer of Sir John is said to have declared him far superior to George Washington, who would tell a lie; for, said he, "Sir John would never have cut the cherry tree!" Now Sir John not only hacked the tree (Conservative party) most mercilessly, and will not acknowledge it; but he continues to take a hack at it now and then, probably to keep the unfortunate tree from growing so large that he cannot reach all the branches and control each particular twig.

The Norwood Register complains that the sum of $100 offered as a reward for the capture of the Rawdon murderer is rather a small sum for risking time, limb and life. Does the Register mean to insinuate that the people of its locality, where the murderer was at the time said to be lurking, would not attempt his capture if no reward whatever were offered; or, worse still, that they wait the offer of a larger money consideration, forgetting altogether their duty to society? We have a better opinion of them than that. Once assure them that the murderer is within reach and they will adopt means for his capture, reward or no reward.

THE article which we re publish in this issue from the Montreal Star will show that we are not alone in our estimate of the injurious character of the demagogism that seeks to array the Irish Catholics in an antagonism to the rest of the population in such a way as only to provoke reprisals. It will be seen to that in our views on this question we have led the "Independent" press, of which the Star is the shining light. There's nothing like presumption after all, though our unveiled Tory contemporary of this town doesn't like to see us display it. Sorry we can't please it in everything. We couldn't possibly become Tory, you know,

At the regular meeting of L. O. L. No. 360. Montreal the following resolution of the Provincial Grand Lodge was unanimously approved:—"That while claiming the right to perfect liberty, as British subjects, to hold Orange or any other Protestant processions in the Province, we deem it inconsistent with the qualification embodied in the constitution, enjoining charity and good will, as well as likely to provoke disturbance from which no good could result to our Association, or to the Protestant community at large; we, therefore, condemn the attempt to promote a procession on the 12th July in Montreal."

Forty three Irish-Canadian pilgrims arrived in Rome on Tuesday of last week and stopped at the Minerva Hotel. They hatted one day on their journey through France for the purpose of making a pilgrimage to Lourdes, and they attended mass and received communion in the chapel of the famous grotto. They also presented several valuable offerings at the shrine of our Lady of Lourdes, and then proceeded on their way to Rome. A special Cable despatch to the Globe dated London June 16, says:—The Pope yesterday received the Canadian pilgrims, forty-two of whom were introduced by Father O'Dowd, who presented an address. He said the pilgrims expressed their absolute obedience to the Holy See, and congratulated the Pope. The long and dangerous journey they had encountered was a cause of joy, affording them an opportunity of attesting their affection and devotion to the Pope. The Consul has presented a magnificent mitre, several specimens of Indian workmanship, a silver vase, and a donation of £4,000. The Pope thanked the pilgrims, and expressed his joy at their escaping the perils of the ocean. He blessed the pilgrims from Canada, and expressed his best wishes for the prosperity of the country.

"One very noticeable feature about Sir John Macdonald's career has been his thorough disinterestedness and his personal integrity"—Review.

Tell that somewhere than in Peterborough, where he blasphemously exclaimed "Would to God I could catch him!" when he knew he had given Riel public money to help him out of the country and to suppress him in American territory. Tell it to those who have never heard of the sale of the Pacific Railway charter for money to bribe the Canadian electorate, of the "Send me another $10,000" telegram. Tell it to those who don't know anything of the history of the Northern Railway Cow Tell it to those who don't know that Sir John, the Minister, paid to Sir John, the partner in a law firm, some $6,000 a year for illegal counsel fees, one case being that of the Ottawabee bridge difficulty. Tell it to those who have never heard of Sir John's refusal to account for $6,600 of Secret Service money he improperly retained. And especially tell it to those who do not know that Sir John Macdonald, while in office as Minister of Justice, unjustly and contrary to law charged poor occupants of Ordinance Lands $2.50 per head for expenses. In short just before the ignorant; but not in an intelligent community.

We have had occasion to frequently rebuke the contemptuous references to things sacred, made by a paper of this town; and last week it attempted a reply to our latest reference to its mischievous course. In the midst of what professes to be a defiance of its conduct it says:—"Since the question of eternal punishment was first brought into prominent notice by the preaching of one of the most eminent of Presbyterian ministers in Canada, a gentleman well known in Peterborough, and one distinguished for his earnest and forcible teaching, there have not been wanting those who could not but sympathise with him in his belief that the Scriptures do not really teach a doctrine which they consider inconsistent with the Divine love and goodness of the Creator." Now the gentleman referred to is evidently Rev. D. J. Macdonnell, who does not entertain the "belief" attributed to him in the above extract. To say that he does is to charge him at once with dishonesty. which those who know his strong conscientiousness would indignantly deny. Such a reference to Mr. Macdonnell, especially at this time, is but another proof of the peculiar tendencies of the paper to which we have referred. We do not mean the Review, and the fact that Mr. Macdonnell has accepted the confession of faith, as taught by the church, abundantly proves the tendencies of that paper.

UNDER the heading "Millbrook," the following appears in the Bobcaygeon Independent:—"On Thursday we had a most tremendous meeting of the Conservatives of the district, in the Town Hall. It was all about holding a Political Pic-Nic. All the respectable Conservatives from roundabout were present, and the dirty Grits didn't dare to show anywhere all day. It was decided to hold a Pic-Nic early in September, Sir John Macdonald having stated in a letter that he could not undertake to be present at an earlier date. The meeting was very harmonious, and very respectable, and very quiet; indeed, it was quietly owing to the energy of Mr. Bowden that the meeting was induced to do any thing be yond sitting and looking at each other. They were very worthy, solid men, but, oh, gemini, how hard they were to move. The inertia of a heavy armed crowd of Conservatives is something fearful to contemplate. It is proposed to have an enormous Demonstration, and to include the whole country side in the affair. Col. Cubitt, of Bowmanville, the most sensible, the most vigorous, and one of the most respectable of the Conservative leaders, signified the disposition of the Conservatives of Bowmanville to take part in the Bun Fight, and Major Boulton, from Peterborough, appeared personally as a representative of that town and made an excellent speech, in which, with great tact, eloquence and judgement, he stated that he was not prepared to become responsible for any part of the expenses, but that in other respects he was a red-hot enthusiast. It was finally agreed that everybody should be invited to attend the Pic-Nic, and that it should be held at Millbrook, and on a site as near as possible to the creek, in order that Sir John might have proper facilities for 'keeping those hands clean.' Of course I suggested that I should be appointed Treasurer, but from some unexplained cause this suggestion was not acted upon. Therefore I still need my salary."

We are glad to see the journals of the front counties ranging themselves one by one on the common sense side of the question as to how the Toronto and Ottawa Railway will affect the Grand Trunk. The Oshawa Reformer last week says:—

"The action of the County Council in passing the by-law grouping the municipalities of Pickering, Reach, Port Perry and Scugog, for the purpose of granting a bonus of $30,000 to the Toronto and Ottawa Railway is likely to cause quite a stir in Pickering. There is no doubt that the southern portion of the township is opposed to it, but the late vote on the township by-law was a very small one, and it is noticeable that a nearly every one of the more northern polling places the vote was in favour of the bonus This was the case at Kinsale, Greenwood, Brougham and Whitevale. This is accounted for by the fact that the route of the proposed railway is through the north half of the township. It is by no means certain that Pickering will give a large vote against the by-law, and as the other municipalities will go strongly for it there seems little doubt of its carrying. So far as Oshawa is concerned the Toronto and Ottawa Railway can do it any harm and it may do a good deal by keeping down winter freights on the Grand Trunk and opening up the Ottawa valley, giving more ready access to our manufactures.

THE municipalities of Reach, Pickering, Scugog, and Port Perry have, through their representatives, presented petitions to the Ontario County Council, to be grouped for the purpose of granting a bonus of $90,000 to aid the construction of the Toronto and Ottawa Railway. A special committee has been appointed to report upon the petitions, and there is no doubt that a by-law will be recommended and passed in the terms asked for, to be submitted to the ratepayers. It is expected that this united effort will be more successful than the late appeal made to Pickering alone.

The Campbellford Herald says:—"Building operations on the new bridge have now commenced in earnest. A large quantity of iron work has arrived, and the remainder will find its way here as rapidly as it is required. A number of men have been employed since Saturday last, tearing up the wood-work and preparing the way for the iron. Several girders have been already laid, and the work is progressing with all possible speed Meanwhile a ferry is in operation above the bridge, for the transportation of traffic, while pedestrians are afforded pass go on planks spanning the girders. It will only require a week or ten days more to complete the work.

"THE AGE OF REASON."

The boy that went to the mill on horseback, carrying the grist in one end of the bag and a stone in the other, when reproved by the author, and told to divide the grist, replied that his father and grandfather had carried it that way, he, being no better than they. He would continue to do as they did. Another, or equally as absurd, reason recommended as sufficient by many to prevent them in indiscriminately employing Dr Pierce's Family Medicines even though there is overwhelming proof that they possess the merit claimed for them. For many years the Golden Medical Discovery has been recognized as the leading liver and blood medicine in the market. Each year has brought an increase in its sale, and it is now used throughout the civilized world. Thousands of unsolicited testimonials are on file in the Doctor's office, attesting its efficacy in overcoming aggravated coughs, colds, throat and lung affections, also scrofula, tumors, ulcers, and skin diseases. Are you suffering of a long chronic malady? If so, and you wish to employ medicines that are scientifically prepared; that are refined and purified by the chemical process employed in their manufacture that are positive in their action, and specific to the various forms of disease for the cure of which they are recommended, use Dr Pierce's Family Medicines Full particulars re Pierce's Memorandum Book, kept for free distribution by all druggists

The St. John Telegraph is not friendly to Mr. Anglin, and would rejoice at his defeat in Gloucester, but candidly admits that his election is a foregone conclusion

PETERBOROUGH, JUNE 21 1877.

Native Strawberries appear.

The County Council is sitting.

Regatta, Port Hope, Dominion Day.

Pic-Nic's down the river are now all the rage.

Strawberries are selling this morning for 12½ cents per quart.

Considerable quantities of wool are being brought into market.

Grangers are holding pic-nics in different parts of the country.

List of Convictions for the County of Peterborough will appears in next issue.

Now is the Proper time to cut down weeds before they set too much headway and seed down.

Work has commenced on the new Post Office building on the corner of Brock and George streets.

Gents' silk handkerchiefs are now the fashionable philophoena presents from young ladies to gentlemen.

"Give us a Breeze," is the latest bit of city slang; supposed to have a fanciful application to the weather.

Excursion.—The Golden-Eye runs an excursion and pic-nic in aid of the George street Methodist Sabbath School, to Campbellsw.s, to[day].

Cricket.—A cricket match will be played to-morrow, Friday, on the Ashburnham cricket ground, Town vs. County. Game to commence at 2 p.m.

Opera House.—The Wallace-Villa Company played in the Opera House to a fair audience on Monday and Tuesday evenings, and were well received.

Stand from Under! Boots and Shoes are coming down. Women's Prunella Button Boots steel chank, for One Dollar, at the Boot and Shoe Store of R. Stetson & Son.

Stony Lake.—We invite the attention of pic-nic and pleasure parties who intend visiting Stony Lake this season, to the advertisement of the steam yacht Tiger, in another column.

Fruit Store. Bailey Bro. fruit store. Fresh confectionary, oranges, lemons, dates, nuts, and Candies of every kind, canned goods of every description, etc. All fruit in season. 24-7

T. Dolan & Co. is sacrificing Dry Goods at prices putting it within the reach of every one to buy. Read their advertisement this week.—It means business. These reductions commence to-morrow.

Collegiate Institute.—Mr. Marling, High School Inspector, visited the Institute on Tuesday and Wednesday. But leaving in a hurry to catch the train, was unable to report on the status of the school.

Two Young Men named John O'Neil and Patrick Tobin met at the village of Hastings on Saturday afternoon, 9th inst., and had a fight, from the effect of which Tobin died about noon on the following Wednesday.

Fishing.—Fishing parties, (with permits) have had great catches in Rice Lake and tributaries this season already. Maskinonge and bass are said to be abundant in these waters, and not indisposed to try the tempting bait.

Garden Social and Concert.—The first of a series of garden socials will be held at the Residence of Mr. Wm. Snider, Esq., Ashburnham, in aid of St. Luke's church, on Wednesday, 27th instant, commencing at 7:30 p.m. Tickets 25 cents.

Hastings.—During the visit of the Town and County Councils to Hastings yesterday, they were entertained by the Village Council at a sumptuous dinner. Our going to press before the return of the party, prevents us giving a full report.

Township School Board.—We learn that it is the intention of some of the school supporters of Otonabee to bring the matter of a Township School Board before the people very soon, with a view of introducing the system in that township.

The River.—Mr. H. Calcutt has men at work clearing the channel to admit the easy access and departure of his steamers to and from the Peterborough wharf. Saw dust, slabs and old logs have filled the channel, and require to be removed.

A Little Pleasure and much Work.—The County and Town Councils accepted an invitation from Mr Calcutt to visit Rice Lake and Hastings yesterday. They had a pleasant trip and enjoyed themselves fully. This will fit them for the work of the session.

Delegates. The delegates appointed by the Presbytery of Peterborough to attend the general assembly at Halifax are:—Revs W. Donald, James Cleland, James Ballantine, N. Clark, W. Bennett, Messrs W. E. Johnson, Sheriff Hall, George Morrison, James Kerr.

Strawberry Festival.—The ladies of the George street Methodist church will give a Strawberry Festival in the Drill Shed, on Thursday, June 24th. The firemen's band will be in attendance, and Jacob and Rachel will be at the well. The usual admission fee charged

Indecent Exposure. The boys who indecently expose their persons by bathing in the river and lake were numbers of pleasure boats are constantly passing, are evidently lost to all sense of shame. They ought to be prevented by the police from gathering where they do, until after dark.

Toronto and Ottawa Railway.—A public meeting of the citizens of the town, to discuss matters of importance in connection with the Toronto and Ottawa Railway, will be held in Mr. Bradburn's new hall this (Thursday) evening at 8 o'clock p.m. A full attendance is requested.

A County Model School.—A committee has been appointed to investigate the question of a County Model School in Peterborough, and to find out probable expenses and relative advantages, and to report. If a model school can be obtained there is no more eligible place in the county for it.

Opening.—Mr. W. J. Larmour has bought the stock of Mr. Wm. McCallum, and has commenced business again for himself. The stock is good, largely home-made. Mr. Larmour is well known as a practical boot and shoe maker, obliging to his customers, and deserves patronage. Intending purchasers should give him a call.

The members of the Masonic fraternity purpose celebrating the festival of St. John the Evangelist on Sunday, the 24th inst. The different lodges will meet at their respective lodge rooms at 6 p.m., and walk in procession to St. John's Church, where a sermon will be delivered by the Rev. V. Clementi.

Refrigerators.—Mr. H. Best has just imported several very nice articles in this line. Any one requiring such an article should call and see Mr. Best's as they are both useful and ornamental. He has also some handsome gratings for fire places, which parties who are erecting comfortable residences should not fail to see.

A paper not a thousand miles from Peterborough has for its motto "Measures, not Men," and yet it is continually indulging in fulsome flattery of a few men who, without a single measure to present for either approval or condemnation; but who once adopted corrupt measures to keep themselves in command of public patronage and plunder.

Dunkin Act in Northumberland.—A by-law to submit the Dunkin Act to the ratepayers of the counties of Northumberland and Durham, except the towns of Cobourg and Port Hope, was carried to its second reading by the County Council by a vote of 24 to 16. The anti-Dunkinites submitted a petition against the motion bearing over 4,000 signatures.

Weights and Measures.—Those who have not complied with the requirements of the Weights and Measures Act had better do so at an early date. In order to save themselves from the penalties provided by law for such omissions. The Ottawa Inspector has made a raid in his district, and probably our local Inspector may some of these days feel inclined to do likewise.

G. T. R. Excursion.—The Orange Young Britons of this town, as will be seen by posters, have made arrangements for a grand excursion down the river to Campbellsworn on Dominion Day on the Golden-Eye. All kinds of amusements will be carried on. A prize oar will be attached to the steamer, which will afford a great deal of pleasure to those who are in the habit of tipping the "light fantastic."

Mr. Duncan McLeod, of Peterborough, enters the controversy on church music in the Bobcaygeon Paper, and objects to the use of the organ in churches, declaring that: before the Church can be regenerate it must be purified, and one of the first works in that purification will be the casting out of the organs from the Temple. Mr. McLeod is at least decided in his declaration on this point.

That Water Cart.—Our citizens are compelled to acknowledge that the Water Cart about which so much has been said is a better one than that made in Toronto, which cost $300. The present water limits are more than half a mile longer than last year's limits. The entire cost of water, watering and cart for the present season is only $153, which is less than the cost last year, and the cart will be good for many years.

Unauthorized Books and Maps.—A circular from the Department of Education has been received, cautioning Trustees against applying school money, or allowing such to be applied in the purchase of unauthorized books or maps—as the application of school money in such a manner would be illegal, and might personally affect Trustees who consent to use public school funds in the purchase of such unauthorized books or maps.

Horticultural Society's Show.—The summer show of this society will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday, the 3rd and 4th of July next, in Hill's Music Hall. We believe the Directors have made several changes in the rules and regulations this year, which they think will be an improvement over previous years. Prize lists and other information can be obtained at the stores of Messrs. R. A. Brown, Ormond & Walsh, John McClelland and James Best.

The 12th of July.—The 12th will be celebrated this year by the brethren of this county meeting and having their procession at Lakefield. A great many admirers of the Prince of Orange will visit our sister village on the approaching anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, to do honor, we hope, to his memory and to keep in memory the blessings secured by that memorable battle. The ambitious little town will have on its best bib and tucker to receive the brotherhood.

Dominion Day Pic-Nic.—At a committee meeting of the Young Irishmen, arrangements were made for a pic-nic, to take place on Dominion Day, in Wallace's Grove. Dancing platforms and booths are being erected, swings are in operation and there will be every facility for enjoyment. The beautiful trees afford excellent shelter, and in fact taking everything into consideration there is only a more eligible place about the town for a pic-nic. Carriages will carry persons to and from the grounds.

No Conservative Pic-Nic is billed for Peterborough, and the faithful in this county will have to go to Millbrook, where there are plenty of Tories to cheer and make fools of themselves by drawing Sir John's carriage. Sir John has been in Peterborough before, and delivered a public address here. It was here he fervently exclaimed "would to God I could catch him!" the hypocrisy of which sentiment was afterwards plainly proven. It may be that this prevents him from so soon a morning in Peterborough with his presence again. Explanations are often found to be very awkward to make.

Disgraceful.—On Sunday evening, 3rd inst., a disgraceful scene took place at the village of Marmora. A Mr. Walker, a lawyer from Belleville, got into conversation with one David Gowen, who began to talk politics, and applied the epithets "liar and scoundrel" to the premier of Ontario. Mr. Walker stated that his knowledge of Mr. Mowat did not show him to be deserving of such harsh terms, whereupon Gowen made an assault upon the visitor. The assailant seems to have reckoned the time without his "host," for Walker gave him a severe drubbing. It is probable that blame is attached to both; but Gowen is particularly censurable in such gross disourtesy to a comparative stranger.

Mrs. Calcutt's Pic-Nic.—Mrs. Calcutt gave an excursion on Tuesday afternoon on the Golden-Eye. About 150 ladies and gentlemen accepted the invitation and went on Board. The party proceeded to Gerrow's Landing, where lunch was spread and partaken of. After doing justice to the inner wants, they returned on board to enjoy themselves. A dancing crew had accompanied the steamer, and to this the lovers of Terpsechorean adjourned and amused themselves. The party arrived at Peterborough about ten o'clock in the evening, having enjoyed a very pleasant time. Mr. and Mrs. Calcutt using a great deal of diligence to make the excursion a pleasant one, and they succeeded admirably.

Grasping.—Pleasure seeking is nothing different from money seeking, it increases as it is indulged in, we are told, and the love of pleasure, like the love of money, urges the addicted to it to try and get full value for their money. The holders of season tickets on the different pleasure routes are noted for this particular phase of human nature, for not satisfied with using the tickets themselves, some invite their friends to the enjoyment and thus impose on the good nature of the captains by crowding some extent come within the class to which we have referred, and take full value for their money. It might put a different color on the picture if ticket holders had the other side of the matter before their vision for a little, and this may bring the thoughtful to consideration.

Personal. We clip the following from the Blue Ensign, Kansas, Times:—"Mr. George Woodyard and Mr. Joshua Pile, extensive stock raisers and dealers of Peterborough, Canada, reached this county on Friday on a tour of inspection. Learning from the eastern paper that the drought in Kansas had driven the droppers to the banks of the petticking and infuriated cattle for rapid transportation, they determined to make a personal examination of the country and its condition. Whenever there has been a cessation of rain, and the road was in condition so the stream would permit, they have improved the opportunity of visiting the principal towns of the county and locating the exact condition of the range and crops. They are now satisfied that the drought is confined exclusively to the imaginations of eastern newspaper editors, and as for the hopers living on station steak, they have simply mistaken feeding hogs for prairie, Richmond notions. It is needless to remark that these gentlemen are pleased with the country, and especially to the present crop prospects. Mr. Woodyard is possibly becoming interested in the Blue Rapids water power; want it to almost certain that Mr. Pile will establish a cutlery factory in Eagle Township in Peterborough, who send us a few more men of this grit who know how to put a dent of gratitude in the wood they split and to pay interest."

Mr. Pile has returned again to Canada, and speaks very highly of that almost new but flourishing country. He says crops are looking better there than ever he saw them look in Canada, and speaks very highly of the fine farms and dwellings of numbers of our former citizens, who emigrated there some few years ago, and particularly of those of Mr. Wm. McKee and family who have all done well. We wish them continued prosperity in their new home, and hope that they may live peacefully and happily under the folds of the Stars and Stripes.

LITERARY.

The New Dominion Monthly.—The June issue of the New Dominion Monthly comes to hand rich and racy as usual in its contents and contributions. As a frontispiece we find a wood engraving of Fred. Douglass, the colored politican and orator, now United States Marshall for the District of Columbia.

The Miscellany.—The Printer's Miscellany, published in St. John, aims to supply in Canada the place of "Rowell's Newspaper Reporter," in the United States, and so far it has been successful in its mission. It has interesting notes of the press in various parts of the Dominion, and furnishes the latest news of interest to the profession. The publisher deserves the support of the Fourth Estate everywhere.

George P. Rowell & Co. deserve the best thanks of the advertising community for their efforts to prevent advertisers from being imposed on by unscrupulous publishers. Every honest publisher will also thank them for the aid they have afforded them in maintaining their competition for business by fair means, and not the fraudulent practices of dishonest rivals. Messrs. Rowell & Co., also of Newspaper Directory publishers, have had the courage to undertake the task of discriminating among the statements of newspapers, and to face the hostility which such a course was sure to excite among those who profited by misrepresentation. Notwithstanding the "crushing" articles that from time to time have been hurled at them, sometimes by parties who ought to have known better, they have persevered in their course, and they have had their reward. Their publication has taken the first place as the standard authority among the American Newspaper Directories and a reference book for every large adviser and advertising agency in this country.—Jersey City Journal, May 23, 1877.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

The County Council met on Tuesday afternoon.

The Warden, John Burnham, Esq., in the chair, and all the members of the Council present.

After the reading and the adoption of the minutes, the Warden delivered his address, a copy of which we have been unable to obtain.

TOWN COUNCIL.

The Council met on Monday evening.

Present his Worship the Mayor and Messrs. Dumble, McWilliams, Baptie, Smith, Cahill, Elder, Haggart, McBain, Rountree, Yelland, Millar and Hamilton.

On motion the reading of the minutes of the last meeting were dispensed with.

COMMUNICATIONS.

TORONTO AND OTTAWA RAILWAY.

Mr. Dumble introduced a By-law extending the time for the commencement of the work on the Toronto and Ottawa Railway to the 1st of July 1878, which passed through its several readings.

Mr. Dumble chairman of a special committee for the procuring of a water cart &c., reported that they had purchased a water cart at a cost of $500 and had accepted the tender of Michael O'Donnel for the watering of the streets his tender being $180 for the entire season and the offer of Messrs J. A. Delaney & Son was accepted to give the water for $150.—The report was received and adopted.

Moved by Mr. Smith, seconded by Mr. Rountree.—That an effort should be made to obtain from the County that property now leased to the Agricultural Society in order that the same should be used as a park or otherwise as shall here after be determined. Be it therefore resolved that a special committee be appointed to interview the County Council, and ascertain on what terms and condition the said property can be obtained, committee to consist of the Mayor, Messrs. Dumble, Haggart and Elder.—Carried.

Moved by Mr McWilliams, seconded by Mr. Dumble,—That Mr. Geo. A. Stewart be requested to proceed to find out from the Crown Lands Department the necessary information for the correct surveying of Donegal Street.

The clerk was instructed to reply to Mr Calcutt and thank him for the kind invitation to visit Hastings.

The Council then adjourned for two weeks.

NORWOOD.

Fire.—Fire broke out about two o'clock this morning June 14, in the carriage and blacksmith shop of G Hendron, of this village. Before the alarm was given the fire had made such headway that it was found impossible to save the shop, which, with its contents, was entirely destroyed. The house caught fire from the extreme heat; and was also totally destroyed, the contents being saved. The value of the building is about $600. Shop and contents insured for $400, but nothing on the house.

SMITH.

COURT OF REVISION.—Pursuant to adjournment the Court of Revision met on the 4th of June. Present: Michael Sanderson, Thomas E. Fitzgerald, Andrew Montgomery, and Frances J. Bell. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. After making some small alterations in the roll was finally passed by the Court, and the Clerk instructed to certify the same.

COUNCIL MEETING.—The members then went into council and the minutes of the last meeting were read and signed. The Reeve then stated that he had caused a search to be made in the Registry office to ascertain what lots had been purchased by the late W. A. Scott in the Blythe Mill property, but had been unable to find any registration for the sale of lot 22 or any other. The Treasurer was instructed to stop the sale of said lot, and arrange matters with the Town Treasurer respecting the same. The Reeve and Clerk were appointed to wait on the council of the Town of Peterborough to arrange matters in regard to repairing the roads between the two municipalities. The following by-law received its first, second, and third readings and passed: "A By-law to provide for the appropriation and expenditure of the sum of $1363.00 in the general repairs of the roads and bridges in the several road divisions therein mentioned, and to appoint commissioners to superintend the expenditure of the same." A by law to prevent animals owned by non residents from running at large in the Township of Smith.—Com.

FAIRBANKS SCALES.

Sydney Exposition.

Beginning at the Southern, or Sydney end of the exhibition, the first thing to challenge attention is the magnificent exhibit of scales sent by Messrs Fairbanks & Co., of Johnsbury, Vermont. This firm are the largest manufacturers of scales in the world. Their platform scales, of which the foundry of the firm may be considered the fountain head, are in almost universal use on the railroads of the United States and Canada, and the high reputation of the Fairbanks' scales has also opened markets for them all over Europe, in India, China and Japan. The village of St. Johnsbury has been called into existence by the intelligence and industry of this single firm, some members of which have spent over 100,000 dollars in endowing places of learning for their fellow citizens. The produce of this single factory is from 50,000 to 60,000 scales per annum. They make scales for weighing letters, and also of sufficient size and strength to weigh a train of loaded trucks. The numerous specimens shown in this exhibition necessarily represent the smaller description of scales, and the special purposes for which they are designed may be seen at a glance. The construction of the Fairbanks' scales is said to be on the most correct mathematical principles, and all defects commonly met with in compound balances have been overcome by practical skill and faithful workmanship. At the Exhibition in Philadelphia the Fairbanks Company showed their scales adjusted to the standard weights of all the nations represented there.—[Sydney (N. S. W.) Herald.

"Representation and Revenge."

From the Montreal Star.

The Irish Canadian has nailed its colors to the mast, and henceforward its battle cry will be "Representation and Revenge—representation as a right of the present, and revenge as as security for the future." A despatch from Toronto announces that this watchword has been taken up by a number of Irish Catholic organizations, and political clubs are to be formed all over the country, whose object will be to carry out the principle embodied in the barely put platform of the Irish Canadian.

Those who have made up their minds that the proper policy for Irish Catholics to follow is one of hostility to the remainder of the population, and that that hostility must be shown by the exercise of revenge for alleged wrong in the past should be prepared to accept all the responsibilities which such a position imposes. The adoption of the platform laid down by Mr. Boyle's paper by the Irish Catholic population would necessitate, if carried to its logical consequences, a union of English-speaking Protestants and French Catholics for the purpose of self-defence, and the first step of the Irish in the direction of aggression would be met by the stern opposition of the numerical majority. If Irish Catholicism be opposed in the form the Toronto leaders proposed to the balance of the Canadian nationality, and in direct opposition to the spirit of the Constitution, it can only expect to be met by the force of numbers at the ballot box, and defeated. Not alone this; it would necessarily follow that in the relation of patronage there would be a very serious barrier erected to to the entrance of Irish Catholics to public offices, and thus the aspirations which apparently allured Mr. Boyle and the Catholic League into selling themselves to the Ontario "Reformers" would receive a more blighting blow than ever.

It is all very well to talk about "Representation and Revenge," the practical question for Irish Catholics to consider is —what good can be expected to come of the shouting of war cries which are opposed alike to the welfare of society, to the constitution and to common sense? To institute political societies upon the avowed basis of a warfare upon the Canadian political system until a certain class shall obtain special representation is to attempt to erect an alien contingent in the country, and separate the Irish Catholic from the sympathies of their fellows of other creeds and races. It is to strike a blow at the interests of the Irish people, and to weaken them where they are actually strong to-day. Fortunately the men who are brawling for representation and revenge, and all the rest of it, are pretty well known to the bulk of Irish Catholics. The experience of the past has taught them that the loudest agitators over Irish wrongs are the easiest appeased when office is dangled before them, and the most religiously silent when place is secured. They have learned before now that noise is generally made when some of the demagogic order are hungry for reward.

The Intended New Post Office.

To the Editor of the Examiner,

MR. EDITOR,—A petition was presented at the last council meeting for the promotion of a scheme to have the Post Office established in Mr. Bradburn's Town Hall building. I do not think the council has anything to do with the matter, and Mr. Haggart's argument as in favor of the Post Office in the Town Hall, is too flimsy of entertainment. I have not seen the names of the parties who signed that petition, but most certainly it is that the petition was made up by the same promoters who so zealously worked out the scheme for the erection of the Town Hall where it is built. I have reason to believe that no two opinions exist, even among these same men, that the Town Hall is a complete failure in many respects. When lately Miss Strickland held religious meetings in the Hall, I was persuaded against my will to witness the over crowded state therein by passing out, which I think took about 15 or 20 minutes to reach the open air. I was asked by a minister of this town how I liked it, to whom I said, I liked it well enough, but added that if I could buy heaven by listening to another sermon in such a crowded hall, I would rather first take care of my life for this world. I think the ministers as well as the press are unmindful of their duty to the public in not cautioning them, and we find no example that Christ led his multitudes in a man-trap. The Town Hall for large gathering is a complete failure, because there are no facilities for a speedy escape in case of danger. I am in no way inclined to criticise the Architect, as under the circumstances he is not responsible for the same. A public building for which this is intended, ought to stand on ground unconnected with other buildings, and the hall should be on the ground floor, or at least on the second storey, but with the object in view to make the most out of the building, the purpose for which the hall was intended had to give way for money considerations. Mr. Smith in the last Council meeting seemed very much impressed with the great advantages the Town Hall had for the Post Office. —as it never occurred to his mind, that the Council Chamber is also a failure in every way! Ought not these rooms to have had higher ceilings with better ventilation? The press is often prone to criticise the behaviour of our City Fathers for the stormy debates, and fancies that the audience as well earns a well deserved share of rebuke for their improper demonstrations; but how can they help it? Is not the human mind sometimes unduly influenced by electricity, with which the heavy atmosphere in the Council rooms are charged? Is it a wonder that under such circumstances our City Fathers sometimes lose their temper, so as to throw thunder around them right and left, and not seldom it happens that their voices are drowned by the noise coming out of the Hall from an applauding audience, with the boys constantly running up and down stairs.

Yours, &c.,

Fifty Years' Sickness Cured by Four Bottles of Constitutional Catarrh Remedy. Take it Quickly, Head and Lungs, and Purify the Whole System.

DR. ARMAND, P. Q., Sept. 18, 1876.

MR. T. B. HARDING,

DEAR SIR,—Before candour that others may know something of the merits of your CONSTITUTIONAL CATARRH REMEDY, I wish to inform you what it has done for me. I am 48 years old, had been out of health for about five years. I had consulted three or four different doctors, and tried various medicines without receiving any permanent benefit, but continued rather to grow worse, until last fall when I had become so bad as to be unable to do my house's work at all times. Had severe soreness and pain under the shoulder blades—all through the shoulders with very much weight and a feeling as may think one of us through there was a weight pressing it down, with continual dizziness in the throat and down upon the lungs. Such was my condition when I commenced to take your CATARRH REMEDY—one bottle of which I found was doing me an improved service and after taking four bottles I was restored to health, so as to be able to go into the field and command labor, such as sheppering and carries kind of work I have been accustomed to for past season. My recovery I attribute entirely with God's assistance, to the use of your CATARRH REMEDY. Yours truly,

MRS. ARMAND.

The Great Shoshonees Remedy and Pills.

The success that these medicines have met with since their introduction to the public some years ago, proves plainly to the most skeptical that they are medicines that perform what they are advertised to. The virtues of these medicines have been well tested, and have withstood their trial in a most satisfactory manner. For disease of the Blood, Liver, Lungs, &c., they are unsurpassed. We have testimonials of miraculous cures of these diseases, and of many others if any one is afflicted, let him try a bottle of the Remedy and a box of Pills. No injurious effects will follow their use to the most delicate person as they are purely vegetable, there being no mineral matter in them. The cost is small, while the advantages derived from their use doubly pay you for your expense and trouble. The medicines are widely known throughout the Dominion, and are for sale by the principal medicine dealers. Try them, and be convinced that these medicines are no humbug. No one who has tried the Shoshinees Pills has ever pronounced an unfavourable opinion of them, so family where they have been used will be without them. Full information may be had on all particulars touching the use, and the experience of those who have used them, by securing the Treatise or the Circular from any druggist in the Dominion, Free. Price of the Remedy in pint bottles $1; Pills 25 cents a box.

CENTENNIAL LAURELS.

A Triple Crown for Wheeler and Wilson's Silent Lock-Stitch Sewing Machines.

"THREE MEDALS & THREE DIPLOMAS"

The Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machines were pronounced by E. B. Knight, G. W. Gregory, Fred Paget and L. D. F. Poore, Centennial Judges of Sewing Machines at Philadelphia in 1876, to be the best Sewing Machine in the market. Not only the Centennial Commissioners pronounce the W & W the best Sewing Machine but also Mrs. Jas Stevenson, of Asphodel, Mrs. W. W. Johnston, Wm. McCullough, J. G. Huston, R. Tweedie, Mrs. Dr. Rhendd, Mrs. W. Foster, sen. Jr., of Peterboro'; Mrs. Wm. Deacon and Mrs. J. Smith of Ashburnham, and hundreds of others too numerous to mention, pronounce it the best Sewing Machine and recommend all intending purchasers to call and see the new family W & W. "It is a perfect little Gem."

CAUTION.

I hereby caution all those having the W & W Sewing Machine not to allow any other agent or person interested in any other Sewing Machine to have anything to do with the W & W, as there are a great many agents who pretend to sell and repair all classes of Sewing Machines, they have little or no knowledge of the W & W.

I would recommend those having the W & W Sewing Machine to call on the proper and only authorized Agent at Peterboro', who is competent to repair, if necessary, the W & W Sewing Machines properly. I can also willing to give instructions free of expense to all W & W purchasers of the Agency, on all classes of goods from ¼ of an inch thick, down to gauze also hemming on various sorts free. All persons interested in the W & W will be benefited by calling on G. A. Mitchell, who thoroughly and personally understands the Machine.

Please read my late circulars on W & W Machines, before purchasing a Sewing Machine elsewhere.

I also take Insurance Risks on first-class buildings at a very low rate, and I am working for first-class companies.

A LECTURE
TO YOUNG MEN!

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay clearly demonstrates, from thirty years successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED SPRUCE GUM,
—FOR—
Coughs, Colds, Bronchial and all Throat Affections.

The Gum which exudes from the Red Spruce tree is, without doubt, the most valuable native Gum for Medicinal purposes.

Its remprkable power in relieving certain severe forms of Bronchitis, and its almost specific effect in curing obstinate hacking Coughs, is now well known to the public at large. In this Syrup (carefully prepared at low temperature), containing a large quantity of the finest picked Gum in complete solution, all the Tonic Expectorant, Balsamac and Anti-Spasmodic effects of the Red Spruce Gum are fully preserved. For sale at all Drug Stores. Price, 25 cents per bottle.

READ CAREFULLY.

SAMUEL OSBORNE, Sophiasburg, says—"I was affected with Dyspepsia for nearly four years, my lungs becoming affected towards the last. I was induced to try the "Shoshonees Remedy." After using three or four bottles I felt much better, and gained strength rapidly, my health improved steadily and rapidly, and when I had taken three or four bottles more, I was quite restored to health and strength, and have experienced better health than for forty years before. I had been under the treatment of a number of physicians before, but never received any material aid until I used your remedy."

A. MCKAY, Tryon, N. S., says "he was very bad with Liver Complaint, but used the "Shoshonees Remedy," and in a month was as well as he had ever been in his life. I am now in business and wish you to send me three dozen by steamer.

A. WOOD, Gonseco, says "That he has tried the "Remedy" for Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia with great success. I have also used the "Shoshonees Pills," and find that they are as good as any I ever tried.

Rev. JOHN SCOTT says—"Mr. McKenzie Booting suffered from an attack of rheumatism, and was unable to move without help but after taking a few bottles of the 'Shoshonees" was able to walk as well as ever." Price of the Remedy in pint bottles $1; Pills 25 cents a box.

WHAT THEY SAY OF IT? A FEW FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.—There are but few preperations of medicines which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people for any great length of time. One of these is Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil. Read the following and be convinced:—Thos. Robinson, Farnham Centre, P. Q., writes, "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for the last ten years, and have tried many remedies without any relief, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and since then have had no attack of it. I would recommend it to all."—J. B. Earl, Hotel Keeper, West Shefford, P.Q., writes, "I have been troubled with liver complaint for severe years, and have tried different medicines with little or no benefit, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which gave me immediate relief, and I would say that I have used it since with the best effect. No one should be without it. I have tried it on my horses in cases of cuts, wounds, etc., and think it is equally as good for horse as for man."—A. Maybee Merchant, Warkworth, writes, "I have sold some hundreds of bottles of Eclectric Oil, and it is pronounced by the public, 'one of the best medicines they have ever used;' it has done wonders in healing and relieving pain, sore throats, etc., and is worthy of the greatest confidence."—Joseph Rusan, Township Percy writes, "I persuaded to try Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lame knee which troubled me for three or four years, and I never found anything like it for curing lameness. It is a great public benefit."—A. M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes. "For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which annoyed me very much. Mr. Maybee of this place induced me to try Eclectric Oil, and before one bottle was used I was cured. It is a most remarkable medicine. Sold by all medicine dealers Price, 25 cents.

NO RISK.

Thomas' Eclectric Oil! Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest Medicine ever made. One dose cures coughing SORE THROAT. One bottle has cured RHEUMATISM. Fifty cents' worth has cured an Ox STANDING CROUP. One or two bottles cures bad cases of PILES and KIDNEY TROUBLES. Six to eight applications cure ANY OF EXCORIATED NIPPLES OR INFLAMED BREAST. One bottle has cured LAME BACK of eight years standing. Daniel Plank, of Brookfield, Tioga County, Pa., says: "I went thirty miles for a bottle of your Oil, which effected a WONDERFUL CURE of a CROOKED LEG, by six applications." Another who has had ASTHMA for years, says: "I have half of a 50 cent bottle left, and $100 would not buy it if I could get no more."

RUFUS ROBINSON, of Munda, N. Y. writes "One small bottle of your ECLECTRIC OIL restored the voice where the person had no spoken above a whisper in FIVE YEARS Rev. J. Mallory, of Wroxeing, N. Y., writes "Your ECLECTRIC OIL cured me of Bronchitis in one week."

It is composed of six of the Best Oils that are known. It as good for internal as for external use, and is believed to be incomparably superior to anything ever made. Will save you much suffering and many dollars of expense.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.—Ask for Dr. Thos. Eclectric Oil. See that the signature of S. N. Thomas is on the wrapper, and the names of Northrop & Lyman are blown in the bottle, and Take no other. Sold by all medicine dealers. Price, 25 cts. NORTHROP & LYMAN, Toronto, Ont., Proprietors for the Dominion.

A WONDERFUL REFORM IN FANNING MILLS.

Farmers wanting to purchase a First Class Fanning Mill should call at

MINORGAN & ELLIOTT

AND GET ONE OF THEIR

"FARMERS FRIEND."

They are the best and cheapest Fanning Mills in the Market, and clean from 90 to 100 bush. of Wheat, ready for the market, in an hour, and does not throw the large grain into the tailings. We have received a large number of Testimonials from different Farmers in the County who have used our Mills. They will speak for themselves:

Greystock P.O., Otonabee, Mar. 12, 1877.
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs.—This is to certify that I have given the "Farmers Friend" Mill a fair trial, and have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion it is one of the best Mills now in use for cleaning grain for seed or market.
Yours etc.,
J. SMITHSON.

Otonabee, March 21, 1877.
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs.—This is to certify that I have given your "Farmers Friend" Mill a fair trial, and have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion it is one of the best Mills now in use for cleaning grain for seed or market.
Yours etc.,
J. REDMOND.

Balsam Grove, Peterboro, March 13, 1877.
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs.—I have tested your "Farmers Friend" Mill and find that it works well, taking out all dirt and small seeds out of grain and making a good clean article for sale. I am sure that your machine will give good satisfaction among the farmers, that is if they want to take good clean grain to market, and get five cents per bushel more for it.
Yours etc.,
J. H. WALTON.

Smith, 5th March, 1877.
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs.—I take pleasure in recommending the "Farmers Friend" as being the best Mill I have ever had, and I have had several of what was called the Best Makes in Ontario.
JAS. ELLIOTT.

Peterboro, March 5th, 1877.
This is to certify that we have tested Moore & Minorgan's Mill and pronounce it to be the best we have ever seen cleaning, and it is the best Seperator we have ever seen.
JOHN DOBBIN.
I also endorse the above statement.
WM. DOBBIN.

Smith, March 6th, 1877.
This is to certify that I have seen Moore & Minorgan's Seperator in my barn. I consider it the "Boss Mill."

ICE! ICE! ICE!

COUNTY COUNCIL.

The County Council met on Tuesday, the 19th June. All the members present. The following is

THE WARDEN'S ADDRESS.

Gentlemen of the County of Peterborough:—I have prepared according to custom I have to those matters which require your attention your consideration and which usually require

I have to express my of our engineer, James Bird, place on the second of April last been for many years in the council, and I am sure you will all me in saying that he was an upright and efficient officer, and managed the affairs entrusted to him with economy and to the best interests of the county. There are several applications for the office which will be laid before you.

The repairs ordered at our last session on the Wallace Point and Nassau bridges have been completed.

The cedar planking ordered for the Locks Bridge has been delivered and is piled at the Locks. As the Town of Peterborough are jointly liable with the County for the repairs on this bridge, I deemed it advisable to delay the replanking till they had agreed to it being done. I am informed by the Clerk that the Town Council has not yet answered his communication on this subject.

The flooring of the Lakefield Bridge has been obtained, but I am informed that other repairs were necessary before it could be laid. I did not have the replanking done. Having received an advantageous offer for the supply of the material required for the additional repairs, I ordered the same to be obtained, and I understand it has been delivered at the bridge.

On the fourth instant I visited the Mud Lake and Pigeon Creek Bridges in company with Mr. Sanderson, Reeve of Smith, I found the Mud Lake Bridge in good order and condition. The Pigeon Creek Bridge is in want of repair as much of the planking is loose and in some places worn through. Besides this the aprons at either end are too low and too short and require re-building. Mr. Flood, the caretaker, suggested that it would be better to replank the bridge instead of doing any repairs, as in a short time it would be absolutely necessary to be done. As this bridge is altogether out of our County and is more particularly for the benefit of the people who do not contribute to its maintenance, I do not see why we should continue any longer to keep up this expensive structure at our sole expense. The Mud Lake Bridge is a benefit to a part of the County, but I cannot see that the Pigeon Creek one is. I think the sooner we relieve ourselves of the burden the better, and would therefore suggest that instead of doing any more expensive repairs upon it, the council should declare this bridge closed for traffic, and decline to expend any more money upon it, unless those municipalities which are most interested in its maintenance bear their share of the expense. I ordered Mr. Flood to do such repairs as were necessary to keep the bridge safe till you should meet.

Some repairs were found to be necessary on the Youngs Point and Barleigh Bridges, which I had done under the superintendence of Mr. Jonathan Griffin, of Lakefield. He reports that further repairs are necessary upon Youngs' Point Bridge.

I have received a communication from the President of the Ontario School of Agriculture, stating the position and advantage of the Institution, and notifying me that this council had the right of nominating one pupil.

The Board of Trustees of Norwood High School shortly after the January session, applied for payment of the grant made by you to their schools. In order to pay it at that time the money had to be borrowed, and I therefore directed the Treasurer to pay it, less interest, till the end of the year. It would be better to fix a date when grants made are payable.

The land in Eldon, in which the county claims an interest, has been sold and the purchase money paid. It will be necessary, therefore, for you to pass a By-law authorizing the exemption of a conveyance to the purchaser.

By section 303 of the Municipal Act, corporations are authorized to borrow money to meet current expenditure, and under certain formalities therein mentioned. Therefore it has been considered by the Council by resolution to give the authority to borrow, but it would be more regular and satisfactory if done by By-law.

In accordance with the report on the state of the Sinking Fund and Debenture indebtedness, an exchange was effected with the holder of debentures under By-law 264, giving him in exchange therefor debentures issued under By-law 454. The holder declined unless he could purchase an additional debenture for $1,000. This debenture was accordingly sold to him at par. An exchange of debenture outstanding under By-law 355 has not been made. The correspondence on the subject will be laid before you.

As the sinking fund under By-law 264 has been reinvested by the exchange before alluded to, it will be necessary to appropriate the amount thereof towards payment of the floating debt. As the rates imposed under By-laws 355 and 376 raise an amount largely in excess of the requirements of these By-laws, owing to the increased valuation of property, I think it would be advisable to pass a By-law reducing the rate and have the same confirmed by order in Council, in accordance with the statute.

By the financial statement prepared by the Treasurer as required by law, you will perceive that some municipalities were in arrears with their county rates at the first day of June. This compels the Treasurer to borrow money at a time when he should not be required to do so. There would, however, be no loss to the county in this, if the municipalities in arrears would pay interest upon their arrears, in accordance with the seventh clause of the Finance Committee's report of January, 1875. This matter will require your attention.

The deputation appointed by you to wait upon the Ontario Government in regard to the Toronto and Ottawa Railway, waited upon the Attorney-General in January last, in company with deputations from other municipalities. Of course no definite promise of assistance was given, but the Attorney-General expressed his opinion that the road was necessary, and was deserving of Government aid. The applications for municipal aid are meeting with success, and there appears to be every reason to believe that the million dollars required by our by-law will be got, but not so soon as was anticipated. By the terms of your by-law granting aid to the road, the bonus will lapse if the million dollars be not obtained by the first day of July next, or the road done fide commenced by that date, By a recent Act, County Councils are empowered to extend the time for commencement and completion of the road. Mr. Scott, the President of the road, requests that you will extend the time for commencement till the 31st December, 1878, and for completion till the 31st December, 1883. The Council have not the power to relieve the Company from the condition of obtaining the million dollars by the 1st July, and Mr. Scott therefore requests you to adopt a memorial to the Legislature to extend the time one year.

I have received a communication from Lieut.-Colonel Poole, asking for a grant to assist in forming a battalion camp for the annual drill of 1877-78. The Government make no allowances for any of the expenses of the camp, so that they will fall altogether on the officers and men. I am sure the ratepayers of the county will not object to a grant being made for so laudable an object.

The County of Victoria have appointed a committee to deal with the matter of repairs to the Bobcaygeon bridges, and desires me to appoint a committee to act with them. It has not yet been clearly ascertained what proportion of expenses are should bear in building and maintaining these bridges, and I would therefore suggest that the matter be carefully looked into before we take any action.

By an amendment to the School Act County Councils are enabled to establish Model Schools in the County. If you should choose to exercise your power in the matter, I would suggest Addamsville and Norwood as proper places for

All of which is respectfully submitted.
JAMES [illegible]
Chairman.

The report was received and adopted.

A By-law appointing the county officers was then read a first, second and third times and passed.

The Warden read a letter from Mr. Hutton Town Police Magistrate applying for allowance to be made to him for acting as J. P. in county cases.

Mr. Hutton then on motion of Mr. Collins, addressed the Council in reference to the same, after which it was referred to the Finance Committee.

FINANCE REPORT.

On motion the Finance Committee reported That a By-law be passed authorizing the Warden and County Treasurer to borrow such sums of money from time to time as may be required to meet the current expenditure of the County—And also a By-law appropriating the surplus accumulated under By-law No. 264 (the debentures issued there-under having been redeemed) to meet the deficiency caused by ex pendit

The Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, JUNE 28, 1877.

A TORY SECRET SOCIETY.

Now that the Tories are in the most frantic manner trying to manufacture some cheap political capital by appealing to religious and national bigotry it may not be amiss to examine their inner political tactics to see how far the real spirit which actuates them differs from that they so blatantly profess. They affect great commiseration for the Irish Catholics, and would fain persuade them that the Reformers are wholly and alone to blame that there are not more Irish Catholic members in the House of Commons.—True there are many Irishmen there, and many Roman Catholics; but the complaint is, that the happy union of Irish and Catholic is all but unrepresented.—As well might it be argued, that though there are a number of dark-haired members of the Commons, and also many who wear spectacles, the large and intelligent class, who both wear spectacles and sport dark locks, is very inadequately represented; and that, therefore, a demand should be made for the election of a certain number of dark-haired spectacle wearers, to specially represent the doubly distinguished class to which they belong. Such a proposition would be at once scouted as absurd; but it is no more so than the analagous cry for Irish Canadian representation, the difference being that the hair and spectacles do not rouse the same bigoted feelings that are stirred by nationality and religion. The Tories, knowing this, pursue the contradictory course of condemning the old Catholic League while doing their best to form a new one, and reminding Irish Catholics of former follies while trying to lead them into similar ones. Tory allusions to what is called "Grit illiberality," and the assumption of extraordinary liberality on the part of the Tories, is for party purposes merely. Let us see where the illiberality really rests.

Not long ago, under the immediate auspices of the United Empire Club, the central "Wigwam" of the Tory party, there was formed what is known as "The Workingmen's Liberal Conservative Society". The constitution of this precious association is an interesting study, as indicative of the spirit which pervades Conservatism. The founders state among other objects that the society is intended "to give to each individual member the whole influence of the associated body"; also, "to present a solid mass vote for such candidates—municipal or parliamentary—as shall be decided by the majority of the members at a lodge meeting."—Subordinate Lodges have no power to alter the constitution, and are even forbidden to alter or amend by-laws, unless with the assent of the Grand Lodge which meets in Toronto, to be controlled by the Conservative leaders as the subordinate lodges are by it. Further quotations from the Constitution will make plain the manner in which it is sought to centralize the control not only of parliamentary, but also of municipal elections, which your true Tory will tell you should be separate from party, while he is at the same time trying to do all he can to elect to the municipal council some Tory manipulator. Our extracts read thus:—

(5) "In the event of any parliamentary or municipal election, the sub-lodges most interested in such election shall immediately communicate with the Grand Lodge, and shall act during the election as the Grand Lodge may direct." (9) "The Grand Lodge shall communicate with the leaders of the Liberal Conservative party and shall use every endeavor to act in concert with them." And (8) "It shall be the duty of the Grand Officers to use their utmost endeavors by all legitimate means to ensure the election to office of Liberal Conservatives."

The membership fees prove that wealth, and not worth, is the qualification that will be recognized. Ordinary membership costs one dollar, honorary membership $5; but these payments only entitle those who make them to the privilege of "doing as they are commanded. It is provided that only life members, or those who pay $25 into the funds, can receive the support of the society, as candidates at either parliamentary or municipal elections, "any member voting contrary to the interests of the Liberal Conservative party is to be expelled," and as he is bound by other parts of the constitution already quoted he cannot presume to determine for himself what the interests of the party are.

As in fitting in a society that thus binds its members to "a solid mass vote," it has as part of its machinery a regular system of signs, passwords, door keepers, ritual, and initiation ceremonies. In short, it is a secret society organized for political purposes. The greatest mystery in connection with it is to know why politics, which involve the general concerns of the whole people, should require any such secret organization. Political workings that are thus attempted to be hidden from the public gaze are in themselves suspicious; and the only assignable reason for secrecy is the inference that plots are to be hatched that will not bear the light.

Secret Societies, too, are closed to Roman Catholics by the tenets of their church; and this association is plainly preventing the choice of Roman Catholic candidates by the Conservatives, [though that party is just now loudly proclaiming its liberty toward the church whose members are thus insultingly shut out from the votes of all who join the "Workingmens Liberal (?) Conservative Society." Even Sir John A. Macdonald and Dr. Tupper, whose entrance into this society was loudly proclaimed could not, according to the obligations of their membership vote for any but a $25 life member; and as all Catholics, even though they be Conservatives, are precluded from becoming members of this or any other society, they cannot therefore be recognized as candidates, either parliamentary or municipal, by the leaders of the party, who thus set the example of Catholic exclusion to their followers, while they try by specious reasoning and false promises to obtain Catholic votes. Their actions loudly belie their words; and we believe the majority of the Irish Catholics have sense enough to see the inconsistency, and to estimate it properly.

MR. BERTRAM AND THE O'DONOGHUE AMNESTY QUESTION.

The Irish Canadian publishes a letter dated Peterborough, asking for a list of those members of the House of Commons who voted for and against amnesty to the man who sought to lead a foreign force to invade Manitoba at the time of the troubles in that province, brought about by the blundering incapacity of the late Dominion Ministry to deal with anything that did not pertain to votes and their purchase. There is also a request for an explanation as to how Mr. Bertram voted on this Amnesty question and on the New Brunswick School Bill; and the statement is made that the replies were wanted in view of Mr. Bertram's meeting at Ennismore. What use was made of these matters at that meeting can best be learned from the report published elsewhere in this issue. The letter to the Irish Canadian may or may not be genuine.—The well-known, and not undeserved, popularity of Mr. Bertram among Irish Catholics of both political parties in this County make such a letter anything but the expression of a general doubt of that gentleman's liberality of sentiment and entire freedom from antagonism to any because of race or creed. It may be that some Tory desirous of stirring up strife, actually did write the letter from Peterboro; but those hereabout who best know Mr. Boyle's manis, and the late turning of his coat, cannot but suspect that on learning of the meeting at Ennismore Mr. Boyle himself wrote the letter to himself in order that he might have a chance to abuse another "Scotch Reformer." If the letter be not genuine, then the use of "we" in the body, though it is signed "A Subscriber," is easily understood; but if it be genuine it is hard to make out who the "we" are for whom a single person without any explanation spoke, or why the editor of the Irish Canadian failed to answer fully what he was asked. He was requested to furnish the division list on the O'Donohue amnesty resolution. This he fails to do. Is it because in his new-found zeal for Conservatism, he is not ready to denounce the Tory members who were among the 105 voting against the amnesty he says should have been granted? If it be really true that some one wrote from Peterborough to gain the information asked for in the letter, and not given by the person to whom it is addressed, the writer could with less trouble have obtained the list of names he wanted by addressing a note to THE EXAMINER, as we should have been, and shall at any time be, glad to comply with such a request. It is on the whole rather apparent that the letter was written chiefly, if not wholly, that Mr. Boyle might be given a chance to say something of West Peterboro' and its member, if not for the first time, at least in an unusual manner, as many in the constituency can testify.

The exceedingly coarse way in which the Irish Canadian alludes to a liberal-minded gentleman, who has ever been in advance of his neighbors in according not only equal rights, but fair play to exercise such rights, to Irish Catholics, prove that however lacking the House of Commons may be in Irish Catholic talent, if the editor of the Irish Canadian be a true type of representative men of the class he professes to champion, the fewer that are elected the better for the Irish Catholics. We are glad to think that he is not; and that when Irish Catholics appeal to the electors of any constituency they will not be of the mean-spirited kind who would sell their nationality and their church connection for place; who are ready to sacrifice their fellows to either party for office, if they could but accomplish that purpose; and who howl with rage and vexation when their despicable desires are not fulfilled. It is such a man that speaks of the able and respected member for West Peterborough as "one of Mackenzie's vote-pumps, who voted with his brother Covenanters to deny any mercy to Professor O'Donoghue." The so-called "vote-pump" is the freely chosen representative of a large number of Irish Catholics of West Peterborough, which electors consider they are better able to judge of his fitness than is Mr. Patrick Boyle, whom they will hardly thank for his gratuitous insult to the man of their choice and through him to themselves. Mr. Bertram they know well; Mr. Boyle they have seen and heard, as well as heard from and of; and they are therefore able to [illegible] Boyle contrives strangely to entertain a great respect. We wonder if it pays him to thus discriminate among the 105 "brother Covenanters!"

The editor of the Irish Canadian displays his ignorance or his falsity when he speaks of Mr. Bertram as "one of the men who have carried the malignant bigotry in which they refuse to vote for an Irish Canadian Catholic into a very system of treachery," and as "one of those cunning commonplaces who have wormed their slimy way amongst a trusting and simple body of electors." We quote the Irish Canadian's words in order that our readers may see that the literary expression of Mr. Bertram's critic is quite in keeping with his character for veracity. The political history of the member for West Peterborough in the Commons at once belie these coarse references to him, the only excuse for which can be the evident madness which has seized upon him who penned them. It was not "malignant bigotry" that caused Mr. Bertram (called by Boyle a "Covenanter") to be the first and most earnest of the friends of Mr. Hogan, an Irish Catholic, in East Peterborough. It is not "malignant bigotry" that makes him the favourite of the Reform Catholics, and the friend even of the Conservative Catholics of his constituency and of the adjoining one. His popularity is owing on the other hand to his honest and unassuming advocacy and practice of a liberality that embraces all creeds and classes, and for which characteristic he has been criticised by bigots strongly antagonistic to the faith which Mr. Boyle professes, and for which he becomes a Don Quixote. The "trusting and simple body of electors" alluded to are not to be turned against such a friend, whom their "higher intelligence" has taught them to respect as an "honorable gentleman" indeed and a worthy representative. Though he be but a "commonplace," the records of the House of Commons and the pages of Hansard will show that he is such a "commonplace" as the majority of the constituencies in the Dominion might be glad to possess.

PUBLIC MEETING.

MEASURES FOR RELIEF OF THE ST. JOHN SUFFERERS.

PETERBOROUGH TOWN GRANTS $1,000 TOWARDS THAT OBJECT.

A public meeting of the citizens of the town was called by the Mayor on Tuesday evening last, to take into consideration the advisability of giving a grant to the suffers by the great fire at St. John, and announced that a concert was to be held for that object.

The Mayor occupied the chair, and explained the object of the meeting in a few words, to be to consider the question of granting assistance to the people rendered homeless and destitute by the great fire at St. John, N. B.

The attendance at the meeting was not as large as was expected.

On motion Mr. J. Erskine was appointed Secretary of the meeting.

Mr. Clementi, after a few preliminary remarks moved the following motion, seconded by J. Bertram, M. P.,—That the inhabitants of the Town of Peterboro have heard with feelings of the deepest commiseration the account of the very destructive fire which has reduced the late beautiful City of St. John, N. B., to a heap of ashes, and desire to offer to the sufferers by that sad occurrence the expression of their profound sympathy.—Carried.

Dr. Burritt, jr., moved that the Council be authorized to grant aid to the City of St. John, to the amount of $1.500.

Mr. Dumble thought that it was incumbent upon us to assist them handsomely, because they were our own countrymen, and show to the world that we were bound to stand to our countrymen who are in need so long as we have a dollar.

Mr. Cox thought if Peterborough gave $1000 she was giving as much in proportion as any other place, and that it was as much as they could afford to give as a municipality, and moved $1000 as an amendment to Dr. Burritt's motion.

Mr. Cahill seconded the amendment, and he thought that $1000 from Peterborough would be as much in proportion as other places, and said that we had a great many poor in our own town to look after, but he thought that no doubt there would be a good many who would give assistance privately.

Mr. Lech thought there was no use in looking for private subscriptions.

Mr. Pendry said the opinion of those who signed the petition was that $1000 should be given.

Mr. Bertram thought that if the town gave $1000 no doubt but that this grant could be supplemented by private subscriptions.

Mr. Dumble made an apology for Rev. Mr. Willoughby's unavoidable absence.

After a few remarks Dr. Burritt made his motion $1000 which was seconded by Mr. Cox, and unanimously carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

In a late issue we enunciated the fact that the Reformers were not afraid to somewhat weaken their party by putting their best men into public offices, where only good men should be; and that the party after all suffered little, as a party by such losses, because young and able men are constantly rising in the Reform ranks to fill vacancies made in the public interest. This is the way the Reformers "save the country;" and verily it needed such a salvation; a paper, the geographical position of which, rather than its importance in any other sense, calls upon us to notice its remarks, tries to frame an answer to our position on this matter of filling public offices with the best men; and actually declares that the "best men of the party are notoriously less fitted for departmental work." That may be a sort of axiom among Tories; but certainly it was not extended to the Reform party. Even the wiseacre who propounds it, subsequently disproves his principle, as far at least as Reformers go, when he extends his complaints to such men as Lieut-Governor Laird, Messrs. Ross, Dorion and Geoffrion, none of whom even we will ourselves presume to accuse of unfitness for the positions they now respectively occupy.

POOR FELLOWS.—The Proprietors of the "Half-way House" have got them again; this time pretty bad. We would say with our friend of the "Toronto World," "Truly the affliction is great." But it must be a "[illegible]" of "unfortunate sandpaper" [illegible] to deprive our confreres very [illegible] Had they not better go [illegible] "a way they have"? It may be [illegible]

THE STREETS.

The Town council has been in trouble for many years over the occupation of streets by citizens, and it appears that their trouble is only commencing. If the annoyance of monthly bicker[illegible] cannot be put an end to except by opening all the streets, then the "Fathers" should be sufficient for such an occasion, and put an end to the matter. So long as two councillors, some Ex-Councillors and others are permitted to use streets for private purposes, there is no justice or reason in dealing severely with Mr. Romaine. He has as good a right to occupy and use Water Street, as councillors Dumble and Hamilton have to use Rubidge and Murray Street, or Ex-Councillor Rutherford to occupy and plant potatoes on Downey Street, and it is not reasonable that those gentlemen should be allowed quiet possession of the streets referred to, while Mr. Romaine would be compelled to open Water Street. Our council should show themselves equal to this thing and open all the streets, otherwise let all who occupy streets do so, until they are required for public purposes. Occupation of a street establishes no claim to ownership therefore occupation cannot alienate the property from the public. But rather than continue an unseemly yearly and almost weekly contest over such a trifle let the council settle the matter now, and for all time. This need not in any way interfere with the question of wharf extension as the river edge belongs to the public and should be used for the public benefit. Mr. H. Calcutt is cultivating a trade that may in time be of immense public advantage, and there is no good reason why he should be prevented or hindered in his work, there is room enough for all, and water enough in the Otonabee for both Mr. Romaine and Mr. Calcutt, why need any one then act the dog in the manger.

DOMINION DAY.

There has been nothing of any consequence in the shape of sports or amusements, got up for the celebration of Dominion Day in this town, and as is usual a great many will go to neighbouring towns to "have a little fun"! Arrangements have been made with the Railway Company to convey passengers at reduced rates.

YOUNG IRISHMEN'S PIC-NIC.

The Young Irishmen, will hold their annual pic-nic in Wallace's Grove, extensive preparations are being made to render it at least equal to any in the past. Those who wish to enjoy a pleasant day without going away from home, will find ample opportunity by paying a visit to this pic-nic.

YOUNG BRITONS EXCURSION ON THE "GOLDEN-EYE".

The Orange Young Britons have made arrangements for a grand excursion and pic-nic on the Golden-Eye to Campbellstown. Which no doubt will be well patronized. The Committee have made arrangements with Mr. Calcutt, to carry parties on to Harwood and Gore's Landing if so desired. This will enable parties to visit Harwood and have a splendid sail if they wish. A great many availed themselves of the opportunity for a sail on the Golden-Eye last summer and a greater number may even do so this summer. All the conveniences necessary for a successful pic-nic will be on the grounds. A palace scow will be attached for dancing. Boat leaves the warf at 7.30 p.m., sharp.

THE Conservative journal of this town still maintains its mental blindness on the subject of the Georgian Bay Branch. We cannot be continually explaining it to so dull an intellect, particularly as we feel assured the rest of our readers have been able to fully comprehend the plain statements we have furnished in regard to it. Our contemporary acknowledges that we were "good enough to save it the trouble" of publishing the official records it promised its readers; from which we take it that all the readers of the Review also read THE EXAMINER as a corrective. In that case the omission of our contemporary does not matter so much. While we accept the explanation, we cannot but remark that it is not a case of reciprocal advantages; for though all the readers of the Review may take THE EXAMINER, there are many of our readers who never see the Review. For those among them who are indebted to us for the "official records" promised them by the Review we would notice that paper's comparison of those records as published by us to a forged cheque. Such an insinuation is simply contemptible in conjunction with the acknowledgement made. If the extracts we made from official papers were not genuine it could easily be shown wherein they were fraudulent; and now that our cowardly contemporary has gone the length of insinuating dishonesty in our quotations, we challenge it to make clear its inuendo. If it cannot do this it must be convicted of adding a cowardly action to its former display of craven fear.

Speaking of the Catholics, by the bye, in a strangly mild and consilatory tone, the Review says it is "free to recognise the justice of their claims when they point to the House of Commons, and remind us that not one seat is warmed by an Irish Catholic representative." The Review is altogether too ready to recognise a claim on false grounds, and the acceptance of the reminder stated by the Review writer, without question or examination, proves that he is simply a child. A very little research would have shown this unobservant fellow who was pointed to the House of Commons that in that body there are a number of Irish Catholics, and that while only our Mr. Costigan is a Conservative, Messrs. Power, Ryan, Anglyn, Flynn, and Devlin, are staunch Reformers. If any party is to be condemned for the non-election of Irish Catholics to the House of Commons, let it be the right one. The count stands five to one in favor of the Reform party. We shall be glad to hear some more of the lack of Irish Catholic representatives in the House of Commons; but at the same time we would remind the Review writer of the old saw concerning the handling of edged tools.

We hear very much lately of a "compact" said to have been entered into between the Reformers and Roman Catholics. If such were really the case, it is somewhat strange that neither Reformers nor Roman Catholics knew what they were doing, or indeed that they had any hand in such a compact. Whether the Reformers, [illegible] Roman Catholics, or the Roman Catholics [illegible] Reformers, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

List of Convictions.—The list of convictions for the past quarter will be found on the fourth page of this issue.

Tri-Weekly Mail.—The tri-weekly mail between Apsley and Peterborough commences on Monday, the 2nd of July.

Personal.—We are glad to see that Mr. C. R. D. Booth, of Lakefield, has been appointed a Notary Public for the Province of Ontario.

The Golden-Eye carried a great number of excursionists to Harwood on Saturday. A very pleasant sail can be had on this vessel.

How terrified the gentlemen are becoming lest their complexion should suffer from the sun; hence the eruption of umbrellas.

A Concert was held last evening in aid of the sufferers by the great fire in St. John, N.B., an account of which will appear in our next.

Flies and Fans abound in the churches, and those who are accustomed to have a sleep while the sermon is going on say they are a nuisance.

It has been suggested that next Sunday being Dominion Day, collections be taken up in all the churches in behalf of the St. John sufferers.

Now that Dominion Day is approaching the press is calling attention to the desirability of taking precautions against the use or abuse of fire crackers.

We Call the attention of our readers to the advertisement announcing the postponement of the Horticultural Society's show, in another column.

A late riser says he is in great hopes that some method will be derived during the present summer whereby flies may be kept asleep until other people wake up.

Personal.—We are glad to be able to state that constable Johnston has just about recovered from a severe attack of sickness, and will be on his beat again in a few days.

Cricket Match.—A cricket match will come off on the cricket ground to-day, at 11 a.m., between the Lakefield and Peterborough clubs. Admission 10 cents, Ladies free.

Fruit Store.—Bailey Bro. fruit store. Fresh confectionary, oranges, lemons, dates, nuts, and candies of every kind, canned goods of every description, etc., All fruit in season. 24-7

Masonic Sermon.—Sunday last being St. John's Day, a large number of the Masonic Brethren of this town visited St. John's Church, where a sermon was preached by the Rev. V. Clementi.

The Port Perry Merchants have taken steps to organize a Board of Trade. If they manage their affairs as well as the Board of Trade lately organized here, it will take an immense deal of heavy brain work to accomplish anything.

Will Ashburnham annex to the town? Is the question that is creating considerable interest at present. As far as we can learn they say: "our taxes are sufficiently high enough at present to suit the times," and they don't care, you know, for a park at present.

Cricket Match.—The match between the County and Town, came off in the cricket field, Ashburnham, on Friday afternoon. Considerable interest being taken in the game. The County men proved too much for their opponents, but only beat them by 4 runs.

This Week we show the contents of another shipment of new goods, containing plain colored Prints, Table Linenes, Corsets, Umbrellas, Kid and Thread Gloves, also a fine selection of Ladies Prunella Gaiters and lace Boots at unusually low prices. W. J. Wallace, Lakefield. 26-3

St. Andrew's Church.—The induction of the Rev. Mr. Bell, formerly of Preston, England, will take place in the St. Andrew's Church to-day, at 2.30 p.m. A Strawberry festival will take place in the evening at 7.30. Music will be given by the choir, under the leadership of Mr. Jos. McClelland.

New Mail Route.—By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that on and after Monday, the 2nd of July, a stage will leave Peterborough for Apsley, every Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings at 7 a. m., returning from Apsley every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings.

Evening the Law.—Sporting men have already found a way to beat the pool bill. Photographs of the horses in the race are sold for five, ten, fifty, or one hundred dollars, the purchaser of the picture of the winning horse obtaining the money paid for the others, minus the seller's commission.

$200 Grant.—The County Council of Peterborough have voted $200 for the relief of the sufferers by the St. John Fire, which is considered rather small for so wealthy a county. We are of the opinion that it should have been $300 at least, or $1,000, considering the great distress that is prevailing there.

Refrigerators.—Mr. H. Best has just imported several very nice articles in this line. Any one requiring such an article should call and see Mr. Best's, as they are both useful and ornamental. He has also some handsome gratings for fire places, which parties who are erecting comfortable residences should not fail to see.

Base Ball.—A game of Base Ball was played on the Cricket Ground on Tuesday afternoon between the "Britannias," of Campbellford and the "Pine Groves," of Peterborough, which resulted in a victory for the latter by 16 runs. The following is the score:—

Pine Groves	6	7	2	11	6	0	1	3	—36
Britannias	0	1	0	1	5	0	1	3	—20

Dominion Day.—The anniversary of Confederation falls on Sunday this year, and it has been decided that the celebration of the event should be held on Monday, July 2nd, and the Mayor has issued his proclamation in accordance with a petition presented to him to that effect. This being the first decade of the federal union, in the capital and at other places, the celebration will be on a grander scale than usual.

In Operation.—The flour Mill purchased by Mr. L. Fisher, at Bridgenorth, has been entirely rebuilt with the most improved machinery, and he is now prepared to do business, &c., on the principle of "live and let live." The machinery is under the personal inspection of Mr. Fisher, who has had years of experience in the country as a miller, and is now prepared to buy any quantity of wheat, at the highest market price, and to sell flour at a reasonable profit. Mr. Fisher has also purchased the saw mill, and is prepared to saw lumber on shares.

The Weather.—Lovelier weather than that which at present prevails it would be difficult to imagine. Although the sun gives forth a vast amount of heat daily, the effect of this heat is tempered by nice breezes, whilst a delicious coolness prevails after nightfall, To the dweller in cities and towns and the farmer the present weather is welcome, as being beautiful without having an enervating effect, and as stimulating the rapid growth of crops of all kinds.

Fire.—We learn that the Barns of Mr. Stephen Michelle, 10th concession of Smith, were consumed by fire on Wednesday, the 20th instant. There was about 150 bushels of wheat, 150 bushels of oats, a quantity of hay, and some new and valuable farming implements and machinery in the buildings which were consumed. The buildings were insured in the Canada Agricultural for $600. There was no insurance on the contents. Loss about $1,200.—Com.

Body Found.—The body of the late Mr. John Gilmour, of Quebec, who has been missing since the 25th of February last, was found floating down the river on Tuesday morning. The theory is that the body remained fast in the mud at the bottom of the river close to where the dredge is now at work, and that it was turned up by the spoon of the dredge. This seems to be borne out by the fact that the finger of the left hand appears to have been recently bruised.—Globe

Garden Social.—On Tuesday evening last the Garden Social at the residence of Mr. G. E. Snider, for the benefit of St. Lukes Church was quite a success. There was an audience of about 300, and the spacious grounds, which were well lighted, afforded every opportunity for spending a pleasant evening. The evening was beautiful and all were well pleased with the evenings programme. The host and hostess were most assidious in their efforts to make all enjoy themselves, and the result was an exceedingly pleasant evening.

Royal Scarlet Convocation.—The Annual Convocation of the West Peterborough Royal Scarlet Chapter was opened in the Orange Hall, Peterborough, on Thursday, 14th instant, when after proceeding with the routine business, the meeting was adjourned until Wednesday evening 20th instant, when the election of officers for the ensuing year took place, resulting as follows:—

Wood's Bible Annual.—Respecting the book we circulate this week, a list of commendations from the leading judges in Canada. To all thoughtful readers of Holy Scripture, and especially to the young, this book, prepared with great labor, will be of interest and permanent instruction. It is worthy of a place in the library of every scholar who desires information as to the habits, structure and uses of the living creatures mentioned in the Bible, and who seeks for explanations of those passages in the old and new testament, in which reference is made to beast, bird, reptile, fish, or insect. The illustrations, with which the book is enriched, do credit to the engraver, whilst adding greatly to the permanent value of the book. We hope every family in Peterborough will make an effort to obtain this valuable work.

The Turner Gallery.—Any person who has had the opportunity of visiting the National Gallery of England, must have lingered longer in the department which contains the paintings of the immortal Turner than any other. This, the greatest of all artists of the British School, has never been equalled in the history of the world as a landscape painter, a genius whose subjects are so versatile, so immeasurably grand and notable, and so astounding and exquisitly in contrast so to form the basis of fine art for ever, and the theme of admiration of all civilized nations. The value of Turner's paintings is so immense that no money can purchase it. Although the privilege of seeing the works of this wonderful man is denied to thousands of our people and our children, in the original, yet we have a chance of possessing a perfect copy of them all, through the enterprise of the celebrated house of Virtue & Co., London, England. This firm which is well known for the beauty and value of the publications, have produced the paintings of Turner in steel, the plates being executed by the first talent of England, we may safely say there has never been a finer work of art issued than this, and we hope it will have a large sale, as its tendency, as is the case with all their publications, will be to inculcate a refined taste, and promote a desirable appreciation in our community. The gentleman who represents Messrs. Virtue & Co. has visited our town before, and is now on his second tour through Canada. He is now soliciting orders for this superb work of art, and we wish him ever success.

WEST PETERBOROUGH.

Enthusiastic Reception of Mr. Bertram in Ennismore.

HIS ABLE SPEECH ON THE "PUBLIC QUESTIONS OF THE DAY."

Arguments in Favor of Free Trade.

HOW INJURIOUSLY INCREASED PROTECTION WOULD AFFECT THE AGRICULTURIST.

Powerful Defence of His Vote on the O'Donohue Amnesty Question.

(By our own Reporter.)

According to appointment Mr. Bertram met the electors of Ennismore, at the Town Hall, on Friday evening last. The Hall was crowded to excess, many persons not being able to get standing room.

On motion Mr. Patrick Gallivan was called into the chair. After making a few remarks he introduced the Speaker of the evening, who on coming forward was greeted with loud applause.

Mr. Bertram said he was very glad of the opportunity which he then possessed of addressing the electors of this township. He was the more gratified that in doing so he was responding to a kind invitation signed by a large number of the electors, asking him to speak on the public questions of the day. In his address he would direct his remarks principally to a review of the condition of the country and to questions now at issue. He was glad to discern in their invitation an evidence of the interest the people there took in public affairs, and he thanked them for the compliment thus conferred on him. He thought that this example might be well followed by the electors of other constituencies. They should ask their representatives to give an explanation of the part taken by them in parliament.

The main questions of importance are "How are we to be governed; who are to govern us, and the general welfare of the country." If we were to pass in review the position of this country in comparison with other countries, it must be a source of great satisfaction to live under such free and enlightened institutions as we enjoy.

A large number of the gentlemen who signed this requisition signed also the first requisition which brought him before the public in 1872. He was glad to say that the relations between them and him had existed thus far in a most friendly degree, and that he had still a great many friends in the township.

When the electors take into consideration the fact that he was but one out of an assembly of 200 members who had been convened to carry on the affairs and advance the welfare of the country, they would understand the difficulty of any representative carrying out exactly his own views. He had now to express his opinion after hearing the opinions of many in that locality, which were different from many he had held years different from many he had held. There may be cases of conscience where the interests of the country at large may require the sacrifice of a different opinion. The constituencies had to say one of two things—either they had confidence in their representative or they had not. If in the first of every man who spoke before the public, even if his opinions conflicted with those of his audience by the time he had finished his ideas fearlessly whatever they were. He is bound in honor to give the vote he really holds on all public questions, whether popular or not. His friend, Mr. Scott, had done him the honor to come there. He had no doubt he came, like the rest, to hear the explanation which (Mr. Bertram) would give as to his course in parliament. He (Mr. B.) had spoken to Mr. Scott before the meeting opened, and in the course of conversation Mr. Scott informed him that as this meeting was called by his own friends (Mr. B's) he did not propose taking part in the discussion. Many gentlemen might think that in all such meetings it was right to have two sides represented. Therefore if Mr. Scott wanted to speak he would only be too happy to allow him to do so. He had now to state whether his views had changed since the open expression to them in 1872, and during the succeeding general election in 1874, and also whether upon the whole the present administration had his confidence. Now, although he was not prepared to state the present government was perfect in all things, they nevertheless had his confidence. He would on a vote of confidence support the present Ministry to-morrow rather than have Sir John A. Macdonald and his party restored to power. He (Mr. B.) would question the sincerity of any man who spoke before a public audience, and said that one class of politicians were perfect and the others all sinners. The Reformers occasionally made mistakes, and he had more than once, as could be seen by looking over the public records, voted against those gentlemen. The Liberal party of Canada have not been in possession of the reins of power very long. They had no opportunity of controlling the affairs of the country since Confederation until the fall of 1873. He believed that the spirit of partisanship had been carried to a greater extent than was at all wise or unnecessary. He believed that every man who sought to represent a constituency should be a representative of the people as such rather than an instrument to do the bidding of a party. He would not blindly follow any man or set of men in Canada. He (Mr. B.) would like to see the spirit of partizanship existing in Canada disappear. Immediately after Confederation the Government of Sir John A. Macdonald was strong in numbers. They had every prospect of success. Their majority however in 1873 had fallen to 16 votes. What wrecked the Conservative party was the fact (which had been dinned into the public ear) that they had trafficked and contracted with public men. They utilized the money of public contractors for the purpose of keeping themselves in power. There was a hue and cry in the country. The Conservatives were compelled to resign their position in 1873 to allow the present Ministry to take their place. In 1874 the judgement of the people was taken as to whether those men who had then ruled so long were to be restored or not. The country spoke with no uncertain sound. The Conservatives were hurled from their seats in parliament. The Reformers came back, after the general election, stronger than before. A very large number of conservative constituencies had reversed their former judgment and returned Liberals. What is the position of the Conservative party in Canada to-day? That party will certainly rule the country at some future day sooner or later.

Action no one party is likely to occupy the treasury benches without change. But he hoped that the day was far distant when Sir John A. Macdonald would be restored to power. Against the Right-Honorable gentleman personally he had nothing to say, but the day that sees him back to power will see Canada disgraced. Altho' the Conservative party should rule to-morrow he hoped that Sir John would not return except as a private member. Any man who says that the Conservatives are all rascals, and the others all saints, says what is not true. It is right to take into account every act done by a public man. If he has once done a great wrong then under no consideration let him be allowed to ever resume his place as first minister. He (Mr. B.) believed that the present Government had done very well since they took office. They have been careful pilots of the ship of state. They have guided the country in a season of no ordinary difficulties. Taking office the time they did they were called upon to rule in the most difficult period in the history of Canada since Confederation. He (Mr. B.) repeated that he had given no vote merely as a party vote—that he had endeavored to be the representative of his constituents solely and absolutely. He had not acted as a Reformer, and as a Reformer only. He had endeavored to keep a moderate attitude in parliament. No man could say that he had abused or spoken evil of the Conservative party. Such a method of procedure is not desirable.

The next thing is to enquire are there any great questions now dividing the two political parties in canada? In 1874 the question before the electors was whether Sir John A. Macdonald was then worthy of further trust and confidence. And now during the four years, is there any questions to which Her Majesty's Loyal opposition have offered an amendment. He (Mr. B.) knew of but one or two. One of the most important is the question (on which an amendment to the Government policy thereon was introduced) whether the people of Canada were to have modified free trade as at present, or Protection. This was a question which was arguable on both sides. It can be discussed without recrimination. We may have one section of the people judging one way and the other judging the opposite. We may have the farming community in favor of the former—in favor of low taxes and cheap commodities, we may have the cities of Toronto, Hamilton and the like manufacturing centres in favor of protection. This was the main issue, viz: Modified Free Trade vs. Protection, and he (the speaker) was prepared to accept it as such. He believed, taking in view the depression now existing that Free Trade was not such a popular cry as that of Protection. Some people even argued that a duty on wheat would be beneficial to the farmers of Canada. The absurdity of this position he would illustrate by a matter that he brought before the electors in 1872. A large deputation from various parts of France waited on the Emperor and asked him to prohibit the importation of wheat. They thought that if it was stopped the price of wheat would rise. His (the speakers) hearers were all aware that the Emperor of the French was a wise and acute man in commercial matters; he took occasion to point out that the members comprising the deputation were proceeding on a wrong assumption—that it would not raise the price of wheat to take such a course. His reason in support of this position were that: During that year the French had a very large crop of wheat, much in excess of the produce of former years. They had more wheat than was required in their own country. Their quotations were therefore governed by the prices which were obtained in Liverpool or London. The speaker thought that the same fact existed here, but instead of being exceptional as in France were continuous, as we raised in Canada more agricultural produce than we consumed. This was the line of argument used by the Emperor. Before going into the question, he (Mr. B.) said he would like to review the financial condition of the country before confederation. Sir John A. Macdonald paid the other day that his Government never had a deficit. This statement was incorrect. The same assertion was made by the member for Stanstead on the floor of the house. He (Mr. B.) corrected him then, and told him that he had not taken the trouble of looking into the public accounts. From 1860 to 1867 our expenditure was greater than our revenue. Every year during that time we had a tariff of twenty per cent on general goods coming into the country. In 1866 the tariff was reduced from twenty to fifteen per cent on these goods and from that period we had a revenue which exceeded the expenditure. We had by his side the public accounts of this year. It might not be thought out of place to state what our expenditure was in 1867. It was, he believed, the first year after John was in [illegible] the amount of [illegible] the [illegible] the [illegible] the

TO YOUNG MEN!

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay clearly demonstrates, from thirty years successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED SPRUCE GUM,

—FOR—

Coughs, Colds, Bronchial and all Throat Affections.

The Gum which exudes from the Red Spruce tree is, without doubt, the most valuable native Gum for Medicinal purposes.

Its remarkable power in relieving certain severe forms of Bronchitis, and its almost specific effect in curing obstinate hacking Coughs, is now well known to the public at large. In this Syrup (carefully prepared at low temperature), containing a large quantity of the finest picked Gum in complete solution, all the Tonic Expectorant, Balsamic and Anti-Spasmodic effects of the Red Spruce Gum are fully preserved. For sale at all Drug Stores. Price, 25 cents per bottle.

READ CAREFULLY.

SAMUEL OSBORNE, Sophiasburg, says—"I was affected with Dyspepsia for nearly four years, my lungs becoming affected towards the last. I was induced to try the "Shoshoness Remedy." After using three or four bottles I felt much better, and gained strength rapidly, my health improved steadily and rapidly, and when I had taken three or four bottles more, I was quite restored to health and strength, and have experienced better health than for forty years before. I had been under the treatment of a number of physicians before, but never received any material aid until I used your remedy."

A. MCKAY, Truro, N. S., says "he was very bad with Liver Complaint, but used the "Shoshoness Remedy," and in a month was as well as he had ever been in his life. I am now in business and wish you to send me three dozen by steamer.

A. WOOD, Consecon, says: "That he has tried the "Remedy" for Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia with great success. I have also used the "Shoshoness Pills," and find that they are as good as any I ever tried.

Rev. JOHN SCOTT says—"Mr. McKenzie Booting suffered from an attack of rheumatism, and was unable to move without help but after taking a few bottles of the 'Shoshoness" was able to walk as well as ever." Price of the Remedy in plat bottles $1; Pills 25 cents a box.

WHAT THEY SAY OF IT? A FEW FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.—There are but few preparations of medicines which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people for any great length of time. One of these is Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil. Read the following and be convinced:—Thos. Robinson, Farnham Centre, P. Q., writes, "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for the last ten years, and have tried many remedies without any relief, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and since then have had no attack of it. I would recommend it to all."—J. H. Earl, Hotel Keeper, West Shefford, P. Q., writes, "I have been troubled with liver complaint for several years, and have tried different medicines with little or no benefit, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which gave me immediate relief, and I would say that I have used it since with the best effect. No one should be without it. I have tried it on my horses in cases of cuts, wounds, etc., and think it is equally as good for horse as for man."—A. Mayhew Merchant, Warkworth, writes, "I have sold some hundreds of bottles of Eclectric Oil, and it is pronounced by the public, 'one of the best medicines they have ever used;' it has done wonders in healing and relieving pain, sore throats, etc., and is worthy of the greatest confidence."—Joseph Rosar, Township Percy writes, "I persuaded to try Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lame knee which troubled me for three or four years, and I never found anything like it for curing lameness. It is a great public benefit."—A. M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes, "For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which annoyed me very much. Mr. Hayhoe of this place lodged me to try Eclectric Oil, and before one bottle was used I was cured. It is a most remarkable medicine. Sold by all medicine dealers Price, 25 cents.

NO RISK.

Thomas' Eclectric Oil! Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, do it time you did.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest Medicine ever made. One dose cures coustoes Sore Throat. One bottle has cured Rheumatism. Fifty cents' worth has cured an Old Standing Cough. One or two bottles cures bad cases of Piles and Kidney Troubles. Six to eight applications cure any of Excoriated Nipples or Inflamed Breast. One bottle has cured Lame Back of eight years standing. Daniel Plank, of Brookfield, Tioga County, Pa., says: "I went thirty miles for a bottle of your Oil, which effected a Wonderful Cure of a Crooked Limb, by six applications." Another who has had Asthma for years, says: "I have half of a 50 cent bottle left, and $100 would not buy it if I could get no more.

Reuben Robinson, of Nunda, N. Y. writes "One small bottle of your Eclectric Oil restored the voice where the person had not spoken above a whisper in Five Years. Rev. J. Mallory, of Wyoming, N. Y., writes "Your Eclectric Oil cured me of Bronchitis in one week."

It is composed of six of the Best Oils that are known. Is as good for internal as for external use, and is believed to be immeasurably superior to anything ever made. Will save you much suffering and many dollars of expense.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.—Ask for Dr. Thos. Eclectric Oil. See that the signature of S. N. Thomas is on the wrapper, and the names of Northrop & Lyman are blown in the bottle, and Thos. no other. A WONDERFUL REFORM IN FANNING MILLS.

Farmers wanting to purchase a First Class Fanning Mill should call on

MINORGAN & ELLIOTT

AND GET ONE OF THEIR

"FARMERS FRIEND."

They are the best and cheapest Fanning Mills in the Market, and clean from 90 to 100 bush. of Wheat, ready for the market, in an hour, and does not throw the large grain into the tailings. We have received a large number of Testimonials from different Farmers in the County who have used our Mills. They will speak for themselves:—

Greystock P.O., Otonabee, Mar. 12, 1877—
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—This is to certify that I have given the "Farmers Friend" Mill a fair trial, and have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion it is one of the best Mills now in use for cleaning grain for seed or market.
Yours etc.,
J. SMITHSON.

Otonabee, March 21, 1877.
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—This is to certify that I have given your "Farmers Friend" Mill a fair trial, and have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion it is one of the best Mills now in use for cleaning grain for seed or market.
Yours etc.,
J. REDMOND.

Balsam Grove, Peterboro, March 13, 1877.
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—I have tested your "Farmers Friend" Mill and find that it works well, taking out all dirt and small seeds out of grain and making a good clean article for sale. I am sure that your machine will give good satisfaction among the farmers, that is if they want to take good clean grain to market, and get five cents per bushel more for it.
Yours etc.,
J. H. WALTON.

Smith, 8th March, 1877.
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—I take pleasure in recommending the "Farmers Friend" as being the best Mill I have ever had, and I have had several of what was called the Best Makes in Ontario.
JAS. ELLIOTT.

Peterboro, March 8th, 1877.
This is to certify that we have tested Moore & Minorgan's Mill and pronounce it to be the best we have ever seen cleaning, and it is the best Seperator we have ever seen.
JOHN DOBBIN.
I also endorse the above statement.
WM. DOBBIN.

Smith, March 6th, 1877.
This is to certify that I have seen Moore & Minorgan's Seperator in my barn. I consider it the "Boss Mill."

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 5, 1877.

MR. BERTRAM BEFORE HIS CONSTITUENTS.

By the extended report of the proceedings given in last week's EXAMINER it will have been seen that the Dominion member for West Peterborough addressed a large assemblage of his constituents at Ennismore on questions interesting not only to them, but to the whole people of Canada. That he was pleased with the invitation to meet with his supporters in that part of the riding was plainly evidenced by the hearty way in which he thanked them for the opportunity afforded him of seeing and speaking to them concerning his course in Parliament as their representative. He appeared as an honored delegate reporting his mission to those who had sent him upon it. Such a reception by his constituents to the representative who feels that he has discharged the duties of his position faithfully and conscientiously cannot but be a pleasure; and it can readily be understood how great a punishment such a meeting would be to one who had been unfaithful to the trust reposed in him by the electors. We wish, therefore, that similar meetings to that at Ennismore were more frequent in this and other counties, if only as a test of the honesty and sitcerity of Parliamentary representatives. One great advantage of such meetings of representative and represented is the opportunity given for a thorough explanation of the course pursued by the constituency, through its member, during the session. The country as a whole should know what it has done, and thoroughly understand why it has acted or voted certain ways on certain questions. In spite of newspapers and a Hansard, there are many in each constituency who fail to get at all the facts in connection with all the questions arising during the sitting of Parliament. Some have no inclination to follow the ever varying business of the session; and many of those who would otherwise "keep the run" of public affairs cannot find the time. Even questions of major importance cannot be fully understood without the expenditure of a very considerable amount of time in their study. Though everyone may know that such questions exist, and many may discern the chief points of difference, only the small majority can find time, even when they desire, to master the details, on which a clear comprehension invariably depends. All who are not absolutely blind can see the mountain, and most people will notice some of its chief characteristics; but only those who measure it, scale it, or dig into it, can tell you of its dangers or delights, its usefulness or its powers for evil. The representatives of the people are supposed to have their minds concentrated on public affairs, particularly during the session, when nearly all others are lost in the mass of measures and puzzled for lack of details that do not reach them through the newspapers. These men on returning home should deem it both a duty and a pleasure to enlighten their constituents upon such matters that are dark, and explain to them how the vote of the constituency has gone and why. Those who cannot freely and fully meet their constituents as friends to whom they have been faithful, are not fit to remain representatives. To decline to meet his constituents in such a manner would be a tacit acknowledgment that he had been unfaithful either by gross neglect or dishonesty of purpose. Mr. Bertram's alacrity and evident pleasure in appearing to give his constituents an account of his stewardship goes a long way to prove both his diligence and honesty in the discharge of his Parliamentary duties. A further test of rectitude and conscious power is furnished by the willingness of the representative to meet both political supporters and opponents and to lay his views before them. The mere politician who depends wholly on his return to Parliament, and whose party perspicuity gets beyond his rectitude as a representative, will hesitate before he makes public his prominent views and thus exposes the strong points of his position to the attack of designing opponents. The statesmanlike and patriotic representative will have no such fears; but is willing at all times to come boldly to the front, explain his views, and invite criticism. Undoubtedly Quite a number of Conservative pamphlets have been circulated throughout the country, and in many instances Conservative pamphlets have been sent to Reformers, but it is questionable whether the circulation of these pamphlets has done much good. It is questionable whether attended that they might hear the speaker's line of argument and prepare a studied answer to do duty at the next election. Whether this surmise be correct or not, they were none the less welcome; and Mr. Bertram will, we are sure, be ready and willing to explain his views openly to all who may desire to hear them between now and the next campaign, and to them as fearlessly and ably uphold them as he has always done. Would that all other Parliamentary representatives displayed like proofs of honesty, integrity, chivalry and statesmanship.

THE MACDONNELL CASE.

The misunderstandings which threatened to separate the Rev. D. J. Macdonnell from the Presbyterian Church have after much discussion been overcome, and a settlement arrived at which must prove a source of gratification not only to the church immediately interested, but to the Christian world. The whole trouble arose from a sermon preached by Mr. Macdonnell in St. Andrew's Church, Toronto, of which sermon a report was sent to the Montreal Witness. In it there were doubts expressed as to the true signification of the word translated "eternal" in passages of Scripture relating to the punishment of the wicked. The preacher declared that he could not be sure whether to accept the meaning sometimes assigned the word, absolutely forever, or take it in the sense it is sometimes undoubtedly intended to convey, that of a very long time; but that his hopes for the wicked would incline him to the latter signification. The solid orthodoxy of the church felt themselves called on to notice the comments that were made on the sermon; it being commonly understood that Mr. Macdonnell had attacked the doctrine of future punishment. Much nonsense was talked in connection with the sermon; first outside and afterwards within the Presbyterian Assembly. To the credit of that body, be it said, however, when it did undertake to deal with the matter, the members tried conscientiously to discover the true motives of the sermon, as well as the shades of meaning involved in its parts. Mr. Macdonnell too declared all along his position as being in conformity with the scriptures and with the doctrines of the church, while at the same time he held doubts as to the true signification of the word translated "eternal." It will thus be seen that he and his questioners were not so far astray as has been commonly supposed; for the punishment of the wicked will be as effective as far as human minds are concerned whether it be to all eternity or for a very long time, i. e. :—for thousands of years, as Mr. Macdonnell thought it might mean. The great difficulty was a mutual divergence of ideas. One man had expressed an idea, so vague in his own mind that he could not explain it to others; and each of all the others who tried to understand his perplexity became perplexed in a new degree. Some, indeed, imagined they knew the mind of the doubter; but their view was self-involved and self-evolved, and hence a distortion and caricature of the vague doubt on which they expressed such undoubted condemnation or approbation, as the case might be. As was to be expected in such a case, discussion, in which views were as diverse as those who expressed them, only led to further difficulties. Some were inclined to doubt the honesty of those who did not see exactly as they saw; and unintentional misrepresentation became a very easy matter. The matter, thus aggravated, began to grow serious, and grave conjectures began to be made as to how it would all end.—Because people could not understand each other they were, if not openly accused, at least secretly suspected of an unwillingness to understand. Distrust was aroused, and became the most dangerous element in the whole controversy. Even now there are those who look upon the ending as a compromise, in which one party has receded from a former position. Some say Mr. Macdonnell has capitulated; some that the Assembly has yielded rather than encounter a great danger of disruption in the church. It cannot well be said that any one has been defeated except it be the demon of Discord. No one can possibly have retreated from a position on a subject upon which it was so utterly impossible to assume a definite position.

The question may be naturally asked: "Why was not an understanding arrived at long ago?" We have already hinted at a reason. The question to begin with was indefinable, and those discussing Mr. Macdonnell's case did not one of them know exactly what he was talking about. The whole affair was as if each contestant were fighting single handed with a shadow. Each separate member of the Assembly, Mr. Macdonnell among the rest, was combatting a shadow that assumed a different aspect to each. Each one attacking the impalpable presence was inclined to find fault with his neighbour's mode of attack, and discord held high carnival. A year ago when the Assembly met in Toronto, the difficulty was nearly arranged, in precisely the same shape in which it has ended. Mr. Macdonnell's statement was presented, Professor Caven moved its acceptance, and the chances are that it would have been received, had not Mr. Macdonnell, probably impelled by some remarks that had fallen from other speakers, risen and delivered a brief address. These few sentences contained matter sufficient to keep alive the perplexities and doubts of the body to the members of which they were addressed, and the attempt at a peaceful settlement failed. Happily, as Halifax, the favourable tide was allowed to flow silently, and the celebrated Macdonnell difficulty ended in mutual congratulations.

The wisdom of the Assembly in thus putting an end to a discussion barren of any good, is generally accepted. We cordially endorse the views of Rev. Dr. Cramp, of Wolfville, N. S., a prominent Baptist, who writing to the Messenger says:

"Mr. Macdonnell had 'doubts or difficulties' before he preached the sermon which gave so much offence. They will 'perplex his mind,' although he receives the Confession. But he is reinstated, doubts and all. This is right. There is not a thinking man in Christendom who is not 'perplexed' by 'doubts or difficulties,' not in relation to religion only, but also to science and morals. As to creeds, general adhesion is all that can be rightously demanded. No man ought to be required to subscribe sentences—words."

AID TO ST. JOHN SUFFERERS.

His Worship, Mayor Toole having telegraphed to the Mayor of St. John to draw on him for $1,000 for relief of the sufferers by the late conflagration, pursuant to a resolution passed at a special meeting of the Council on Tuesday evening last, received the following telegram:

"St. John, June 29, 1877.

"Will draw on you for fifteen hundred dollars. Cannot say more at present. Thanks for your kindness.

THE CROPS AND CONSERVATISM

An Opposition paper not long remarked that a good crop this year would very materially aid the Mackenzie Administration in retaining the reins of Government for another term. The statement was quite feelingly made; for the Conservatives have been relying chiefly on the cry of "hard times" to bolster up their shallow pleа for tariff changes. They have all along pointed to the falling off in the general business activity as a proof that the Grits were ruining the country, when, the fact is, the Administration had no more to do with the causes that led to the late depression in trade that it had with the late showers of rain. Good crops this year will do away with much of the monetary stringency and the stagnation of trade; and such a change will snatch from the Opposition its chief dependence at the approaching elections. The Conservatives had some hope that a continuance of the hard times would greatly aid them in their complaints against the Mackenzie Government; therefore, good crops and good times means to them no success at the polls. Eager Conservatives are thus placed in a peculiar mental position. They feel inclined, like every other citizen, to rejoice at the prospects for an abundant harvest, and a general revival of trade; but their party feelings are anything but happy in the assurance that a good grain yield will easily give the Reformers a big majority at the next general election. An easy way to find relief from this painful position would be a consistent giving of praise to the Reform Government for the brighter prospects in equal measure to the denunciation they have been giving for the depression.

MR. ANGLIN TRIUMPHANTLY RE-ELECTED.

We have heard a great deal about Mr. Anglin of late. The ex-Speaker has served as a text for many an Opposition editor and many an Opposition orator. He was urged to resign—it was asserted that he was afraid to resign—it was asserted that he would get whack from the tail of the "Reaction" whenever he saw fit to resign—finally, he did resign. Well, the election was held on Monday, with the result that Mr. Anglin has been triumphantly re-elected by a majority of about 333. The result of this election demonstrates the strength of the Government "down by the sea," and it shows how little the braggadocio of the Opposition amounts to when put to the test.

We had occasion recently to question the sincerity of the Cornwall Freeholder as a Reform journal. Our estimate of its management was unexpectedly confirmed by the Montreal Gazette, and now the London Herald, another Tory paper, and probably the most rabid in the Dominion, says:—"The Freeholder is an excellent journal, with an unwavering attachment to the pap spoon, careless by whose hand it is held. Its powers of suction are unrivalled. In the language of the venerable Mr. Weller it would have made an uncommon fine oyster if Providence had permitted it to be born in that station of life." The short and long of the whole case is, that the Freeholder has fallen into the hands of an ambitious and unprincipled trimmer, whose personal feelings and desires outweigh all political opinions.

MAYOR WALLER AND THE IRISH CATHOLICS.

(From the Cornwall Freeholder.)

No slight agitation has been caused among the dissatisfied Irish by the remarks recently made by Mr. Waller, the Mayor of Ottawa, who is himself an Irish Catholic. His advice is for them not to advance their claims upon the grounds of nationality and creed, and no wiser council could be given. In the course of his remarks he referred to the success of the Sandfield Macdonalds as will be seen from the following extract which is clipped from the "Daily Witness":—

"Mayor Waller, of Ottawa, has been giving those of his own race and creed some sound advice. He has told them to devote themselves to their own education, politically and in other ways, and to participate in public matters without aspiration to public honors or public positions until they were adapted to the political arena and its requirements. This advice is given avowedly in opposition to that of Mr. O'Donohoe, ex-M. P. of Toronto East, who advocates a political union of all the Irish Roman Catholics to force their representatives on the parties for seats in Parliament and other public positions. There is no doubt about the greater patriotism of Mr. Waller's view, and very little doubt as to its greater wisdom, having reference to the political advancement of the Irish Roman Catholics themselves. It has been their misfortune that they have kept themselves apart from the rest of the people, or been kept apart by their clergy, and have voted pretty much as a body. This has increased the prejudice against them. If they indentified themselves politically with other classes, they would soon find this prejudice to a great extent disappear. The Macdonalds of Cornwall and Glengarry have always been strict Roman Catholics. But they have never had any difficulty in being returned to Parliament because of it, as they have been of the Scotch order, and have never separated themselves from the mass of their party through any religious prejudices. No one ever thought of them as having any special grievances because of their being Roman Catholics. It is different with most of those of the Irish race. Mr. Flynn of Richmond, N. S., is about the only one of them in the present Parliament who is not, as it were, of a distinct class. We are satisfied that if they adopted a different course they would find their political position very much improved, as soon as there was time for their altered policy to be properly appreciated by the masses of votes."

WATER WORKS.

A meeting of persons invited by circular from the Town Clerk was held on Thursday evening last, in the Council Chamber, to consider the propriety of commencing the construction of Water Works.

There were about 15 to 18 persons present. This was owing to the fact that there were other entertainments in town more inviting. Mayor Toole was called to the chair and Mr. Barlee requested to act as Secretary.

After the Mayor had explained the reason why the meeting was called, Mr. Trout, who was present, and said to have given the question of Water Works a good deal of attention, was requested to address the meeting. He explained the different kind of water works in use in the past and those most in use at present, and gave calculations of the probable cost of the construction of Water Works in this Town. If water for fire purposes only were needed, or would be constructed, he thought that could be supplied at a very small outlay from the nearest point of the River to the Town. He thought that if water for culinary and drinking purposes were required it would have to be brought from Mr. Hilliard's Mill-pond, about a mile, on account of the distance, and the height it has to rise; and he proposed that a Reservoir on the small Island in the pond, so as to form a filter, and from this place pump the water. He thought the Reservoir system the most costly, but believed it could be effectually carried out. He also favoured the use of 12 inch Maine pipe, with 8 inch branches, east and west, so as to provide for extending the works when thought advisable.

The distance east and west were not discussed, but the objective point south was stated to be Wolfe street.

Mr. Dumble favoured Water Works. He believed they would cost $60,000 to $100,000 at the least, but they were required, and he believed the object of the meeting was to consider the matter so as to report to the Council so that action could be taken immediately. He advocated Water Works for fire purposes and also for drinking and culinary purposes, as he could get no good water near his office, and was often compelled to take lunch where the water was so salty and impure that he could feel it in his tea.

The Mayor having explained that the Town had gone to a large expense in obtaining plans and specifications, he thought it would be wise to utilize them.

Mr. Straiton asked the Mayor if they were utilizing the plans for which the Council had paid the bonus several years ago; and wished to know why the Wilson plans, which were awarded nothing, should be continually referred to in all the discussions on Water Works?

Mr. Dumble thought this meeting was called to give the Council advice as to what should be done and not to discuss the plans. He again referred to the impure war and the need there was for providing a purer article. He also referred to the idea that if works were once constructed water would be used for lawns, &c.

Mr. Clementi dilated on cleanliness and godliness and manifested a little personality, urged the construction of Water Works for fire purposes, for culinary purposes and for watering lawns, &c. He referred to the lawns in Toronto, compared with his own, and concluded by moving as follows:—

Moved by Mr. Clementi, seconded by Mr. Stapleton.—That in the opinion of this meeting it is most desirable that a system of Water Works be established in the Town of Peterborough, and that the following gentlemen be appointed a Committee for the purpose of conferring with the Town Council as to the most favorable locality and the best method of carrying out such system, viz., G. A. Cox, James Hall, R. Romaine, W. Peterson, Jas. Stevenson, Peter Hamilton, John Carnegie, T. G. Haslitt and Geo. Hilliard.

Mr. Stratton said that the old question of what would be obtained for the outlay of $60,000 or $100,000 was the principal one. No one opposed Water Works for fire purposes; but he thought that the scheme of obtaining pure water from the River would be a failure. The place proposed for the filter would never be a suitable one, and he therefore thought that the wise plan would be to refer it to a committee to report. He advised parties who want to cellars where filthy water and pork brine were used for cooking to seek some other place, as they could easily obtain clean tea at several places not far distant. He wondered too that the proposed committee were composed of men always advocates of Water Works at any cost, for their own purpose.

Mr. Hall was favourable to Water Works, but thought the question should go to a committe to report.

Mr. Cox also favoured Water Works for fire purposes. He did not care for the question of costs. He thought that whatever was done should be with a view to the future and to future extension for fire purposes.

Mr. Dumble moved that the names of Mr. Stratton and Mr. Stapleton be added to the committee. With these names added the resolution was passed.

The meeting then broke up.

TOWN COUNCIL.

The Council met in special session on Tuesday evening.

Present: His Worship the Mayor and Messrs. Cahill, Dumble, Millar, McWilliams, Smith, McBain, Rountree, Hamilton and Yelland.

The Mayor in a few words stated the object of the meeting.

MINUTES CONFIRMED.

The minutes of the four previous meetings were read and confirmed.

ST. JOHN SUFFERERS.

A telegram was read from the Mayor of St. John, N.B., thanking the Council for their generous grant.

Mr. Cahill suggested that the $1,000 appropriated to the St. John sufferers be sent them in the shape of provisions, &c., which would leave the money with our own merchants, as he believed the railways were carrying goods for them free of charge.

Mr. Smith said that the Mayor of St. John had no doubt drawn on us for the sum, and it could not be re-considered very well now, but if he had been at the meeting of the ratepayers for that purpose he would have favored the giving of only $500, which he considered enough for the town to give.

Mr. Dumble said that there was hardly a citizen raised a dissenting voice as to the amount being too large. They only wished they could have seen their way to give $2,000.

FILTERING BASIN IN THE ISLAND.

Moved by Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. Smith, that in order to test the availability of a filtering basin on the island at Hilliard's dam as a repository for water for the proposed water works, and that the sum of fifty dollars is hereby appropriated to be expended in sinking a well or shaft on the island aforesaid; and that Messrs. Yelland, Baptie and the mover be a Committee to see after the expenditure.—Carried.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From George Johnston, Chief Constable, asking for two weeks leave of absence.—Granted.

From W. H. Pendry, asking for additional remuneration as auditor for 1875.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

From John Carnegie, Secretary Town Trust Commissioners, showing the amount required to be levied on the ratepayers of the town for the year 1877, for the purpose of paying the interest maturing during the year on debentures, and for the purpose of providing a sinking fund for the payment of said debentures, as provided by statute. The amount required to be levied being $7,050.00 less for net revenue from market block, &c., $750.00, and to be levied as follows: On Protestant ratepayers only, $1,756; and on the whole town, $4,542.00 making in all to be levied, $3,300 00.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were received and referred to the Finance Committee:

Hall & Hillier	$ 4 00
Gas Co'y, two accounts	38 60
H. Best	22 45

BY-LAW READ A THIRD TIME.

On motion of Mr. Dumble, the Council went into Committee of the Whole on the second reading of a By-law passed by the past Council, entitled, "A By-law to remove certain doubts as to the meaning of By law No. 183," viz., "A By-law for fixing the monthly and other payments from the lessees of the Peterboro Branch of the Midland Railway," passed the 3rd day of May, 1865, when the following amendment was added: "Except so much thereof as may hereafter be granted to the said company for the purpose of building a station at the town of Peterborough."

On motion the Council rose, and the By-law was read a third time and passed.

Moved by Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. McBain, that the Street Inspector be permitted to build a bridge on Wolf street under the terms of a resolution referring all street work to him, the work to be done by tender; and that Messrs. Dumble and Smith be a Special Committee to award the contract.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. McBain, that the Secretary be instructed to ask the Secretary of the School Board to send in his estimates for the ensuing year at his earliest convenience.—Carried.

The Council adjourned.

SCHOOL BOARD.

The School Board met on Tuesday evening.

Present, the Chairman J. Stevenson, Esq., in the chair, and Messrs. McClelland, Shaw, Kinsmid, Loch, Smith, Dunstoun, Edwards, Cox, Portland and Robertson.

The minutes of the previous meeting were confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Miss N. B. Sanderson, tendering her resignation.—Referred to the Committee of Appointments with power to act.

From Miss E. Bagwley, asking for promotion to Miss Sanderson's place.—Referred to the Committee of Appointments with power to act.

The Principal, Mr. Jeffers handed in his report for the month of June, showing attendance in the different departments, which was received.

FINANCE REPORT.

On motion, the Finance Committee beg leave to report that the following accounts have been examined and found correct, and recommend that an order on the Treasurer be granted for them.

J. R. Stratton	$ 5 25
R. Romaine	12 00
R. Gresn	14 32

All of which was respectfully submitted.

GEO. E SHAW, Chairman.

On motion the report was received and adopted.

TENDERS REFERRED.

Moved by Mr. Dennistoun, seconded by Mr. Edwards, that the tenders received by the property Committee be referred back to the said Committee, together with the plans and specifications prepared by Mr. Belcher, and submitted to the board with full power to act, and further that the Committee take such steps for repairs on the buildings as they may deem necessary for the preservation.—Carried.

BUILDING COMMITTEE REPORT.

The Building Committee beg leave to report that the contract and bonds for the erection of school buildings have been signed in accordance with instructions and the work is in progress.

Respectfully submitted:

J. McClelland, Chairman.

The report on motion was received.

PROPERTY REPORT.

The Committee on Property, on motion, reported: The Committee on Property beg leave to report that with the assistance of Mr. Belcher they have examined the buildings wanting the necessary repairs and find that the woodsheds require rebuilding, some excavation being necessary to make the shed more roomy; further, they recommend a drain on the north side of the building as of great importance to the health of the children, to carry off the waste water, by examining the steps we found them in such a state as to be utterly unsafe, not only many of the stairs being rotten, but the supports of the stairs being of material unsafe for to bear the same, the platform around the building, as well as the fence on the south side of the building require repairs and made safe. We further recommend the painting of the wood work outside the building as necessary as the neglect of it will cause the wood work to fot away.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. LECH, Chairman.

On motion the report was received and adopted.

The Board then adjourned.

The Trade of Canada in 1876-7

Although only a little time has passed since the close of the fiscal year 1877, the returns made to the Customs department of the imports and exports for ten months of that year are so complete as to enable a comparison to be instituted between the trade and commerce of Canada for the same period in both years. The entire revenue for the present year is also reported in the Canadian Gazette and amounts to $19,047,967.56, the expenditure being almost a quarter of a million of dollars less. The revenue for 1876 was $22,587,000, but then we had a deficit of $1,901,000, whereas now we have at least a small surplus.

The following table shows the exports and imports of the different Provinces for the ten months ending April 30, 1876:

	Exports.	Imports.
Ontario	$19,338,198	$31,521,463
Quebec	27,013,024	29,410,675
Nova Scotia	6,663,576	7,073,135
New Brunswick	4,415,195	4,791,907
Manitoba	761,188	849,108
Prince Edward Island	1,115,415	930,462
British Columbia	2,203,416	2,198,963
Total	$60,438,037	$76,913,734

The following table shows the exports and imports of the different Provinces for the ten months ending April 30, 1877:—

	Exports.	Imports.
Ontario	$14,863,773	$33,135,211
Quebec	27,697,307	28,353,082
Nova Scotia	6,222,268	7,195,547
New Brunswick	4,297,363	5,567,929
Manitoba	438,438	695,178
Prince Edward Island	1,418,947	961,985
British Columbia	1,997,516	1,568,394
Total	$56,936,460	$77,460,917

The total exports for ten months in 1876 compare with those for the same period in 1877, as follows:

1876	$76,913,734
1877	77,460,917
Increase in 1877	$ 547,183

The duties paid on the above imports for ten months in 1876, compared with the same period in 1877 were as follows:

1876	$19,711,435.71
1877	16,348,513.43
Decrease in 1877	$3362,973.28

In looking into the details, of which the above are summaries, we find many interesting figures. The exports for the month compare as follows:—

	1876.	1877.
The Mine	$ 1,393,175	$ 1,698,314
The Fisheries	4,726,495	4,754,104
The Forest	12,931,569	14,971,325
Animals & their produce	11,678,587	11,873,789
Agricultural products	16,347,169	12,749,265
Manufactures	2,726,179	2,891,561
Ships sold to citizens of the country	736,156	718,359
Miscellaneous articles	332,767	265,308
Total goods the produce of Canada	$54,864,511	$49,695,173
Coin and Bullion	1,103,177	699,914
Goods not the produce of Canada	5,668,323	5,363,956
British Columbia for nine months	2,203,416	1,987,516
Grand total	$63,439,427	$56,896,460

being a decrease of $3,541,567, in the ten months of 1877 ending 30th April. If the crops fulfil the expectations raised in regard to them, and our other industries improve even gradually, we may expect that the fiscal year on which we have entered will be a great improvement on its two immediate predecessors.

The Montreal Journal of Commerce (of which Sir Francis Hincks is the leading contributor) has been reviewing the "national policy" sections of the pic-nic speeches of Sir John and Dr. Tupper, and says: "We do not know how Dr. Tupper reconciles his statements that the country enjoyed 'progress and prosperity' during the seven years of Sir John Macdonald's administration and when the duties on manufactures were only 15 per cent., with his further statement that the existing depression is owing to the want of protection, and that we shall not have the prosperity without a complete change in the fiscal policy of the country. There is a patent fact which must not be overlooked in this discussion. No industry has suffered more than our lumber interest, and it will be difficult for Dr. Tupper to prove that the depression in that trade has been caused by our low duties on American manufactures. The truth is that the existing depression has been mainly owing to an abnormal condition of trade from which there is reason to hope that we shall recover before very long. That abnormal condition has resulted chiefly from enormous unprofitable expenditures on public works both in the United States and Canada. The recovery from the collapse is as certain as anything can be, but it has been much more tedious than was at first anticipated.

Wood's Bible Animals.

In addition to the numerous testimonials which this excellent work has received from all parts of the Dominion, we publish the following recommendations given by local judges after they had examined the complete work:—

This very interesting and instructive book is now being offered to the people of Peterborough and vicinity. It is a very valuable volume. In the letter print it could hardly be excelled. The illustrations are very numerous and if fit like, as declared by the best judges. It is an invaluable book for Bible readers and Sabbath School teachers, and deserves a place on every table, as affording instruction as well as pleasure.

It also contains articles on Evolution, by the Rev. Dr. McCosh, President of Princeton College, that should be read by every one, as in this age of evolution theories every one should be acquainted with both the reasonable and the unreasonable ideas set forth by the learned. Hence these articles by Dr. McCosh add very much to the value of the book. All who can afford it should buy a copy of the "Bible Animals."

J. STRATTON,
Custom House Officer, Peterborough.

From what I have read of "Wood's Bible Animals," I can heartily recommend it as an admirable book, which treats of a very important subject, and it is impossible to understand many illusions in Scripture without knowing something about the animals which are referred to, and this book supplies in a popular form all the knowledge required.

E. F. TORRANCE,
Minister St. Paul's Church, Peterborough.

As a companion to Bagster's or the Teacher's Bible the Bible student will find "Wood's Bible Animals" most helpful. Every family should possess a copy for the young folks; but those whose eyes are growing dim will also find pleasure in it, its plates and typography are so beautiful.

J. FAITH JEFFERS, M.A.,
Principal Peterborough Col. Institute.

My attention has been called by the publisher to a volume entitled "Wood's Bible Animals." I regard this as in every respect a volume of more than ordinary worth. The information it contains is invaluable to all classes and especially to the young. This information is collected into a form rendering it very available. The designs by which the volume is illustrated are calculated to effect their object. The paper, printing and binding are all superior, the book is worthy of a place in any household.

R. E. WILLOUGHBY, M.A.,
Minister Methodist Church, Peterborough.

I have great pleasure in cordially endorsing the above recommendation of "Wood's Bible Animals." It is an excellent work, and worthy of a place in every family library.

D. MULHERN,
Pastor Baptist Church, Peterborough.

From a cursory examination of "Wood's Bible Animals," I would judge the book not only to be in itself of much interest, but that to all Bible students it would afford such accurate knowledge of the nature and habits of animals referred to in the Bible, as would open out to the reader new and beautiful meanings and allusions evidently in the mind of the writer, but not readily appreciated by the uninstructed reader.

For the children of a household this book will be of increasing interest and profit.

D. W. DUMBLE,
Superintendent George Street Methodist Sunday School, Peterborough.

Having had an opportunity afforded me of comparing the Canadian edition of "Wood's Bible Animals" with the edition published in England in 1859 which has been in my possession for some time, I have no hesitation in expressing my belief that the former is in every respect equal to, perhaps in the paper used superior to the latter.

The Canadian edition possesses the additional advantage of two very interesting essays,—one by Dr. Hooker, on "Insects," and the other by Dr. Harris, on "Mammals and Travel in Bible Lands,"—which must increase the value of the work.

The book is originally published by Mr. Wood, in a work of absorbing interest, as well in the power of natural history as in the beauty of its style, so far as my testimony as to value it is cordially given to the conviction of the Christian.

The illustrations are very elaborate and very spirited, and add materially to the interest and value of the book.

I cannot expressly to the notice of the reading public the treatise on Evolution, from the pen of Dr. McCosh, which deals with the Darwinian theory without the slightest of fear. It puts the learned disbelieving man's infidel views of the universe in a manner expressed by a very strong but reasonable mind, and must, consequently, as we know he was entitled to the "temple of God," lead for his preacher the world, to "God, or is derived, as Darwin puts it from a "lower form."

VINCENT CLEMENTI, B.D.,
Peterborough.

MR. ADAMS, Dear Sir, I willingly add my testimony to the many commendations you already possess of your book "Wood's Bible Animals." I think it is highly calculated to be useful to all who desire to study the Bible with intelligence on the subjects on which it treats. I remain yours truly,

JOHN H. ROBERTS,
Pastor Assumption of St. Peter's Church, Peterborough.

The Stars have come to the conclusion that the proper summer style of head is the bald.

The Twelfth of July is expected to be one of the "greatest" days ever known in Lakefield.

A Foundling.—A baby, about a week old, was lately left at the door of Mr. Cross, Asphodel.

A postponed meeting of the Town Council will be held on Monday evening 9th instant, at 7,30 p.m.

Mrs. Masters appears at the Police Court this morning at 10 a.m., charged with keeping a house of ill-fame.

Don't Imagine that our young swells wear white neck-ties because of the "tone." They are the cheapest.

Button-hole Bouquets are extensively worn by our nobby young men, and by some that are not so nobby.

Mr. R. Donnelly has added a new phaeton to his large stock of rigs. Ladies and gents will please bear this in mind. tin

Yesterday a young man named Lipsett was remanded on a charge of larceny. He will be tried this morning, at 10 a.m.

They call the latest new yellow-trimmed beaus the "Crosslete Cranium Decorator," and "Sun-Screer Head-gear."

Fall Assizes.—The Peterborough Fall Assizes will be opened on Thursday, October 4th, by Chief Justice Hagarty.

Norwood Masons celebrated St. John's (Baptist) Day by a strawberry festival and literary and musical entertainment.

The Contribution from Port Hope in aid of the St. John sufferers up to Tuesday amounted to $1,667.80. Not up to Peterboro yet.

St. John.—The concert here last week in aid of the St. John sufferers, realised $134.00. Nearly equal to the grant from the County.

As the season approaches we would state for the information of housewives, it takes 14 pounds of sugar to one pound of gooseberries.

Messrs. Redpath and Johnston, who left Peterboro about two months ago for Manitoba, returned to town again yesterday looking well.

Mr. T. C. Patteson bought in the Mail establishment at the Sheriff's sale in Toronto on Wednesday last, for $2,000, over a mortgage of $34,000.

There was no meeting of the Town Council on Monday evening, there being no quorum. The Mayor and Town Clerk were the only persons who tried an appearance.

It is lying awake nights trying to determine whether to leave your fortune to an orphan asylum or a house for old men that makes the newspaper business so wearying.

Fruit Store.—Bailey Bro. fruit store. Fresh confectionary, oranges, lemons, dates, nuts, and candies of every kind, canned goods of every description, etc., All fruit in season. 24-7

Oh! Oh!—The Norwood Register in noticing the use of new potatoes by Mr. James Greenbanks of that village, says: "by the way, he forgot to send us a mess." Very like a tramp.

Cheese Maker's Supplies.—Mr. H. Best has received Lactometers, Lyceum Guage glass, Pat Cent Glasses, and Comparison Tubes. Those in need of such will do well to give Mr. Best a call.

Popular.—Horse-back riding is becoming quite popular with both sexes in this town just at the present time, and almost every evening numbers can be seen passing through the streets.

Nicholls & Hall vs. Peterborough.—We understand that this case has been decided against the town. The costs will be something nice, Quite a fuss about nothing (a cipher). Who should foot the bill.

Reducing the Fees.—The fees under Dr. Tupper's obnoxious weights and measures Act have proved altogether too heavy and oppressive on business men. An order-in-council has been passed, materially reducing the same."

Personal.—Mr. James Millar returned home on Thursday last from British Columbia, "looking as well and hearty as he ever was." He came back for the purpose of removing his family to the above place, where he has commenced business.

Auction Sale.—Remember the auction sale of house and lot, and the entire household furniture belonging to Mr. James Millar, on Tuesday, the 11th instant, at 1 p.m., at his residence, on Dublin street. Sale without reserve, as Mr. Millar is going to British Columbia.

Bush Fires.—During the past week several parties sustained considerable loss in the way of having their property burned in the southern suburbs of the town, by bush fires. The residents were kept busily engaged in keeping back any further advance on their property.

Fishing.—The gentlemen who left for the "Bee Hive" on a fishing expedition, met with great success, as they sent several fine mascinonge to their friends here, who return their thanks for the kindness. From experience we can testify that they were excellent fish.

Wood's Bible Animals.—In another column will be found a number of valuable testimonials by residents of Peterborough respecting the above work, which speaks well for the value of the book, and will no doubt impart confidence to subscribers in its reliability and utility.

Old Sidewalks.—An English author writing of his travels through Canada, says: "It seemed to him that the planks on the sidewalks in Toronto are worn out, then sent to Montreal, and after a few years are finally used up in Quebec." The writer did not stop here.

The Strawberry Festival held in the Drill Shed on Thursday Evening last, was fairly attended, and a pleasant time was spent. The firemens Band was in attendance, and played some fine selections. "Jacob and Rachel" were at the well and did a fair business

The Lindsay Warder thinks that the Editor of the Times must be in misery since it has been shown that it is only costing the town $400 for the watering the streets, including $150 for cart, $250 for watering the streets, and $150 for the water. "Surely the affliction is great."

This Week we show the contents of another shipment of new goods, containing plain colored Prints, Table Linnens, Corsets, Umbrellas, Kid and Thread Gloves, also a fine selection of Ladies Prunella Gaiters and lace Boots at unusually low prices. W. J. Wallace, Lakefield. 25-6

Special Reductions.—We invite the attention of our readers to the advertisement of W. Fairweather & Co., in another column. They have a large assorted stock of dry goods etc., and housekeepers and others will find it, no doubt, to their advantage to give them a call. Read their announcement.

The Match of the Season.—We are requested to announce that there will be a cricket match take place on the Cricket ground, Ashburnham, on Wednesday next, at 11 a.m., between the Port Hope and Peterborough clubs. The Firemen's band is expected to be present. Admission 10 cents, ladies free.

Refrigerators.—Mr. H. Best has just imported several very nice articles in this line. Any one requiring such an article should call and see Mr. Best's, as they are both useful and ornamental. He has also some handsome gratings for fire places, which parties who are erecting comfortable residences should not fail to see.

Election of Officers.—The Peterborough Lodge, No. 111, I. O. O. F. elected the following officers, on Thursday evening last:

Bro. Luke Fisher.....I. P. G.
" Geo. H. Johnston.....N. G
" Robt. Lee.....V. G.
" Henry Dempsey.....R. Sec.
" Robt. Thompson.....P. Sec.
" David Carfin.....Treas.

Delegate to Grand Lodge Bro. Robt. Elder, P.G.

A Mistake.—It appears that Mr. D. McLeod, of this town, did not write a letter to the Bobcaygeon Independent in opposition to the use of the organ in Cheriton. We made the statement on the strength of the letter itself, which was signed "D. McLeod," with "Peterborough" opposite the signature. It now turn out that it was written by a man of the same name who lives near Bobcaygeon.

Fire.—On Sunday about 12 o'clock the dwellings of Mr. Job and Mr. J. Drake, in the south ward, caught fire from sparks from burning brush in Mr. E. Chamberlain's swamps. Their houses were consumed, and Mr. Job losing a horse, which was in the stable and could not be got out after the fire was discovered. We are glad to hear that he had an insurance of $600 on the property and contents. The furniture was saved. Mr. Drake saved his furniture but had no insurance on the property.

Excursion and Concert.—We understand that the Musical Society intend giving a grand excursion on the 17th inst, per steamer Golden-Eye. The excursionists leaving at 1 p.m., will disembark at "Pidyi wild," the grounds lately purchased by Mr. Calvert at Rice Lake, where the Society will render a most attractive programme in a grand open air concert. The steamer will return by moonlight. The idea is a novel one, and with favorable weather a most enjoyable time may be anticipated.

Collegiate Institute.—The examinations for admission to the Peterborough Collegiate institute were held on Tuesday and Wednesday. There was about 70 candidates. The names of the successful ones will not be known for some time. The intermediate examinations will be held next week, and also the examination of candidates for second-class teachers. During the week commencing the 16th instant the examination of candidates for third-class certificates will come off. In this class there will be a large number,

Out the Weeds.—On the country roads, in some districts, dry brush, burs, thistles, etc., are removed or cut, while in others they are allowed to accumulate or increase from year to year at their pleasure. The latter method gives strangers a suspicion of slovenly or careless management on the part of the farmers adjoining. As the law makes the destruction of noxious weeds a part of their duties, we think that the path masters should be fined where over these disgraceful evidences of neglect are obtrusively prominent.

The Churches.—When the fire bell rang on Sunday there was a very unseemly rush to the doors of all the churches. The desire to see the whereabouts of the fire being stronger than the desire to hear the remainder of the sermons. This was not much to be wondered at, as people would be desirous to know if their own property was in danger. The annoyance to the speakers must have been great, but they could not but feel for those whose property might be in danger, and desired to be at home if anything occurred.

Early Closing.—Those concerned would do well to bear in mind that the drug stores have agreed to close their places of business during the months of July and August, at 7 p. m., and that the dry good stores close at 6 p.m. We see no reason why all the stores in town should not close early and let the young men have the summer evenings to themselves, and especially at a time when a little recreation would be beneficial to both employer and employee. If people know they have to make their purchases within a certain time, they will do it.

Quick Mail.—The steamer "Sarmatian," which left Moville on the 22nd of June, arrived at Quebec at 11 a.m. on the 30th of June, making the trip in eight days. The "Sardinian," which left Quebec on June 23rd, reached Moville at 8 a.m., and Liverpool at midnight on Sunday 1st July. The "Sarmatian" making the fastest time westward and "Sardinian" the fastest time eastward on record, Mr. Geo. A. Cox is agent for this line. All who are travelling to Europe should secure a ticket from him, and thus shorten their sea voyage as much as possible.

Boating:—

The gay Lothario bendeth the oar,
Soft hands manipulate the tiller sheets;
And when the darkness dims the fading shore
The lips that met with laughter bubbled o'er,
And silvery song, collide in labial sweets;
While the neglected shell drifts o'er the stream
Ah! who shall blame? the hour the moonlight's queen;

Youth, loving hearts, the tempting silence, all
Conspire to recreate and to recall
The birth-hour of young love that fable gave
To Venus rising from the Paphian wave.

Put Away Your Revolvers.—The practice of carrying concealed weapons is one fraught with danger in many ways. Until recently any man carrying a dirk or similiar weapon could be punished, but pistols were not prohibited. At the late session of the Dominion Legislature Mr. Blake introduced a bill, which was carried, making it a severely punishable offence to carry a pistol. The first prosecution that we have noticed took place before the Police Magistrate of Toronto, and the offender was fined $50 and costs. Many are ignorant that such a law exists, and we call attention to the matter that all may be warned.

Indignant. The Port Hope people are very naturally indignant at the Town Council refusing to give aid to the St. John sufferers, and the Times of last week speaks of the action:—"There was considerable talk on the street yesterday, of holding an indignation meeting for the purpose of condemning the action of the Town Council in refusing to grant the small sum of $300 towards the relief of the sufferers by the St. John fire, as requested by the public meeting held on Monday afternoon. Every member of the Council who voted against the resolution should be asked to resign as they do not seem to be able to comprehend the difference between economy and niggardly meanness.

Convent Concert.—On Thursday evening the usual annual concert and distribution of prizes in connection with the Convent of the "Congregation de Notre Dame," took place in St. Peter's Church. There was a large attendance of parents and friends. The programme was a very fine one, and the musical excellence displayed by the pupils spoke favorably for the high tuition imparted by the sisters in the divine art. Two pieces, viz: "La Francaise," and "La Somnambula," were especially well rendered. The Misses Leopoldine Lemay, Caroline Lemay and Miss Hartley deserve much praise for their performance on the piano. A clever little play entitled "Reality, vs. Imagination," was well represented, the characters being carefully taken by the Misses E. Hurley, M. Lauder K. Martin, C. Lemay, M. Hurley, and J. Lynch. In the piece entitled, the "shadow of a play," the Misses A. Lynch, M. Lee, C. McDonald, M. Sullivan, M. B. Curragh, A. Reany, E. Lemay, S. Wilcox, J. O'Brien, and P. Simons, all performed their parts admirably. At the close of the entertainment the Rev. Father Lynch, and Dr. O'Sullivan, M. P. P., addressed the audience. They spoke in eulogistic terms, of the progress made by the scholars, and praised the high course of education followed by the good sisters. On the whole the concert was very successful the audience having repeatedly testified their appreciation of its character by repeated and enthusiastic marks of approbation. Miss E. Hurley took the prize for general proficiency,

Mr. Boyle, of the Irish Canadian, has hoisted the motto of "Revenge and Representation," and that is to be his political creed hereafter. Revenge on the Tories for incarcerating him in Toronto gaol as a suspected Fenian—or revenge on the Reformers for not making him supreme ruler and dictator for the entire Dominion—which?—Dundas Banner.

How to Advertise.—The President of the National Stove Makers' Association of the United States, said at the recent meeting of that body in Detroit: "If we would make the best possible use of our money, we would patronize ably conducted and responsible newspapers. The newspaper is immeasurably the best medium open to the trade; the most liberal and expert advertisers testify to its value, and in the employment of its columns we would find a means of escape from wasteful, undignified and ineffective methods to which so many resort in their eagerness to secure patronage."

DOMINION DAY.

How it was Celebrated in Peterborough.

The Tenth Anniversary of Confederation Day was celebrated on Monday with the usual demonstrations of loyalty. The weather was favorable and many left town to enjoy themselves on Rice Lake and also at Lakefield, Port Hope and Millbrook. The Young Irishmen held their Annual Pic-nic in Wallis' Grove, and was largely attended. The games and sports were very successful with lively competition. The following is the result:—

ATHLETIC SPORTS.

Putting Heavy Weight.—Chas. McDonald, Lee Cake by D. Lemay, Esq.

Hop, Step and Jump.—R. Trenwith, pair pants by T. Dolan & Co.

Quarter Mile Race.—Hugh Martin, Box Cigars by Messrs. McKelvar & Hogan.

Three Quick Jumps.—C. McDonald, Photograph Album by T. Manaton, Esq.

220 Yards Race. (Boys under 15.)—A. LaFave, Base Ball, by Society.

Standing Jump.—C. McDonald, pair of Nap-kin Rings by Lennon estate.

Hurdle Race.—D. Cooley, pair of Irish Shoes, by Society.

Running Broad Jump.—T. Dolan. Fine Hand Saw, by Bertram & Co.

Mile Race, (championship.)—D. Cooley, Silver Cup, by Society.

High Jump.—M. O'Donnell, Carriage Whip, by W. J. Devlin, Esq.

Three Legged Race.—Kane and Sheehey, Box Cigars, Rush & Elliott.

Irish Jig.—M. Dunn, caddy of Tea, by R. Morrow, Esq.

Quoit Match.—John Frith, Glass Tea Set, by M. Collins, Esq.

After the Pic-nic on the grounds the prizes were distributed to those who were victors, in Bradburn's Hall, and after this the Annual Ball was proceeded with and attended by the largest number of devotees to the Terpsichorean Art that ever assembled in Peterborough, and who enjoyed themselves up to an early hour.

BRITONS' PIC-NIC.

The Young Britons' Pic-nic and Excursion to Hastings and Campbelltown was largely attended. They proceeded by the Golden-Eye, and enjoyed themselves during the day, returning by the boat about ten p. m., all well pleased with the day's enjoyments.

A large number went to Lakefield to the Athletic sports, &c., and returned by the evening train. Several parties visited Port Hope to witness the Regatta, and enjoy themselves—something Peterborough citizens can always do everywhere.

The Town was very quiet and orderly very few appearing to have over-enjoyed themselves.

ENNISMORE.

Pic-Nic.—A grand school pic-nic was held here on June 28th, and was a decided success. About 500 people were present, and had ample opportunities afforded them of indulging their festive characters to the fullest extent. The Committee left nothing undone that would add to the pleasures of the day. The excellence of the band was the subject of much comment, and they really deserved the high encomiums passed upon them, for the music was of that order that the most fastidious could not find fault with. The four members of the band will no doubt feel elevated that their exertions were appreciated. The table would have come no honor to more pretentious places, and the ladies are deserving of more than a passing notice for the skill and taste they evinced in the art of cooking. The dainties and substantials displayed on the table afforded any with epicurean tastes, ample means of satisfying to a nicety their palatial cateenas. Lovers of the "Mystic Soup" could not otherwise than be satisfied with the chances afforded them of indulging in that favourite and harmless pastime, while the athletic could indulge his gymnastic propensities to an extent that tired nature would rebel against.

AMUSEMENTS.

Hurdle Race (5 entries).—1st prize, Arthur McIlmoyle, $1.50; 2nd prize, P. Galvin, 50cts.

High Jump, (6 entries).—1st prize, A. McIlmoyle, $1.50; 2nd prize, P. Galvin, 75cts.; 3rd W. Sullivan.

Hop, Step and Jump. (10 entries).—1st prize, A. McIlmoyle, $1.50, 43 ft.; 2nd W. McIlmoyle, 41 ft. 11 in.; 3rd. M. O'Brien, 38 ft.

Flat Race, (11 entries).—1st prize, Kane, $2.50; 2nd, Dunn, $1.50; 3rd, May, 50cts. Distance 300 yards.

Standing Jump.—1st prize, D. Curtain, $1; 2nd, M. Dunn, 50cts.

Quoits.—Curtain and Costello, vs. Moore and Telfor. Won by Curtain and Costello by 1.

Jig Dance, (7 entries).—1st prize, W. McIlmoyle, $1; 2nd, M. Dunn; 3rd, E. Stack.

The day was charmingly fine, and every one appeared in good spirits. The drawing that took place the same day in the Town Hall, in connection with the pic-nic, gave the articles to be raffled for to the following parties, viz:—Bureau, C. Flynn, Emily; Whatnot, P. Crough, Ennismore; Centre table, T. Scully, Emily; Looking glass, J. Scollard, Ennismore.—Com.

Birth Statistics.—There has been registered for the half year ending the 30th day of June in the division the following, namely, 9 births, 13 marriages, and 7 deaths, from a population of 1,028.

Our total assessed value this year amounts to $188,891, a slight increase over 1876.

We have received the following query in answer to which we beg to state that there is no daily direct mail to Fenelon Falls, except by way of Lindsay:

Please insert a paragraph in your paper and let us know if there is a daily mail direct between Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls.

THE CROPS.

The Globe of Wednesday, 27th ult., contained a complete report by telegraph of the state of the crops in Ontario, with summaries from the other provinces—all gathered the previous afternoon. In summing up the Globe says:—"A year ago—on the 5th of July—the returns made to our enquiries partook, nearly without exception, of the most reassuring character. There was an almost trying sameness in the information as it came in from the north, south, east and west. Everything betokened a more than usually bountiful yield to the toil of the husbandman. No cloud on the horizon told of coming disappointment. Yet when, a month later, we issued the second set of reports all was changed, the wheat harvest was all but a failure, root crops were in danger of perishing, and others gave but a scanty return to those who had looked for abundance and plenty. The reports we publish to-day are more chequered than those of a year ago. They point to some drawbacks already sustained, and show that the general result is by no means a matter of certainty as yet; while at the same time, taken as a whole, they encourage the hope that the year will be a fairly prosperous one to the farmer."

Below are the reports from the County of Peterborough:—

Lakefield.—Hay poor. Oats and spring wheat good. Fall wheat good, but very little sown. Barley under an average. Peas good. Corn poor. Root crops, potatoes and fruit good.

Norwood.—Hay poor for want of rain. Oats good. Spring wheat fair; more than usual sown. Fall wheat very good; not as much sown as usual. Barley fair. Peas look well. Corn fair; not much planted. Roots fair; more than former years. Fruit fair.

Peterboro'.—Hay very light. Oats fair. Spring wheat good. Fall wheat very good, but very little sown. Barley fair, somewhat injured by frost. Peas and potatoes good. Fruit and corn fair. A much larger area is devoted to grain crops than last year.

Mr. Bertram, according to appointment, met the electors of Ennismore, at the Town Hall, on Friday evening last. The Hall was crowded to excess, many persons not being able to get standing room. He delivered a capital speech on Free Trade. How so cute a man as Sir John Macdonald could commit himself to such an exploded doctrine as that of Protection is more than any sensible man can explain.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

The Irish in Canada.

The demagogues of the Patrick Boyle and Irish Canadian stripe received a most [illegible] reply in the speech delivered by the [illegible]ster in Ottawa on Tuesday on the "Irish Canada." Instead of their being cruelly [illegible] and refused fair representation in the Government and public offices in proportion to their numbers it was shown that they did not enjoy more than a proportionate share in many good things. Mr. Waller showed that the population of the Dominion at the last census was 3,600,000 of which about 850,000 were Irish Canadians, and that the number of Government employees was at the same time about 3,600, members of the Commons 206, Senate 77, Cabinet Ministers 13. According to these figures the Irish Canadians were entitled to 350 Government employees, 49 members of Parliament, 16 Senators, and 2 Cabinet Ministers. Mr. Waller then stated that the last Government returns showed that the number of Irish employed in Government offices was 269 or 129 over their proportionate number. In the Senate there are 13 Irish members or 5 short, the Protestant Irish being six short of their proportion and the Irish Catholics only one. They are entitled according to the above calculation to three members of the Cabinet and have two, Mr. Blake and Mr. R. W. Scott, a protestant and a catholic, showing that there also the Irish catholics have their full proportion of representation. In the Commons Mr. Waller stated the representation was considerably short but he looked upon the remedy in a different light from those who shout about Scotch ascendancy. Instead of an organization for the purpose of selling their votes to the party which will support the greatest number of Irish Catholic candidates, Mr. Waller recommends all classes to join together and vie with each other independent of creed or nationality to work for the public welfare, and he does not doubt that in such a contest all classes will meet with fair play and adequate representation. The concluding portion of the address is replete with good advice and patriotic sentiment, and stamps the speaker as himself worthy a foremost place in our Legislative Halls, where we hope soon to see him.

Cross Husbands and Scolding Wives.

"Domestic infelicity," which newspaper reporters nowadays credit with playing such an important part in life's drama, is often the result of lingering or chronic disease. What husband or wife can be cheerful, smiling, and pleasant, when constantly suffering from the tortures of some dread disease? Perhaps the husband's liver becomes torpid, and he experiences bitter, disagreeable taste or nausea, has chilly sensations, alternating with great heat and dryness of the surface of his body, pain in his sides, shoulders, or back, eyes and skin are tinged with yellow, feels dull, indisposed, and dizzy. Through his suffering he becomes gloomy, despondent, and exceedingly irritable in temper. Instead of resorting to so reliable a remedy as a few small doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets, and following up their action with the use of Golden Medical Discovery, to work the biliary poison out of the system and purify the blood, if he play the part of a "penny wise and pound foolish" man he will attempt to economize by saving the small cost of these medicines. Continuing to suffer, his nervous system becomes impaired, and he is fretful and peevish—a fit subject to become embroiled in "domestic infelicity." Or the good wife may, from her too laborious duties or family cares, have become subject to such chronic affections as are peculiarly incident to her sex, and being reduced in blood and strength, suffering from backache, nervousness, headache, internal fever, and enduring pains too numerous to mention, she may become peevish and fretful—any thing but a genial helpmate. In this deplorable condition of ill health, should she act wisely and employ Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, it will in due time, by its cordial, bake from her the peevish, scolding, irritable-temperand speaking seriously, husbands and wives, you will find the Family Medicines above mentioned reliable and potent remedies. For full particulars of their properties and uses, see Pierce's Memorandum Book, which is given away by all druggists.

ALCOHOL AS A MEDICINE.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Sir,—The majority of our temperance friends think alcohol in some form necessary for sacramental and medicinal purposes, and only condemn its use as a beverage; while those who manufacture and deal in it advocate its use as a beverage, and denounce those who debase themselves by what they term its excessive use.

It is quite likely this matter would be looked upon in a different light if it could be presented in a new form.

Dr. Kitto, Rev. Wm. Richie, Dr. Lees and others think the words in the original Hebrew, sachar, yayin, tirosh, which are all rendered "wine" in our version of the Bible, have each a distinct signification, and have reference to wines of different qualities, some being fermented, others unfermented. It is well known that fermentation is a process destructive of all organic substances. In the 104th Psalm wine is classed with "grass," "herbs" and "oil," which are all products of growth, and possess sufficient vital properties to constitute them food for man or beast, as the case may be. Unfermented wine is very nourishing, as it is capable of entering the blood as a constituent element in its composition. Alcohol is only produced by fermentation, which destroys the vital properties of the grape juice. Fermentation means death decay; alcohol, then, is a "child of death." It is also an irritant poison. Instead of entering into the composition of the blood, it destroys its vitality. It not only destroys the vitality of the corpuscles, but the tissue comprising the bodily structures, as well as the gastric juice. Its contact with this fluid causes its death, the pepsin being precipitated. This was well understood by the Jews and early Christians, who did not use even fermented bread in any of their rites, civil or religious. If it was so important to exclude it in the bread which represents the body of Christ, is it not quite as important that it should be excluded in the wine which represents the blood, "which the life."

In view of its possessing these death-dealing properties, there can be no hesitation in denouncing its use as a medicine. The idea that it imparts vitality to invalids, or benefits them in any way, is a mistaken one. It simply induces vital action for the purpose of expelling a noxious substance from the vital domain. It is a test that vitality is already present in the system, the same as a "blister" applied to the surface of the body; instead of its being an advantage by imparting vitality, it exhausts it in the effort to expell it. Its use as a medicine creates an appetite for it as a beverage, or at least a frequent "medicine." Then its victim is on the down grade to the incipient drunkard, and finally to the confirmed inebriate.

HYGIENIST.

For Boils and Carbuncles.

From Rev. Richard Edes, of Bolton, Mass.

"For years I was a sufferer from boils, so that may life became wearisome through their frequent and persistent recurrence. A carbuncle, which ultimately occupied a space of three or four square inches, formed in the small of my back. During its progress large places of decomposed flesh were every day or two cut away, and the prostration and general disturbance of the system were great. Before I had recovered from this attack two smaller carbuncles broke out higher up, and I was again threatened with a recurrence of the sufferings to which I had so long been subjected. It was at this time that I commenced taking the Peruvian Syrup; I continued taking it until I had used five bottles; since then I have had nothing of the kind. I attribute this improved state of my system entirely to the Peruvian Syrup; and I feel that I cannot express my obligations to it in terms too strong. For years I was one of the greatest sufferers. Other medicines gave me partial and temporary relief; but this remarkable remedy, with a kind of intuitive sense, went directly to the root of the evil, and did its work with a thoroughness worthy of its established character." Sold by dealers generally.

The Most Valuable Gift.—Restoration of the Health.

During the past ten years the proprietor of the Great Shoshonean Remedy has faithfully restored every person and guarantee made to the public over his signature. Alarming and apparently hopeless cases of Lung Diseases, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Affections of the Kidney and Chronic Complaints of every description, including Scrofula and Skin Diseases of life-long duration, have been permanently removed and eradicated. Those who volunteered their testimony to the efficacy of the Remedy are not bogus people in search of localities of foreign states, but residents citizens of this Dominion, easy of access to question, upon whose veracity the reputations we are willing to test. If you call the Great Shoshonean Remedy and Pills selected do not delay. No injurious effects can result from its use to aid you, as one of these Indian Remedies follow the use of minerals, by which the system contain is so often sealed under the form of mercurial temporary sedative or stimulant. Indian Remedies are widely known and fully possess the public confidence after the lapse of sufficient time to test their efficacy.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from active practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India Missionary the formula of a Vegetable Remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of

Consumption Asthma Bronchitis Catarrh

and all Throat and Lung Affections; also a Positive and Radical Cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having thoroughly tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, feels it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by return mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper.

HARDING & STEVENS, Box 32, Brockville, Ont.

Five Years' Sickness Cured by Four Bottles of Constitutional Catarrh Remedy. Full Particulars, Book and Lungs, and Bronchitis by Virtue Thereof.

Mr. Adelard, P. Q., Sept. 18, 1876.

Dr. J. D. Harding,

Dear Sir,—Being desirous that others may know something of the merits of your Constitutional Catarrh Remedy, I wish to inform you what it has done for me. I am 27 years old, and burst out of health for about five years, and consulted three or four doctors, but did not get relief. I was troubled with a bad cough, and had night sweats, without receiving any benefit, and was reduced to a skeleton, so that I could not walk. I had been given up by my friends, and was not expected to live. I was induced to take your Catarrh Remedy, and bottle of which caused me pain, but gave me an increased appetite, and after four bottles I was restored to health, so as to be able to attend to my business, which I have been doing well and steadily ever since. I have been engaged in the lumbering business for the last two winters. My testimony I submit to you, and you are at liberty to make use of it as you may think proper.

Price $1 per bottle. Sold by druggists generally.

A LECTURE

TO YOUNG MEN!

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay clearly demonstrates, from thirty years successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

The Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED SPRUCE GUM,

—FOR—

Coughs, Colds, Bronchial and all Throat Affections.

The Gum which exudes from the Red Spruce tree is, without doubt, the most valuable native Gum for Medicinal purposes.

Its remprikable power in relieving certain severe forms of Bronchitis, and its almost specific effect in curing obstinate hacking Coughs, is now well known to the public at large. In this Syrup (carefully prepared at low temperature), containing a large quantity of the finest picked Gum in complete solution, all the Tonic Expectorant, Balsamac and Anti-Spasmodic effects of the Red Spruce Gum are fully preserved. For sale at all Drug Stores. Price, 25 cents per bottle.

READ CAREFULLY.

SAMUEL OSBORNE, Sophiasburg, says—"I was affected with Dyspepsia for nearly four years, my lungs becoming affected towards the last. I was induced to try the "Shoshoneas Remedy." After using three or four bottles I felt much better, and gained strength rapidly, my health improved steadily and rapidly, and when I had taken three or four bottles more, I was quite restored to health and strength, and have experienced better health than for forty years before. I had been under the treatment of a number of physicians before, but never received any material aid until I used your remedy."

A. MCKAY. Truro, N. S., says "he was very bad with Liver Complaint, but used the "Shoshoneas Remedy," and in a month was as well as he had ever been in his life. I am now in business and wish you to send me three dozen by steamer.

A. WOOD, Gonseecon, says:—"That he has tried the "Remedy" for Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia with great success. I have also used the "Shoshoneas Pills," and find that they are as good as any I ever tried.

Rev. JOHN SCOTT says—"Mr. McKenzie Booting suffered from an attack of rheumatism, and was unable to move without help but after taking a few bottles of the 'Shoshoneas" was able to walk as well as ever." Price of the Remedy in plat bottles $1; Pills 25 cents a box.

WHAT THEY SAY OF IT? A FEW FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.—There are but few preperations of medicines which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people for any great length of time. One of these is Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil. Read the following and be convinced:—Thos. Robinson, Farnham Centre, P. Q., writes, "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for the last ten years, and have tried many remedies without any relief, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and since then have had no attack of it. I would recommend it to all."—J. B. Earl, Hotel Keeper, West Shefford, P.Q., writes, "I have been troubled with liver complaint for several years, and have tried different medicines with little or no benefit, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which gave me immediate relief, and I would say that I have used it since with the best effect. No one should be without it. I have tried it on my horses in cases of cuts, wounds, etc., and think it is equally as good for horse as for man."—A. Maybee Merchant, Warkworth, writes, "I have sold some hundreds of bottles of Eclectric Oil, and it is pronounced by the public, 'one of the best medicines they have ever used;' it has done wonders in healing and relieving pain, sore throats, etc., and is worthy of the greatest confidence."—Joseph Reman, Township Percy writes, "I persuaded to try Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lame knee which troubled me for three or four years, and I never found anything like it for curing lameness. It is a great public benefit."—A. M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes, "For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which annoyed me very much. Mr. Maybee of this place induced me to try Eclectric Oil, and before one bottle was used I was cured. It is a most remarkable medicine. Sold by all medicine dealers Price, 25 cents.

Thomas' Eclectric Oil! Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest Medicine ever made. One dose cures common SORE THROAT. One bottle has cured BRONCHITIS. Fifty cents' worth has cured an OLD STANDING COUGH. One or two bottles cures bad cases of PILES and KIDNEY TROUBLES. Six to eight applications cure ANY OF ECCESCATHS NIPPLES OR INFLAMED BREAST. One bottle has cured LAME BACK of eight years standing. Daniel Plank, of Brookfield, Tioga County, Pa., says: "I went thirty miles for a bottle of your Oil, which effected a Wonderful Cure of a CROOKED LEGS, by six applications." Another who has had ASTHMA for years, says: "I have half of a 50 cent bottle left, and $100 would not buy it if I could get no more."

RUFUS ROBERTSON, of Neuda, N. Y. writes "One small bottle of your ECLECTRIC OIL removed the voice where the person had no spoken above a whisper in FIVE YEARS Rev. J. Mallory, of Wyoming, N. Y., writes "Your ECLECTRIC OIL cured me of BRONCHITIS in one week."

It is composed of six of the Best Oils that are known. Is as good for internal as for external use, and is believed to be immeasurably superior to anything ever made. Will save you much suffering and many dollars of expense.

A WONDERFUL REFORM IN FANNING MILLS

Farmers wanting to purchase a First Class Fanning Mill should call on

MINORGAN & ELLIOTT

AND GET ONE OF THEIR

"FARMERS FRIEND."

They are the best and cheapest Fanning Mills in the Market, and clean from 80 to 100 bush. of Wheat, ready for the market, in an hour, and does not throw the large grain into the tailings. We have received a large number of Testimonials from different Farmers in the County who have used our Mills. They will speak for themselves:—

Greystock P.O., Otonabee, Mar. 12, 1877—
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—This is to certify that I have given the "Farmers Friend" Mill a fair trial, and have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion it is one of the best Mills now in use for cleaning grain for seed, or market.
Yours etc.,
J. SMITHSON.

Otonabee, March 21, 1877.
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—This is to certify that I have given your "Farmers Friend" Mill a fair trial, and have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion it is one of the best Mills now in use for cleaning grain for seed or market.
Yours etc.,
J. REDMOND.

Balsam Grove, Petterboro, March 13, 1877.
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—I have tested your "Farmers Friend" Mill and find that it works well, taking out all dirt and small seeds out of grain and making a good clean article for sale. I am sure that your machine will give good satisfaction among the farmers, that is if they want to take good clean grain to market, and get five cents per bushel more for it.
Yours etc.,
J. H. WALTON.

Smith, 5th March, 1877.
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—I take pleasure in recommending the "Farmers Friend" as being the best Mill I have ever had, and I have had several of what was called the best Makes in Ontario.
JAS. ELLIOTT.

Peterboro, March 5th, 1877.
This is to certify that we have tested Moore & Minorgan's Mill and pronounce it to be the best we have ever seen cleaning, and it is the best Seperator we have ever seen.
JOHN DOBBIN.
I also endorse the above statement.
WM. DOBBIN.

Smith, March 6th, 1877.
This is to certify that I have seen Moore & Minorgan's Seperator in my barn. I consider it the "Boss Mill."

Where Shall the Lover Rest?

Where shall the lover rest,
Whom the fates sever
From his true maiden's breast,
Parted for ever?
Where, through groves deep and high,
Sounds the far billow,
Where early violets die,
Under the willow.

Through the summer day,
They are laving;
Soaring on tempest away,
There, they are waving;
Parted for ever and there!
Never again to be
Never, O never.

Where shall the traitor rest,
He, the deceiver,
Who could win maiden's breast,
Ruin, and leave?
In the lost battle,
Borne down by the flying,
Where mingles war's rattle,
With groans of the dying.

Her wings shall the eagle flap
O'er the false-hearted;
His warm blood the wolf shall lap,
Ere life be parted.
Shame and dishonor sit
By his grave ever;
Blessing shall hallow it—
Never, O never.

JOSEPH'S BROTHER.

BY BRET HARTE.

They didn't call him Tom, or Jack, or Harry, but always spoke of him as "Joseph's Brother." And it was just as singular that they didn't say "Joe," instead of "Joseph," when speaking of or to the man.

The two had a waggon in the band dragging itself towards the Black Hills, day by day and mile by mile. They messed themselves scarcely spoke except to each other, and their whole time actions were a sort of mystery to the rest, who were a jolly set, drinking, carousing, fighting, playing cards and wishing for a brush with the Indians. Some said that Joseph was a fugitive from justice, and that he would not fraternize with them for fear of betraying himself when interrogated. Others thought that he was too proud to mix with such society, and between the two theories he had nearly all the men thinking ill of him before the waggon train was fourteen days' travel from Cheyenne.

"He keeps his brother hidden away in the waggon as if a little sunshine would kill the boy," growled one of a dozen gold hunters sitting around their camp fire in the twilight.

"Perhaps he thinks our language isn't high toned enough—blast his eyes!" exclaimed another.

"All's one all bound to the same place—all sharing the same dangers—one as good as another?" demanded a broad-shouldered fellow from San Antonio.

"Yes, yes!" they shouted.

"Then don't it look low-down mean for this 'ere man Joseph to edge away from us as if we were pisen? If he's so mighty refined and high-toned, why didn't he come out here in a saloon?"

There was a laugh from the circle, and the Texan went on:

"If don't partend to be an angel, but I know manners as well as the next. I believe that man Joseph is a reg'lar starch, ready to wilt right down as soon as I p'int my finger at him, and I'm goin' over to his wagon to pull his nose!"

"That's the game, Jack! Go in, old fellow! 'Rah for the man from Texas!" yelled the gold hunters as they sprang to their feet.

"Come right along and see the fun," continued the Texan, as he led the way towards Joseph's waggon.

The vehicle formed one in the circle, and at a small fire a few feet from the blind wheels sat Joseph and his brother, eating their frugal supper. As the crowd came near, the boy sprang up and climbed into the covered wagon, while Joseph slowly rose up and looked at them anxiously and inquiringly.

"See here, Mister Joseph what's-your-other-name!" began the Texan, as he halted before the one man, "we have come to the conclusion that you and that booby brother of yours don't like our style. Are we korect?

"I have nothing against any of you," replied Joseph quietly. The journey thus far has been very pleasant and agreeable to us."

"But you bag off'-you don't speak to us," persisted Jack.

"I am sorry it I have incurred any man's ill will. I feel friendly towards you all."

"Oh, you do eh?" sneered the Texan, feeling that he was losing ground. "Well it's my opinion that you are a sneak!"

Joseph's face turned white, and the man saw a dangerous gleam in his eyes. He seemed about to speak or make some movement when a soft voice from the wagon called out:

"Joseph! Joseph!"

A soft light came into the man's face. The Texan noticed it, and snapping Joseph's face, he blured out:

"If ye aint a coward ye'll resent that sure!"

A boyish figure sprang from the wagon and stood beside the lone man. A small hand was laid on his shoulder and a voice whispered in his ear:

"Bear the insult for my sake!"

There was a full moment in which no one moved. Joseph's face looked ghostly white in the gloom, and they could see him tremble.

"He's a coward, just as I thought!" said the Texan, as he turned away. The others followed him, some feeling ashamed, and others surprised or gratified, and by and by the word had reached every wagon that Joseph and Joseph's brother were cowards.

Next morning when the wagon train was ready to move, the Captain passed near Joseph's wagon on purpose to say:

"If there are any cowards in this train, they needn't travel with us any further."

It was a cruel threat. Joseph was harnessing his horses, and the brother was stewing away the cooking utensils. The strong man's face grew white again, and his hand went down for his revolver, but just then a voice called out.

"Don't mind it Joseph, we will go on alone."

The train moved off without them, some of the gold hunters taunting and joking, and others fearful that the two would be butchered before the day was over. When the white topped waggons were so far away that they seemed no larger than his hand, Joseph moved along on the trail, his face stern and dark, and no baby with his thoughts that he did not hear the consoling words

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 12, 1877.

THE TORONTO AND OTTAWA RAILWAY.

On Friday next the grouping by-law, (including Pickering, Port Perry, Reach, and Scugog,) for the granting of a bonus to the Toronto & Ottawa Railway, will be voted upon, and on the following Friday the Township of Manvers will vote on a by-law, proposing a grant of $30,000 to the same line. Of course both these by-laws are meeting with considerable opposition from interested parties, who are doing all in their power to belittle the enterprise, even going so far as to designate it as a "bogus line." In this they overshoot the mark; for it is now pretty generally known that the projected Toronto & Ottawa Railway is a bona fide enterprise, a company of thoroughly reliable gentlemen having been formed to carry it out; and that it has received the commendation, not only of the most experienced railway men in Canada, but also of some of the wisest heads in England. But the best refutation of those who desire to represent the smallness and feebleness of this new and important railway enterprise is contained in their own action in so frantically opposing it. Whatever be their reasons for so doing, and whencesoever arises the sneer, they evidently consider the so-called "bogus line" sufficient material to fight against with all their energy, and with all the strategy, not to say unscrupulousness, at their command.

The chief hope of the opponents of the by-law to be voted on Friday next lies in Pickering, the whole of which township lately rejected a by-law, proposing a large bonus from itself alone to the road. It is argued that this municipality having declined to give a certain sum, it is unjust to "force it," (that is the phrase) into a group for voting on a by-law for a grant to the same road, and at the first glance such an objection seems plausable enough. There is a vast difference, however, in asking a sum of money from one township alone, and in dividing the burden among several municipalities; and from this it will be seen that the great cry of coercion and injustice to Pickering is so much buncome, got up for the express purpose of possibly exciting the minds of the electors of Pickering to an unreasoning opposition to the by-law. The other objections urged against this by-law are all equally illogical; for instead of discussing the question on its merits, the opponents of the line in all cases try to raise an unreasoning prejudice against it by false promises, and misrepresentations based thereon. They do not even discuss the Toronto & Ottawa Railway itself, the country through which it will run, and the cities and towns it will connect; but they make references to other unfortunate roads, which by the by have been managed, or rather mismanaged, by the very men who are opposing the new through line intended to increase the commercial prosperity of the whole country, and not simply to afford a questionable benefit to a small section, controlled and bled by the managers of small roads, who are now crying out against a mightier project than theirs can ever possibly attain to. Using their own allies as a general model the opponents of the Toronto & Ottawa Railway draw the sweeping deduction that all railway projectors are frauds and cheats. Surely these people must be hard up for an argument, when they thus severely portray their their own frauds. If their allies have proved themselves unreliable, it does not surely follow that those whom they oppose must be unreliable too! It is rather to be supposed that those who act with the parties proved to be unreliable, are themselves worthy of but little credence, as "Birds of a feather flock together."

In much the same way proceeds the opposition to the Manvers by-law; and that such similarity should exist is only natural, seeing that the same source produces the twaddle in both localities, using the Whitby Gazette in the one case, and the Port Hope Times in the other. The latter journal in its last issue commences an article with an affectation of amusement at the proposition of a bonus by Manvers. But after a few sentences, the scheme which it declares is "looked upon as a mere joke," is discussed with all the earnest pleading that can be mustered up against it. A rather serious way of treating a joke! It reminds its readers that the Toronto & Ottawa exists only on paper. The same objection might have been urged against the Belleville, Lakefield, Orillia and Georgian Bay extensions of the Midland Railway, which the Times so strongly supported at the time they existed "only on paper," and not by any means such well backed paper as that on which the Toronto & Ottawa line is projected. Perhaps the less said about "paper" railways the better for some parties who are loudly denouncitory of the new through line, as one existant only on paper. The objection that Toronto and Ottawa have not yet voted anything to the line is a weak one in view of the well-known popularity of the project in both these cities. When they are asked for their share there is no doubt it will be forthcoming. In the meantime the popularity of the line along its length is to be openly and fairly tested, for on the support offered by the municipalities en route will greatly depend the enthusiasm of the cities, and only on the municipal aid being assured will Provincial aid follow. So that the Toronto & Ottawa Company is proceeding in the rational way, in spite of the clever criticism of the paper that knows all about railway schemes When reference is made to the increase of township taxes, we come to some connection with the question at issue, albeit the argument is an old one. A little calculation will show that the taxation caused by the carrying of the by-law will be so distributed as to be all but imperceptible each year; and as we have the best authority that Manvers is comparatively free from debt, we cannot see why a paper which advises debt—burdened Port Hope to pledge its credit for the Midland Railway should be so solicitous about the taxes of solvent Manvers, unless indeed the cause be a selfish one, and in the interest of that self same Midland Railway that does not hesitate to levy heavy freights charges on the people of Manvers, now that it has a monopoly of their carrying trade. The advice that the township should spend money to improve its roads, is good; but it is a little wonderful that the paper that now offers it should have hitherto overlooked such an obvious improvement. It would cost a pretty round sum to open up all the roads of Manvers for easy traffic to the stations of the Midland Railway. In view of the difficulties of such a course, the benefits to the township of the proposed line of railway east and west, or rather diagonally across the township, is obvious, in mere point of traffic accommodation, to say nothing of the competition in rates and the opening of direct communication with metropolitan advantages east and west. When the Times says "the greater portion of the country through which it is proposed to construct the Toronto & Ottawa road is amply provided with railway accommodation," it either ignorantly or willfully gets far from the truth; for the facts are just the opposite to its assertion, and the prospects of a larger traffic from a hitherto undeveloped region, rich in timber, minerals, and agricultural products, are infinitely superior to those that formerly led the Times to descant upon the importance of Midland Railway extension to the northern pine limits. Altogether the outlook was never better for any Canadian line of railway yet projected; and we only trust that the ratepayers of those municipalities called on to contribute towards the construction of the Toronto & Ottawa road will simply examine the case on its own merits, irrespective of little local jealousies, and decide to vote as their reason and judgment dictate. In such an event we have no fears for the result.

A COMPLAISANT CRITIC.

Of course the Local Tory publication makes an attack on Mr. Bertram's speech at Ennismore. This was one of the certainties the Speaker was willing to meet when he determined to deliver his address. It is remarkable that the paper that professes to criticise the speech, but really undertakes to misrepresent it, took care to publish no report of it. Nor does the censor quote from the speech, in order that a judgment may be formed of the justice of his remarks upon any particular part of it. His purpose is plainly to deceive if possible, and he follows the plan of keeping out of sight that which he falsely describes. Herein he repeats a former notable trick in connection with certain "official records" with which he tried to play the game of 'bluff." To describe Mr. Bertram's speech at Ennismore as "laborious" is palpably wide of the truth. An appeal to anyone who was present will confirm the general impression conveyed by THE EXAMINER's report, that the address was easy in style and delivery. Besides it is well-known that Mr. Bertram is not a laboured speaker. The term "apologetic" applied to the speech is equally inappropriate. It was a plain expression of the views of the speaker, and a report of his record in parliament; and besides having no reason to apologize for his votes, he explained plainly his preference for the Administration rather than the Opposition. This journalistic critic seems to be disappointed that he adopted a gentlemanly tone in referring to the Conservative party and its leader. That he did so is simply characteristic of the man. His intimation that he was not prepared to hold the present Government as perfect in all things, was a mere statement of fact, and the Opposition in the country are quite welcome to all the comfort they can draw from what their paper seems to look on as an admission. As for its being "severe on the local Grit Organ," we can only say "the local Tory lyre" is mistaken again; for the management of THE EXAMINER, which paper is meant, has a little too much sense to attempt to deny a self-evident truth. The supposition of "the local Tory lyre" is therefore as far from the facts as is its statement to what we have "been trying to establish."

The remarks of Mr. Bertram on Protection were so plain, and his general views on the subject are so well known from his able speech during the last session of Parliament, that the Peterboro Protectionist paper is absolutely foolish to insinuate that his views on this subject are indefinite. It may safely be said of Mr. Bertram that he meant every word he said, which is more than can be said of his critic. For instance our journalistic neighbour cannot believe itself when it says O'Donohue of North-West notoriety whom it describes as "only concerned in a harem-scarem Fenian Raid" was "not even allowed the privilege of a trial.' It is a trial that O'Donohue does not want, else why did he not come forward and demand it? Mr. Bertram's explanation of the O'Donohue affair was in deference to an apparent desire that he should do so; and his explanation was clearly and honestly given; so much so as to shape his hearers the absurdity of the say of French favoritism and Irish persecution.

The Tory journal proceeds to allude to an omission of something from Mr. Ennismore's report of the speech. It could not have been very important; but at any rate such a remark does not come with good grace from a paper, very similar circumstanced, which made no attempt whatever to present a report. It can now make sneering references concerning an enterprise of which it has reason to feel jealous. Any fool can scoff and sneer; but it takes an uncommonly foolish fellow to draw comfort from the remark that "the Conservative party will certainly rule the country at some future day, sooner or later." The certainty was always existent; the determination of the time is the trouble with the Opposition.

ANOTHER INSTANCE OF TORY TACTICS.

The letter of Mr. Fitzgerald lately published by us, and our remarks upon it, seems to trouble the Review. We don't wonder that such should be the effect. The reason is obvious. Honest expression is ever troublesome to those who have a sinister purpose in view; and that we believe to be the purpose of the Tory party in trying to induce the Irish Catholics to sink their political judgement and adopt the very dangerous principle of civil action on sectional or religious combinations only, whereby, as we have formerly shown both their nationality and their religion must be degraded. The judgment passed on our motives, we can afford to laugh at, as a mirrored reflex of the mind that conceived it. We were not aware that our references to Mr. Fitzgerald could be regarded as "blarney;" and if soft words toward Irish Catholics does not suit the Review we cannot help it. We expressed certain opinions on a timely topic, opinions that the Review could not controvert. On the contrary it did itself honour by quoting from our columns and expressing approbation of our remarks. Since then something seems to have alarmed those who control our erratic contemporary, and it actually undertakes to find fault with what it formerly commended. This effect is more than we looked for. There must be some cause. What can it be?

References to Mr. Fitzgerald and his views on representation we can easily leave to that gentleman himself and to the sentiments of his letter; but there is one point we feel called on to notice. This is the statement the Tory papers are so fond of reiterating, that Reform sentiment is expressed in the remark of one of their number that certain of his friends "would not vote for an Irish Catholic." This has been harped on as though it were a sure card to play; and it may raise a little indignation in the minds of those who do not know what a small matter it pertains to and includes. It arose during the discussion on the selection of a Reform candidate at Ottawa, to oppose Mr. Currier. There is an arrangement between parties in that city that the French Catholics, the Irish Catholics and the Protestants shall each have a parliamentary representative. These are respectively Messrs. St. Jean, O'Donohoe, and Mr. Currier. When therefore it was proposed to nominate an Irish Catholic for the Commons, while Mr. O'Donohoe held the seat in the Ontario Legislature, the warning was very naturally given that, respecting the well-understood arrangement mentioned above, the Reformers could not vote for an Irish Catholic. In accordance with agreement, strengthened by precedent both the Reform and the Conservative candidates had to be Protestants to which the Irish Catholics of Ottawa could not object while they held to the arrangement and Mr. O'Donohoe remained a member of the Ontario Legislature. No matter how people may look on the arrangement for the distribution of seats in Ottawa, they will readily recognize the propriety under the circumstances of the remark in regard to not voting for an Irish Catholic, and that it might just as readily have been made at a Conservative meeting as at a Reform gathering. The man who made it was probably more honest than discreet; and never imagined that the Tory party would attempt to give a general signification to words that at most had a mere local reference. But on just such petty foundations are towering Tory scandals built.

ANOTHER CONSERVATIVE STORY ANALYZED.

There is passing round the Tory press a statement that the men employed in the Public Works Department at Ottawa who voted for Currier have been dismissed. Evidently the idea meant to be conveyed is that only those who voted for Currier were dismissed, and that the dismissal was a punishment for voting for the Opposition candidate. The story is absurd on its very face, and need only be mentioned to be scouted by any one who knows even a little concerning the late election at Ottawa, or indeed any election. The vote was by ballot, and it was impossible, even had there been a desire to tell how the men who voted did vote. The fact of the dismissal of a number of men when there was nothing for them to do was a very natural act; but it furnished the mind of imaginative with material to manufacture another scandal against the Grit Government. It is well known that during the late session of the Dominion Parliament a cry for employment went up from among the workingmen of Ottawa. A demonstration was even got up within the Parliament buildings, and Tory prints will remember the political significance they sought to attach to it at the time. It was then proven that some of those who marched to the Parliament buildings to demand work of the Premier left regular employment to join the mob. To relieve the distress said to exist the Minister of Public Works determined to proceed sooner than he had intended with certain works about Parliament Square. In this way work was offered to those who chose to do it; but even then some of those who had been crying out about their distress actually refused to take up the employment provided for them except at a price named by themselves.—Workmen however were found, and in due time the work was finished. The men then had to be dismissed; and as they had been taken on without any consideration of how they would vote, or of their having a vote at all, so they were dismissed irrespective of their voting or non-voting. The whole tale is "too thin" to stand any examination; but it tends to show of what penny material Tory slanders can be concocted.

The Mail is punishing the beauty of political and personal honesty, the Federal Ministry. Very well, but it would be a fine thing for the Conservative party if a more reputable and sincere organ of opinion was charged with the necessaries. The Mail has wasted the money of its shareholders and of the North ern Railway in a species of most undesirable journalism, is bankrupt in character and resources, and therefore is ill-fitted to stand forward as the exponent of high principles.—Montreal Star.

WORSE AND WORSE.

The paper that feared to produce the official records to pinch it appealed continuously to accuse us of misrepresentation of the facts of the Georgian Bay branch contract. We stated our views fairly, and in proof of our position gave the official records, that our readers might judge for themselves the facts. Did our accuser dare to do as much? When it shown that the facts are otherwise than we have given them—when it gives any acceptable corroboration of its own bare and bitterly partisan statements,—it will then be time for it to accuse us of distorting facts. We cannot adopt the "you're another" retort in answer to the Review; for it would not be applicable on either side. We have not distorted facts: the Review ignores them. It follows the plain Tupperonian system, of answering untruths with violent volubility and untiring iteration. In a few lines last week it tells the following Tupperisms:—

"Premier Mackenzie gave Mr. Foster a contract in defiance of constitutional practice."

"The contract was annulled because the surveys showed the write to be impracticable."

"Mr. Foster was paid $68,000 on account of rails and construction."

Now the facts, as shown by the "official records" are:—The giving of the contract was perfectly constitutional. There is nothing to show that the route is impracticable, and indeed the Minister has promised that the line will yet be built; therefore the contract could not have been annulled because the "route" was unpracticable. whatever may be meant by the word "route," or which "route" surveyed may be indicated, by our clever accuser. The $68,000 paid to Mr. Foster had no connection whatever with the Georgian Bay branch; but was expended on account of the Canada Central Railway, a distinct concern, the work on which was arranged for on a plan so different as to show its separate character to anyone who knows anything of the matter. Especially should those who profess to quarrel with facts know a little more of the case in hand We would advise the Tupperonian disciple of the Review to learn something of this Georgian Bay branch before he presumes to accuse anyone of distorting facts. First find the facts; and then show if possible where there has been distortion.

Peterboro' Water Works.

As the discussion of Water Works is again before the Ratepayers for their information, below will be found the specifications for which the Town paid $100 some 4 or 5 years ago:—

General Specifications for the Proposed Works.

PUMP HOUSE AND RACES.

The material in site of building is to be cleared out as low as shewn on plans and a perfectly solid and substantial foundation prepared for the walls with cement concrete or piling, or timber work, as the ground may require, and the Engineer of the Works may direct.

The Tail Race to be taken out to the depth and sizes shewn and excavated out to the point of discharge with an average water-way of 18 ft. wide and with bottom inclination of 1 in 200 The sides of the Tail Race to be walled up with substantial dry masonry wall or taken out to slope of 2 to 1 as may be required.

The Head Race is to be made to a clear width of 16 ft. with depth of 8 ft. below low-water line, and to be sloped or lined at sides as may be required for the site. At a distance of 18 ft. from the Pump House, the Race is to be divided into two by a strong framing of timber planked water-tight on both sides with 2 inch plank. The sides and division of Race to be 2 ft. above high-water. Each division of flume is to be provided with sliding head-gates 4 ft. sq., two to each division, and one gate to each, at the building, of 4 ft.5 ft, clear opening to close trunk of turbine cases. The gates to be provided with proper rack and pinion movement, and one of each pair of head-gates, as also the lower gates, to be provided with relieving gates 10 in. by 6 in. on back of main gates. The head of the race at the Pond is to be provided with timber posts and cheek for stop-logs, as also a platform for working the same. The head of race at Pond is to be provided with wooden rack of 1¼ openings and each division is to be provided with hoop-iron rack with ¼ in openings. All the junction of race with building and about stop-gates is to be thoroughly puddled to cut off leakage.

The excavated material from building and tail race and head race is to be deposited where required.

The masonry of the outer walls of the Pump House up to line of brickwork to the division wall to level of pumproom floor, is to be heavy rubble of large, durable, well-bedded stones, laid in cement and bonded in the best manner and also thoroughly grouted. Base course of outer walls where seen to be neatly bushammered. The division wall across building for the support of pumps is to be of ashlar of large bedded stones out to ¼ inch beds throughout, and to ¼ inch joints one-third of thickness of wall from the face. The stones to be bonded and laid in best manner in cement and thoroughly grouted—special dimensions stones to be provided for bed and supporting plates of the machinery and bolt and hand holes to be left where required. The face of wall next pumps to be finely bushammered and the other side, as well as parts under stairway to be rook face with not over 1 in. projection.

The upper walls of building (colored red and plain) to be built of best quality hard burned bricks, uniform in color and shape, to be well built, four courses of stretchers and fifth course of headers. The walls to be divided into panels by pilasters in brick 24 in. wide x4 in. projection between windows and doors and at corners. The body of walls to be 12 ins thick. The windows and doors to have stonesills 5 in. thick, neatly cut, and have neat semicircular brick arches with cut-stone keys. The roof to be supported on trusses as shewn; to be sheated with sound, dry pine sheeting, laid close. The deck of roof to be covered with best quality compositon and gravel roofing, and the slopes to be covered with heavy tin. Cornice to be made of wood as shewn and eaves to be provided with proper troughs and spouts of double tin firmly put up.

The building is to have light windows, each of 12 lights 12x16 with semicircular sash heads, shewing semicirular outside and finishing square inside; frames to be 3x7; sashes to be 1¼ thick, made to rise; to be counter-checked and well fitted in with diagonal tongued and globbed boarding.

The flooring of pump room to be 3 in. plank, 6 in. wide, laid ¼ in. apart on cedar beams. Above this floor, and at level of centre of delivery pipes, there is to be a moveable flooring or stepping resting on moveable supports—This floor to be 1½ over. The parts near the pumps to be made as hatchways trimmed to fit the machinery and the other parts to be nailed on brackets in convenient sections for removal. The sections to be secured to joists by screws.

Floor beams 12x14 of oak, or other good hard wood are to be laid across above wheelpit and well fitted into masonry for support of counter shaft and strengthening of pump room wall. These beams to be secured to walls by 1¼ bolts 6 ft. long in outer wall and 10 ft. long in pump room wall. Intermediate joists 4x12 to be laid between these for support of floor. The flooring above wheelpit to be of 2 in. plank, dressed, tongued and grooved; to be made in sections for removal when required and have convenient hatchways for access to pit.

A neat strong close stair 30 in. wide is to be made at each side of building for access between pumproom and upper floor. The stairs to have proper hand rail and balusters and be neatly dove-tailed and fitted up as tool closets. Small doors to be provided for wheel pit and bottom of pumproom.

The front of upper floor at pumproom is to be provided with a neat light railing 2 8 high, recessed round the wheels on crank shafts, so as to prevent accidents. The level wheels over turbine shafts to be also guarded with moveable iron railings.

The interior of walls of building (except pumproom walls) is to be lathed on furring or straps and neatly plastered with two coats, finishing white and smooth. The ceiling to be lathed on proper ceiling joists and plastered same as walls.

All the wood work inside of building (except floors and seatses) to be oiled and varnished with 2 coats of No. 2 furniture varnish, and the timber and dressing to be of best quality and suitable for this finish. Floors to be painted with 3 coats good paint, finishing, usual light slate color. Iron railings, to have 3 coats paint and finish green. The outside wood work to have 3 coats paint and finish drab. The seatses inside and out to be painted 3 coats white

PUMPING MACHINERY.

The Pumping Machinery will consist of six single acting plunger pumps divided into two sets of three pumps each. Each set to be driven by a Leffel Turbine Water Wheel of 53 horse power, the whole arranged as shewn on general plan, and capable of delivering 1½ imperial gallons per day at a pressure equal to a column of water 250 ft. high, when working at easy safe working strain and speed.

The pump plungers are to be 10 inches dia., and have 2ft stroke. The valves to be circular double beat, with clear water-way of 60 square in., and be provided with adjustable stops to regulate the height of lift. The crank shafts are to be 7 in., diameter, cast iron of such length as to bring the pumps 3 ft., apart, centre to centre. The shaft pedestals are to be supported on heavy cast iron struts, or columns firmly bolted to brackets cast solid on pump barrels. The heads of the columns, as also the pump guides are to be securely bolted to bed plates let into masonry and the bed plates are also to be securely and independently bolted to the masonry. All the box linings or working bearings are to be of gun metal. The first motion wheels at top of turbine shaft are to be 9 in., face 2½ in., pitch, the pinion to have iron teeth and the wheel to have maple cogs. The second pair of bevels at crank shafts are to be 11 in., face 3 in., pitch, with iron teeth in pinion, maple cogs in wheel. The gearing is to be of the general sizes shewn on plan, and proportioned so as to give a speed of 26 strokes per minute to pumps with turbine at proper working speed under full half way between average and smallest.

Each set of pumps to be provided with a separate air vessel 3 0 diameter 7 0 high inside, as shewn, with body 1¼ in. thick and proportionately strengthened at bottom. Each pump is to be provided with an 8 inch brass faced stop-cock on connecting pipe with air vessel; and the suction pipe to each set is to be provided with a 10in. stop cock, (not shewn in plan.) The delivery pipe from each air vessel is to be 10 in. diameter, and be provided with a self acting or reflex valve with brass facings and seats. Each air vessel is to be provided with a self-acting relief valve, 6 in. dia., which is to be weighted so as to be adjustable from 20 to 110 lbs. pressure per square inch, and have attachments for opening (but not closing) having a handle near the hand wheel of the turbine gates. The delivery pipes are to be brought together by easy curves outside the house and be connected into one 10 in. main.

The turbines are to be accurately proportioned and well made, of the kind known as Leffels Double wurbine, and are to be of such size as to yield 53 horse power each, effective, on the counter shaft, under a head halfway between the average and smallest heads of water under which they will generally work. They are to be set in cases or wheel boxes made of timber bolted and framed together in the most substantial and durable manner. Draft tubes of boiler plate three sixteenths inches thick are to be provided for the turbines so as to allow of their being set clear of highest tail water.

Each set of pumps is to be fed through a revolving steamer 2ft. diameter, 9 feet long, covered with brass wire cloth of 24 meshes to the inch. The steamers to be fed from turbine cases and are to be provided with self-acting supply valves, and also with waste water troughs in case of overflow.

The machinery is to be provided with a Hydistatic Governor or Pressure Regulator so arranged as to govern one or both sets of machinery to give a uniform desired low pressure for domestic supply, and in case of sudden draft for fire or other purpose, that the pressure will be increased to desired fire pressure and maintained at that point by the use of one or both sets of pumps as may be necessary."

The turbines are also to be provided with hand wheels, &c., for working gates by hand.

Each set of pumps is to be provided with a pressure guage, and each air vessel with a glass guage 2 ft. long to shew water line.

All the machinery and pipes &c., to be painted 3 coats good paint, finishing deep maroon brown and to be relieved in parts by neat striping of lighter shade or of drab.

The machinery throughout is to be of first-class material and construction. and so proportioned that the working strain at full pressure and speed will not exceed one-tenth of ultimate strength. All water joints are to be accurately faced and put together with thin rubber packing.

PUMPING MAIN AND DISTRIBUTION.

All pumping main and distribution pipes are to be of cast iron with spigot and faucet points and of following diameters and thicknesses in the body,

10	in. internal diameter	⅝	in.	thick
8	" "	½	"
6	" "	7-16	"
4	" "	⅜	"

The faucets to be 4½ in. deep, 2½ of faucets and spigots to be turned and fitted taper and 1¼ in. to be dovetailed lead joint run and caulked water tight in the most thorough manner.

All pipes of 6 in. diameter and over are to lay 12 ft. long each, and the 4 in. to lay 9 ft. long each.

The special castings and branches are to be lead and yarn joints and need not be turned and bored.

All pipes are to be of best mixed iron. cast in dry sand, and be good sound castings of uniform thickness throughout the body.

The branches and special castings are to be be of same quality as pipes, properly thickened over flat parts to preserve full strength throughout, and the angles of the branches are to be rounded out to radius of not less than 6 in. to allow of the easy flow of the water.

The stop cocks and valves are to be of such thickness as to give 20 per cent additional strength over the pipes with which they are intended to connect. All stop cocks to be double brass faced both on valve and seats and are to have gun metal valve screw and nest and the square heads of valve screws are to be made to fit the same sized keys.

Relief valves, three in number, besides those in pumphouse, are to be placed in convenient points for discharge, near the extremities of the distribution. The valves are to be 4 in., diameter, similar in form to ordinary safety valves, and have brass valves and seats. The levers to be arranged so as to allow valves to open full area of throat when required and to have weights changeable from 25 to 110 lbs per square in. The valves to have discharge pipes connected with drains placed so as to keep the valve chambers dry.

The Hydrants are to be of cast iron bodies not less than 7-16 thick, to have gunmetal leather valves on brass seat at 5 ft below fo t path and two brass mouthings 16 in., above foot path. The valves be worked from a square headed bolt and working spindle at top of hydrant ground, brass-easy and water tight surfaces without packing. The hydrants at bottom are self acting with a positive motion from valve spindle so that sledge valve is open when main valve is shut and vice versa. The main valves are to be properly guided to prevent tremor when the hydrants are at work.

All pipes, branches, bends, stopcocks, hydrants, valves &c., are to be proved with water pressure to 200 lbs, per square inch and well hammered while under pressure and any found leaky or defective are to be rejected.

All iron work of destribution and main (except parts of Hydrants above ground) to be coated with coal-tar and lime, according to Dr. Smith's English Patent.

The Hydrants were seen above ground are to be painted 3 coats and finished light green.

The pipes are to be laid with not less than 5 ft. of covering over top and are to be deeper where necessary at minor inequalities of ground so as to conform to the general grade of the streets. The trenches are to be of such width at bottom as to allow of the earth being thoroughly packed under and round the pipes and joints and not strained. The best and finest earth, free from lumps and stones, is to be selected for filling to one foot above the pipe and the whole to be thoroughly rammed to the top as the filling proceeds. Any surplus earth from pipe trenches and chambers to be carted away. The macadamizing and paving of the surface of the streets to be carefully saved and replaced on top of filling and in all cases the streets, foot paths, &c are to be left as nearly as possible in as good condition as found

The Hydrants are to be set where shown in brick chambers, 4 ft. square inside up to 2½ ft. from bottom, and 15 in. by 2 ft. at top and 8 in. thick of brick-work. The walls are to be founded at bottom of hydrants on footings 12 in. wide on dry grounds and on 2 in. plank floor in wet ground. The top of the brick-work is to be coped with stone cope 6 in. thick, and have cast-iron moveable covers 5 inches thick, strengthened with ribs and fitting close to stone and body hydrant. The hydrants will generally be set just within the line of the curb and the tops of chambers to be carefully finished off to line and level of foot-paths.

The Relief valves are to be set in chambers similar to hydrant chambers of sufficient size to allow free access round the valve. They are to be coped with stone coping 8 inches thick, 12 inches wide, and have iron covers 4 inches thick well strengthened with ribs beneath.

The Stop-cocks to bedded in earth and have cast-iron tables 4 inches in diameter, with secure covers on top for access to spindles with keys.

It is to be understood that all parts of any work, belonging to any work, not specially specified, are to be done and supplied in the best manner, so that the Water-Works throughout shall be complete and left in good working order, as is usual in first-class works of this kinds.

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 12, 1877.

Good weather for rain.

Raspberries in market.

Fishing Parties are numerous.

The days are growing shorter.

Holiday trips are now being indulged in.

Are we to have a regatta this season?

Now, then, study up the Water Works question.

On dit that the rate this year will be 14½ mills.

Still too many judge of character by the dress.

Our City Fathers will meet again on Monday evening.

Water Works! "To be or not to be, that is the question?"

Employees whose vacations approach, say "give us a rest."

The Grading on George street is progressing slow, but sure.

The cool and pleasant evenings make up for the heat of the day.

The College boy has come home to astonish the old folks with his "larnin'"

Pic-Nic.—The Baptist Sabbath School Pic-Nic will be held on Friday, July 20th.

The Band enlivened the streets on Friday evening last, by playing a few selections.

There was a great deal more laughter than wit at the Water Works meeting on Tuesday evening.

Sporting Note.—Woodcock is now in order and sportsmen can therefore prepare themselves for the fray.

The Bobcaygeon Fish and Game Society has taken action on the late hunting of deer with dogs near Nogey's Creek.

School Boys are now laying out plans for the spending of their holidays, forgetting all about the potato-patch and wood-pile.

The fire alarm was sounded on Thursday afternoon last, in consequence of a few stumps burning in Ashburnham. No harm done.

Mr. G. C. Rogers has had very attractive letters painted on the roof of the Otonabee Grist Mill, Ashburnham. They attract a good deal of attention.

Notary Public.—Mr. Campbell William Sawers, of this town, barrister-at-law, has been appointed a Notary Public in and for the Province of Ontario.

If the party who lost a pair of boots when camping out at the Burleigh Falls Hotel last week, call at this office he can have the same. Who lost the boots?

Among the Rocks of Burleigh.—The Times chamois must have strayed away 'among the rocks of Burleigh," which accounts for the article in its last issue under the heading of the above quotation.

In comparing the distances in the Hop, Step, and Jump of that of Lakefield with Examiners, we find that the former only aspires to 37 feet 8 inches, while the latter boasts of 43 feet. How is that for Kanismore?

Our local Tory Lyre will persist in misrepresenting the Government, and the Foster contract. No matter how false and ridiculous their statements on this and other matters, they reiterate the slander week after week.

Yeoman.—This prophet's midsummer weather predictions are very nearly correct, and those who began to doubt him seem now to have faith in his prophetic visions. He is, without doubt, the best weather prophet in the business.

Extension.—The Montreal Telegraph Co. has made an extension of their line across the river to the office of McDougall & Ludgate, in Ashburnham. Messrs McD. & L. must do a thriving business in their line to have this accommodation.

The Christian Monthly.—The July number of this excellent religious publication has been received. The contents include articles of much merit, and all are highly interesting to the christian reader C. Blackett Robinson, Toronto. $1.25 per annum; when paid in advance $1.

Important Announcement.—The whole of Mr. Alder's large stock is now offered for sale at remarkably low prices. The goods comprise all the various lines included in the stocks of first-class establishments. Prices have been reduced in order that all goods may be disposed of.

These Specifications.—We obtained the specification for Water Works, for which the town Council paid $100, and placed it in the hands of the printer, but when set up we find that it contains very little of interest to the general reader. We hoped it would contain distances, &c., but it does not.

Our would-be consistent contemporary finds out since his little difficulty with Mr. Chicutt about the wharf, and the opening of the street, that it is a dangerous trip down the river on the "Golden-Eye."—" Consistency thou art a jewel." Look up your book tyins and see old times.

Tell us not in idle numbers,
Life is but an empty dream,
When a man can live and revel
In the glories of ice-cream.;

For the soul is dead that slumbers,
While the soda fountains play;
And the humble house-fly blunders
All through the live-long day.

Grip's Latest.—Last week Grip indulges in a cartoon which represents the Mackenzie and Mowat Minstrel Combination and several Brass Bands, organized regardless of expense or consistency, to run out "John A's greatest show on earth." The characters and positions are well chosen, especially the "Grand Cabinet Walk-Around, by the entire Company.

Safety Envelopes.—A safety envelope to prevent tampering has been devised. On the flap the words "attempted to open" are printed with a double set of chemicals, the first impression containing red-gall and the second green vitriol. If the flaps be stained or moistened in any way, the magic printing will appear. It is to be called "the Flint Chromometer."

Moonlight Excursion.—One of those pleasant excursions took place last evening on the steamer "Golden-Eye," under the auspices of the Peterborough Cricket Club. Quite a number were on board, all of whom seemed to enjoy themselves greatly. Prof. Martin's string band was on board, and furnished delightful music for those who wished to tip the light fantastic toe.

Flippancy.—A young fellow on Sunday night last, after sometime his spirit home from the Methodist Church, got down on his knees beatify to her, and was about to pour forth his soul in poetry, when she said, "I see you. tumble to B." He left in disgust and says that the next time he makes such an exhibition of himself he will go to some place where the young ladies have an anti-slang society.

The Sabbath School in connection with St. Paul's Church held their annual picnic on Thursday afternoon last, on the "Golden-Eye," to Stuvigny, Lasting, which they reached just in time to prevent themselves from the rain. There were about 300 persons on board, who enjoyed themselves as well as could be expected, the gloom being very wet after the rain. They returned home early in the evening.

Changed Hands.—The Commercial House changed hands to-day, from Morgan Bros. to Mr. John Hoyt, who has purchased the place and stock well of the same. Mr. Hoyt is well known to the people of the Township Otonabee, as formerly he kept a hotel and will no doubt soon make a fair share of public patronage. The Commercial is very conveniently situated in the centre of the town, comfortably fitted up, with good stabling and sheds attached, and under Mr. Hoyt will pay every attention to his guests.

Boats and Shoes.—An attractive announcement appears in this paper to-day, regarding the great bargains offered by Mr. W. J. Lawrence, who has recently purchased the establishment of W. McCullagh. The large number who have visited this establishment since the business changed hands, can testify to the bargains offered. He continues to give the greatest satisfaction in his custom work, latest and most attractive styles and choicest material guaranteed characteristics.

Collegiate Institute.—The intermediate examinations in connection with the Collegiate Institute are being held this week. there are nine male and nine female candidates. As all their work is examined and decided upon in Toronto, the successful ones will not be known for about two weeks. At the same time the candidates for second-class certificates are being examined. Of these there are about fourteen candidates. The subjects are the same for intermediate as for second-class certificates, as nearly as can be. The chief difference being that candidates for second-class teachers are required to take additional subjects.

Meeting at Thousand Island Park.—As previously announced through the press, the "International Christian Temperance Camp-Meeting Association" will hold its first Christian Temperance Camp-Meeting at the Thousand Island Park, on Wellesley Island, River St. Lawrence, August 1 to 6, inclusive, 1877. Prof. Geo. R. Foster, of the University of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, is President of the Association, and will preside at this meeting, assisted by the Vice-Presidents and Executive Committee. Some of the most eminent Temperance and Christian workers of Canada and the United States are members of the Association, and are expected to participate in the meeting.

Excursion Postponed.—Owing to the Horticultural Show taking place on the 17th inst. the pic-nic, excursion and concert of the Musical Society, which was fixed for that date, has been postponed till Thursday, the 19th instant. As announced last week, the steamer "Golden-Eye" will leave the wharf at 1 p. m., sharp, and proceed to Pdyl Wld, Rice Lake, where a grand open air concert will be given by the Society. The return will be made by moonlight. Every means is being used, both by the Society and Steamboat Proprietor, to make this the most attractive excursion of the season, and we have no doubt their efforts will prove successful. A large party is expected from Cobourg, and as the tickets are moderate a large turn-out from town is expected.

Masonic.—There are a great many notices of amendments to the constitution of the Masonic by-laws which will come before the Grand Lodge at its next meeting at St. Catherines. The most important move and one that will cause considerable debate is the proposition to greatly reduce the number of representatives at the board of General Purposes by excluding from membership therein the Grand Wardens and the members elected by Grand Lodge, as well as those appointed by the Grand Master If this amendment is adopted the older and more experienced members of the Board will be removed. It is also proposed that the Grand Lodge shall bear all the expenses incurred by the District Deputy Grand Master in visiting officially subordinate Lodges.

Not Warned.—Correspondents need not send us any private or family gossip for publication, as we do not "take stock in such." This week we received a communication from Bobcaygeon, in reference to some "high life" business that has been going on in that famous village. Owing to the personality of the same we have to withold it from publication. All news of a local or general character from any quarter is always welcome, when accompanied by the name of the writer, and letters upon any subject in which the public take an interest, will always be inserted if they are written in an unobjectionable way, even if they do not express our opinion. We invite discussion when the public is likely to benefit by it, but we do not want any such as we received this week.

Messrs. Hatfield and Hostetter, who were foremost in getting up the late concert in aid of the St. John sufferers, and succeeded in realizing the sum of $124 thereby, sent a draft to the Mayor of St. John, and received the following reply:

Mayor's Office, St. John, July 4th, 1877.
To Messrs. And. McNeil and Fred'k. Hatcher, Gentlemen:

Please accept our sincere thanks for your generous and seasonable donation to our relief fund. Will you kindly convey to all concerned the warmest expression of gratitude in behalf of those rendered homeless and destitute by the late calamitous fire which has scourged our city. Although the accumulation of years of hard labour have been swept away in one short night, we feel rich in the multitudes of friends with which our misfortune has made us acquainted.

With renewed thanks,
I am, Gentlemen, most gratefully yours,
S. Z. Earle, Mayor.

Summer Musings.—An exchange muses as follows on the month of July:—" This is the month when Nature lays her ear to the earth to see if it be in tune. Oysters rest and meditate. Little boys admire the beauteous honeybee and get stung on the pantaloons. The happy milkmaid hies her to the lowing herd, sings as she goes, and gets kicked over the fence by the cow with the poke on. Hens cackle on the front stoop and lay their eggs in the other man's yard. The frog chants his evening anthem from the contiguous pond, and the gorgeous robin whoops 'er up when you want to sleep in the morning. Fruit begins to appear in the market. but fish balls will be found safest for a steady diet. The air is balmy, sweltering, half hazy, and the sun rolls over red as a billiard ball. Now cats wail their platonic ballads on the back fences, and this, oh! this—is the season when it isn't quite safe to be a dog.

The Peterborough correspondent of the Bobcaygeon Independent says: "I had this week the pleasure of partaking of a magnificent maskinonge caught in one of your lakes. It must have been about an eighteen pound fish, and was most delicious. The way I obtained it was somewhat curious. I am acquainted with Mr. Ormond, the jeweller, who is visiting on Sturgeon Lake. His son received, per steamer "Ontario," a box of maskinonge, all splendid fish, cleaned and ready for the cook. He was delighted, blessed his paternal relative and was filled with joy at the thought of the fine sport he was enjoying. He took as many home as could be eaten, and distributed the rest among his friends—and that's how I obtained mine. But now comes the interesting part of the story. Mr. Ormond, the jeweller, caught no fish at all, but Mr. Ormond, the druggist, who was fishing in Pigeon Lake, by great industry and skill, had made up the box of fish despatched to this place, and which was wrongly delivered. His family and friends went fishing, whilst his pacemaker's family and friends were rejoicingly devouring the proceeds of his industry! I can assure him the fish was excellent, and that assurance must be at least some consolation to him.

Catches.—A match between the Port Hope and Peterborough Cricket clubs was played here yesterday, which resulted disastrously for our boys. We were sorry to see the loose playing of the home team, which evidently betrayed the fact of their not having given sufficient attention to good, careful practice, which they will have to do in order to distinguish themselves when they enter the list against such a crack team as the Port Hope club have proved themselves. Peterborough being beaten by one in nines and 46 runs. The following is the score:

The Shaughraun Company.—This popular Company will give two entertainments in the Opera House on Tuesday and Friday evenings, the 17th and 13th inst. The play for tonight is "Our Boarding House," which the agent informs us will be acted with the full cast, and with the addition of popular specialties will make up a capital bill. The Toronto Monday Telegram says of the Company: "The Shaughraun Company gave the first of a series of summer night entertainments at the Horticultural Gardens last evening. The Pavilion was crowded to overflowing with a fashionable audience composed of the elite of the city. To say that the performance was a success is but a poor way of expressing the enjoyment experienced by those present, from the rise of the curtain to the conclusion of the play the audience was kept in a roar of laughter. The burlesque of "The Field of the Cloth of Gold," by Irish full of wit and music. In the selection of the programme last evening Mr. McDowell exhibited his usual care and taste, there was nothing to offend the most fastidious, and the performances passed off without a hitch to mar the entertainment. It is hoped to be supported that a dramatic company should be coming and playing both drama and burlesque, but the Shaughraun Company is fortunate in possessing the elements of both and of no mean order. The singing and dancing of the charming little St. Felix sisters was received with great satisfaction, and they were compelled to respond to numerous encores. Taken all through, the performance was a complete success, and worthy of the patronage of the large audience present.

POLICE COURT.

Using Blasphemous Language on the Street.—Thos. McGrath charged Denis Clavin with using blasphemous language towards him on the street on Wednesday last. Fined $5.00 and $2.75 costs; to be paid forthwith.

Assault.—Thos. McGrath charged Denis Clavin with assaulting him on Wednesday last, on Taylor's corner. The P. M. after hearing the evidence of several witnesses for the defence, fined him $10.00, without costs.

Larceny.—W. Linnett was charged by J. Brank with stealing from his hotel, on Aylmer street, on Friday, the 3rd inst., a $5 bill and a quantity of silver. Sentenced to three months hard labour.

Leaving Employment.—On Monday John Connor was charged by Mr. Smith with leaving employment. Mr. Smith not appearing against him, he was discharged.

Larceny.—Joseph Valcins, charged with stealing flour out of the grist mill, in Ashburnham, on Thursday last, was found not guilty and discharged.

COMMITTEE ON WATER WORKS

The Committee to which was referred the question of Water Works met on Tuesday evening. The Mayor presiding.

Mr. Smith was requested to state what the Committee had done. He said that the members had met to discuss the matter, and he would call on Mr. Romaine to give what information he, as an old advocate of water works, possessed.

Mr. Romaine said he had given the subject a good deal of consideration, and would produce the files of the Review to enable the Committee to summarize matter from old reports and specifications.

Mr. Hazlitt thought there should be something definite before the Committee, so as to enable members to agree on the costs and extent of a scheme of water works before recommending anything to the Council.

James Hall, Esq., recommended that the question of bringing the water from Lakefield should be estimated on. He thought it could be brought from that place at a cost of about $80,000 for a main pipe, and then the branch extension could afterwards be considered, and that this would provide pure water.

Mr. Delaney thought that a system of water works even from Hilliard's Mills would cost at least $100,000 to $120,000.

Mr. Dumble to get an expression of opinion, proposed that the water be brought from Mr. Hilliard's Mill.

Mr. Stratton urged that some definite scheme should be proposed before submitting a By-law to the people, as no scheme that did not fix the cost and extent of the works would be carried by the ratepayers.

Mr. Dumble thought the best thing to do was to vote a sum, say $50,000 or any other sum, and let the Committee see what extent of works could be secured for that amount.

Mr. Carnegie agreed with those who thought the fullest information should be given to the people before submitting a By-law. He had always been in favor of water works but he thought the best way was to report fully, and then ask the people if they would sanction what should be proposed.

Mr. Stratton moved seconded by Mr. Hazlitt, that Messrs. Hall, Dumble, Smith and Carnegie, be a committee to make estimates of a proposed scheme of Water Works, (1) from the Dickson property, (2) from the Hilliard property, (3) from Lakefield, and report next Tuesday evening, with power to consult an Engineer if considered desirable.

After discussion, the other motions were withdrawn, and this one carried, with the understanding that the committee would obtain an offer in writing from the parties offering the water privelege.

It was also agreed that if a system of Water Works should be constructed that water for domestic purposes should be provided for those desiring it, but merely as it passed through the pipes, each one providing means of filtering it as he might desire. The Town not to be bound to provide anything more than an ordinary gravel filter, to prevent saw dust and slabs from entering the pipes.

We pointed out some days ago that the Irish Catholics had not one representative of their own particular class in the House of Commons from the Province of Ontario. Our fat witted contemporary says we are mistaken, and points to Messrs. Costigan, Power, Anglin, Flynn and Devlin in proof of his contention. If our would be clever contemporary knows anything at all he knows that not one of these gentlemen either resides in or represents an Ontario constituency.—Review.

It was The Examiner that pointed to Messrs. Costigan, Power, Anglin, Flynn and Devlin in contradiction of a statement of the Review, which statement it now attempts to qualify. We know perfectly well what constituencies the gentlemen mentioned represent; we know we never as much as hinted either of them are from Ontario; but we know too that in the Review of the 22nd June will be found the following sentence:—

"We have nothing especially to thank the Catholics for, because many of them are induced to desert the Conservative party in the hope of getting a larger measure of justice from the "Reformers', who made the most prodigal promises in order to hoodwink the too trusting Catholic voters; but at the same time we are free to recognize the justice of their claims when they point to the House of Commons and remind us that not one seat is warmed by an Irish Catholic representative."

Will the Review please examine its file and see if we have given the quotation correctly, then deny if it can that here is a complete and plain statement without the slightest reference to Ontario? After that it will probably be better able to tell who deserves the complimentary description of "fat-witted" and "would-be clever." The Review may have meant to qualify its statement; but that is no reason why it should say it did. It can't count on infallibility; and should be a safe careful way it resolutely accuses others of its common fault.

The Whitby Chronicle says of the Toronto & Ottawa Railway:—Successful meetings have been held during the past week at Cherrywood, Greenriver, and Greenwood in discussing the bonus by-law. The opponents of the road, headed by Mr. Burton, of Cobourg, are doing all they can to defeat the measure. Men who say they are in favor of the road and admit that it would benefit the community, but who allowed their feelings to be worked upon by declarations of side grouping clauses are but the dupes of the worst opponents of this grand railway project.

TOWN COUNCIL.

The Council met on Monday evening, pursuant to postponement.

Present his Worship the Mayor in the chair and Messrs Cahill, Dumble, Miller, McWilliams, Haggart, Elder, Rosebrugh, Smith, Yeo, Turnbull, Steele and Hamilton.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Joseph E. Lemieux, [illegible] that he had chromos of Lord and Lady [illegible]farin which he was selling at 60cts., and asking the Town for an order.—Received.

From Scott & Edwards, asking for instructions in reference to the case appealed by Mr. Doran, under the Transient Traders By-law.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

From John Carnegie, Secretary of the Town Trust forwarding the following resolution passed by the Commissioners:

Moved by Mr. Landy seconded by Mr. Toole and resolved, that the Commissioners will comply with the request of the Town Council, by paying to the Directors of the Toronto and Ottawa Railway Company the sum of Two Thousand Dollars, and also give the Council credit for the amount they are now in arrears on account of the rate of 1876 provided that the Council accept these sums in full payment of all moneys collected to date on account of such reserve sales, and still unappropriated, and upon the Mayor signing the By-law passed last January, by the then, retiring Council, affecting the moneys accruing from the Midland Railway Company, or upon the present Council passing a By-law containing similar provisions.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

From J. Edwards Town Treasurer handing in his statement of the Receipts and Expenditure for the month of June, as follows:

Receipts	$2,470.70
Expenditure	2,331.30

The statement on motion was received.

From Michael O'Donnell, asking to be paid monthly for watering the streets.

The Treasurer was ordered to pay him $30 per month, weekly.

From John Linch asking for a sidewalk.—Granted.

From W. White in reference to statute labor between the Town and North Monaghan.—Referred to the Street Inspector with power to act.

ACCOUNTS.

Scott & Edwards	$ 58.67
E. Green	20.46
Bertram & Co.	136.50
Bertram & Co.	1.44

The accounts on motion were referred to the Finance Committee with the exception of Mr. Green which was ordered to be paid.

REPORT ON PARK.

Mr. Smith chairman of the Committee appointed to wait on the County Council in reference to the Old Burial Ground, beg leave to report: That Your Committee by appointment, waited upon the County Council and having explained to the said Council the object your Committee had in view, and requested that the said property might be transferred to the Town to be had for the purpose of a park, with the privilege of selling said property and with the proceeds of such sale to procure another and more suitable property for the said purpose. Your Committee offering to set apart a sufficient quantity of land for the purposes of the county, in case said Council would entertain the proposals of your Committee. The said matter was thereupon referred to the County Property Committee which after considering the matter decided to take no action at present. Your Committee further report that on the 8th day of January, A. D. 1849, the said property was patented to the Council of the district of Colborne as a General Burial Ground, for all denominations of Protestants, and that a lease has been executed of the said land to the Agricultural Society of the West Riding of the County of Peterborough for a term of years, under these circumstances your Committee are of opinion, that the said lease is void and of no effect, the County Council having no power to make such a lease. That the object for which the said land was patented having, ceased to exist, the County Council was to hold the said land in trust for the Crown only. Your Committee would recommend, that a memorial be prepared and forwarded to the Lieutanant Governor for this Province praying that the Attorney General should cause possession of such lands to be taken, and that the same should be patented to the Council for the purpose hereinbefore indicated.

H. H. SMITH,
Chairman.

On motion the report was received and adopted.

FINANCE REPORT.

Mr. Cahill chairman of the Finance Committee, submitted the following report.

To the Mayor and Town Council of Peterborough.

Gentlemen:—The Finance Committee beg leave to report that they have examined the following accounts and recommend their payment.

R. Romaine	$ 30.57
H. Best	22.45
Peterboro Gas Co'y	38.60
Peter Hamilton	150.00
Hall & Hilliard	4.00
George Stethem	1.35
J. R. Stratton	121.50

Your Committee recommend that the money received from England from the late F. H. Knapp's brother be paid to Mrs. Cole.

Your Committee cannot recommend the Council to entertain Mr. W. H. Pendry's claim as they consider this matter was closed last year. Your Committee recommend that debentures be issued to provide the funds required by the School Trustees for the erection of the new school in the north part of the Town, and that the necessary By-law be passed for that purpose and also that the Mayor be directed to take steps to collect the subscriptions to the Smith Street bridge approach.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

THOS. CAHILL,
Chairman.

The report on motion was received and adopted.

$4000 FOR SCHOOL PURPOSES.

A By-law to authorise the issue of debentures to the amount of $4.000, was read a first time.

The By-law was referred to the Finance Committee to look into and report at next meeting.

EXTENSION OF TIME.

Mr. Green on motion addressed the Council in reference to allowing him to pay his tolls any time during the quarter.

On motion of Mr. Dumble the request was granted.

BY-LAW TO MEET THE DEFICIENCY.

Moved by Mr. Smith seconded by Mr. Dumble that the Town Solicitor be and is hereby instructed to prepare a By-law providing for the payment of the deficiency of previous years in accordance with the report of the Finance Committee.—Carried.

WATER STREET AND OPENING.

Mr. Edmison addressed the Council on behalf of the petitions in reference to the opening up of Water street and urged in their behalf that it be opened from end to end.

The Council then adjourned for one week.

Rathbunstown.—Mr. H. Best has just imported several very nice articles in this line. Any one requiring such an article should call and see Mr. Best's, as they are both useful and ornamental. He has also some handsome gentlemen fire places, which parties who are erecting comfortable residences should not fail to see.

INDIAN VILLAGE.

Dominion Day was celebrated at Chemong, (Indian Village), on Monday, by a pic-nic in which the Indians were joined by a number of whites, swelling the number of both to about 150, mostly Indians. Base ball and other amusing and interesting games were participated in, swings, &c. The fair sex was well represented of both old and young, all appeared to enjoy themselves. The Indians have organized themselves into a strong Temperance Society. An Order of Good Templars has been organized in the Village and numbers over 50, mostly [illegible]—Com.

BURLEIGH FALLS.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Drowned in Gull River.—On Saturday last a Frenchman named [illegible] river-driver in the employ of [illegible] gate, was drowned at the foot of the [illegible] at Norland. It appears that while taking up a drive of logs the one on which he was standing got into the eddy. he was thown off into the foaming water, and has not been seen since. unless his body has been found since Wednesday night, at which time, our informant tells us the vain search for it was still being prosecuted. The unfortunate man, who was about 30 years of age, lived, when at home, at Peterborough, where he leaves a wife and two or three young children.

GEN. GRANT AND WORKING MEN

The following sensible remarks were made by General Grant in reply to an address presented to him by a deputation of English workingmen:

In the name of my country, I thank you for the address you have presented to me. I feel it a great compliment paid my Government, and one to me personally. Since my arrival on British soil I have received great attentions, which were intended, I feel sure, in the same way for my country. I have had ovations, free handshakings, presentations from different classes, from the Government, from the controlling authorities of cities, and have been received in the cities by the populace; but there has been no reception of which I am prouder than this to-day. I recognise the fact that whatever there is of greatness in the United States, as, in deed, in any other country, is due to labor. The laborer is the author of all greatness and wealth. Without labor there would be no Government, nor leading classes, nor anything to preserve. With us labor is regarded as highly respectable. When it is not so regarded it is because man dishonors labor. We recognise that labor dishonors no man, and no matter what a man's occupation is, he is eligible to fill any post in the gift of the people; his occupation is not considered in selecting him, whether as a law-maker or as an executor of the law. Now, gentlemen, in conclusion, all I can do is to renew my thanks for the address, and repeat what I have said before, that I have received nothing from any class since my arrival which has given me more pleasure.

It tickles the ears of the groundlings to hear Sir John always spoken of as "Right Hon." Yet what claim has he to the title? He has never taken the oath of the chances are that he never will. He is no more a "Right Hon." than any Tom, Dick or Harry who walks the streets and it is an insult to the dignity of the title to confer it upon him even by courtesy. Imagine the Right Hon. Mr. Gladstone, the Right Hon. Mr. Bright, or the Right Hon. Mr. Disraeli to be guilty of a Pacific Scandal, a Secret Service Scandal, or a Northern railway speculation! So says the St. Thomas Journal.

The Globe may have been somewhat dilatory in taking hold of the outrageous distortions of facts that formed the only noticeable feature of Dr. Tupper's pic-nic speeches; but it has done the work at last, and done it splendidly. So thorough and scathing has been the exposure, that the doctor has been forced to retire from the Grand Combination Troupe, and haste away to his own native province to hide his diminished head. Our great metropolitan contemporary takes the whole of the Tupperisms in detail and after exposing their utter falsity, cruelly concludes with the doctor's own words: "A public man that would make a statement that is untrue, is a man that is is an insult to present to any public office." The new Tory leader is condemned out of his own mouth.

Notwitstanding their hypocritical professions of an interested desire to promote the interests of Catholics, Sir John and his servile followers did their best to drive one of the leading Catholics of the Dominion—the First Commoner of Canada—in the person of Mr. Anglin, out of the House of Commons last session, and on his appealing to his constituents, worked tooth and nail to secure his defeat. Knowing that a large majority of the people of Gloucester were French a strong local Frenchman was brought out to oppose him, and the feeling between Irish and French Catholics was stirred up to the utmost. Their efforts proved futile, however, for Mr. Anglin was triumphantly re-elected by a majority of about 350. After all the rejoicing of the Tory press over the probable defeat of Mr. Anglin, this is something of a come down for them.

The By-law, Granting $5000 by the Corporation of Port Perry to the Toronto and Ottawa Railway was carried on Friday last by a majority of 96. Only 6 voting against it.

The Mail has been sold by auction by the Sheriff and has been bought by Mr. T. C. Patteson, its editor, for $2,000 over the mortgage. The Telegram remarks:—"The Mail continues to preach morality and honesty to the leaders of the Government. Considering that the Mail has swindled the stockholders of the Northern Railway Company, has swindled everybody who put faith in its prospectus, and has wound up by swindling its own stockholders out of their property, we should say that the Mail is well qualified for the task. It knows what it is to lack both honesty and morality."

The Cornwall Freeholder thinks the Mail's collapse nothing surprising. It thus says:

"It is not surprising that in a highly moral, and church going, if not religious, community such as that which Ontario presents, the Mail under the weight of its prostituted character should have proven to be as great a failure in the sense of a high order of journalism as in the other character of a commercial enterprise. Handicapped with such an incompetent if not depraved management how could the Mail, although launched under in some respects promising auspices, succeed? And all things considered, its chances of success in a respectable field hereafter must be regarded as utterly hopeless, and in Canada there is no other field open."

At a meeting of the ratepayers of Pickering, the following resolution condemnatory of the course pursued by the representatives of the township at the County Council on the grouping by-law was passed: It was moved by W. Y. Richardson, and seconded by A. Sherrard, "That whereas Messrs. White, Green and Hoover, the Reeve, first and third Deputies of this township of Pickering have by their influence and votes at the municipalities of Reach, Port Perry, and Scugog with that of Pickering, so that by their majorities we may be compelled to grant a bonus to the Toronto and Ottawa Railway, notwithstanding that this Township by its vote, May 26th decided that no bonus should be given. Therefore, be it resolved that this meeting deem such action inimical to our franchise as citizens, and hence deserving of censure. An amendment was offered complaining the Reeve and Deputies had not cast the minority, according to the Chronicle, being as about 7 to 1. Mr. White refused to accept the minority as a representative one of the township.

Lost, Stamped, or Stolen—by Conservatives re-action.

From Rev. H. L. Gilman, of Glover, Vt.

"I have been troubled for several years with a difficulty of the heart and lungs, have applied to several physicians for help, and have tried almost every remedy recommended, without receiving any assistance; but had been growing weaker and weaker, until, hearing of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry about a year since, I commenced using it, with immediate relief. It has not only restored my lungs to a sound state, but I am entirely relieved of the difficulty or disease of the heart. I have no hesitation in saying that it is the best lung medicine before the public; and I cheerfully and conscientiously recomend it to all persons suffering from pulmonary complaints." 50cts cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by dealer generally.

"Survival of the Fittest."

The ingenious doctrine propounded by [illegible], the tireless investigator of nature's [illegible] laws, is as applicable in determining the fate of medicines as in that of [illegible] species. Every year new remedies are brought before the public, and are soon [illegible] discarded as their sale rapidly [illegible]. Only those medicines which are best adapted to the people's wants survive the [illegible] to. If they "are tried, and found wanting in the merits which they are claimed to possess, no amount of advertising will make them popular. Of all the remedies ever introduced to the public, none are so popular as Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines. Their sale has steadily increased each year, and wholesale druggists assert that the present demand for them is greater than ever before. If you would patronize medicines scientifically prepared use Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines. Golden Medical Discovery is alterative, or blood-cleansing, and an unequaled cough remedy; Pleasant Purgative Pellets, scarcely larger than mustard seeds, constitute an agreeable and reliable physic; Favorite Prescription, a remedy for debilitated females; Extract of Smart-Weed, a magical remedy for pain, bowel complaints, and an unequaled liniment for both human and horseflesh; while his Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is known the world over as the greatest specific for Catarrh and "Cold in the Head" ever given to the public. They are sold by druggists.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I noticed in your issue of the 28th June, a letter from Mr. Anderson in reply to my letter in your issue of the 14th June. In that letter Mr. Anderson denies that it was necessary for a man to be in debt to a certain person before he could obtain work on the Burleigh Road. I can only say in reply to that, that circumstances are greatly against him, and if we had the names of all persons employed on that road with the amount received by each and also what percentage of the money expended went into the pocket of Mr. Anderson, he would be placed in an unenviable position. Mr. Anderson does well to come out and defend what he has done for the reason that some of those gentlemen who used their influence with the Government might think there was something really wrong. He may well feel uneasy after betraying the trust placed in him by those gentlemen for I can assure him the facts of the case (and they are stubern things to get over) will be placed before some of those gentlemen so plainly that it will take a smoother tongue than his, if it is possible to get one, to explain them away.

I am yours, &c.,

A LECTURE

TO YOUNG MEN!

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED SPRUCE GUM,
—FOR—
Coughs, Colds, Bronchial and all Throat Affections.

The Gum which exudes from the Red Spruce tree is, without doubt, the most valuable native Gum for Medicinal purposes.

Its remarkable power in relieving certain severe forms of Bronchitis, and its almost specific effect in curing obstinate hacking Coughs, is now well known to the public at large. In this Syrup (carefully prepared at low temperature), containing a large quantity of the finest picked Gum in complete solution, all the Tonic Expectorant, Balsamic and Anti-Spasmodic effects of the Red Spruce Gum are fully preserved. For sale at all Drug Stores. Price, 25 cents per bottle.

READ AREFULLY.

SAMUEL OSBORNE, Sophiasburg, says—"I was affected with Dyspepsia for nearly four years, my lungs becoming affected towards the last. I was induced to try the "Shoshoness Remedy." After using three or four bottles I felt much better, and gained strength rapidly, my health improved steadily and rapidly, and when I had taken three or four bottles more, I was quite restored to health and strength, and have experienced better health than for forty years before. I had been under the treatment of a number of physicians before, but never received any material aid until I used your remedy."

A. MCKAY, Truro, N. S., says "he was very bad with Liver Complaint, but used the "Shoshoqees Remedy," and in a month was as well as he had ever been in his life. I am now in business and wish you to send me three dozen by steamer.

A. WOOD, Consecon, says: "That he has tried the "Remedy" for Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia with great success. I have also used the "Shoshoness Pills," and find that they are as good as any I ever tried.

REV. JOHN SCOTT says—"Mr. McKenzie Bootlug suffered from an attack of rheumatism, and was unable to move without help but after taking a few bottles of the 'Shoshoness' was able to walk as well as ever." Price of the Remedy in pint bottles $1; Pills 25 cents a box.

WHAT THEY SAY OF IT? A FEW FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.—There are but few preparations of medicines which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people for any great length of time. One of these is Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil. Read the following and be convinced:—Thos. Robinson, Farnham Centre, P. Q., writes, "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for the last ten years, and have tried many remedies without any relief, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and since then have had no attack of it. I would recommend it to all."—J. H. Earl, Hotel Keeper, West Shefford, P. Q., writes, "I have been troubled with liver complaint for several years, and have tried different medicines with little or no benefit, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which gave me immediate relief, and I would say that I have used it since with the best effect. No one should be without it. I have tried it on my horses in cases of cuts, wounds, etc., and think it is equally as good for horse as for man."—A. Maybee Merchant, Warkworth, writes, "I have sold some hundreds of bottles of Eclectric Oil and it is pronounced by the public, one of the best medicines they have ever used; it has done wonders in healing and relieving pain, sore throats, etc., and is worthy of the greatest confidence."—Joseph Rusan, Township Percy writes, "I persuaded to try Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lame knee which troubled me for three or four years, and I never found anything like it for curing lameness. It is a great public benefit."—A. M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes, "For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which annoyed me very much. Mr. Maybee of this place induced me to try Eclectric Oil, and before one bottle was used I was cured. It is a most remarkable medicine. Sold by all medicine dealers Price, 25 cents.

NOTE—Eclectric—Selected and Electrised,

NO RISK.

Thomas' Eclectric Oil! Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest Medicine ever made. One dose cures common SORE THROAT. One bottle has cured BRONCHITIS. Fifty cents' worth has cured an OLD STANDING COUGH. One or two bottles cures bad cases of PILES and KIDNEY TROUBLES. Six to eight applications cure ART OF EXCORIATED NIPPLES OR INFLAMED BREAST. One bottle has cured LAME BACK of eight years standing. Daniel Plank, of Brookfield, Tioga County, Pa., says: "I went thirty miles for a bottle of your Oil, which effected a WONDERFUL CURE of a CONFIRMED LAME, by six applications." Another who has had ASTHMA for years, says: "I have half of a 50 cent bottle left, and $100 would not buy it if I could get no more."

Esther Robinson, of Nunda, N. Y. writes "One small bottle of your ECLECTRIC OIL restored the voice where the person had no spoken above a whisper in FIVE YEARS Rev. J. Mallory, of Wyoming, N. Y., writes "Your ECLECTRIC OIL cured me of Bronchitis in one week."

It is composed of six of the Best Oils that are known. Is as good for internal as for external use, and is believed to be immeasurably superior to anything ever made. Will save you much suffering and many dollars of expense.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.—Ask for Dr. Thos. Eclectric Oil. See that the signature of S. N. Thomas is on the wrapper, and the names of Northrop & Lyman are blown in the bottle, and Take no other. Sold by all medicine dealers. Price, 25 cts. NORTHROP & LYMAN, Toronto, Ont., Proprietors for the Dominion.

A WONDERFUL REFORM IN FANNING MILLS

Farmers wanting to purchase a First Class Fanning Mill should call on

MINORGAN & ELLIOTT

AND GET ONE OF THEIR

"FARMERS FRIEND."

They are the best and cheapest Fanning Mills in the Market, and clean from 60 to 100 bush. of Wheat, ready for the market, in an hour, and does not throw the large grain into the tailings. We have received a large number of Testimonials from different Farmers in the County who have used our Mills. They will speak for themselves:—

Greystock P.O., Otonabee, Mar. 12, 1877—
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—This is to certify that I have given the "Farmers Friend" Mill a fair trial, and have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion it is one of the best Mills now in use for cleaning grain for seed or market.
Yours etc.,
J. SMITHSON.

Otonabee, March 21, 1877.
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—This is to certify that I have given your "Farmers Friend" Mill a fair trial, and have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion it is one of the best Mills now in use for cleaning grain for seed or market.
Yours etc.,
J. REDMOND.

Balsam Grove, Peterboro, March 13, 1877.
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—I have tested your "Farmers Friend" Mill and find that it works well, taking out all dirt and small seeds out of grain and making a good clean article for sale. I am sure that your machine will give good satisfaction among the farmers, that is if they want to take good clean grain to market, and get five cents per bushel more for it.
Yours etc.,
J. H. WALTON.

Smith, 5th March, 1877.
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—I take pleasure in recommending the "Farmers Friend" as being the best Mill I have ever had, and I have had several of what was called the Best Makes in Ontario.
JAS. ELLIOTT.

Peterboro, March 5th, 1877.
This is to certify that we have tested Moore & Minorgan's Mill and pronounce it to be the best we have ever seen cleaning, and it is the best Seperator we have ever seen.
JOHN DOBBIN.
I also endorse the above statement.
WM. DOBBIN.

Smith, March 5th, 1877.
This is to certify that I have seen Moore & Minorgan's Seperator in my barn. I consider it the "Boss Mill."

Moody in a California Sunday School.

I remember when I went to California just to try and get a few cents saved on the Fourth of the event, I went into a school there one afternoon, and asked the question who can write a verse from memory? Why, well, we got up the blackboard, and the lesson upon it proceed to be the very text we have to-night. "Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven." And I said, "Boys, you write that down and commit it to memory, and they all commenced to, for they didn't get to their country for the hope of heaven. Then, we put down "Where moth and rust doth not corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal." Then we put down "Where your treasure is there will your heart be also." Well, we got that down

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 19, 1877.

THE IRISH CANADIAN ONCE MORE.

Mr. Bertram receives some further attention in last week's Irish Canadian.—That such should be the case was almost a certainty; for is not Mr. Bertram a "Scotch Grit"—the typical red rag to the rampant editor of the Irish Canadian? Then too has not Mr. Bertram "confessed" (as the Irish Canadian puts it) his vote against the O'Donoghue amnesty resolution, and actually justified that vote? This surely demanded the attention of the champion of "Professor" O'Donoghue. That Mr Patrick Boyle should use his paper as a medium for the defence of a man who acknowledges his treason to Canada, does not prove the traitor to be worthy of commiseration. Neither does the fact that Mr. Boyle and his strange friend are both Irish Catholics demand that every Irish Catholic should cast in his lot either with the one who headed an invasion of our North-West territory or with him who, from whatever motive, enters on the defence of so pronounced an enemy of his country. In October 1871, over a year after his connection with the North-West rebellion this W. B. O'Donoghue led a band of cut-throats against Canada, to plunder, devastate, and mayhap murder. It was for their assistance in repelling this invasion, led by their erstwhile colleague, that Riel and Lepine were amnestied. In spite of their opposition to what they and their friends considered the injustice and breach of agreement on the part of the Macdonald-Cartier administration, they were ready to respect British rule, and to defend it. Against whom? Why, W. B. O'Donoghue and his band of cut-throats from the United States. It is in such a cause the Irish Canadian would enlist the feelings of the Irish Catholics of Canada! Verily, he must have a poor opinion of them, to thus insult them by ignoring not only their patriotism but their intelligence.—The latter quality is also ignored by all those who attempt to inflame national prejudice by declaring that favour was shown to Riel and Lepine because they were French, and that amnesty was denied O'Donoghue because he is Irish.—This was plainly denied by the mover and seconder of the resolution for amnesty to O'Donoghue, Mr. Costigan and Mr. Devlin. The former said "he for his part had not considered, and did not now think that O'Donoghue's nationality was the reason that influenced the government". and Mr. Devlin declared that "he well knew the insinuation was false." But the absurdity of this nationality cry is plainly apparent when it remembered that a Frenchman who was lieutenant under O'Donoghue, and who was caught, was tried and sentenced to be hanged. He was not pardoned, though his sentence was commuted to banishment for twenty years. This, then, or something like it, is what these are asking, for who demanded that O'Donohue should have the same measure of justice, meted out to similar offenders.

The Irish Canadian's uncalled for references to Mr. Bertram's occupation, and its poor attempts at wit by punning on his name, and otherwise we can allow to pass by a mere allusion to their worthlessness in any other way than showing how poor a cause demands their clownish introduction. The reference to Mr. Bertram's voice, heard in the House in 1875, is a legitimate criticism; but before speaking as it has, done of a notice of motion for an address, and a mere remark in Committee of Supply, the Irish Canadian should examine the record for 1876 as well, and also correct the excellent speech of the member for West Peterborough, during last session. Even the brief remarks mentioned by the Irish Canadian, prove that Mr. Bertram attended carefully to the interests of the country. In the one instance he desired to throw light on the receipt of dutiable goods through the post office; and on the other he certainly did not act as a man whose only desire was to vote for the Government, for then he asked explanations regarding, differences in the amount of the salaries of the Customs Offices at Deseronto and Port Colborne. Such explanations, by the by, were forthcoming; and once more only the less readily given at the demand of an Independent supporter of the Ministry. Mr. Bingle will have to find some other subject on which to [illegible]

A PROTECTIONISTS PARADISE

We find in the Public, a New York Journal of acknowledged power, the announcement that the United States is mortgaged for more than all the property and industries of the country are worth. The writer discovers in the mass of public and private debt, the cause for the nation being under a cloud. He shews how the civil war, the maladministration of the public services, the progress of railways, canals and telegraphs, and the growth of towns and cities, have originated a vast mortgage upon the future. He holds that the civil war, with its inauguration of free-sufferage sovereignty at the South, and forced loans of money by the legal tender act, was a payment in taxes of more money than the war would have cost, had it been conducted on a specie basis. The trouble, however, is not so much in the original war loans, as in the subsequent and still continued blending of the treasury. The Tory party in Canada point to the monthly reductions of the United States debt as a triumph of Protection, it strikes us that the languishing industries of the country would be benefited instead of injured by the payment of interest alone till depressated property has a chance to recover its normal value. A large amount of money paid in the rapid reduction of the debt, goes to the foreign bondholders, and is a drain upon the country's resources; as it is clearly a withdrawal of capital from what is, or might soon become, productive investment.

Protection is another mortgage of the future, which in the judgment of the Public is an investment that will not ultimately pay. The principle involves many self-sacrifices for a special few, and these few, (as the silk manufactures and many other American industries show,) are not richer in the end. Our Tory prophets can readily discern the clouds of "Conservative reaction" in the political horizon, but their vision cannot penetrate the "open secret" that protection has been fairly tried in the United States, and has failed, leaving on every years a mortgage its dying struggle will not redeem.

Railways, canals, and telegraphs in the United States carry mortgages of $2,500,000,000, bearing an annual interest of $155,000,000, payable by producers and consumers. But these charges are small weighed against the immediate and prospective benefits conferred. The payment of bondholders has, it is true, been in numerous instances postponed. Why? There appears to be in America a want of that class of capitalists who are half retired from business although, they take an interest in money and its investment. Among these the best directors of stock companies are found, as they are a check on reckless management on account of the large interest they have in the undertakings. To such a class the solidity of English stock companies is due. The laws of the United States prohibits foreigners being directors of joint stock companies. Were these laws repealed there would be less mismanagment, and in no long time the capital now in every American railway would become a productive investment. Intimately connected with railway expenditure is the growth of cities and towns. The municipal debt of the United States exceeds $1,000,000,000. Much of this was required for water works, fire departments, gas, pavements, public schools, bridges, and other conveniences indespensable in every young country, and a considerable portion of it is realisable in the future. The public service has undoubtedly mortgaged the future. Under the Grant administration the service was villainous, fraud and corruption having crept into every department; as was the case in Canada under Sir John Macdonald's rule.

The chief cause of depression in the United States is that which induced men to engage in protected trading and manufacture, till idle labor crowds every industry but that of agriculture. The true explanation of the excess of American municipal indebtedness will be found in the unfair distribution protective tariffs have made of the country's wealth. Corporate mismanagment, as we have shown, is attributable to the same exclusive policy. Contrasting our financial condition as a country with that of our neighbour, we find ourselves immeasely superior Every interest is strong enough to overcome the depression. The bearing down in real estate, machinery, &c., has been about equal. Unlike the neighboring Administration, our Government does not enforce a policy which weakens reactionary influences, or arouses the jealousy of one branch of industry against another. We have a fine merchant navy, while the shipping of the United States has to a large extent been legislated away. Our municipal indebtedness is neither large nor alarming. Canadian manufacturers as a class are quite as prosperous as those South of the line. The civil service is not a sink of corruption; and is not a mortgage on the future. Our political and commercial destiny brightens notwithstanding the prophecies of Conservative apostles of annexation.

THE MONTREAL MURDER.

It is matter for sincere sorrow that in connection with the 12 of July in Montreal, a human life has been sacrificed to the violence of some of those who oppose the Orange Order. For some time a determination had been expressed by the Orangemen of Montreal to have a procession on that day, but when it was found that a procession might lead to loss of life, and at the request of other organizations of the city, the Orangemen gave up their procession, and merely went to church, quietly and in good order. The rowdy element of the city however were not so easily prevailed upon to give up their cruel work, and unfortunately through the day an inoffensive, respectable man, named Hackett, was set on and murdered by the rabble, and several other persons were badly beaten. The Ottawa "Citizen" gives the following account of how the row arose:—

The "Citizen" publishes the result of an interview with Mr. McNeil, of the Interior Department. He says he is the man who protected the ladies who were assaulted in Montreal on the 12th. The statement is as follows:—I saw the Orangemen in twos and threes proceeding by various routes to Knox Church to worship their God, evidently feeling sure that, as they had given up their intention of walking in procession, no insult would be offered them. At this time some power seemed to be keeping the crowds in check; indeed they were well officered. A little after one o'clock I saw a considerable number of young men coming down Leaver Hall Hill, evidently anxious to get to their homes as quickly as possible. They were Orangemen who had just left church. There was an ominious quietness, but suddenly a man gave a signal to a crowd on Victoria Square and there was a rush up the hill, and two women who had Orange ribbons in their hair were seized, and would probably have been murdered had not Mr. Ansell, a tobbacconist, with my assistance, drawn them into the store. Rage and hate at being baffled were on the faces of many among that tremendous crowd. I was in Montreal on business, and was standing on Ansell's door-step when the women were driven towards the door. The moment the women saw they had a good chance of being saved they very pluckily but indiscreetly poked their parasols into the faces of several of the mob. The leader, a young man of about twenty-two, received a nasty dig between the eyes, the woman saying, "Take that, you dirty blackguard." Said one of the women as she made the thrust, "If my husband was here he would cut the face of you." The door of Mr. Ansell's store was soon between them and their assailants, but by the closing of the door I was left alone to face the crowd. Feeling the gravity of the situation, I threw a little Irish accent into my voice, and advised the crowd to go down to the next corner, where there would be more fun than bothering 'afther' a pair of foolish women. I was in company with some of the principal assailants and was in this way enabled to get out of this perilous position, and shortly slipped away from the crowd. In about ten minutes after the occurrences above related I saw a young man flying past the cab-stand on Craig st., towards Fortification-lane with the mob in hot pursuit. Breathless the poor fellow reached the steps of Messrs. Greenshield's store, but he could not get in. A terrible encounter then took place, some sixteen shots being fired from revolvers, resulting in the death of the young man Hackett, and the wounding of five others. Hackett had a revolver in his hand as he stood on the step, and attempted to fire it; but his arm seemed palsied—he could not raise it. As he lay weltering in his blood a bloodthirsty wretch picked up a revolver and fired another shot into the now almost lifeless body. Another black-guard kicked the body. I then left the scene of murder. I am not an Orangeman.

On Monday the funeral of the murdered man took place, and a large number of Orangemen crowded to the city from Kingston, Eastern Townships, Brockville, and other places.

CROWDS ON THE STREETS.

Seldom has such an imposing demonstration been witnessed in the streets of Montreal as that which took place this afternoon on the occasion of the interment of the remains of one who was literally martyred in defence of a comrade.—The characteristics of an Orange funeral were merged in the unanimous expression of interest manifested by all Protestant citizens of every shade of thought and feeling. From every street and lane in the city Protestant men, women and children collected, while in addition the streets were thronged with hundreds of the stalwart Hemmingford, Argenteuil, Huntingdon, Prescott and Ottawa backwoodsmen and farmers, while from the capital of the Dominion and that of Ontario and intermediate towns delegates of the Orange order added to the numbers.

A QUIET FORENOON.

Naturally the event was the subject of unusual comment and excitement, many ill-omened rumours continually being spread abroad, which had no little effect in keeping up the agitation. However, the forenoon passed off quietly enough, and up to half-past two, when the huge procession was being formed, all was peaceful, and the police had only need occasionally to issue the order "moveon" the large crowd being most orderly and apparently respectable.

By half-past one that part of St. James street between the post office and St. Lambert Hill were crowded with strangers, city Orangemen and a few ladies. As the minutes fled the concourse increased, and by two o'clock the sidewalks were impassable, and pedestrians to a great extent filled the roadway as well.

FORMATION OF THE PROCESSION.

At a quarter to three the funeral procession began to form. Owing to its immense length and the number of spectators who were present in the street it was found necessary to organise rapidly and get the procession started. Accordingly the first division was sent along St. James street westward. The Grand Trunk Society, a private society, with badges of red ribbon on the right breast, turned out one hundred or one hundred and fifty strong. Then came the City Orange lodges in no particular order.

THE HEARSE

was drawn by four horses caparisoned in black and the coffin was richly decorated. In front of the hearse were Mr. Breadner, Grand Master of the Province of Quebec, Col. George Smith, Past Grand Master, Rev. C. A. Doudiet, Grand Chaplain, G. B. Pierson, Past Grand Treasurer, Mr. D. Grand, County Master, and Mr. A. Mackey, District Master, Boyne Lodge, to which deceased belonged, was largely represented.

The Irish Benevolent Society, and St., Andrews Societies attended the funeral. There were two or three attempts at disturbance during the funeral procession, but none in connection with it. It is believed that fully 5000 persons were in the procession, and fully 15000 to 20000 spectators.

After the funeral there was shooting by a drunken man, but no harm done. At Point St., Charles there was a row as the Orangemen were on the way to their homes in the western suburbs they were met at Wellington bridge by an immense crowd of the opposite party. The latter acted in a menacing manner, but did not attack.

A BOY SHOT DOWN.

When the youths, who had lagged somewhat behind the Orangemen, came along the crowds of roughs made an onslaught on them with their revolvers. The boys ran, but one was shot down, a ball striking him in the neck and another in the back. He was taken to the hospital. The deceased William had a junkin over the other. The police soon quelled [illegible] made no arrests.

THE RIGHTS OF ORANGEMEN.

Lord Dufferin will leave for Manitoba on the 13th instant. It is said that Hon. David Mills will accompany him.

Rev. D. J. Macdonnell is to be welcomed by his congregation on his return to Toronto.

We thought there was rather a peculiar flavor about that Montreal "oration" of Sir John's; and now we have discovered the source of his eloquence. The correspondent of the Ottawa Citizen—one of Sir John's organs—tells us that "he had eaten nothing the whole of that day; the only nourishment which he had taken "being a couple of rissoes of Burgundy." London Advertiser.

Of the Grand Junction Railway the Belleville Ontario says:—"We understand that the ballasting of this road is completed from Stirling to within four miles of the town, and that both sides of the line are fenced as opportunity permitted. The work on the road stopped this morning.

A LESSON may be learned from the following from the Norwood Register:—"One of the leading Insurance Companies,—doing a good business in this locality,—has positively refused to take any more risks in this village till such times as adequate provision is made to fight against and extinguish fires.

INFORMATION WANTED.—Joseph Spencely, sen., of Peterborough, has been informed that an advertisement appeared in a Western paper several years ago, offering $25 for any information regarding the where about of a person of that name. This has only lately come to his knowledge, and as he is evidently the person asked for, he would be glad to hear from the person seeking the information.

A fortnight ago we remarked on the sorrow of the Conservative journals over the decadence of their best political cry through the province of a good harvest. Here is "another of the same" from the London Free Press:—

"While the favorable state of the growing grain makes Canada glad, and nature is redolent with the perfume of harvest, it is to be lamented that we are so have such blessings to a great extent marred by the existence of the Cauchon-Mackenzie Government."

Here is a queer blending of the lamentable with an attempt to submit to the inevitable. The Free Press evidently is too sensible to think, as some of its Tory confreres do, that their party is sure of success at the next elections. Queer people, these Tories!

It will be remembered that we took exception to the animus of an article from the Elora "Observer," republished by the "Msil", and alluded to as a proof of "Ministerial Murmurings." We then alluded to the personal feeling, rather than political judgment displayed in the article; and we now find in a western contemporary the following in reference to the Elora "Observer":—

This paper a few months since fell into the hands of a certain D. W. Ross, who took the opportunity to pour out through its columns some of the venum with which he is filled, but his career has been a short one. Last week no paper appeared, but this week the paper again appears in Mr. Smith's name, and is under the charge of his nephew, Mr. Loe Smith. The time was when impudence alone was sufficient to run a printing office, but that day is past and it now takes something more substantial to carry on a newspaper.

"During the many years I supported the Government of Sir John, I never asked for or received a personal favor of any description; and, while a supporter of the Government of the Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, I have never received a favor of any sort whatever, and am now a supporter of the Government of the present Premier, because I believe he has shown himself a true patriot and an honest man. No amount of twisting and lying can filch from him the credit of managing public affairs marvellously well, surrounded as we was by a hostile Civil Service."

The above is an extract from Mr. David Glass' letter in reply to Dr. Tupper's insinuation of some corrupt transaction between the Government and Mr. Glass in connection with the Pacific Telegraph. The concluding sentence there is undoubtedly the real sentiment of a vast majority of the people of the Dominion and all the pic-nic speeches cannot alter it.

The Review attempts the despicable task of trying to misrepresent our article on the Macdonnell case. We did not, as the poor, carping creature of the Review attempts to convey to his readers, accuse the members of the Presbyterian Assembly of ignorance. We did say, however, that they "did not know what they were talking about," when discussing the Macdonnell case, and we gave our reasons for such a view. It was not any lack of intelligence that caused this; but a want of some certain, well defined issue. If the critic of the Review belongs to that class whom he describes as "most people" and who, he declares had come to the conclusion that the reason of delay in the settlement was because "they had drawn the line so firmly and so distinctly that a dead-lock ensued," he can surely point out the very distinct line to which he refers. If he can do this the Presbyterian Church lost much by not at first invoking his transcendent genius. Even yet he will confer a lasting service not only on Mr. Macdonnell, but on his church, and indeed on christendom generally, if he will but condescend to explain what it was all about. We may be pedantic and vain in laying the presumption to think otherwise than does the massive intellect of the "Review." We are ready to grant that we might have known the attempt would be made to distort the plain reasoning of our statement that the members of the Presbyterian Assembly "did not know what they were talking about." The best proof of that declaration is plain to all; and it lies in the fact that after two year's discussion they left the case just where they took it up. Sound [illegible]

WATER WORKS IN ASHBURNHAM.

The meeting called on Monday evening, to discuss Water Works for the Village was well attended. Mr. Absalom Ingram was selected chairman. Mr. G C. Rogers stated that he would give the water and water-power in connection with the Oatmeal Mill for ten years free, and would keep the whole thing in good order, also free. He further stated, Mr. Wm. Hamilton had offered to put in a pump capable for a six inch water pipe—with pipes to reach to Clancey's corner for $1,200, or a No. 5 pump, with pipes—to same place for $1,700. Mr. Calcutt and Mr. Wand, who were present, remarked that the question of water for supplying some protection from fire had been before the Council, and that the meeting had been called to discuss it. They were in favor of some way of supplying water for fire purposes, but the whole Council wished to be directed by the ratepayers. They though that something should be done now and would be glad to have the advice of those present.

Mr. L. Glover wished to know whether it would be local or general and how the money would be raised.

Mr. Stratton thought that the time was premature for Water Works. The population was scattered yet, and the part referred to especially so. He thought it should be well discussed before undertaken, as $1,700 would only be a commencement, and he feared it would amount to $3,000 or $4,000.

A motion to submit the matter to the ratepayers was moved by Mr. Calcutt, An amendement to the effect that it was premature to commence Water Works yet, by Mr. Glover, and an amendment to adjourn the meeting for two weeks, were also put, but nothing definit declared in respect to either of the motions.

The matter will be brought up again.

WATER WORKS.

The following is a report of the Committee appointed to make estimates for the construction of Water Works in the Town. The report was adopted and referred to the Council for action:—

UNANIMOUS REPORT.

The sub-committee instructed at your last meeting to make estimates of a proposed scheme of Water Works (1) from the Dickson property (2) from the Hilliard property and (3) from Lakefield, beg leave in making their report, to call your attention to a point which they deem of special importance in arriving at a decision as to which of these sites is best adapted for the contemplated works.

Your committee assume that it will be readily conceded by every one that to have a thoroughly efficient system of Water Works for fire purposes it is necessary that water should be constantly present in the pipes under considerable pressure ready for immediate use, and that this can only be obtained, either by providing for the pumps being kept in constant motion, or by the erection of a Reservoir at a considerable elevation.

While the first cost of the scheme would undoubtedly be reduced by depending solely on the pumps for supply, your committee are of opinion, that owing to the natural facilities afforded within the limits of the Corporation for the erection of a Reservoir at an elevation of over 100 feet above the business portion of the town, it would be much more economical to provide at once for the erection of one, and in support of this view they beg to direct your attention to the report of Mr. Wilson, Engineer of the Kingston Water Works, in which he says: "When I was at Peterboro' I was asked what I thought of the "Holly" system, and of pumping directly into the distributing mains and thereby dispensing with the cost of a reservoir." Such a system would just be the old story over again, "penny wise and pound foolish" and the result would be very defective and unsatisfactory works. I disapprove of the system for these reasons, viz:—First the supply for culinary purposes would be almost useless, as the water in the mains would always be in violent motion, keeping the sediment that would be present in the pipes constantly agitated. Secondly: the discharge from the hydrants and the pipes would be more or less intermittent, and a temporary stoppage of the wheels would cut off the supply. Thirdly: there is great risk that serious damage would occur to the mains, as it is next to impossible to keep the pressure of the pumps uniform which is so highly essential to the safety of the mains and service pipes. Fourthly; in order to keep up a continuous supply the wheels and pumps would have to be kept constantly working thereby unnecessarily wearing out the working parts of the machinery and producing loss."

Again in the report of the Commissioners of the Toronto Water Works for the year 1875, we find the following very important statement:—

In working the direct system, the whole supply is entirely dependent on the power of the engine to run continuously, for whenever the engine stops, the supply is cut off, and even with the engine and mains duplicated, there is a possibility that even with the best of engines, run with the greatest care, either machinery or pipes may fail, the supply be cut off, and the City left without water. This can in no way be so effectually guarded against as by having an elevated reservoir to fall back upon when the engines are not working. The following abstract, taken from the report of Mr. Julius W. Adams, Chief Engineer of the Brooklyn Water Works, is applicable in this connection. He says, on page 19 of his report of 1872:—

"It would not be amiss to advert to a fact which is to much lost sight of lately in some of our smaller cities, and that is, the danger from fire in all cities supplied with water direct from pumping engines.

"The late fire in Chicago, with a loss of some four hundred million dollars and hundreds of human lives, would, in all probability, never have happened had the City received its water through an elevated reservoir. To illustrate the danger in our own case, even where the engines are from their remoteness, not themselves exposed to the direct action of a heavy conflagration, but only to the uncertainty in emergencies common to all heavy machinery, there have been many occasions, for periods of hours, when, if a general conflagration had arisen in the City, the engines could not have furnished one drop of water, and our entire dependence would have been on the water in the reservoir. It is true that in this event Mount Prospect Reservoir would have furnished some sixteen or eighteen millions, but this furnishes still another evidence of the value of an elevated reservoir.

"I give a paper furnished by the Engineer at Ridgewood, embracing a statement of the several occasions when the City was wholly dependent on the reservoir for supply:

"On December 14, 1863, the cylinder head of Engine No. 2 was broken, which laid up the engine until February 11, 1864—59 days. On December 22, 1863, the nozzle of lower pump Engine No. 1 was cracked, which lay up this engine until December 28, making six days during which neither engine was in operation.

"On June 21, 1865, the lower pump Engine No. 1 broke down, laying up the engine until July 11—nineteen days; and on July 10 the cylinder head of Engine No. 2 broke, laying up the engine until August 14—thirty four days; making one day in which neither engine was in operation.

"On February 27, 1866, the bolts holding down the lower pump-head of Engine No. 1 were found to be broken, Engine [illegible] but this time being laid up for repairs [illegible] was started as soon as possible, but [illegible] was delayed, during which time [illegible] in operation.

"On February 14, 1867, the bolts in lower pump-head of Engine No. 1 were again found to be broken; engine laid up eleven hours to make the necessary repairs; Engine No. 2 at this time being laid up for repairs.

"On February 27, 1867, at 8 a.m., the connecting pipe between upper and lower pump of Engine No. 2 burst, leaving the engine for [illegible] days. Engine No. 2 was started at 2 p.m., there being six hours during which neither engine was in operation.

"On March 25, 1867, Engine No. 1 was stopped four hours to repair another crack in the connecting pipe, Engine No. 2 not being in operation at the time.

"On April 8, 1867, at 2.30 p.m., the bolts in lower pump-head of Engine No. 1 again broke, Engine No. 2 being laid up at the time. It was started at 8.30 p.m. there being six hours in which neither engine was in operation.

"On December 19, 1867, the valve in upper pump Engine No. 2 was found to be broken; engine laid up nine hours to make repairs. No. 1, being out of order at the time, could not be run.'

"It should be borne in mind that this list of accidents is by no means to be attributed to any neglect of the Engineer in charge. So far from it, when the character of the machinery and the duty required of it is known, it is a matter of surprise that the accidents have been so few in number, and so limited in extent."

This shows that with two engines, Brooklyn has been on several occasions unable to use either of them, and at one time was dependent for six days on her reservoir alone.

Your Committee have also seen a letter written the other day by Mr. P. A. Peterson, Chief Engineer of the Toronto Works, wherein he says:—"Of course if you can get a Reservior you should by all means have one." Other and similar opinions of experienced men could be cited were it necessary, but your Committee deem these sufficient to justify them in expressing the opinion which they have done.

In weighing the relative merits of the Dickson and Hilliard properties for these works it should be borne in mind that the water will be obtained at a higher level at Hilliard's than at Dickson's, and consequently would require less power at that point than at Dickson's to obtain the same pressure.

Your Committee beg herewith to submit a plan of the proposed works from the Hilliard property, and upon which they have based the estimates given below:—

THE DICKSON PROPERTY.

Were this property selected as the source of supply for the proposed works, the idea of the construction of a Reservoir either now or at any future time would have to be abandoned, and by adding to the questionable saving (?) thus effected all idea of extending the pipes north of Smith street works as laid down on the plan (with the exceptions noted) might be constructed from the Dickson property for $11,000 less than from the Hilliard property, being $7,500 for main from Smith street to Hilliards, and $3,500 for reservoir.

THE HILLIARD PROPERTY.

Believing this to be, all things considered, the best site for the proposed works, your committee have had a plan of them prepared, and have gone carefully over the calculations as to their probable cost, from the best data available. As this plan with additions is practically the same as that made up some years ago from the joint figures of Mr. Wilson, of Kingston, and Mr. Laidlaw, of Glasgow, it may be well to state that they were then estimated to cost (including reservoir) $41,263.

Your committee have also made calculations as to their cost from figures supplied by Mr. Wm. Hamilton, and from those published as the estimated cost of the proposed London water works,—the first amounted to $47,600, and the latter to $47,373, and the details of which we submit herewith.

FROM LAKEFIELD.

While this (were it within our means) would undoubtedly be the best scheme of the three, the fact that eight miles (about the distance from Hilliard's to Lakefield) of twelve inch pipe, and laying under the most favorable circumstances would cost about $75,000. rendered it unnecessary in the opinion of your committee for them to enter into minute calculations as to their probable cost, inasmuch as they were certain to prove beyond our present means.

With regard to the cost of the site for the works both Messrs. Hazlitt and Hilliard offer them on substantially the same terms, namely for fire purposes free for twenty years; for domestic purposes for a rental to be settled by arbitration. Mr. Hilliard also giving the site for reservoir and access thereto free of charge.

From S. H. Kendall, M. D., of Boston.

Dear Sirs:—I have been afflicted for many years with a chronic inflammation, or morbid state of the liver, together with the long train of complaints which are well known to attend such cases, viz., constipation of the bowels, impaired digestion, cold extremities, shooting pains in the side, extending towards the sternum, &c., so that for many months I have not been able to lie upon one side, nor upon either side without pain. I was about submitting myself to the usual mercurial course of treatment (whereby I hoped to obtain relief, but did not expect to be cured), when you happened to communicate to me some of the remarkable cures effected by the PERUVIAN SYRUP; and (although I am slow to believe in the efficacy of new remedies) having had the pleasure of your acquaintance for a long time, and of course perfect confidence in the correctness of your statements, I was induced to give it a trial. I commenced taken it on Monday, the 6th of March. The following Wednesday night I found, to my surprise, that I could rest comfortable lying upon either side. Friday, March 10, not the slightest pain; rested as comfortable as I ever did; and now, in one week, after having taken one bottle of the Syrup. I consider myself cured. But as I find the medicine so pleasant, and as it can be taken without any interruption to business, I shall continue it a few days longer. Sold by all druggists.

TITANS AND MEN.

"Blessed are the meek," exclaims the voice of inspiration, but can a man live week with the consciousness that a dreaded monster is consuming his vitals. We are not a race of Titans. A Prometheus might stand chained to the torturing rock with a vulture perpetually gnawing his liver, and his face ever wear an expression heroic and even meek endurance. But Prometheus has left no descendants. With virulent (disease) consuming his liver, the modern man makes himself and every one around him miserable. Fretful, gloomy, hypochondriacal, he sees the world and life all on the wrong side—the dark side—and whoever dares to assert that there is a sunny side, he regards as an enemy, or at best a mocker of his imaginary woes. Unlike the mythical Titan, the victim of disease is not succorless. There is an arm to rescue—a balm to cleanse and heal. As remedies for this most depressing of all diseases,—"Liver Complaint,"—none are more efficient or popular than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets. The Pellets effectually remove the effete and poisonous matter, while the Medical Discovery imparts strength and health to the entire system. They are sold by druggists.

The Orillia Packet says;—The reports presented to the Council last Tuesday evening indicate that Mr. Hagel had practically failed to implement his promises of aid to the Atherly road.

And these are to be politics of the next campaign:—As the Tory pow-wow at Markham, Sir John took great credit to himself for having voted for Mr. Costigan's motion with reference to O'Donoghue, who was involved in the troubles at Red River. The Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 19, 1877.

Keep cool.

Good harvesting weather.

The wool market is about closed.

The Holmans play here on Friday evening.

Quebec is said to be gay with summer visitors.

Does the County own the "Old Burying Ground?"

Harvest is considerably earlier this year than usual.

Fire-flies give brilliant pyrotechnicals these nights.

It is getting about time to talk of a civic holiday.

Fame were never so cheap, and the wind so difficult to raise.

The sharpest yesterday was liberally supplied with vegetables.

Look out for clothes-lines th'eves, they are said to operating in the town.

The Simpson Point Hotel is again open with a change of management.

It looks as if Vennor forgot himself when he predicted a damp cold midsummer.

Now is the time to take a trip to the country and sponge on your country cousins.

Toronto.—Voting on the Dunkin Act commences in Toronto on the 31st of August.

Who was the brilliant author of "Among the Rocks of Burleigh?" That is the question.

The Shaughraun Company played here on Thursday and Friday evenings last, to good houses.

The Young Canadians are making arrangements for their annual pic-nic during the month of August.

Women's Rights.—The London University Senate have decided to admit women to degrees in all the faculties. Ahead of Canada yet.

Is it not about time the assessor were commencing to take the assessment of the town for 1877, according to by-law passed by council?

"Whistle-Wing."—Until further notice the "Whistle-Wing" will discontinue her regular trips, she having been engaged for some time for towing.

Peterborough would like to get what is owing her from the Midland Railway, to help in paying for the construction of the Toronto and Ottawa road.

Personal.—Dr. G. H. Burnham, son of Dr. Burnham, has returned home on a visit from England. He is looking well and he intends returning in a few days.

Queen County Councillors know more about Otonabee bridge than the Times can tell them. Sir John Macdonald made a fuss out of one of them at two different times.

Fruit Store.—Bailey Bro. fruit store. Fresh confectionary, oranges, lemons, dates, nuts, and candies of every kind, canned goods of every description, etc., All fruit in season. 24-7

Ames & MacWilliams advertise in this issue a great clearing sale of their summer stock of boots and shoes at greatly reduced prices. Read their advertisement, and give them a call.

A Match game of Base Ball was played in Lakefield on Thursday last, between the "Pine Grove" club of this town, and the Lakefield club, and resulted in a victory for Peterborough by two runs.

At the public meeting this evening, to discuss the Midland Railway and the new station and it is to be hoped the speakers will recollect the state of the thermometer when tempted to make long speeches.

Cricket.—There will be a game of cricket between the Lindsay and Peterborough clubs to-day, in the cricket field, Ashburnham. Wickets to be pitched at 10 a.m. Admission: grand 10 cents, ladies free.

Harwood.—By telegraph to the Examiner—The Steamer "Golden-Eye" passed here this morning (Wednesday), with over 600 people on board, on an excursion under the patronage of the Balsam Grove Temple of Otonabee.

The Excursion and Concert, under the auspices of the Peterborough Musical Society, will leave this afternoon at one o'clock p.m. As this is expected to be the excursion of the season no doubt that a large number will be in attendance.

Splendid Wheat.—Mr. T. E. Ball, of Smith, showed us some fall wheat, the growth of this season, which for size of ear, and plumpness could not be surpassed. It is a new kind known as the Clawson. He will have two hundred bushels for sale for seed.

Fitting up.—Mr. John Erskine is busy refitting the shop next door to Mr. McClelland's jewelery store, on Hunter street, to which he intends removing as soon as completed, and with a view of reducing the stock generally before removing, will sell for one month at reduced prices.

The Grouping By-law, granting a bonus of $30,000 to the Toronto and Ottawa Railway was carried in Pickering and adjoining townships by a majority of about 273, last week. The Grand Trunk done their utmost to defeat the By-law, and they now can see the influence they have over the ratepayers in these townships.

Refrigerators.—Mr. H. Best has just imported several very nice articles in this line. Any one requiring such an article should call and see Mr. Best's, as they are both useful and ornamental. He has also some handsome gratings for fire places, which parties who are erecting comfortable residences should not fail to see.

Good Times.—Thomas Blesard, Esq., of Otonabee, informed us on Saturday that he had commenced harvesting his fall wheat, and that the grain is plump, and of excellent quality, with more than average crop. Good times are yet in store, although the London Free Press thinks it a pity while Mackenzie is in power.

Don't forget to get a copy of Mr. Cartwright's speech at North York, and read it. It is a masterly explanation of the financial management of the present Government, proving the Government to be economical and careful, while it demonstrates the extravagance and ruinous extravagance of the John A. Macdonald Government.

Bethesda School Picnic.—The Baptist Sabbath School will hold their annual pic-nic and excursion to-morrow, down the river to Fitzi Wild. The "Golden-Eye" leaves the Peterborough wharf at 7 a.m., sharp. This is another opportunity for a cheap trip down the river. As the tickets are, for grants 50 cents, and ladies 25 cents.

Health Notice.—At this season of the year everybody should eat liberally of ripe fruit. There is nothing like it for keeping the system in tone. With lots of fresh air, sunshine and fruit, and a carefulness not to partake too freely of iced water, the doctor can be kept at a pretty safe distance, if indeed they cannot be banished altogether.

The 12th in Lakefield.—The Orangemen of this district celebrated the anniversary of the Boyne at Lakefield this year. There were over 5,000 persons present. The procession was a very large one, and very orderly. The arrangements for the occasion were excellent, reflecting credit on the promoters. The Peterborough brethren returned fairly in the evening. Peterborough was very quiet during the whole day.

Teachers' Examination.—The examination of third class teachers commenced on Monday. There were 126 candidates; of these 44 were males and 82 females. They occupied 4 large rooms. The examiners present were Messrs. Burgess, Moore, Stevenson, and Rev. Mr. Macnan. The labors of reading through the papers of so many candidates, in each subject twenty papers, will be very onerous, and will last several days.

Belmontgomery.—We have received a letter from Mrs. Herlock, of Belmontgomery, in the absence of Mr. Herlock, stating that a lady had informed her that we had a letter from Mr. Herlock, in reference to some unhappy occurrence in that vicinity. We have only to say that we received no letter from Mr. Herlock, or any member of his family. Our correspondent whose letter we declined is a different individual.

The Review must certainly have been hard up last week for chaff wherewith to manufacture a space contributor, when it descended to the falsehood of declaring that Orit papers—or "organs," as the "Lyre" calls them—had said nothing to uphold the right of Orangemen to walk in Montreal. Three days before the Globe had an article declaring, not only their right to parade, but their right to demand and obtain defence. At this rate the orthography of the word "lyre" is wrong.

Hancock, Gasker Bros. & Co. have removed their tailoring and gent's furnishing establishment to the building recently erected by Messrs. Cox & Donnelly, and next door to Mr. Stenson's shoe store. Where they intend to carry on the tailoring business on a larger scale than ever. The shop is a very commodious one, and the ability of Mr. Madison as a cutter is now so well and favourably known in this vicinity, that it is useless for us to say anything about him. They also intend to carry on their business in the old stand for the present.

The Times man has got considerably mixed about a pair of boots that were mislaid while several young men were out camping lately, and wants to know how they got here. Well we run a kind of a secret society around here, and we don't tell our business around the streets, and we are sorry that we cannot give him the desired information concerning the same. But as they are about the size that would fit him, (fifteen) if he calls and proves property he can have them, and no questions will be asked about how his head felt when his heels were stripped.

Photograph.—We learn that Messrs. Thompson and Smith have engaged the services of Mr. W. C. North, a world-renowned artiste, for a short time. He will be engaged in Mr. Smith's gallery for about two weeks, commencing on Saturday, after which he will be found at Messrs. Thompson and Sun's. Mr. Thompson, it is said, is making great preparations in refitting and refurnishing his gallery so as to be able to give those who favor him, something in photos that they never saw the like of. This would be a good opportunity for the newspaper men of this town to get something to frame as, well we won't say any more.

Peterborough Cricketers were, last Saturday, treated to a silly scolding from the third paper of the town, because they played with Port Hope club was beaten in a contest with that of Toronto, the Peterboro' club should beat that of Port Hope. Good enough, provided they can beat Toronto every time. We are ready to admit that the cricket club of this town might turn out a better eleven with more practice; but we also perceive that the players and promoters of the game want more encouragement from the public. It costs money to support a "Crack" cricket club. Will the scold make a note of the fact?

Wood's Bible Animals.—This work is having an extensive sale in the town. A" who have seen it have no hesitation in recommending it in the highest terms. Its rare merits by this time must have become widely known.—We publish the following recommendations which have been received in addition to the numerous letters issued with a former edition; and such strong and repeated testimony, cannot fail to impart confidence to those who have secured the work, as well as to intending purchasers:—

"Wood's Bible Animals" is a very interesting and valuable book. In these days of increasing knowledge no Bible student can afford to be without the information which this volume supplies. ALEXANDER BELL,
Minister of St. Andrew's Church, Peterboro

"Wood's Bible Animals" it a book of very superior merit. One of its most important recommendations is that whilst it is a work full of interest and information for general reading, it will continue to be a most valuable standard book of reference to the Bible student.
G. WATSON,
Methodist Minister, Peterboro.

We find "Wood's Bible Animals" an interesting and valuable book, well adapted to aid the public instructor and private reader to a clearer apprehension of the Natural History of the Bible,
EDWARD ROBERTS,
MOSES METHERELL,
Ministers of B. C. Church, Peterborough and Ashburnham.

POLICE COURT.

W. Newell, charged by Mrs. Jane Curtin with breaking into her house and assaulting her on Tuesday evening, was tried before the P. M. on Friday, and remanded up for trial.

On Tuesday Sam Williams was arrested in Lakefield, charged with committing the robbery in W. Fairweather's store in March last, and brought to Peterborough, and was preliminarily examined and committed for trial. His trunk was secured, and some of the goods found in his possession.

Drunk and Disorderly.—Geo. Birney was charged by John McGee, with being drunk and disorderly on the street. Fined $3.00, and $3.45 costs.

Assault.—E. Crowe charged William H. Maharty with assaulting him on the 12th of July. Fined $10.00 and costs $3.45.

Selling Liquor Without License.—John Ritchie charged James Coughlin and Dennis Clavin with selling liquor at the Young Irishmen's pic-nic on July the 5th. They admitted the charge, and were fined $20.00 and $3.00 costs.

Cruelty to Animals.—W. H. Maharty charged C. Crowe with beating and ill-using a horse. Fined $1.00, and costs $3.45.

INTERIM SESSIONS.

Regina vs. Newell.—On Wednesday, 18th inst., William Newell was brought before His Honor, Judge Dennistoun, charged with committing an assault upon Jane Curtin. Owing to the absence of material witnesses the case was adjourned.

Regina vs. Valois.—On Wednesday, the 18th inst., John Valoise was brought before Judge Dennistoun, charged with stealing 4 bags of flour, from the mills of G. C. Rogers, Ashburnham. Prisoner pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried before the Judge without a jury.

Regina vs. Williams.—on the same day S. H. Williams was charged with receiving stolen goods, said to have been stolen from the store of W. Fairweather & Co. in March last. Prisoner pleaded not guilty, and elected to be tried by the Judge without a jury.

The court then adjourned till Friday morning at 10 a.m.

In the absence of Mr. C. A. Walsh, County Attorney, Mr. R. E. Wood appeared for the Crown.

TOWN COUNCIL.

Council met on Monday evening.

Present, His Worship the Mayor in the chair, and Messrs McWilliams, Yelland, Smith, Rountree, Elder, Haggart, McBain, Cahill, Dumble, Hamilton and Miller.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

COMMUNICATIONS.

A communication was read from Dr. Kincaid in reference to the case of Thos. Sullivan, who has been sick for some time, stating that his case was curable if attended to properly.

A communication was read from Dr. Burnham and others asking for a sidewalk on West side of Water Street, from Murry to Lyndon, and also for 2 gas lamps, one on corner of London and Water Streets, and one on corner of McDonnell and Water Streets.

A communication was read from A. Sawers, stating that he was about to commence copy and carry on the business of Woollen Factory in the Town of Peterborough, employing a number of hands, and would respectfully ask the Council to exempt him from taxation for the term of ten years.

A communication was read from W. H. Pendry, stating that his application for an increase of salary was made last year but no action was taken by the Council, and as there was some dissatisfaction about the report that the motion lay on the table to see if any errors could be found, and, as no one appears to have found any, he would therefore renew his application.

A communication was read from J. A. Delaney & Sons, asking the Council to grant them $50 on account of water supply for the Town.

A communication was read from R. Green, Market Clerk, requesting the Council to make a better provision for those who bring produce &c., to the Market, as there was not proper accommodation for the same. He recommended that the Old Town Hall be properly fitted up and used for that purpose, [illegible] cold and rough weather.

A communication was read from Mr. Smith, stating that a fire had been doing considerable damage for some time past, caused by pine stumps burning in Mr. Chamberlains lot. She had done all she could to prevent its spreading any further and as there was some danger of her premises, she hoped the Council would take such steps as would prevent any further damage to property.

PROPOSALS.

Dr. Kincaid's communication was referred to the Charity Committee with power to act.

The communication of A. Sewers was referred to the Finance Committee.

The communication of J. A. Delaney & Son's, was also referred to the Finance Committee to report on.

The communication from Dr. Burnham and others in reference to sidewalks and gas lamps was referred to the Finance & Gas Committee's

The communication of E. Green, Market Clerk, was referred to the Committee that revised the Market By-law.

The communication of Mrs. Smith was referred to the Street Inspector, to comply with it if possible.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEE

The Committee appointed to consider the application of the Midland Railway Company, for a grant of $5000 by way of a credit on the interest over-due by the Company to the Town of Peterborough, for the purpose of aiding them in the construction of a new passenger station at Peterboro', beg to report, that they do not think this Council would be justified in complying with the request, without first obtaining the sanction of the rate-payers.

Your Committee therfore recommend that His Worship the Mayor be requested to call a public meeting for the purpose of considering the expediency of granting said bonus.

D. W. DUMBLE,
Chairman.

Moved by Mr. Smith, seconded by Mr. Haggart,—That the names of Mr. Dumble and Mr. Scott, Town Solicitor, be added to the committee to meet the Ashburnham Council with a view of bringing about a union of the two municipalities.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. Elder,—That Mr. Blevis be and is hereby instructed to have suitable accommodation provided on the Market Square for the public frequenting it. The work to be done under the direction of the Finance Committee.—Carried.

Council adjourned for one week.

HORTICULTURAL SHOW.

The Horticultural Society held their Annual Summer Show in the Drill Shed, on Tuesday and Wednesday last. The exhibitors were as numerous as previous years, and old prize takers that have been successful for ages past have been beaten.

In flowers the display was good considering the very backward season. Those shown by Mrs. B. Cooney and Mrs. Geo. Chalmers were very nice, and well deserved the premiums given them.

The Ladies work generally was considered good. We regret we cannot particularize, and perhaps it is as well not to do so where so many were nearly equal.

The display of photographs by Mr. J. Little was superb, and could scarcely be excelled.

The vegetables were as good as in former years, which was more than was expected, considering the dryness of the season.

Taking the exhibition on the whole it reflects great credit on the Secretary, Mr. R. A. Brown, Mr. Barlee and others, who were untiring in their efforts to make it a great success, and we are pleased to note that it has been so. Below will be found the Prize List of the successful competitors:

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

Failures for the First Half of 1877.

From Dun, Wiman & Co's. Circular.

It is evident that the business of the country, generally, only, very slowly improves. The results of the first half of the present year are by no means entirely satisfactory. Neither in extent or profitableness are there many signs of improvement; while in the recovery or stability of values, the indications are uncertain, and not unfrequently the tendency is still decidedly downward. The statices of failures, also, which are periodically furnished to the public by the Mercantile Agency of R. G. Dun & Co., are not re-assuring, as we gather from the regular Quarterly Circular first issued. The failures for the United States for the first six months of three years are stated as follows:—

	No. of Failures.	Liabilities
First half of 1877	4,749	$99,000,000
First half of 1876	4,090	105,413,000
First half of 1875	3,463	76,784,300

It is stated that the failures for the first six months of 1876 were exceptionally large, and hence it is inferred that, so far as the number is concerned, the failures in the first six months of 1877 are larger than for any previous similar period. In the aggregate of liabilities a decline is noticeable, though for the past quarter the average indebtedness is more than maintained, as will be seen by the following interesting table:

FIRST QUARTER.

Years.	No of Failures	Amount of Liabilities	Average Liabilities
1875.	1,932	$83,176,000	$21,784
1876.	2,208	55,644,156	23,026
1877.	2,949	54,998,974	19,010

SECOND QUARTER.

Years.	No of Failures	Amount of Liabilities	Average Liabilities
1875.	1,531	$33,607,313	$21,595
1876.	1,794	43,771,373	24,396
1877.	1,800	45,008,097	23,973

According to the circular before us, all the conditions seem to favor better times, yet there appear to be fatal barriers to their return. These conditions are briefly stated to be good crops, high prices therefor; small imports, abundant and cheap money; a settled political condition, a stained public credit, and the promise of another most abundant harvest. But the circular adds:

"The experience of the past does not permit the hope that all this will bring around a prosperous or satisfactory trade. Something more is needed; but what the true remedy is none as yet discovered. Numerous explanations are, of course, at hand; and it is eloquently urged that the adoption of this or that policy would restore confidence and prosperity. Yet the fact remains that, in the presence of all favoring conditions, depression reigns, values decline, and business is restricted and profitable. Judging from the state of business abroad, all this is not chargeable to the peculiar disabilities under which this country labors. Other nations with a gold basis, a low tariff, and not chargeable with either public or private extravagance, are suffering even to a greater extent than the United States, with an absence of many of the advantages and prospects which this nation enjoys."

The agency concludes its excellent review with the following with regard to the fall trade:

"Meantime people must eat, drink and wear, and in the supply of these necessities a certain extent of trade is secure. And this trade ought not to be unsafe in sections of country mainly dependent on agriculture, which includes the great West and South, where the purchasing and debt-paying power is not so restricted as elsewhere. The chief difficulty is that the number engaged in a trade thus limited is so far in excess of its extent that the competition is destructive of profit. The evil is one which will, it is supposed, cure itself. Unfortunately the principal process by which this will be effected is that of failure, as the voluntary withdrawals, especially from retail trade, are very rare. The failure statistics, are, therefore, likely to show a continued large number of casualties, but in this view may be more significant of health than disease. If a large proportion of traders who succumb could be kept out of business, and be provided with some other pursuit than that of helping to divide a small trade among a large number, failures would not be an unmixed evil. But the facilities which wholesale merchants themselves afford for effecting settlements at fifty cents on the dollar and less, and which the National Bankruptcy Law encourages, are not unfrequently an effective premium to the greatest recklessness and poorest capacity. But time cures all, and it is to be hoped that a business sentiment against compromises and in favor of an amended Bankrupt Law will in gradually developed, and be effective toward remedying existing evils."

The most encouraging feature of the present time is the splendid prospect of the crops throughout the country. From the estimate which are subjoined to this circular, and which have been gleaned in some thirty-five different leading business centres by the intelligent representatives of the Agency, it is evident that a year of great abundance is vouchsafed to the country. Local trade dependent on that condition, and on the money which it puts in circulation by those who have to promise laxity, and the gloomy spirit which is then generated of the weakness of the country by Messrs. Dun & Co. is exceedingly complete and interesting.

Sir John Sewed Over by Mr. T. White, Jr.

(From the Hamilton Times)

There is nothing more interesting than to compare the different views held by the Conservative leaders on the question of the trade policy of Canada and its effects on the country. For instance, Sir John Macdonald and Mr. Thomas White, Jr., occupied the same platform at the Montreal demonstration on Saturday night. Sir John was evidently in excellent feather, and in the course of his remarks, rolled off the following:

"off to the States (the weebavies) drifting "skilled artizans to the United States, we see the "men of Canada, strong-handed young "women of Lower Canada, the active young "Lowell, to New Hampshire, drifting of to "to Connecticut, adding to the wealth of Maine, "to the power, and the strength of that "foreign nation, and depleting [illegible] "fortunate Canada." At which, [illegible] the report, there was "prolonged cheering."

We shall not answer this ourselves, but call on Mr. Thomas White, jr., (one of Sir John's assistants at the Montreal demonstration) to take the stand and confute his leader. Said Mr. White at the meeting of the Dominion Board of Trade in 1874:—

Sir, I cannot listen to statements which appear to me to depreciate unnecessarily our own country, without offering some remarks in reply, which I think fairly meet the arguments advanced. It has often been said in this country that we are loosing our population, and that therefore it is not prospering. But what is the fact? On this vast continent inter-immigration is going on perpetually. Dr. Ouille tells us that by the recent census of the united states it appears that nearly half a million of native-born Canadians are found in that country. I have not had the opportunity of examining this census, but I did examine very carefully the census of 1861, and I know at that time, when there was something like a quarter of a million of Canadians in the United States they were not necessarily native-born Canadians, but persons who gave their names as Canadians—Canadians by origin as well as by birth. In examining the census returns respecting the intermingration of the different States of the Union, I find that seven States lost more of their native population than we did. The State of New York, for instance, which is prosperous, lying adjacent to us, lost up to 1861, 834,000 of her native-born population, they having moved into other parts of the Union. This system of inter-immigration is going on from us; and it is going on from them, and to say it is the evidence of want of prosperity in this country, that it proves that this country does not offer homes as happy and prospects as bright as any other portion of this continent, is to say that which a fair consideration of the statistics of the whole continent proves to be utterly unfair.

From which direct slap in the face to Sir John we learn:

1. That even under the blessed rule of Sir John Macdonald some half million Canadians were to be found in the United States.

2. That according to Mr. Thomas White the fact of such immigration to the United States from Canada was not proof of any want of prosperity in Canada.

3. That Mr. White held that to charge such immigration as being proof of a decline in Canadian prosperity (as Sir John did in Montreal on Saturday) is utterly unfair.

We shall not attempt to reconcile these contradictory views of the Tory Protectionist Chief and his Montreal lieutenant. Of course, however, they themselves can reconcile them. What Mr. White meant in 1875 was that Canadian emigration to the states when Sir John was in power was equivalent to a prosperous Canada. What Sir John meant on Saturday night was that Canadian emigration to the United States when Mr. Mackenzie is in power means a ruined Canada. Outsiders will not be able to draw quite as fine a line.

Accounts from the West indicate that the promoters of the direct railway connecting Toronto with Ottawa, are meeting with a liberal measure of success in procuring bonuses from the various municipalities immediately benefited by the construction of the road. It also seems tolerable certain that the Government line of railway north from Montreal and connecting with Quebec and the Intercolonial will have its crossing over the Ottawa in the immediate vicinity of this city, and will thus connect with the Canada Central to Pembroke, the line to Toronto and the West, the St. Lawrence & Ottawa, and in the near future with the Canada Pacific. The completion of these roads will mark an important epoch in the history of this city, and will, we believe and trust, give a fresh impulse to its progress and prosperity. No longer isolated from connection with the commercial avenues of the country, Ottawa will become the emporium of the district from which these roads conveyed, while the development of the country to the North and West which will follow the construction of the railway to Toronto and the Georgian Bay cannot fail to add very materially to the importance of these lines as feeders to our trade. Our city ought to be thoroughly alive to the importance to their interests of the earliest possible completion of these railways. They should manifest an active interest in their prosecution, and if necessary furnish such material assistance as they may feel able to afford. Care should be taken that these important projects are not delayed or diverted to less advantageous points of juncture. It would also be well if before the plans are actually decided upon that an effort should be made to unite the terminus of all these roads in one union station, situated in a central and convenient locality, by which means trade would be facilitated, public convenience promoted, and the expenses made less to the various railways.

SOUTH MONAGHAN.

Dunkin News.—An enthusiastic meeting of the friends of the Dunkin Bill was held in the Methodist Church, near Benafort, on Monday evening last. Addresses were delivered by the Revs. Messrs. Smith, of Grafton, and W. A. McKay, B. A., of Baltimore, both of whom gave good addresses. Mr. McKay in particular has gone heartily into the work of having the Dunkin Bill passed in these United Counties. His speech was a masterpiece of facts which cannot be gainsayed. He took up the arguments presented by the Anti-Dunkinists and handled them in a clear, concise manner. The barley question in particular he proved to be but a small objection, as but a small proportion of the barley grown in the Dominion is manufactured in this country, and also that if we take away the drink, the money will be spent in other commodities principally raised or grown by the farmer, and thus helping to enhance the value of said commodities. He has published a pamphlet which should be in the hands of every ratepayer in the two Counties—treating of the matter socially, religiously and financially. We feel certain of success in this Township.—Com.

Judgment in the Jaques Cartier election case has gone in favor of Mr. Laflamme, and the Mail, which has a monopoly of loyalty to the Queen and respect for the Bench, assails the integrity of Judge Wilfred Dorion. The petitioner has appealed. The judgment was an able and elaborate one. His Honor reviewed at length the law of the case and held that respondents had used personal efforts to prevent anything improper being done. He challenged as improbable the story of Beaudette and others, inasmuch as Brunet to avoid neither give day nor date of an alleged conversation damaging to Mr. Laflamme. His Honor held that there was nothing irregular or improper in Mr. Laflamme's platform speech. As to general treating the charge had not been made out. His conclusion that the evidence of one or two witnesses was no conclusive way to be worthy of credit. As to the alleged intimidation of workmen in the county, every witness swore that each man was free to vote as he pleased. Threats made by unenfranchised people were not contemplated in the Election Act. He saw nothing strange in the friends of Mr. Laflamme working for him en masse.—Lindsay Post.

Mr. Mackenzie seems to take the slanders of the Tory troops as a matter of course. At Kingston he is reported to have said: I know it is the tactics of those by whom we are opposed—I know it was their tactics twenty years ago, and thirty-five years ago—to drive their opponents out of public life by the grossest slanders, in order that they may have the field left clear for themselves. I say to them, Gentlemen, you can't do it. (Hear hear, and cheers.) Your slanders shall fall harmlessly against us, your tactics shall prove a failure, because you have met the people with you.' Sir John Macdonald never did have the people of Ontario with him; he never commanded a majority of the people of this Province, and he never will. (Cheers.)

[illegible] of the Examiner,

that there were reports through the town hers of the Peterboro Regatta between the members of the Orangemen of Lakefield and Peterboro' Band and refused to come to Peterboro' [illegible] that the Band remained in Lakefield. I [illegible] evening, but of placing the matter right, and opportunity there was no dispute at all. The [illegible] from instructions of the Orangemen. [illegible] Lakefield brethern engaged the Port Hope Band, they arranged with them to come up on the evening of the 13th, and then the Port Hope Band had to leave Lakefield by the five o'clock train, on the 12th. I thought it better to leave the Peterboro Band in Lakefield for the evening, as it would be very quiet there if all the bands were taken away, and I made arrangements with the Port Hope Band to play for the Peterboro Orangemen, from the station to the Lodge room which they were enabled to do through the kindness of Mr. Reynolds, the conductor, who delayed the train for that purpose. As the best feeling has always existed between the Peterboro Band and the Orangemen of Peterboro, I thought it my duty to give this explanation so that no injury would be done to the members of the band through the false reports in circulation. Yours, &c.,

J. B. McWILLIAMS.

BIRTHS.

FOWLER.—At Peterborough, on the 11th of July, the wife of Mr. William J. Fowler, of a daughter.

DIED.

JOHNSTON.—On Monday, the 16th day of July, Mr. Simon Johnston, in the 64th year of his age.

COONEY.—In Otonabee, on the 7th instant, Ellen, beloved wife of Johnston Cooney, Esq., in the 44th year of her age.

LINCE.—In this city, at the residence of the son-in-law, Wm. Coulter, Sr., on the morning of Thursday, the 5th inst., in the 73rd year of her age, Ann, relict of the late James Lince, Esq., of Peterboro', Ontario, Canada.

Mrs. Lince was born in Ireland, in the year 1804, and emigrated with her husband to Canada about the year 1842, where she continued to reside till she came to this state with the family of her son-in-law, in 1873. After a residence here of nearly two years she returned to her friends in Canada, where she remained till last February, when, in consequence of rapidly failing health she was visited by her daughter, Mrs. Coulter, who again brought her to their new home in Kansas. About the time of her last departure she experienced a severe sickness seriously injuring her eye sight from which time she gradually failed up to the 5th inst. when death peacefully closed the eyes of the aged saint. She long ago became a member of the Methodist branch of the Christian Church, and remained a devoted member and a firm believer unto the end. Her funeral services were conducted at the Methodist Chapel, by the pastor, Rev. E. W. Van Deventer, assisted by Rev. W. W. McHarg, and at the closing hour of the day her mortal remains were borne to the newly formed cemetery that over looks the town and valley, followed thither by sorrowing relatives and sympathising friends.

A WONDERFUL REFORM IN FANNING MILLS

Farmers wanting to purchase a First Class Fanning Mill should call on

MINORGAN & ELLIOTT

AND GET ONE OF THEIR

"FARMERS FRIEND."

They are the best and cheapest Fanning Mills in the Market, and clean from 20 to 100 bush. of Wheat, ready for the market, in an hour, and does not throw the large grain into the tailings. We have received a large number of Testimonials from different Farmers in the County who have used our Mills. They will speak for themselves:—

Greystock P.O., Otonabee, Mar. 12, 1877.—
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs.—This is to certify that I have given the "Farmers Friend" Mill a fair trial, and have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion it is one of the best Mills now in use for cleaning grain for seed or market.
Yours etc.,
J. SMITHSON.

MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs.—This is to certify that I have given your "Farmers Friend" Mill a fair trial, and have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion it is one of the best Mills now in use for cleaning grain for seed or market.
Yours etc.,
J. REDSHOND.

Bahama Grove, Peterboro, March 13, 1877.
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs.—I have tested your "Farmers Friend" Mill and find that it works well, taking out all dirt and small seeds out of grain and making a good clean article for sale. I am sure that your machines will give great satisfaction among the farmers, that is if they want to take good clean grain to market, and get five cents per bushel more for it.
Yours etc.,
J. H. WALTON.

Smith, 6th March, 1877.
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs.—I take pleasure in recommending the "Farmers Friend" as being the best Mill I have ever had, and I have had several of what was called the Best Makes in Ontario.
JAS. ELLIOTT.

Peterboro, March 8th, 1877.
This is to certify that we have tested Moore & Minorgan's Mill and pronounce it to be the best we have ever seen cleaning, and it is the best Separator we have ever seen.
JOHN DOBBIN.
I also endorse the above statement.
WM. DOBBIN.

Smith, March 8th, 1877.
This is to certify that I have seen Moore & Minorgan's Separator in my barn. I consider it the "Best Mill."

A LECTURE

TO YOUNG MEN!

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay clearly demonstrates, from thirty years successful practice, that assuming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED SPRUCE GUM,

—FOR—

Coughs, Colds, Bronchial and all Throat Affections.

The Gum which exudes from the Red Spruce tree is, without doubt, the most valuable native Gum for Medicinal purposes.

Its remarkable power in relieving certain severe forms of Bronchitis, and its almost specific effect in curing obstinate hacking Coughs, is now well known to the public at large. In this Syrup (carefully prepared at low temperature), containing a large quantity of the finest picked Gum in complete solution, all the Tonic Expectorant, Balsamic and Anti-Spasmodic effects of the Red Spruce Gum are fully preserved. For sale at all Drug Stores. Price 25 cents per bottle.

WHAT THEY SAY OF IT? A FEW FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.—There are but few preparations of medicines which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people for any great length of time. One of these is Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil. Read the following and be convinced:—Thos. Robinson, Farnham Centre, P. Q., writes, "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for the last ten years, and have tried many remedies without any relief, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and since then have had no attack of it. I would recommend it to all."—J. H. Earl, Hotel Keeper, West Shefford, P.Q., writes, "I have been troubled with liver complaint for several years, and have tried different medicines with little or no benefit, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which gave me immediate relief, and I would say that I have used it since with the best effect. No one should be without it. I have tried it on my horses in cases of cuts, wounds, etc., and think it is equally as good for horse as for man."—S. Maybee Merchant, Warkworth, writes, "I have sold some hundreds of bottles of Eclectric Oil, and it is pronounced by the public, 'one of the best medicines they have ever used;' it has done wonders in healing and relieving pain, sore throats, etc., and is worthy of the great est confidence."—Joseph Rusen, Township Percy writes, "I persuaded to try Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lame knee which troubled me for three or four years, and I never found anything like it for curing lameness. It is a great public benefit."—A.M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes, "For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which annoyed me very much. Mr. Maybee of this place induced me to try Eclectric Oil, and before one bottle was used I was cured. It is a most remarkable medicine. Sold by all medicine dealers Price, 25 cents.

S. N. THOMAS, Phelps, N. Y.
And NORTHROP & LYMAN, Toronto, Ont Sole Agents for the Dominion.
NOTE.—Eclectric—Selected and Electrised.

ELECTRICITY.

Thomas Excelsior Electric Oil.

Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold—Pain cannot stay where it is used.

☞It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured Bronchitis. Fifty cents' worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures catarrh, asthma, and croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. It cures swelled neck, tumors, rheumatism, neuralgia, contraction, of the muscles, stiff joints, spinal difficulties, and pain and soreness in any part, no matter where it may be, nor from what cause it may arise, it always does you good. Twenty-five cents worth has cured bad cases of chronic and bloody dysentery. One tea-spoonful cures colic in 15 minutes. It will cure any case of piles that it is possible to cure. Six or eight applications is warranted to cure any case of excoriated nipples or inflamed breast. For bruises, if applied, often and bound up, there is never the slightest discoloration to the skin. It stops the pain of a burn as soon as applied. Cures frosted feet, boils, warts, and corns, and wounds of every description on man or beast.

BEWARE OF IMITATORS.—Ask for Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. See that the signature of S. N. Thomas is on the wrapper, and the names of Northrop & Lyman are blown in the bottle, and take no other. Sold by all medicine dealers. Price, 25 cts. NORTHROP & LYMAN, Toronto, Ont., Proprietors for the Dominion.

NOTE—Eclectric—Selected and Electrised.

The Most Valuable Gift—Restoration of the Health.

—During the past ten years the proprietor of the Great Shoshonees Remedy has faithfully redeemed every promise and guarantee made to the public over his signature. Alarming and apparently hopeless cases of Lung Diseases, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Affections of the Kidney and Chronic Complaints of every description, including Scrofula and Skin Diseases of life-long duration, have been permanently removed and eradicated. Those who volunteered their testimony to the efficacy of the Remedy are not bogus people in assumed-of localities of foreign states, but respectable citizens of this Dominion, easy of access and open to question, upon whose verbal recommendations we are willing to test the reputation of the Great Shoshonees Remedy. If you are afflicted do not delay until medicine may be powerless to aid you. No injurious effects can possibly follow the use of these Indian Remedies, as they contain no minerals, by which the fate of the invalid is so often sealed under the form of some temporary sedative or stimulant. These Indian Remedies are widely known and still possess the public confidence after the lapse of sufficient time to test their efficacy.

The Shoshonees Vegetable Sugar Coated Pills have won for themselves the most favorable reputation of any pill before the public. Their efficacy has been fully proved as a remedy for Biliousness, Sick Headache, and Insactivities of the stomach. Price of the Remedy in pint bottles $1; Pills 25 cts. a box.

COMPANIONS.

BY R. H. STODDARD.

A French writer (whom I love well) speaks of [illegible]ands of friends—men, women, and books.

We [illegible]
Jolly [illegible]ions, comrade mine:
Are filling the [illegible] tried and true,
And pledging [illegible]h the Rhenish wine,
Never a man in all [illegible]as I do you.
But has, in his hour of [illegible]
Who stretches to him a [illegible]ciated.
And stands by him to the [illegible]
If not before, there is comfort then
In the strong companionship of men.

But better than that, old friend of mine,
Is the love of women, the life of life.
Whether in maiden's eyes it shine,
Or melts in the tender kiss of wife:
A heart contented to feel, not know,
That finds in the other its sole delight;
White hands that are loth to let us go,
The tenderness that is more than might!
On earth below, in heaven above,
Is there anything better than woman's love?

I do not say so, companion mine.
For when, without it, would I be here?
It lightens my trouble, [illegible] good wine,
And, if I must weep, [illegible]ear for tear!
Best books, old friends [illegible]s always new,
Of all good things [illegible]we know are best,
They never forsake us as others do,
And never disturb our inward rest.
Here is truth in a world of lies,
And all that, in man is great and wise!

Better than men and women, friend,
That are dust, though dear is our joy and pain,
Are the books their cunning hands have penned
For they depart but the books remain!
Through these they speak to us what was best
In the loving heart and the noble mind:
All their royal souls possessed
Belongs for ever to all mankind!
When others fail him, the wise man looks
To the sure companionship of books.

UNDER FALSE COLORS.

Having lighted the lamps and drawn the curtains still more closely, as if to shut out the influence of the blustering snowey evening, Hannah, (the housekeeper) quietly withdrew from the luxurious sitting room, leaving Judge Hartly and his son Harry at liberty to enjoy the time according to their inclinations, which, judging from past observations, would be in a very quiet, unsocial manner, indicating that over the sunshine of that home a gloomy and pall-like shadow had been cast.

The elder Mr. Hartly was a gentleman little past middle age, with a pleasant, benevolent-looking countenance, expressive of the comfort and ease with which he had for many years been surrounded, while his dark brown hair, slightly intermingled with grey, gave him an air or dignity and self respect. Almost buried in the soft cushions of his great easy chair, apparently absorbed in thought, he occasionally rested his eye upon Harry as if about to address him, and then, in an undecided way would turn his attention in another direction, showing a sort of meditative mood; finally, summoning up his courage with a sort of desperation, he said:

"Harry, in all these lonely months you have never thought how much pleasanter our home would be with a woman in the house—one who would meet us with a glad smile of welcome, after the daily care and perplexity of business—one whose cheerful presence would brighten our home, which has seemed so desolate since your mother's death?"

"Is it possible," thought Harry, "that my father intends bringing a stranger into the family, expecting he can find one who will in any possible manner fill my mother's place?" And then, in thought, how rapidly did he recall the time, only two short years ago, when, just before college commencement, which was to be the last of his school life, he had received a despatch announcing his mother's illness and desiring his immediate presence at home; and how few were the days of anxious watching ere that dear and saint-like mother was borne to "that country from which no traveller returneth."

Rousing himself from his thoughtful revery, he became aware that his father was expecting a reply; but what should he say?

"Really, sir," he began, "there is a strange quietness about our present manner of living; yet it has never occurred to me that you could find it in your heart to give into the hands of a stranger the position so long and well filled by my own mother, and—"

"No, no, my son!" exclaimed his father. "That cannot be; I was not speaking of myself, but of you; most young men of your age have some idea of their own in regard to choosing a wife without waiting until his father's loneliness prompts his advice."

"Oh!" resumed Harry, "I—I did not understand the meaning. I may have had some thoughts on the subject, but certainly no very serious one; I will bear your advice in mind, however, and possibly I may take advantage of it."

How readily we observe the sudden revolution in the feelings of the young gentleman, when, from his father's explanation, he became aware of the fact that the future inmate of that house was to be known as Mrs. Harry Hartly instead of Mrs. Judge Hartly! But such is the selfishness of human nature; and we think he was really more excusable in his willingness to partake of the first slice off the matrimonial loaf than many who in various ways exhibit that almost universally prevailing propensity of mankind, selfishness; for in his objection to having his mother supplanted by a stranger, he was entirely governed by filial affection.

That night, after retiring to his own room, Harry Hartly seated himself near a table, upon which he rested an elbow, and, bowing his head upon his hand, commenced a soliloquy, very much after this style:—

"If a man becomes tired of single-blessedness, he is at liberty any time to look about him for a companion; but, if once entangled in the matrimonial noose, there he must remain, for better or for worse. The best advise to be given is, 'Look before you leap;' that's my motto. Well my wife must be passably good-looking, gentle, refined, intelligent, affectionate, charitable and kind; I need not add wealthy, since, in the matter of money, I have sufficient for both. But how am I to know when I meet with a lady possessing the required qualities? For whenever I see any of my lady acquaintances I find them the embodiment of smiling loveliness and amiability; but are they always the same? That's the question! There are several who stand favourable in my estimation—two, particularly so—Fanny Leigh and Nellie Maxwell, cousins, and very much alike in look and manner. But are they alike in principals? And how sure are their principals? I have an idea! be questioned. Rather a novel one to be sure—possibly it may not work well; however I think I will make the trial."

Next morning a very quaint looking figure appe

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 26, 1877.

SECTARIAN SAVAGERY.

We refrained last week from remarks on the riots in Montreal on the 12th inst, lest we should be tempted, through strong feeling on account of the outrageous conduct of the mob, to publish something that might tend to fan the flame of fanaticism rather than allay it—lest, with but a partial knowledge of the facts, we should be tempted to say something we should regret when we could not unsay it. Now that we are fully cognisant of the causes that led to the disgraceful disturbance, and to the death of at least one man, we feel that we can more calmly consider the matter, when the excitement has greatly died out and the passions of parties have cooled down from the dangerous heat into which they had been raised. Let us hope that, as was the case with the Orangemen of Montreal before the Boyne anniversary, wise counsels and considerate thoughts may prevail; and that Protestants and Roman Catholics, Orangemen and Hibernians, will follow a policy of concession and conciliation, and avoid every appearance of aggression and aggravation. A spirit of mutual forbearance alone can obliterate the bitterness born of the bad work of the 12th of July in Montreal; and any other principle of action is sure to magnify the mischief, which has already reached the proportions of foul murder.

Too much praise cannot be bestowed on the Montreal Orangemen for their determination to forego their procession.—Some hold that it was a mistake, and that it was the cause of no preparations being made to quell a row. The mistake may have been in proposing a procession in the first place; but after such a proposition had been made it required no small amount of courage to abandon the idea, and thereby be subjected to sneers through a misconception of the motives that led to such abandonment. We know that there are those who see no practical good in any 12th of July parade, and some of these claim high Protestant feelings, and a few of them are Orangemen. All Protestants as well as those who are Orangemen are thankful for the victory at the Boyne, as one of the steps that led to the establishment of free institutions and liberal principles not only in Great Britain but in the world, and it is not to be wondered at, that many of them seek the 12th of July display, as one way of perpetuating the remembrance of a victory fraught with so many advantages to them, and not only to themselves, but to those who appear to remember it only as a menace of their liberties, and as a memento of their subjugation. It is possible, however, that many whose hearts are filled with gratitude for the enjoyment of equal, civil and religious rights and privileges, will see no wisdom in these processions and displays. But even so, why should those who think differently be prevented from enjoying a display if they desire it, by fear of bloodshed? Why should they be prevented from having a harmless display in the streets of Montreal where almost monthly, or at least several times a year the streets are blocked up with crowds parading with devices no better calculated to ensure the peace of mind or co-operation of Protestants who live in that city? It is true that Protestants can afford to forget them things now and then, while they rejoice in the enjoyment of their own religion, free from the terrible and fierce persecutions of less enlightened times. And perhaps they could be thankful for the victories that ensured them the liberties referred to, and it may be that the Orange Constitution does no demand a 12th of July parade in commemoration of the victory of the Boyne, which even Catholic historians admit to have been the most important victory ever gained in Europe? But when as Orangemen and peace loving citizens they agreed to forego their procession in deference to the wishes of other societies, and with a view to prevent the outbreak of lawlessness and savagry, they did all that could be required of them, and they should have been saved the murder of a brother, and the country should have been saved the enmity and bitterness that has been intensified by this outrage on an inoffensive and harmless young man.

While the Orangemen have gained in public estimation by the considerate course they pursued, the Roman Catholics of Montreal lost much by the totally unprovoked and unjustifiable assault that led to the death of one person and the injury of many others. There is a manifest unwillingness to lay the out of the mobs at the door of the Roman Catholics as a body; but there is a tendency to detect the influence of the priesthood in the fact that the mob was composed of Roman Catholics, and that our would-be rival failed to produce, even after an appeal to them. Dost thou see the loyal application of the theory, friend?

The Review seems to hug something that Mr. Fitzgerald did not say. We cannot see for the life of us what that has to do with our remarks on what the gentleman did say. And yet the Review declares it is not troubled; It further says we "coodled" Mr. Fitzgerald, to "coddle" the Catholic vote, now we'll leave it to Mr. Fitzgerald himself if we were so naughty as to "coodle" him. Why! we never thought of such a thing; and as for coddling the Catholic vote, we wouldn't know how to go about it. There now!

But to drop badinage —The Catholic electors are not ignoramuses. They are of that public, which, measures the influence of a journal by its facts, and arguments. If, therefore, the Review will only begin to furnish facts, and base its arguments on them; its influence may yet attain to such dimensions as to admit of measurement. But when it bases its deductions on such false premises as a former deception of the Catholic electors by Reformers, and the assumption, that, Mr. Mackenzie has shown "illiberality to Catholics in the selection of office-holders or Cabinet Ministers," it need not expect to have any influence; for instead of facts it plainly flees to a refuge of lies. We might, like the "lyre," satisfy ourselves with the reflection that Mr. Fitzgerald did not say these things; but that is not the sort of argument, we would have our influence measured by. We deny that the Catholic electors were deceived by the Reformers. We have in a former issue argued that point, and shown the impracticability of the Tory accusation against both the Catholics as a body and the Reform party. Yet the Tories, either unable or unwilling to understand why Catholic intelligence should become disgusted with the political offences of Sir John Macdonald and his party, have imagined a cause, and actually declare (of not directly, yet in effect,) that the Catholic electorate, sold itself for power and positions. The statement is not only absurd on its face; but like others of its class it recoils on those who make it. The accusation that "Mr. Mackenzie has manifested an increasing disregard for Irish Catholics" is simply untrue, unless it means that he fails to show them more regard than any other class of the community. Did he do that, then indeed he would be worthy of condemnation. In no case that we know of have the just claims of Irish Catholics been ignored; nor do we think the "local Tory lyre" can mention one instance in substantiation of its assertion. It is further stated, that the Irish Catholics have been refused representation in the Cabinet. In any case they have the same representation as their fellow subjects; but even considering them (for the sake of argument merely,) as a peculiar and distinct people, they have in Hon. R. W. Scott, the one Minister to which their ratio to the whole population entitles them. So much for the "fact" and the "argument" there!

Again, we are told that Mr. Mackenzie is "at the head of a party which deceived and deserted at the polls, one of the leading Irish Catholics in Ontario." This is not very explicit, and may mean anything the "lyre" may choose to twist it into. We are not aware of any such base deception, and assertion as that spoken of; but we imagine it is like the other "fact" of the Review in respect to Cabinet representation. Anyway, so serious a charge should be plainly put, if for no other reason than that, it may be plainly met. The declaration that the Reform party has provided the election of one Irish Catholic from Ontario to the House of Commons, is equally fallacious with the "lyre's" other contortions. The facts show that while neither party supported Irish Catholic Candidates as such, neither party refrained from doing all they could to defeat the Irish Catholic Candidates of the other. Neither Reformers nor Conservatives can be blamed for such a course, at least until the absurdity is perpetrated of making Irish Catholicism a leading principle of political action in Canada; and if even that day does come it will be an exceedingly bad time for Irish Catholics. If there be any party blame attachable for the phenomenal defeat in Ontario of all the Irish Catholic Candidates for the Commons, it should be divided about equally between Reformers and Conservatives. For our part we can't see room for either blame or boasting.

With Sir John Macdonald's liberality or illiberality to Irish Catholics, we have nothing to do, for all know that Sir John is a very "liberal" man in the matter of promises, as well as with money derived from the sale of a Pacific Railway Contract, the Secret Service Fund, the Northern "ect., ect., ect.," as they say in the sale bills. But when it comes to a comparison of the present Premier with the late one, and the declaration that "there is not an Irish Catholic in the Dominion but would prefer to throw in his fortunes with Sir John," then indeed are we forced to pause at the amazing effrontery of the man who, professing to put Catholic electors on their guard, can thus wantonly insult them down to the individual. Looking at this concluding declaration, thinking of a measurement by facts and arguments, and catching an idea of the supreme absurdity of the whole position we can only exclaim, "that, at any rate, Mr. Fitzgerald has not said!"

AMERICAN RAILWAY STRIKE.

The greatest and most terrific labor strike that ever took place now rages in the States of Maryland, Pennsylvania, and Virginia. The strike was opened by a band of discontented railroad employees who were opposed to the threatened reduction in their wages. Some idea of the magnitude of the commotion and of prevailing anarchy can be elicited from the fact that one hundred and twenty-five locomotives and two thousand loaded cars have already been burned by the infuriated mob. The troops were severly repulsed in endeavouring to obtain order in Pittsburg, and driven out of the city. The latter place was, at last accounts, in the hands of the rioters. The telegraphic despatches inform us that that an immense number of persons were killed and wounded so far. As usual in such cases (as for example in the communist riots in Paris) men, women and children were engaged in the horrid pillage. Looking at the vast proportion which this trouble has risen to within a few days, if civil war should eventuate we would not be disappointed. Unless the State and Fedral authorities take active, quick and decisive steps to suppress the disturbances and to check the work of destruction there is no telling to what extent of misery the present condition of things will lead, there is no anticipating how destructive to life and property the strike may become. The sad circumstances of the last day or two re-opens the discussion as to the policy of allowing unions to be formed among such a class of men as those engaged on railroads, or even among any class of men. We will not now occupy space in arguing a case either pro or con, but we cannot help remarking en passant that the present system as to unions is one which offers every advantage to leaders among discontented employees to dictate and terrify employers, while the law may be powerless to afford adequate protection to the latter, in time to prevent destruction of property or loss of life.

When we consider the loss of life and property—when we see that millions of dollars of property have been, even at this early date, destroyed, we repeat we cannot but condemn anything which rendersuch an appalling outbreak possible. It is very clear that had it not been for the secrecy of the societies and their unity of action the strike could not have spread over such a vast district or burst out in so many different places simultaneously.

We sincerely hope that the highest point has been reached in the disturbance and that through vigorous and determined measures the authorities will have ere long put an end to the trouble.

FITZGERALD AND FITS.

The local "tory lyre" denies that it has been troubled "the least bit" by Mr. Fitzgerald's letter, or "anything else that has appeared in the columns of the grit organ." It then alludes to us as the "apologist of Cauchon and declares that we deal in "clap-trap" and "hypocritical nonsense"—indeed uses just such language as "troubled" people usually do, particularly when they cannot bring argument to bearon that which troubles them. If the local "lyre" is not troubled, why does it get on the rampage? Its actions do not correspond with its professions of calmness and contentment. On the very matters taken up by Mr. Fitzgerald in his letter to the Toronto Tribune, the "lyre" first agreed with the views of the "organ"—actually quoting over words, with an expression of approval. Subsequently it seemed to grow wroth at its generosity, and became bitter in its opposition to our position. Such complete self-contradiction as this is pretty good evidence that those indulging in it have been troubled in some way or other. As for our "palming off our effusions as gospel truths," the idea is nonsense. Our remarks on any subject is submitted to the public on their merits. The Ottawa Free Press says well, when it says the influence of a journal "is always measured by the force of its arguments, and the accuracy of its facts"; and the Peterborough Review has not done badly in giving the sentiment an endoration, by way of reproducing it. The public do the measuring mentioned, for themselves; and it is therefore scarcely complimentary to the community in which it is published for any paper to talk of another journal of the same locality, "palming off its effusions as gospel truths." The EXAMINER can only say, like any other journal, on its advertisement by the public. If our arguments possess a preponderance of the public in gentlemanly opinion of the Review is in error both. The "other letter" referred to, or, by his own accepted himself with the control- made forth, it is not a member of C

OTTAWA.—Mr. Henry Cock, one of the Ottawa Orangemen who attended Hackett's funeral, has received a letter notifying him that he will be shot within two weeks.

OSHAWA has had a Post Office robbery, a lad named McArthur is the guilty party, about $95 is missing; several letters containing cheques have been recovered. The lad lived with the post master, his parents live in Belleville.

THE WAR.—The great scene of Russian activity is now in Turkey, bearing towards Constantinople, no definite news has been received, but a day or two will in all probability bring important dispatches. There are rumours of a Russo-Italian alliance. Britain, it is said has sent an ultimatum to Russia. Hungaria is about to remonstrate with Russia on account of Bulgarian atrocities, and in all probability will take sides with Turkey. Matters are getting more involved day by day, and a single day may introduce elements into the strife, leading to either a speedy settlement or protracted and terrible consequences. Despatches are sensational, it is true but may be fully realized any day.

THE Strikers in the United States are assuming gigantic dimensions. They are extending East and West and in their train follows immense destruction of property. The police in the cities appear powerless. The militia have been called out. They have been unable to prevent the loss of life and property.

THE BRIDGES.—The Independent says —On Tuesday we were visited by dignitaries from the Councils of Victoria and Peterborough, in respect of the Robeyson Bridges. Both Wardens were present, also Mr. Pearse Clerd of the County of Peterborough, likewise Mr. Belcher, the County Engineer, and moreover Mr. Rannie, and additionally the two committees, and in fact quite a large number of very discriminished persons. Most of them stopped at the Forest House. It was very hot. Simpson keeps lots of ice. Before closing this paragraph it may be mentioned incidentally that they agreed to patch up the north bridge, and to leave little Bob bridge alone. All we have to say is 'Hooray for Municipal Institutions.' They could not have done less, than they did.

Down in the Mouth.

Where there is a continual drooping down in the back of the mouth, with irritation and inflammation of the nasal cavities and throat, with hawking, spitting, and a sense of fullness about the head, be not deceived or fancy it a simple cold. You are afflicted with that scourge of this climate, Catarrh, the forerunner of Consumption. In its early stages of few bottles of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy will effect an entire cure. When confirmed, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery should be used in connection with the Remedy. These standard medicines have been before the public many years, and their use has been attended with the most gratifying success. A full discussion of Catarrh and its rational treatment is contained in. "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," a book of over nine hundred pages, illustrated with two hundred and eighty-two engravings, bound in cloth and gilt, price, post-paid, $1.50. PERUVIAN SYRUP is a standard remedy for building up and renewing broken-down or nervous constitutions. For Dyspepsia, Debility, Liver Complaint, Kidney and Bladder Diseases, or part of the many irregularities of the various organs of the human frame, it is a sovereign remedy. It is a tonic without alcohol. This medicine is too well-known already to require any commendations from us. It is only necessary for us to say to those who have never given it a trial that it will accomplish all that is claimed for it Now is the time to tone up the system before the hot months of summer fairly set in. Sold by all druggists.

By-law No.

A By-Law to authorize the Construction of Water Works in the Town of Peterborough.

WHEREAS, by an Act of the Parliament of the Province of Ontario passed in the Thirty-seventh year of Her Majesty's reign chaptered Seventy-eight and entitled "An Act for the construction of Water Works for the Town of Peterborough" provision is made for the construction and maintenance of Water Works in the said Town of Peterborough but it is nevertheless thereby also provided that the said recited Act shall not have any force or effect until after the approval by the Ratepayers of the said Town qualified to vote upon and the final passage by the Council of the said Town authorising the construction of such Water Works under the provisions of the said Act.

And whereas it is desirable to secure the early construction of Water Works in the said Town in accordance with the provisions of the said Act and by and through the agency of Commissioners as therein provided.

And whereas the said proposed Water Works are estimated to cost the sum of Forty-seven Thousand Five Hundred Dollars.

And whereas it will be necessary in order to meet such cost of the said proposed Water Works and to provide for the interest accruing thereon during construction and to provide for all neccessary lands rights and privileges not included in the above estimate of the cost of such Water Works it will be necessary to incur a Debenture indebtedness of the sum of Forty-seven Thousand Five Hundred Dollars and to issue Debentures for that amount in the manner pointed out by the said recited Act.

The Municipality of the Town of Peterborough by the Council therefore enacts as follows:—

1. That from and after final passage of this By-Law after the same shall have been submitted to and approved by the Electors of the said Municipality in the manner provided by the said Act the said Municipality of the Town of Peterborough shall be fully authorised and empowered to set about the construction of and construct Water Works for the said Town of Peterborough under and in accordance with the provisions of the said recited Act and by and through the agency of Commissioners to be appointed in the manner therein provided.

2. That for the purpose of acquiring the necessary lands rights and privileges and constructing the said Water Works and paying the interest on the Debentures to be issued therefor as hereinafter provided during the progress of the said works and expenses attendant thereon and for the purpose of meeting the payment of any other matter or thing contemplated or allowed by the said recited Act in or towards the construction of such Water Works the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough may and is hereauthorized to issue Debentures of the said Municipality to the amount or sum of Fifty Thousand Dollars which said Debentures are to be issued and redeemable in the manner designated by the Thirty-third Section of the said recited Act and which said Debentures are to be sufficient to cover the amount of such sum

That the votes of the Electors of the said Municipality shall be taken on the proposed By-Law on the Twenty-first day of August One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventy-seven and in the following manner that is to say in each of the Wards of the Town at the places of polling therein respectively at the last Municipal Elections that the poll shall be opened at Nine o'clock in the forenoon and closed at Five o'clock in the afternoon of the same day and that the said By-Law will be taken into consideration by the Town Council of the Town of Peterborough not less than ten days nor more than one calendar month from the time of the taking of the said vote.

And further take notice that the following are the estimates of the intended expenditure to be incurred in the construction of the Water Works for which provision is made by the foregoing By-Law:

By-law No.

A By-law to raise the sum of Four Thousand Dollars for the erection of a Ward School in the Town of Peterborough and to authorize the issue of Debentures for that purpose.

WHEREAS the Board of School Trustees of the Union School of the Town of Peterborough have required the Corporation of the said Town of Peterborough to furnish the sum of Four Thousand Dollars towards defraying the cost of the construction of a Ward School in the Third Ward of said town and it is necessary to issue Debentures for the purpose of raising the said sum.

And whereas by an Act of the Legislature of the Province of Ontario passed in the thirty-ninth year of her Majesty's reign chapter fifty-eight it was enacted that it should be lawful for the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough and the Commissioners of the Peterborough Town Trust to issue Debentures for the sum of Twenty-two Thousand Dollars the proceeds of which Debentures to the amount of Twelve Thousand Dollars should be applied toward defraying the cost of the construction of Ward Schools in the said Town or in redeeming liabilities already incurred therefore such Debentures to be issued and redeemable in the manner provided by the Act of the Parliament of the late Province of Canada passed in the Twenty-fourth year of Her Majesty's Reign chaptered sixty-one.

And whereas the said sum of Four Thousand Dollars will not with the sums previously raised under the said Act for school purposes as therein provided exceed the said sum of Twelve Thousand Dollars thereby appropriated towards the construction of such Ward Schools.

And whereas the total amount that will be required to be raised annually by special rate for paying the debt and interest hereby created is the sum of Three Hundred and Sixty Dollars.

And whereas the whole rateable property of the Municipality of the Town of Peterboro' according to the last revised Assessment Roll exclusive of assessments to or in the name of supporters of the Roman Catholic Separate School is the sum of Two Millions Two hundred and Thirty-one Thousand Seven Hundred and Fifty Four Dollars and with such excepted assessment is the sum of Two Millions five Hundred and Nine Thousand Two Hundred and Fifty Dollars.

And whereas the amount of existing debt of the said municipality inclusive of the amount due the Municipal Loan Fund is the sum of One Hundred and Seventy-one Thousand Dollars (exclusive of a contingent liability for the sum of One Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars by way of a bonus to the Huron and Quebec Railway Company now the Toronto and Ottawa Railway Company which has not yet become a claim) for principal and there is no sum due or in arrears for interest.

And whereas for paying the principal and interest of the debt hereby created it will require an equal annual special rate of Five-thirtieths of a Mill on the Dollar in addition to all other rates to be levied in each year upon all the rateable property of the said Town except such as shall be assessed to or to the name of the supporters of the Roman Catholic Separate School of the said Town.

Be it therefore enacted by the Corporation

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 26, 1877.

Venner's cool dip, eh!

Counterfeit twenty-five cent pieces are getting numerous.

The small boy now yearns for hayseed apples and the cello.

Our Boat Club is not showing up much in the way of races this year.

Bush fires have done considerable damage in the neighborhood of Norwood.

The Golden-Eye is doing a rushing business with excursionists and excursions.

Strikes.—There is a rumor of a strike on the Midland grain unless wages are paid up.

Be careful how you drink ice-water. It is very apt to give a man an everlasting coolness.

Canal.—In Toronto $4, in Cobourg $4.50 in Port Hope $5. The P. H. Times asks: Why is this thus?

Teachers.—Twenty candidate have been successful in obtaining 3rd class certificates at the late examinations in the County of Durham.

Fashionable Young Men do not consider their attire complete unless a small Japanese fan can be seen peeping out of their coat pocket.

Cricket Match.—A cricket match will be played to-morrow between the second eleven of Peterborough and the second eleven of Norwood, at the latter place.

Fresh Cases of enormous length are rapidly coming into fashion and young men will run imminent danger of dislocating their back bones in trying to reach their coat-tail pockets.

Fruit Store.—Bailey Bro. fruit store. Fresh confectionary, oranges, lemons, dates, nuts, and candies of every kind, canned goods of every description, etc., All fruit in season. 24-7

The Opera House.—The Holman Company played "Genevieve De Brabant" here on Friday evening last to a fair audience. The play was satisfactorily performed and was well received.

The By-law granting $30,000 to the Toronto and Ottawa Railway was carried in Manvers on Friday last by a majority of 28. What do the opponents of the road in Port Hope now think?

Removed.—H. LeBrun will remove next week to the store formerly occupied by Mr. F. Lemay, where he will keep constantly on hand a first-class stock of everything usually found in a gent's furnishing establishment.

The Temperance Men of this town and County will be called upon in a short time to aid in submitting the Dunkin Act in both Municipalities. We understand that a public meeting of those friendly to it will be called in a few days.

Central Exhibition.—The prize list for this exhibition, which will be held in Lindsay on October 2nd, 3rd, and 4th, has been received. There will be $3,300 offered in premiums. The prize list has been printed in the office of the Lindsay Warder.

Photography.—By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that Mr. North has arrived in town, and is doing a good business. Those in want of a first-class photograph should not fail to call at Mr. Smith's rooms, and they will be suited.

It is thought that perhaps the reason the potatoes are doing so well this season is because the Paris Green has been so basely adulterated that the bugs in their efforts to distinguish between the real and imitation have had little time to bestow on the vines.

Tangible Evidence.—A western newspaper has improved on the original plan, and now says: "No communication will be published in this paper unless accompanied by the full name of the writer and a $5 bill; these are not requested for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith."

Examinations.—The papers of the candidates for third-class certificates in this County have not yet been all examined. About 45 have obtained the requisite marks in Arithmetic, Geographic, English Gramma. and Composition. Perhaps about this number may be expected to be successful.

In Otonabee township, near Keene, lives a family of four brothers named Macfarlane, of whom the eldest, Duncan, stands 6 feet 7 inches; two brothers, Peter and Alexander, are between 6 feet 2 inches and 6 feet 3 inches in height; while Donald is something over 6 feet. How is that for high?

The death of Thomas McBurney, Esq., long a citizen of Peterborough, took place at Millbrook yesterday, at the residence of his son-in-law, Rev. Mr. Scott. Mr. McBurney was a highly respected citizen, and an active member of the Methodist Church. His remains will be interred to-day, here.

Got Their Reward.—Young Valoise, who was found guilty of stealing flour from the Otonabee Mills, Ashburnham, on Friday last, was sentenced to six months in the Central Prison, and Newall, who was charged with housebreaking and assisting Mrs. Curtin, has also received six months in the same place.

Refrigerators.—Mr. H. Best has just imported several very nice articles in this line. Any one requiring such an article should call and see Mr. Best's, as they are both useful and ornamental. He has also some handsome gratings for fire places, which parties who are erecting comfortable residences should not fail to see.

New Fresh Groceries.—Mr. Morrow (late W. Harty & Co.) begs to intimate that he has received a large quantity of prime sugars, especially selected for the preserving season, and comprising all the popular grades; these will be sold at especially low rates. Parties about preserving are requested to call and look at samples.

Cricket.—A cricket match was played on Thursday last, on the cricket ground Ashburnham, between the Lindsay and Peterborough Clubs, which resulted in a victory for the latter with one innings and thirty runs to spare. The ladies take quite an interest in the game this season, and at every match quite a number of the fair sex may be seen in the ladies stand.

Counterfeits.—Good imitations of the four-dollar Dominion Bank bills are in circulation, they are very skilfully executed, and will almost defy detection by a non-expert. The only differences between the genuine and the forgery is the latter is slightly more greenish in tinge, and the name in the left hand corner. "R. H Holland." is lithographed instead of being signed.

We perceive that the avowedly Tory Warder, of Lindsay, has "lain in" with the professedly Independent Times of Peterboro'. "Birds of a feather flock together," and even when decked in borrowed plumes, the Jackdaw could not pass for a peacock among those, who knew what a peacock was, the poor birds strut was unmistakeable; and so it is with the pretended independence of the third paper of Peterborough.

Water Works.—As will be seen by our advertising columns, the Town Council have submitted a by-law to be voted on by the ratepayers, on Tuesday, t t of August, to raise by way of debentures the sum of $30,000 for the construction of a system of Water Works in the Town of Peterborough. We ask the ratepayers to read it carefully and see if the town can afford to erect Water Works this season. We will refer to the matter in our next issue more fully.

Banking in Toronto.—The Dunkin Act [illegible] Toronto is being carried forward with [illegible] Bank bills are continued [illegible]

The Bobcaygeon Bridges.—A committee of the Lindsay County Council composed of the Warden and Messrs. Fell and Naylor, appointed to act in conjunction with a committee from the County Council of Peterborough met at Bobcaygeon on Tuesday evening. The Peterboro' committee consisted of the Warden Clerk and Treasurer, County Engineer and Messrs. Miller and Sandeman. It was decided to repair the the Big Bob bridge by putting in a boat, and to complete Little Bob bridge, on condition that Mr. Boyd puts in a swing, if not the bridge would be closed. The proportion of expense to be borne by each county was easily settled.

Tidy Wild.—The Cobourg Sentinel, in giving an account of an excursion from Cobourg to Hastings, contains the following:—"Across the bay from Harwood to the east is 'Tidy Wild,' a delightful picturesque spot which has lately been purchased by that very enterprising gentleman, Mr. H. Calcutt, of Peterborough, and upon which he is about to build a Summer Hotel for the accommodation of tourists, pic-nic parties, &c. Tidy Wild does not show to good advantage from Harwood, but once landed upon its shooting banks you cannot but appreciate one of the loveliest spots on far-famed Rice Lake. Mr. Calcutt's line of steamers—the Whittle-Wing and Golden-Eye—ply between Peterborough, Harwood and Hastings, calling each alternate day at Gore's Landing. Our good citizens of Cobourg cannot be so well aware of the picturesque beauty of this route as they ought to be or it would be more liberally patronized by them. The run down the Otonabee from Peterborough is the most delightfully varied and picturesque one can well imagine, whilst the calm beauty of Rice Lake with numerous islands nestling upon its bosom like Naiads guarding its sacred precinct inspire one with poetic flights of fancy but seldom experienced by the most fervid imagination. The azure tint of the clear sky being scarcely discernable from the slight ripple on the placid waters, and the waving fields of golden grain under the soft mellow glow of the noonday sun contrasting with the rich green of the surrounding woodland—all go to make up a real living panorama, on all sides as we pass through Rice Lake, that it would be difficult if not impossible even to conjure up in the imagination. Why, then, should we go abroad to revel in the glories of Nature's scenery when she has so lavishly bestowed those gifts at our own doors? Perhaps this going abroad for recreation and pleasure is after all more in name than in the real enjoyment it affords."

Oddfellow's Excursion and Pic-Nic to "Tidy Wild." on Thursday next.

MUSICAL COUNTY EXCURSION.—On Thursday last there was an excursion given under the auspices of the above society. The steamer "Golden-Eye" was engaged for the occasion. Notwithstanding the inclement state of the weather, early in the afternoon a large number of persons took advantage of the trip. The boat left the wharf at half-past two o'clock p.m. From the happy faces beaming with pleasure on every side we should judge that the excursion was an enjoyable one. The scenery was the subject of much admiration. After the passengers had delayed a short time in that delightful retreat known as "Tidy Wild," they returned to the "Golden-Eye," which then started homewards. On the return trip the Musical Society gave an orchestral recital, comprising several classical and modern musical selections. Prof. Heathfield played the accompaniments on the Society's Chickering Piano in his usual fine style. The performance was much enjoyed. Dancing formed part of the evenings enjoyment. On the whole the excursion was most delightful and successful. The manner in which the arrangements were carried out reflects equal credit on the Musical Society on the one hand, and Mr. Calcutt on the other. All expressed themselves as highly pleased with the afternoons enjoyment. The boat returned home about 11 p.m.

THURSDAY EXCURSION TO MOUNT JULIEN.

By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that the Midland Railway and the proprietors of the steamer "Chippawa" have made arrangements to continue during the summer the very popular Thursday excursions to Mount Julian at the very low fare of 70 cents for the round trip from Peterborough. Now when the huckleberry season is approaching, no doubt but that a large number will avail themselves of the opportunity of visiting that part of the county, and especially Mount Julien. Tuesdays and Fridays the steamer may be engaged for excursion parties by addressing box 15, Lakefield.

ODDFELLOW'S EXCURSION.—In answer to a largely signed requisition from the leading business men of the town, the Mayor has been pleased to appoint Thursday, the second of August next, as a civic holiday. Taking advantage of this, the Oddfellows intend having an excursion on the "Golden-Eye" to "Tidy Wild." The boat will leave the wharf at 8 o'clock a.m. on the arrival of the train conveying the brethren from Lindsay and Millbrook. On reaching Harwood the brethren from Cobourg will join the party. Arrangements have been made for the due checking of all baskets of refreshments given in charge of the Committee of Management, so that parties can be sure that their provisions are looked after. The prices of the tickets are as follows: Ladies tickets 50 cents, Gent's tickets 75 cents, double tickets $1. Inasmuch as extensive arrangements are in preparation for the pleasure of excursionists, those who intend going may rest assured that they will enjoy themselves. A palace scow will be attached to accommodate the devotes of Terpsichore. Prof. Freeman's Quadrille Band will be in attendance.

BAPTIST EXCURSION.—The annual excursion in connection with the Baptist Church of this town was held on Friday last, at "Tidy Wild," Rice Lake. The popular steamer "Golden Eye" convered about 300 passengers to that lovely place, where a very pleasant time was spent until after the arrival of the boat from Hastings. Some games were engaged in and this with the singing added much ot the pleasure of those on board.

Your Committee recommend that no proceeding may be taken on behalf of the Corporation in the case of Haggart v. Doran.

In the case of Mr. Sawers who applied for exemption from taxes for a number of years on a proposed woolen mills, your committee have not had sufficient information before them to warrant any recommendation to the council.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

THOS. CAHILL,
Chairman.

OLD BURYING GROUND.

On motion a memorial to the Lieut-Governor-General in reference to getting the old burying ground for a park was read a first, second and third time and passed.

DEBENTURES FOR SCHOOL PURPOSES.

On motion a By-law for the issuing of $4,500 for Debentures for school purposes in the erection of a ward school in the west of the town was read a first and second time, and the clerk was authorised to publish the by-law according to law.

WATER WORKS.

On motion a by-law to authorise the construction of water works in the town of Peterboro, the proposed cost to be $47,500 was read a first and second time and the clerk was authorised to publish the by-law according to law.

MIDLAND RAILWAY STATION.

The clerk read the following motion which was passed at a public meeting of the ratepayers held on Thursday evening last, to assist the Midland Railway to erect a station and freight buildings.

"Moved by Mr. Cox, seconded by Mr. Hilliard,—That in the opinion of this meeting, the town of Peterboro should aid the Midland Railway Company in erecting a handsome and commodious Passenger Station and Freight House at Peterboro, and to this end this meeting recommend the council to appropriate of the moneys overdue by the Company to this Town the sum of four thousand dollars, to be credited to the Company so soon as they have erected a (Brick) Passenger Station according to Belcher's plan submitted to this meeting, or one equally commodious and handsome, and a suitable Freight House, and when the balance due by the Company to the Town, after deducting the said $4000, shall have been paid up; it being understood that all moneys payable by the Company for compound interest under the existing arrangement between the Company and Town form part of the said $4,000, and it is recommended that the Council stipulate that only local labor shall be employed on the works, and that the Station be erected this year."

Mr. Smith moved the first reading of a By-law in accordance with the motion passed by the Public Meeting.

Mr. McWilliams moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. Elder,—That this Council deem it inexpedient to grant any sum of money to aid and assist the Midland Railway Company in re-building the Station in the Town of Peterborough, (destroyed by fire,) by a vote of the Council without first submitting the same to a vote of the people; and that before a by-law is submitted to the people the Company shall deposit an amount sufficient to cover the expenses.

Moved in amendment to the amendment, seconded by Mr. Rountree,—That the first reading of the By-law be left over till the next meeting of the Council so as to give those who are opposed to the grant an opportunity of putting in their protest.

A vote being taken on the amendment, to the amendment, the following is the standing vote:

Yeas—Messrs. Millar, Dumble, McWilliams, Rountree, Elder and Yelland.

Nays—Messrs. Cahill, McBain, Haggart, Smith, Hamilton and Baptie.

On a vote of the Council being taken in amendment to the original motion the following was the vote.

Nays—Messrs. McBain, Baptie, Hamilton, Smith, Cahill and Haggart.

Yeas—Messrs. Elder, McWilliams, Rountree, Millar and Yelland.

The original motion was then carried.

Mr. Elder in opposing the first reading of the By-lay, said that it being an important By-law, it should receive due consideration from this Council, and so far as a new station is concerned there is not one of us who would object to having a fine large commodious station which would meet the growing requirements of the M. R. R., and would be of great convenience to the citizens of the town generally. If the station was built according to the plans submitted to the public meeting on Thursday night. It was a great wonder then that the Company did not build such a station long ere this, considering the liberality extended by the town to the Company when building the road, when money was hard to procure, the town they succeeded in procuring the money and handed down to the M. R. R., the sum. of $120,000 the condition of which was fully explained by gentlemen at the meeting on Thursday night, and it would be unnecessary for him to go into the particulars of the same. Mr. Hugel said in addressing the meeting that Peterborough was the largest and best town that the railway went through, and that he had a very large business from Peterborough, and for that reason he would like them to give him $5,000 to assist him in building a handsome station in accordance with the town. He further stated that so far as the indebtedness existing between the Company and the corporation they were paying this indebtedness as fast as could reasonably be expected, that they did fall short last January some $12,000 was well known, but since then he was glad to say that the business of the Company was very much increased, and that the road was in very good condition, and they had already this year paid to the Commissioners about $4,000 on their indebtedness and would in time pay every dollar that they owe the corporation. Mr. E. said there is no doubt but that the money due the town is well secured. Mr. Stevenson had substantiated this statement and he was sure that the Council would take Mr. Stevenson as an authority he being chairman of the Town Trust Commissioners. He (Mr. S) stated at the meeting on Thursday night that the security was first class, it being the first mortgage on the road, and if the Company refused paying we could compel them to pay up any time the council desired. The reason that the town did not press their claims was owing to depression in trade which not only affected the Midland Railway, but all the Railways in the Province. Now does it not seem ridiculous on our part in the face of all this to vote away $5,000 of the people's money just because they simply ask us to do so. My opinion is that the Midland Railway is better able to build a suitable station for themselves than the corporation is able to build it for them. They are extending the road and paying their indebtedness hourly out of the earnings of the road, and what is the corporation doing? Voting away the means of increasing their liabilities, and the result of this is easy to be seen, that the people of the town will be burdened with taxes to meet the interest of their money. This is my reason for opposing the [illegible] dollar, and in all probability this year it would be 14 or 15 mills, and if this extravagance goes on it is hard to say what the taxes of this town will be in a few years. Considering the short time we have been the guardians of the people, and a Council who have got their existence on the strength of economy, we have voted away $10,000 of the peoples money, and exempted from taxes the Auburn woolen mills for 10 years which is equal to another $19,000. $20,000 is a large amount to be disposed of in less than seven months for which the town has no return, but must be made up by increased taxation, without ever submitting either of the amounts to the people to give them an opportunity of voting yea or nay on the matter. If this kind of proceedings be continued many of our citizens will be leaving the town, and taking refuge in towns where taxes are lower, and the affairs of the corporation are managed with an eye more to economy. He concluded his remarks by making a strong appeal to the Council to submit a by-law to the ratepayers to be voted on, which could be submitted with the other by-laws passed to-night, and the expense would be trifling as the vote could be taken the same day and with same returning officers, and this short delay would not inconvenience the Midland Railway as they had now a better station than they ever had before.

Mr. Smith then moved that the Council go into Committee of the Whole on the second reading of the By-law, Mr. Elder in the chair, when the By-law was read a second time and blanks filled in that the Station should cost $12,000.

Moved by Mr. Smith, seconded by Mr. Haggart,—That the By-law be read a third time and passed.

On a vote being taken the By-law was passed, but not read a third time, owing to their being a little excitement over some of the Councillors resigning.

RESIGNATIONS.

Mr. McWilliams handed in his resignation and, in doing so, said that he thought when the Council was elected for 1877 that it was composed of men who would be independent of outside rings, but having found out since that the same clique that had controlled previous Councils were influencing certain members of the present Council, and that on several instances members of this Council who have taken strong positions upon questions coming before the Council even to canvas some other members of the Council to support their views would change round and speak and vote on the opposite side. Whether this was done from pressure or for want of stability, he would not say; but, however it could be seen that these gentlemen were either not using their own judgment or were not qualified to form an opinion, and he did not wish to sit at the Council Board with gentlemen who could not be depended upon to use their own judgment upon questions of importance coming before the Council.

Mr. Elder also handed in his resignation and said that in tendering his resignation he done so from conscientious motives. He said he came to this Council on the strength of economy, and I find it impossible for me to use my influence in that direction on account of men in Council representing outsiders, who have neither any regard for their word or a view to economy.

On motion the Council did not accept the resignations, but gave them two weeks to consider the matter.

WATERING STREETS.

Moved by Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. Haggart,—That Mr. Delaney be paid $50 on account for supplying water for the watering of the streets.—Carried.

The Council then adjourned for two weeks.

WATER WORKS AGAIN.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

DEAR SIR,—The old song says:

"Paddy Bryant was a Gintleman,
Of very great big knowledge, sir!"

and may not the same be said in reference to the gentleman who wields the mighty influence of the Peterborough Review. Should any doubt this, I have only to point them to the philippics lately delivered by him on the Peterborough Water Works, and to the homilies we are favored with on the same subject from week to week in the columns of the aforesaid Review.

In last week's issue he waxes immoderably wroth, because his long-cherished scheme for self aggrandisement is in danger of being thwarted by the opposition of so obscure an individual as myself.

Had I, like Councillor Dumble, abandoned my position, and humbly taken my place at the beck of the Review, in the ranks of "the leading citizens," "the representative men of the town," drummed up by the partizans of "the patent combination" pet scheme, I, like the said Councillor would have been "the white-headed boy." But believing as I do that the scheme inaugurated by the Messrs. Review, Dumble & Co, is detrimental to the best interests of the town—calculated to squander a large amount of money for which we should have no equivalent—and that a more effective system can be procured at a much less expense—I am constrained even at the risk of incurring the displeasure of the mighty man of the Review to oppose a scheme fraught with so disastrous consequences to our best interests, and to denounce as extravagant the course proposed by men who seem to have no regard for the interest of the ratepayers, and who care not what amount of the public money they squander so long as it subserves their own private ends, and their own selfish and ambitious designs.

The Review charges me with "selfishness and sophistry," but does not attempt to show in what respect I am more selfish than the gentlemen on the other side of the question. What he charges as selfishness in me is liberality and benevolence when found in the Review and his friends.

He makes no attempt beyond his "ipse dixit" to expose my "sophistry and false logic," nor to show wherein my arguments are at fault. He prefers making insinuations which may mean anything or nothing—and assassin like stabs in the dark, hoping to gull the ratepayers by raising false issues so as to cover the real motives prompting the gentlemen who support his scheme. What interest is it to the ratepayers to be told that my motives are selfish—providing the information costs them fifteen or twenty thousand dollars of squandered money. The question of most importance to them is how to get the most effective water service at the least expense—and not what motives actuate the advocates of either scheme.

Were I to follow the example of the "Review," I would not require any microscopic aid to discover motives, not the most worthy, and certainly not so full of benevolence as the "Review" would have the public believe when he demands the thanks of the ratepayers for the men—and he is one of them—whose "exertions in promoting and maturing the scheme" have placed the town under such a debt of gratitude.

Did I charge the Review with ambitious motives because under the proposed scheme he aspires to become "The Commissioner"—I would only do what was done before when the consideration of the question occupied the attention of our citizens—for it was then generally admitted that the proprietor of the Review was prospectively the self nominated commissioner.

Did I charge him with forcing upon the town a scheme, which to make it complete would necessarily entail an expenditure for sewerage and drainage, not less than the present estimate for the proposed works! and did I suggest that when brick making seems to be profitable, a certain establishment in which the Review is largely interested might readily be converted into a factory to supply some like [illegible] only chimerical, "It is just as well that the public and the Review should know," that such things are surmised. But I forbear—the foregoing being quite sufficient to convince the most sceptical ratepayer that there are other motives than those of philanthropy and benevolence actuating the Review.

The Review charges me still further with being opposed to Water Works, and that my whole ground of opposition, is because the Hilliard site has been chosen. This is not correct—for I am not opposed to Water Works, no matter what site is selected—providing, it can be shown that they are the most effective and at the least expense. The "Review" is therefore guilty, of making the statement gratuitously, knowing it to be untrue.

My proposition is a system of Water Works for fire purposes only, at present, but in laying down the mains to have respect to the future requirements of the town, both for fire and domestic service. This I would propose, to secure for the town at the lowest possible cost to make it effective and this is just the question I desired to have discussed before the ratepayers, and from which the partisans of the "Review's" scheme shrank, when they refused to lay the report before a public meeting to be called by the Mayor, choosing rather to subject the town to the expense of a By-law in hopes of carrying their scheme without discussion, and knowing that the merits of the two schemes are such that the ratepayers would give the one they favor but, short, shrift, it fairly laid before them.

The statement of one of the most prominent supporters of the scheme, in reply to my urgent demand for the report to be laid before the ratepayers without incurring the expense of a By-law, was, "what would they (the ratepayers) know about it even if laid before them." Thus gratuitously insulting the intelligence of the ratepayers, and treating them as a parcel of ignoramuses, not worthy of being consulted in the transaction of their own business, or the expenditure of their own money. An insult which the ratepayers will not be slow to resent.

And now permit me to say a word as to the costs of the two schemes. According to the report of the Committee, it will only cost $11,000 more from the Hilliard site, than from the Dickson. This is but a small matter in the eyes of the economists. But when the Committee put the difference at $11,000 we may safely add 50 per cent for "contingencies" and then have less than the actual difference.

The distance from the Hilliard site to the point where the first distribution of water takes place, as estimated by the committee, is 6,834 feet. This space they propose to traverse with a 12 inch main—the cost of which, per foot, for the pipe, only, is $1.40 per foot. Add to this the lead and laying, and you have an expenditure for pipe, alone, before you distribute any water, over $10,000; while from the Dickson site to the point of distribution does not exceed 500 feet. This laid with a 12 inch main, at the same rate would only cost $750.00; and this is all the 12 inch main required from the latter place. Now it is not denied that the Dickson water power is at least as good as the Hilliard power in every respect, and yet the supporters of the scheme, in the face of such facts, expect the ratepayers to submit to such a useless and extravagant expenditure, simply to gratify the whim of a few "original thinkers," banded together to carry out their plans in opposition to all reason and common sense. The above is only one item of difference in the two sites, but from this one the ratepayers may learn what to expect, should they allow themselves to be duped into the adoption of the schene so urgently supported by the "Review" and his associates.

Time and space will not permit me to review the whole scheme in detail; but it may be necessary at some future time to consider it more fully.

To counteract the sinister attack of the "Review," I will state in a few words my proposition in committee;—"Let the section of the Town proposed to be protected by the works be mapped out. The character of the work to be performed with the dimensions of pipes to be laid specified, and let it then be determined where the "most effective service" can be had at the "least expense." Lay the scheme before the ratepayers, and I am willing to abide by their decision. I proposed further that if the Council guaranteed that the Dickson property east of Water street should be exempted from the water tax I would at once withdraw my opposition and allow them to proceed with their work without any molestation from me. And yet I am charged by the "Review" with being opposed to Water Works, wholly because the Dickson site was not chosen. Surely on rejection even the "Review" will be ashamed of his base calumny.

In closing, I would say to the "Review," Be careful in future to scan closely the principles and motives governing your own actions, and never attribute to your neighbour motives which are so evidently the guiding star of your every act.

"Oh! wad some power the gittie gie us.
To see oursels as ithers see us;
It would frae many a blunder frae us,
And illy notion."

Yours, &c.,

G. T. H.

WATER WORKS.

To the Editor of the Examiner

SIR,—The question of Water Works is now before the people for their consideration. Mr. Hilliard and Mr. Hazlitt both agree to give water for fire purposes free, but for domestic purposes they expect a good rent annually. Now sir, it does appear to me, and to some other ratepayers, that these men are liberal with what is not theirs. Neither of those gentlemen possess the water. They can only claim the right to use it. They have not right to diver it from its proper course except so far as they can use it for machinery on their own property. What right for instance has Mr. Hilliard to rent or sell 2,000,000 gallons daily from the Martin Mills or Hall property? or what right has Mr. Hazlitt to sell or rent an equal amount from the Roger property? You, sir, will agree with me I think that these gentlemen have no such right. They have only the use for themselves on their own property, and for a Board of Water Commissioners to pay them one cent for water would be robbing the citizens to enrich those gentlemen.

But, sir, Mr. A. Smith will give water for all purposes free, the right to do so to be settled afterwards. The additional pipe needed to go to his property would be less than one mile, and would cost less than $6,000. The interest on this is just $360 a year; will Mr. Hilliard or Mr. Hazlitt make an equal offer? To be independent of any of them the town has the right to take the water. (See Act.) A water privilege a few rods above Mr. Hilliard's can be secured for about $2000, $3000 more will construct a dam; the head will be 20 feet or so higher than those now talked of, and the cost will be only about $7,500 (pipe and all) more than to Mr. Hilliard's property, and then water for all purposes can be obtained (abundant and free) for ever. Why should this be lost sight of? The Reservoir on Mr. Hilliard's hill will only be a few feet higher than the water power referred to, for the height of Hilliard's hill will be by less 40 to 45 feet by the construction of the reservoir.

The proposed reservoir is to be 70 feet across, a square 70x70x6½ will equal the gals. in one foot of surface or 3062 in one foot of surface: 1000,000 divided by 3062 (supposing the reservoir of uniform size and depth which it will not) the depth of the pit must be 32 feet, you may add at least one-third of this to itself which will give 45 feet. Now 107 less 45 equals 63 feet for the height of the water, just 20 feet lower than the Scrithtown Hill and 13 ft. or so lower than the Court House hill. These are questions that should now be understood and settled before one cent shall be voted to be squandered away by either the Council or Commissioners.

A LECTURE

TO YOUNG MEN!

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay clearly demonstrates, from thirty years successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED SPRUCE GUM,

—FOR—

Coughs, Colds, Bronchial and all Throat Affections.

The Gum which exudes from the Red Spruce tree is, without doubt, the most valuable native Gum for Medicinal purposes.

Its remprkable power in relieving certain severe forms of Bronchitis, and its almost specific effect in curing obstinate hacking Coughs, is now well known to the public at large. In this Syrup (carefully prepared at low temperature) containing a large quantity of the finest picked Gum in complete solution, all the Tonic Expectorant, Balsamac and Anti-Spasmodic effects of the Red Spruce Gum are fully preserved. For sale at all Drug Stores. Price, 25 cents per bottle.

WHAT THEY SAY OF IT? A FEW FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.—There are but few preparations of medicines which have withstood the fine partial judgment of the people for any great length of time. One of these is Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil. Read the following and be convinced:—Thos. Robinson, Farnham Centre, P. Q., writes, "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for the last ten years, and have tried many remedies without any relief, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and since then have had no attack of it. I would recommend it to all."—J. H. Earl, Hotel Keeper, West Shefford, P. Q., writes, "I have been troubled with liver complaint for several years, and have tried different medicines with little or no benefit, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which gave me immediate relief, and I would say that I have used it since with the best effect. No one should be without it. I have tried it on my horses in cases of cuts, wounds, etc., and think it is equally as good for horse as for man."—A. Maybee Merchant, Warkworth, writes, "I have sold some hundreds of bottles of Eclectric Oil, and it is pronounced by the public, 'one of the best medicines they have ever used;' it has done wonders in healing and relieving pain, sore throats, etc., and is worthy of the green eat confidence."—Joseph Rusan, Township Percy writes, "I persuaded to try Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lame knee which troubled me for three or four years, and I never found anything like it for curing lameness. It is a great public benefit."—A. M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes, "For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which annoyed me very much. Mr. Maybee of this place induced me to try Eclectric Oil, and before one bottle was used I was cured. It is a most remarkable medicine. Sold by all medicine dealers Price, 25 cents.

ELECTRICITY.

Thomas' Excelsior Electric Oil.

Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold—Pain cannot stay where it is used.

It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured Bronchitis. Fifty cents' worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures catarrh, asthma, and croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. It cures swelled neck, tumors, rheumatism, neuralgia, contraction, of the muscles, stiff joints, spinal difficulties, and pain and soreness in any part, no matter where it may be, nor from what cause it may arise, it always does you good. Twenty-five cents worth has cured bad cases of chronic and bloody dysentery. One tea-spoonful cures colic in 15 minutes. It will cure any case of piles that it is possible to cure. Six or eight applications is warranted to cure any case of excoriated nipples or inflamed breast. For bruises, if applied, often and bound up, there is never the slightest discoloration to the skin. It stops the pain of a burn as soon as applied. Cures frosted feet, boils, warts, and corns, and wounds of every description on man or beast.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.—Ask for Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. See that the signature of S. N. Thomas is on the wrapper, and the names of Northrop & Lyman are blown in the bottle, and take no other. Sold by all medicine dealers. Price, 25 cts. NORTHROP & LYMAN, Toronto, Ont., Proprietors for the Dominion.

NOTE—Eclectric—Selected and Electrised.

The Most Valuable Gift—Restoration of the Health.

During the past ten years the proprietor of the Great Shoshonees Remedy has faithfully redeemed every promise and guarantee made to the public over his signature. Alarming and apparently hopeless cases of Lung Diseases, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Afflictions of the Kidney and Chronic Complaints of every description, including Scrofula and Skin Diseases of life-long duration, have been permanently removed and eradicated. Those who volunteered their testimony to the efficacy of the Remedy are not bogus people in unhead-of localities of foreign status, but respectable citizens of this Dominion, easy of access and open to question, upon whose verbal recommendations we are willing to test the reputation of the Great Shoshonees Remedy. If you are afflicted do not delay until medicine may be powerless to aid you. No injurious effects can possibly follow the use of these Indian Remedies, as they contain no minerals, by which the fate of the invalid is so often sealed under the form of some temporary sedative or stimulant. These Indian Remedies are widely known and still possess the public confidence after the lapse of sufficient time to test their efficacy.

The Shoshonees Vegetable Sugar Coated Pills have won for themselves the most favorable reputation of any pill before the public. Their efficacy has been fully proved as a remedy for Biliousness, Sick Headache, and inactivities of the stomach. Price of the Remedy in plain bottles $1; Pills 25 cts. a box.

A WONDERFUL REFORM IN FANNING MILLS.

Farmers wanting to purchase a First Class Fanning Mill should call on

MINORGAN & ELLIOTT

AND GET ONE OF THEIR

"FARMERS FRIEND."

They are the best and cheapest Fanning Mills in the Market, and clean from 60 to 100 bush. of Wheat, ready for the market, in an hour, and does not throw the large grain into the tailings. We have received a large number of Testimonials from different Farmers in the County who have used our Mills. They will speak for themselves:—

Greystock P.O., Otonabee, Mar. 12, 1877.—
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—This is to certify that I have given the "Farmers Friend" Mill a fair trial, and have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion it is one of the best Mills now in use for cleaning grain for seed, or market.
Yours etc.,
J. SMITHSON.

Otonabee, March 21, 1877.
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—This is to certify that I have given your "Farmers Friend" Mill a fair trial, and have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion it is one of the best Mills now in use for cleaning grain for seed or market.
Yours etc.,
J. REDMOND.

Balsam Grove, Peterboro, March 13, 1877.
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—I have tested your "Farmers Friend" Mill and find that it works well, taking out all dirt and small seeds out of grain and making a good clean article for sale. I am sure that your machine will give good satisfaction among the farmers, that is if they want to take good clean grain to market, and get five cents per bushel more for it.
Yours etc.,
J. H. WALTON.

Smith, 5th March, 1877.
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—I take pleasure in recommending the "Farmers Friend" as being the best Mill I have ever had, and I have had several of what was called the Best Makes in Ontario.
JAS. ELLIOTT.

Peterboro, March 8th, 1877.
This is to certify that we have tested Moore & Minorgan's Mill and pronounce it to be the best we have ever seen cleaning, and it is the best Seperator we have ever seen.

VOLUME XXII. THE PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER, THURSDAY, AUGUST 2, 1877. NUMBER 31.

A CHAPTER OF [illegible]

The dear little Misses we meet [illegible] in May,
What hopes and what fears [illegible] awaken;
And when a man's taking a Miss [illegible] for a wife,
He is Miss-led as well as Miss [illegible]ken.

I thought, in the warmth of my [illegible]passion,
That I'd made a great hit, in pr[illegible] a Miss,
But, 'twas only a Miss-calcu[illegible]

For so many Misses surrounded [illegible]Miss Kidd,
With me and my love interfe[illegible]
A jealous Miss-trust put it into [illegible] head,
That she ought not to give mor[illegible]hearing.
There's a certain Miss-chance that I met with one day,
Who bear sent my hopes to destruction,
For she had a suspicion of all I might say,
And all owing to one Miss-conception.

Deceived by a Miss-information I wrote,
The cause of her anger demanding;
Miss-direction prevented her ge[illegible] my note,
And introduced Miss-understanding.
When to make her my wife I ce[illegible]tingly swore
Miss-take made her double my [illegible]ntention;
And I nearly got wed to Miss-fo[illegible]une, before
I could wash her from Miss-apprehension.

But when she no longer would yield to Miss-doubt,
Nor be led by Miss-representation,
She had with Miss-like a serious fall out,
And to wed felt no more hesitation.
But when at the church to be mar[illegible]ed we went
Miss-take made her the parson's finger,
And I was so annoyed by an awkward Miss-fit,
I could not get the ring on her finger.

Having been so Miss-led, I kept a strict watch,
Though I still lived in fear of Miss-carriage;
I found out, too late, that unlucky Miss-match
Interfered with the joys of our marriage.
Miss-rule in our dwelling made everything wrong,
Miss-management there took her station,
Till my cash like the time I take writing my song,
Was all wasted by Miss-application.

ELAM'S ADVENTURE.

(From the Argosy)

'Can't you tell us some of your adventures?' I asked of my friend Elam, who had returned from his many years' travels in the bush and other outlandish places, and was sitting with me and my wife. And, though absent so long, he was, so to say, a young man yet.

'Adventures? Well, I have had plenty. Rough ones some of them.

'Please, tell us one,' chimed in Mary.

Elam laughed. 'I can tell you of a curious one that I met with in the mountains.'

'O, yes; do. What mountains?'

'In California; up in one of its wild districts.'

'That will be the very thing.'

'Well,' said Elam, running his tapering fingers through his hair and smiling at my wife. 'I'll soften down things in the telling as well as my blunt speech and uncivilized modes of thought will allow of, and you must excuse the rest.'

'Oh, I'll excuse anything. Please begin.'

'When I started from home to settle in unfrequented districts,' began Elam, 'I set up a theory that no young man should ask a woman to marry him until he had prepared a home for her. It is surprising how much you begin to think of a wife over yonder, arising, I suppose, from the extreme lonliness of one's existence. I was no exception. The land I took up was in the Rogue River Valley, and after I had got it a bit ship-shape I worked away with that object in view—to bring home a wife.

'But, Elam, had you selected a wife?' I asked.

'No. I intended to do that as soon as I could, though you may say I was fully young to begin to think of it. I worked on and was pretty successful. I built me a house, got a considerable quantity of stacks, made a flower-garden for my wife; even put up the pegs and nails she would want to hang her dresses on. I intended that same Autumn to get on my horse ride through the Wallamet Valley, find me my wife, marry her, and bring her home.

At the notion of courting in that off-hand style, we laughed a little. Elam laughed too, as if the recollection pleased him.

'You think it strange I see. It was not so strange over there in those days, where girls were as scarce as angels. There was not a girl within forty miles of me; and I assure you that the very thought of one, as I drove in those nails for her garments to hang on, went through me like a thrill. You don't believe? Go out yourself, and try it.'

'But I do believe.'

'I had about two hundred and fifty head of cattle, a good house, with a garden, a young orchard, vegetables growing, sweet-scented flowers—all in readiness for the wife I hoped to bring home to bless me and take care of this, my possession. And what do you think happened to it?'

We could not tell.

'There came such a plague of grasshoppers upon the valley that everything perished. Crops, orchards, flowers, grass, every green and delightful and promising thing; the grasshoppers destroyed all. You remember the second chapter of Joel?'

I nodded.

'The land is as the garden of Eden before them, and behind them a desolate wilderness. I was ruined. My stock died; at least the greater portion; they had nothing to feed upon. Yes it was complete and absolute ruin.'

Elam paused a moment, mentally looking at the past.

'I considered myself disappointed in love, too,' he resumed in the daintest of tones. 'Though I had not yet been out to find my girl. I knew she was somewhere in the other valley waiting for me; and when the greedy grasshoppers ate up everything, I felt that I had been jilted. It actually gives me pang now to think of those useless pegs on which my imagination had so often seen a girl's pink cotton dress and a white sun-bonnet.'

Elam gave a great sigh. He was an eccentric fellow.

'I became misanthropic; said to myself that between fate and the grasshoppers I had been used hardly. Packing up my books and a few other traps, I bade adieu to the Rogue River Valley forever, and started for the mountains. It was a longish journey, as I had to drive before me the stock I had left. There, in the mountains, I settled down again, built myself a fort, and played hermit. No jilting girls should come near me now.'

'A fort?'

'A regular fort. A stockade eighteen feet high, with an embankment four feet high around it, and a strong gate in the middle. My tent was in the midst of the inclosure, with my books and household goods, fire-arms and all the rest of my property stowed away in it.'

'Were you afraid of the Indians?'

'Indians and white men. Yes, I saw a good many Indians at first within the range of my rifle. They learned to keep away from my fort, finding it did not pay to attempt to invade it. Down in the valley below there was some mining camps; and you perhaps know what some of the hangers-on of such camps are. I sold beef—that is, heads of cattle—to the miners; and as I had sometimes a tidy sum of money by me, it was necessary to be careful.'

'What a strange life for a young man. For you, Elam.'

'I herded my cattle, drove them to market, cooked, studied, wrote, and indulged in misanthropy, combined with some rifle practice. By the time that I had entered upon the second Summer in the mountains I felt quite at home and was getting rich. After all the life had its charms. A man cannot quite tire of it when he is but a few years out of his teens.'

'And the girl-wife?'

'I am coming to that. Having had time to forget all my ill-usage, a reaction set in, you see, and I thought, after all, I must ride to the Wallamet to see after my girl. But I was not in the hurry over it that I had been before. This is all very dull, you will say, but there'll be some stir presently.'

'It is not at all dull.'

'One Sunday afternoon—how did I know it was Sunday, you ask? Because I had kept a count of the days all along; kept my diary regularly. One Sunday afternoon I was sitting outside writing, when a shadow fell across the paper; and, looking up, there stood a skeleton. Accustomed as I was to lonely encounter with strange men of all kinds, my hair stood on end as I stared at the spectre before me. He was the merest boy in years, pretty and delicate by nature, and evidently reduced to the shadowy state by starvation. His story was soon told. He had left Boston on board a vessel bound for the north-west coast, had been wrecked at the mouth of the Umpaqua, and been wandering about the mountains ever since, subsisting on roots and berries.'

'He was—'

'No, I assure you,' interrupted Elam, with an amused look at my wife, 'the boy was not a woman in disguise, if that's what you are thinking. He was just a poor, weak, half-starved lad named Edwards. I fed and nursed him until he was able to work for himself, and then I got Sam Chong Sung to let him take up a claim along side a Chinese camp, promising to favour the Chinaman in a beef contract if he would be good to the boy. I still continued to see a great deal of him.'

'And did Edwards succeed?'

'Yes, he got on. One day two Chinamen stole some of Sam Chong Sung's horses; and he offered four hundred dollars to Edwards if he would go after the thieves and track them. Edwards asked my advice, and I encouraged him to go, telling him where I fancied he would find the men. So he started in pursuit; and I confess I missed him.'

Again Elam paused. We did not interupt him.

'A man came to my fort one day who was naked and starving. He was a bad-looking fellow, very; but you will say a man naturally does look bad when his clothes are nowhere and his bones protrude through their skin. I clothed him, fed him, cared for him kindly until he was able to travel, and then he went away. The next Sunday I was sitting outside my fort, as customary on that leisure day, reading some translations from the Greek poets—for I dare say you remember I could never make much of Greek itself—when, chancing to look off my book, I beheld a vision.'

'A what?'

'A vision. A vision of a lovely woman. And I can tell you I should as soon have expected to see a vision there as a woman. I had seen neither for a year or two. She was riding up the approach to my fort on a fine horse; riding gracefully and very slowly, as if to give me time to get over my surprise, and I believe I needed it. The picture she made is in my mind now; I see the very flicker of the shadow and the sunlight across the road and the glitter of some steel that fastened her horse's trappings as he arched his neck in impatience of her restraining hand. Are you tired, old friend?'

'Never less so in my life.'

'You see I had been alone so long: and I think I must be susceptible. That vision, breaking in suddenly, as it did, upon my solitude, gave me the queerest sensations. I was just spell-bound. Not so she. Reining in her horse at my gate, she squared round on her saddle and looked at me, silently asking my assistance to dismount. I helped her down—what else could I do?—and then, at her request gently preferred, went to put up and feed her horse. Had she dropped from the clouds? I did not know.'

'Well?'

'If you'll believe me, when I returned in doors, my guest had got her habit off. Evidently she intended to make herself at home. A tall, young, beautiful, well-dressed woman! Just a goddess she looked to me. Her eyes were large, black, and melting, her hair was grand, her manner easy. She was hungry, she said; would I give her something to eat? And while I was making preparations to give her of my best, she read aloud one of the Greek translations, an ode to Diana, commenting upon it herself. That she was a woman of culture and education, whatever might have brought her to her present strange position, was obvious. 'Well, now,' continued Elam, 'you can guess whether a young man, isolated on the mountains, ruined by grasshoppers, and jilted by the girl of the Wallamen Valley, was bewildered or not. Entertaining goddesses was not in my line.

How long did she stay?'

'Wait a bit. What with reading and eating our acquaintance improved fast. She offered." to sing a song, and gave me Kate Kearney.' I might have lost my head to her, perhaps, to my nothing of my heart, but for a certain inward latent doubt. I did not care that my girl should ride about elegantly attired, on prancing horses, and drop down unexpectedly upon her mate. Still it was a pleasant feeling to find oneself near her, and certainly a novel one. I asked her her history, and she told it to me. She was of a good New-England family, reared in affluence, well educated and accomplished. But by a freak of fortune she became reduced to poverty and to be an exile from home—'

'What was the freak of fortune, Elam?'

'Ah, what indeed! The old story, I suppose; but I did not ask her. She had made her way to California, resolved to get on and get money—and she had got it. She went about from camp to camp of the miners and others with stationary and various articles needed by them, sold them these things wrote letters for them, sang to them, nursed them when sick, and carried their letters express to San Francisco to be posted. For all these services she received large payment—money is not much valued, you know, over here—and she had also had a good deal of rough gold given to her as specimens. Did she like that kind of life, I asked her, so contrary to her early habits, and she answered me quickly: It is not what we choose that we do in this world, but what Fate chooses for us. I have made a competency, and gained a rich and varied experience. Life may not be what I once pictured it would be, But I am content.' She sighed as she said it, and I didn't believe in the 'content.'"

'But what had brought her to you that day?'

'She had not told me herself then. Presently I asked her why she came to see me. I never shall forget the smile with which she turned

The Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, AUGUST 2, 1877.

THE WATER WORKS QUESTION.

There has already been considerable discussion of the Water Works question, and the letters that have appeared in THE EXAMINER and other papers of the town show the great interest taken in the proposition embodied in the Water Works By-law to be submitted on the 21st Inst. Much controversy has been indulged in over a comparison of sites, and accusations and counter-accusations of interested motives have been cast back and forth. When we find such accusations so warmly taken up to the almost entire exclusion of more rational argumentation a strong suspicion arises that there must be something in them. This growth into more than a suspicion when we examine the history of the present scheme. Note the way in which it was led up to step by step, as if premeditately, and také into consideration certain little matters in which, to say the least, the public were not as fairly dealt with as possible We shall not go back of the present year, in which a Committee of the Council was appointed to consider this Water Works matter. That committee in time brought in a report the most noticeable feature of which is the number of long quotations made plainly for the purpose of strengthening one particular view. Indeed the whole report, instead of being a record of facts elicited by the personal examination of the members of the committee, starts out with the plain intention of arguing in favour of having a reservoir, continues with an evident desire to prove a position assumed, and ends with extolling the advantages of a particular site. There is scarce a reference to even the disadvantages of other sites mentioned. They are dismissed with very scant courtesy indeed; and more than the space in the report that would have sufficed for their description is taken up, not with what the committee found, but with what certain persons in Kingston, Toronto, and even in Brooklyn, N. Y., said against the system of direct supply to the pipes. The whole report in its construction and tone bears witness to its having been the work of men who had arrived at a decision in some way they could not clearly explain, and who therefore laboured throughout to justify their position. In short it is more of an apology than a report of an examining committee.

The refusal to lay the report before a public meeting, that the many important matters omitted from it might be discussed, was scarcely the way to treat the people who, it was pretended, were about the same time consulted in reference to only a $4,000 grant. There is some reason for such inconsistency. There is by this action of the Council and the Committee little or no opportunity left for an intelligent discussion of the relative merits of one location at an expenditure of $50,000, another at a cost of $11,000 less, or of the Lakefield project with all its expense. The Committee's report actually contains no data on which the public may judge of anything. Why is this?

Again in the framing of the By-law public intelligence has been quietly ignored. It proposes to be drawn in accordance with the provisions of 37 Vic., Cap. 78, and probably it is so far as it goes.—But that is not very far. The By-law plainly provides that the proposed Water Works be constructed (we quote the preamble) "by and through the agency of Commissioners as therein provided,"—therein meaning 37 Vic, Cap. 78. But that act also provides for the construction of the works by the town directly or by a company, and provides that the qualified electors by their votes may decide as to which of the three modes of construction shall be adopted. Why should not the people be given an opportunity of so judging, instead of being forced by the present By-law to decide for Water Works with commission barnacles or against Water Works altogether? The people surely have a right to complain that they have not been fairly dealt with in these matters.

The history of cities in which the construction of Water Works has been entrusted to Commissioners is such as to make it prudent for the people of Peterborough to forego Water Works for a time rather than follow the example of Toronto and St. Catharines, in both of which places the first estimates have been enormously exceeded, and then the works are not yet finished. Transactions other than honest have been in both these cities said at the door of their Water Commissioners; and we do not think that human nature is more proof against such temptation in Peterborough than elsewhere. Especially should the electors of this town guard against throwing temptation in the way of those who have already acted in the suspicious manner we have pointed out. It may be safely said that where jobbery is easily possible, there jobbery will exist; and when a large work is managed by the Town Council, and but two were outside of it, there is generally no very hard work required to get these two to act with the Council and the Council with them.

But after all that has been left unsaid of others, and all that has been said by the committee in favor of the site approved in their report, it appears that the great desideratum spoken of—pressure from a reservoir—is not going to be obtained from Hilliard's Hill sufficiently to carry the water over the whole town. Indeed if the computation made by "Economy" in last week's EXAMINER be true, comparatively little of the town will have pressure from hydrants sufficient to throw a stream in case of fire. "Economy" calculates that the effective power of the proposed reservoir will be twenty feet lower than Smithtown Hill, and thirteen feet lower than Court House Hill; and it will be readily understood that pressure sufficient to throw a stream over a building can only be obtained at points considerably below the level of the reservoir. At this rate the fire engines and all the paraphernalia of the fire brigade, with men and horses will still have to be kept up, with the additional expense, (no light one either) of keeping up a comparatively useless system of water works. The people of this town will do well to ponder these matters well, and wait for a better time and a better explained scheme before voting away $50,000 on a mere enigma. There has been too much money voted foolishly, and the taxes are already too high to allow of the ratepayers spending $50,000 on mere toy water works. Mine and wisdom will aptly come unto organization just now.

THE EXTREME OF SLANDER.

It is not long since a contemporary, the Kingston Whig, we think, in referring to the multiplicity of absurd and slanderous charges brought by the Tory press against Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, in a joking way remarked that it was waiting for some of the Opposition scandal makers to charge him with murder. It had not long to wait. The murder charge has come. The London Herald has declared "that the real murderer of poor Hackett is Alexander Mackenzie, the Premier of the Dominion"—and how does this precious paper of a precious Opposition try to sustain its precious charge? By further declaring that the Premier "refused him [Hackett] that protection to which every British subject is entitled." The attempt thus to argue its point shows that the slanderous sheet made the absurd accusation deliberately, and with an earnest purpose to cast, if possible, some opprobrium on Mr. Mackenzie. To the credit of the press this disgraceful exhibit has been promptly condemned by papers of the same party to which belongs that which made it. The Ottawa Citizen and Kingston News, solicitous no doubt for the honour of their party and let us hope for that of the Premier of the Dominion at once rebuked the disreputable attempt to add so utterly base and unscrupulous a charge to the heap of lesser slanders—but equally foundationless ones—already thrown at the head of Mr. Mackenzie.—This was too utterly absurd and low a charge to let pass as one among the others; and so those papers which have formerly repeated other base insinuations and accusations of the London Herald against the Ministers of the Dominion and other Reformers are now repudiating all sympathy with its latest effort, to which it has been encouraged by former notice given it by journals of some respectability.

We trust that this extreme will be the turning point which will lead Conservative papers, and some Reform ones too, back from the course of petty slander they have been so long pursuing, to the injury of their party and the reputation of the Dominion. Such lengths as this practice has been carried may well cause serious consideration as to how a remedy can be applied; and those Conservative journals which have denounced the conduct of the London Herald by that condemnation suggest the cure. It is utterly useless for Reform journals to rebuke the slanders of the Conservative press, or for Conservative papers to condemn imputations against the personal honour of members of their party which may appear in Reform journals—further indeed than to prevent any appearance of tacit admission by silence. But when Conservative condemns the practice in Conservative, and Reformer in Reformer, then we may hope for some cessation of the nuisance. That the disgrace to journalism, if not danger to Canadian interests generally, has reached such a stage as to require even an heroic remedy if necessary, is plainly seen in the fact that even this latest and most absurd charge has met with the commendation of Conservative journals which have hitherto stood somewhat above the London Herald. Thus the Toronto Leader, which is generally considered so staid as to be eminently respectable, if not otherwise highly thought of, says "the London Herald puts the saddle on the right horse with respect to the murder of Hackett." We do not wonder much at the Herald, for we were ready to expect an infamy from it; but of the Leader we did expect better things. It is surely high time, when papers of two cities have so degenerated, that the vice of slander through the press be sternly rebuked by papers of the same party as the offending journal; and time too that such rebukes be encouraged, rather than discouraged, as we have sometimes seen them, by an attempt to make political capital out of any slight disagreement of a paper with another of the same party.

A JOURNALISTIC FIRE-BRAND.

Last week we referred to the Montreal True Witness as a stirrer-up of strife between Roman Catholics and Orangemen. We were then willing to give it the benefit of the thought that its remarks were the result of a mere passing excitement on the part of the person who conducts it, the more so as the extravagant language indulged in showed that there was considerably less of reason than rancour in its utterances on what it called the "Great Question," viz: the permitting of the Orangemen to walk in Montreal.

In its last week's issue it repeats its recommendation that the Orangemen shall be prevented from ever again marching in procession in that city. It directly appeals to the passions of the Catholic population, and plainly advocates mob law when it says:—

"We have God and the law of the land upon our side, and every Catholic in the country, French Canadian and Irish, will, we are sure, stand ready as one man to uphold authority against all the law breakers in this land. But passive sympathy is of no use to such an organization as the Catholic Union—it should receive active assistance. It should be able to muster 5,000 men in twelve months hence. Let not the Catholics of Montreal flatter themselves that they stand where they ought. They have been outflanked and humiliated, and it is time they opened their eyes to the fact. We ask them to think and not for themselves, but to no man—but for the people with one their own destiny."

And as if the above were not a plain enough appeal to popular prejudice, then comes after it the following:—

"The Catholics of Montreal are quite able to take care of themselves, and more, they are determined to do it. They are resolved to give the Orangemen a touch of that experience which the Ulster fanatics inflicted upon the Catholic people of Ireland. We want peace, but it shall not be at the sacrifice of honour."

Throughout the article there are absurd references to the Orangemen as a body "sworn to destroy our faith"; and they are also spoken of as "ragged footpads," and as being "recruited from the lowest dregs of society." Thus both parties are in a direct manner aggravated by references only too well calculated to create an antagonism. This intemperate and plainly unreasoning and particularly mischievous language would not be worth noticing, and indeed would be better unnoticed, did not the True Witness occupy the position of a representative paper, more's the pity. But when it is known as a journal published for the Catholics, of Montreal more particularly, we can readily see the danger of allowing the statements to go unchallanged, though it is indeed hard to tell whether that would be worse than discussing them warmly.

All through the last received article of the True Witness there runs a basis of an appeal to the law; and a Lower Canadian Statute of 1860 is quoted as a something which makes Orangeism illegal in that Province. We have read the Statute, and cannot see how it can include Orangeism among bodies in which oaths are administered "to bind any person to commit any treason or murder, or any felony punishable with death—or to engage in any seditious, rebellious or treasonable purpose—or to disturb the public peace."—Probably the person who wrote the article in the True Witness imagines that the Orange Association is a body of some such character as indicated in the above-quoted words of the statute; but he should make himself acquainted with its objects and scope before he uses such dangerously denunciatory terms regarding it.—Surely he should have read a copy of the Orange Constitution before attempting to talk so concerning the Society. But truly "fools rush in where angels fear to tread"; and we feel confident that any angel would fear to walk in the course the Editor of the True Witness seems to have laid out for himself. The absurdity of his position is very palpable when it is considered that while talking of a presumedly legal aspect of the matter he still continues to appeal to the prejudices and sectarian bitterness of the people whom he addresses. If, as is stated, there be a Statute to meet the case in the manner desired by the True Witness, would not the reasonable course be to base an action on that Statute and test the question in a legal, constitutional and peaceful manner? In such a way all hard language, all bids toward bigotry, and all firing of the Celtic heart would be avoided. That the True Witness does not recommend this course, while it gives a basis for its adoption is pretty sure proof that it has been writing for buncombe, and with a desire to please the mob through bitter prejudice, rather than to talk rationally as to sensible and moderate men.

"The local Tory lyre" thinks it has just got us through our declaration that the members of the Presbyterian Assembly when discussing the Macdonnell case "did not know what they were talking about." It evidently desires to make Presbyterians believe that we intended to be offensive in so saying. We are perfectly willing that the expression be judged along with the context; and following out the same argument we used when we made the statement, we would just as readily make it to-day. If there be any Presbyterians who are determined to separate the particular phrase from the adjoining language which fully explains it, and who will have it that we intended to represent them as lacking in intelligence, we cannot prevent their so thinking and acting. Indeed we shall concede their own estimation of themselves. What the appearance of the word "also" in reference to the Porte has to do with the matter we can't understand. A very natural slip in a hastily penned paragraph does not weaken the force of the reasoning that may appear in the same paper at an altogether different time, and referring to an entirely different subject. The fact that our eager critic can find no bigger, better, and more important matters on which to base his censure is of itself proof either that THE EXAMINER's references to the questions of the day have been generally sound and unassailable, or that the critic's mental vision is microscopic that he can deal only in pithy points. That the latter is probably the case is evidenced by the care with which he tells his readers "a new patch on an old pair of pants fancies itself the most important part of the whole garment." Now the discovery of such phenomenon could only have been the result of a very great amount of patient research, in a small way. It may be a very important thing to know that such a patch has fancies, and what its fancies are. Anyway it is sufficiently strange as to be interesting; but till it is established by two or three credible witnesses we cannot but have doubts upon the matter, particularly as we are likened to that new patch. It is quite evident that more than members of the Presbyterian general assembly "did not know what they were talking about;" and it is equally evident that THE EXAMINER is not the only newspaper language that can be rent here and there with the sharp edge of criticism. For instance a caviller could have lots of fun over the editorial page of "the local Tory lyre" if he did but care to indulge in the undignified task of picking out portions to criticise caustically. Unhappily our "conceited prig" is too conceited to stoop to such small things; and he objects to anyone else going far in that line either. We must preserve our dignity, if only for the credit of the press of the town.

OTTAWA talks of organizing an anti-national and religious procession society.

WE notice a paragraph in a number of our exchanges declaring that, Mr. Hugel has received advices of the shipment of a large quantity of steel rails, and that they will be used on the main line between Port Hope and Millbrook, and on the extension to Midland. We have no doubt that a promise could now be got from Mr. Hugel to lay steel rails on the Peterboro' branch. It could be carried out in the way the promise to Orillia of aid to the Atherly Road was fulfilled—by forgetting all about it. It has not yet been stated where the steel rails have been shipped, from whom they have been bought, and by whom. If by the Midland Railway Company, why can it not build a station at Peterboro' without begging for a rebate to help its credit.

THE "strikes" are dying out.

BOSTON set a noble example of charity and generosity in extending aid to the St. John sufferers. Contributions from that city almost reached $50,000.

His excellency the GOVERNOR-General, accompanied by the countess of Dufferin and suite, left Ottawa on Tuesday en route for Manitoba.

Capt. Simmonds, of the Ottawa River steamer Queen Victoria, was presented at Ottawa on Tuesday with an address, a gold medal, and a purse of $300, in recognition of his conduct in connection with the Papal Zouave difficulty on the 2nd of July.

TENNESSEE would be a good country for Tories to live in. A bill of indictment recently found against a councilman in one of the towns of that State for bribe-taking was quashed on the ground that "it is not a crime against the State for an alderman of a city to accept a bribe for his vote."

THE Campbellford Herald says:—A few weeks ago we learned that a peaceful settlement of affairs in connection with the Grand Junction road would be effected. Now another cloud of a sombre nature apparently overshadoweth the enterprise. We learn that work has been suspended, and the workmen paid up, and discharged. So much for this amateur railroad association. We suppose an additional legal despoliation has sprung into existence, and another bonus will be wanted shortly.

REFERRING to the late bonus granted in Ontario County to the Toronto and Ottawa Railway, the Perth Expositor says:—"It is time that action was being taken in the Southern Group By-lay, in this County. The people are willing to vote the money, and are anxious for the road. The promoters of the road should be on the move with their petitions. The Committee of Citizens, and the Railway Committee of the Town Council are responsible in the matter that a move should be made, and they will find the farmers ready to assist in taking a lead also.

IN reference to the Mail's laudation of Sir John Macdonald, and its attempt at comparison of the fallen chieftain with Mr. Mackenzie (in which it has been followed by the Peterborough "lyre"), the Bruce Reporter has the following:—"Perhaps the Mail may find difficulty in discovering along Mr. Mackenzie's career such remarkable instances of oral indiarubberism as the following: Sir John with uplifted eyes and hands 'wished to God he could catch Riel,' after having given out of the public purse money to pay his expenses out of reach of justice. The same anti-Ananias, in his place in the House, solemnly called heaven to witness 'that neither by thought, deed or action had he been guilty of what—was known as the Pacific Scandal,' and on the strength of such profession, doubtless repeated to himself, His Excellency was led to affirm the innocence of his adviser in his despatch to the Colonial Secretary. Let the Mail put such professions alongside of the admissions afterwards made, and along side the verdict of the country, and then let the Mail repeat assevera-tions of Sir John's reliability. And until in Mr. Mackenzie's career such wanton trifling with truth is found, it were better not to portray the purity of the fallen chief by way of comparison."

With almost the single exception of Pennsylvania quiet has been generally restored in the Northern and Western States. Here and there the strikers are still in force, notably at Evansville, Ind., and Columbus. In the Pennsylvania mining region the out-look is bad. An engine and other railroad property near Pittston has been burnt by the rioters, thereby putting a stop to the shipment of coal by the Pennsylvania railroad. Traffic has been resumed at Scranton but there is much distress among the poor and considerable lawlessness; and at Wilkesbarre 2,500 miners have struck for a twenty-five per cent increase of wages. In the South the strike epidemic appears to be spreading. There have been serious troubles at Keyser, W. Va., where seven freight trains have been stopped and some of them wrecked by the rioters, who also threaten to blow up a tunnel and destroy a trestle bridge. However trains were expected to run in this district in a day or two. At St. Louis all is quiet again, and the strike on the Texas Pacific has terminated. At New Orleans apprehensions of trouble are entertained, and the troops have been ordered under arms; and at Galveston a strike exists among the coloured labourers, the cause for which they themselves seem to be unable to explain. Trouble has also occured on the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal and is imminent in the Maryland mining districts.

OUR dear friend of the Review in speaking of our account for town printing not being rendered according to contract, doubtless is speaking from experience on this question, and recommends: "the proprietor of the EXAMINER, as he appears to be anxious to keep down our taxes, to adhere, in making out his accounts against the council, to his contract, and not as he has in several instances done, made out accounts at a different and higher rate, the particulars of which we will hereafter give should we deem it necessary and advisable to do so." All we can say is: go in "Old Man," as we are prepared to discuss the question of accounts per contract with you any time you so desire. We are very sorry that you are not a candidate as commissioner for the water works, as you would then have an opportunity of washing your hands of these things, as it is, the day is a long way off when you can hold up your hands and say: "these hands are clean," in town or county accounts. As you are anxious to commence the business of discussing our town account, as per bills rendered, we will leave you to deal with our town account, and we will take up your town and county accounts for the past ten years, and if we can't make you wish that you had erected another chimney on that brick establishment to perspire in, it is because we cannot lay our hands on the accounts that have been presented and paid by both councils. Now, whenever you are ready, go on.

Early on Tuesday morning a fire broke out at Hull, opposite Ottawa, sweeping three acres of ground and destroying property to the value of $40,000. Incendiaries are believed to have been at work.

OUT of one hundred coin petitors for admission as students for the Royal Academy School of Art, Mr. F. Hayward, of Port Hope, Ont., is one of the seventeen whose drawings have been accepted.

Some of our smart exchanges are making merry over what they take to be a big joke on the Orange body. They declare that the Battle of the Boyne did not take place on the 12th of July at all, but on the 1st, and that the celebration is nowadays nearly two weeks out of time. Will these same smart people try to learn somethings of the matters on which they attempt to write. If they will only get somebody to teach them the difference between dates as computed by the Old Style and the New Style, then they may begin to see what fools they have made of themselves; and probably they will then admit that the Orangemen know what they are about after all, as far at least as the time to celebrate the Boyne anniversary is concerned. After that they might try their hand on determining on what day Christmas should be celebrated.

TOWN COUNCIL.

Special Session.

The Council met in special session on Monday evening. Present, His Worship the Mayor, and Messrs. Cahill, Millar, Dumble, Baptie, McBain, Smith, Yolland and Rountree.

SUBJECT OF MEETING.

The Mayor said that as one of the Assessors, (Mr. Cameron), had handed in his resignation owing to other business, and as there was to be a meeting of the Finance Committee, he deemed it desirable to call a meeting of the Council as the time, according to By-law, to have the Roll completed was getting very short; but the Council need not take up the general business if they did not think proper.

Mr. Dumble said that as there was no necessity for a meeting on Monday evening next he thought they had better take up the general business, which was agreed upon.

MINUTES CONFIRMED.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Charles Cameron tendering his resignation as Assessor.—Received.

From A. Walker asking the situation as Superintendent of the proposed Water Works.—Received.

From Joseph Wright, Chairman of the Consolidation Committee of the Toronto Council, stating that he had forwarded a copy of the By-laws of the city of Toronto as consolidated, to the clerk of the town. —Received.

RESIGNATIONS ACCEPTED.

Moved by Mr. Baptie, seconded by Mr. Millar,—That the resignations of Messrs. McWilliams and Elder be accepted.

Councillors Dumble and Cahill thought that the motion had better be laid over till the next meeting.

Councillor Baptie could not see any necessity of waiting as they had told him that they would not again sit in council, but withdrew his motion so as to give them a chance to come off."

ASSESSMENT BY-LAW.

On motion of Councillor Smith the Council went into Committee of the Whole,—Mr. Millar in the chair,—on the first reading of the By-law amending the former Assessment By-law.

Mr. Smith moved that the Blanks be filled in with the sum of $175, the amount that was divided among the three previous assessors.

Mr. Dumble was of the opinion that $150 was a sufficient increase, as the the assessors would be able to do the greater part of the work in the office, and moved, seconded by Mr. Yolland,—That the Blanks be filled in with $150.

Mr. McBain thought that Mr. Rowe should receive a little more than Mr. McGrath, and moved in amendment to the amendment, seconded by Mr. Baptie, —That Mr. Rowe be paid $175 and Mr. McGrath $125.

Mr. Rountree said he did not think that it was right to make any distinction between the two assessors.

The three motions were then put and declared lost.

Mr. Baptie moved, seconded by Mr. Cahill,—For a reconsideration of the matter, which was carried.

It was then moved by Mr. Baptie, seconded by Mr. McBain,—That the Blanks be filled in with the name of Mr Rowe at a salary of $200.

Moved in amendment by Mr. Smith, seconded by Mr. Rountree,—That the blanks be filled in with the names of Messrs. Rowe and McGrath, their respective salaries to be $175.

Moved in amendment to the amendment by Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. Yelland,—that the blanks be filled in with the sum of $150. The following is the vote:—

Messrs. Dumble, Cahill and Yelland voting for the amendment to the amendment, Messrs. Rountree, Smith, and the mover for the amendment to the motion, Messrs. McBain and Baptie voting for the original motion.

Moved by Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. McBain,—That the matter be reconsidered again.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Smith, seconded by Mr. Rountree,—That the blanks be filled in with $175 each.

Moved in amendment by Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. Yelland,—That the blanks be filled in at $150 each.

Moved in amendment to the amendment by Mr. McBain, seconded by Mr. Baptie,—That Mr. Rowe receive $175, and Mr. McGrath $125. The following is the vote:—

Messrs McBain and Baptie voted for the amendment to the amendment, and Messrs. Smith, Rountree, Baptie, Toole and Millar voted for the motion which was declared carried.

On motion the Committee arose, and the By-law was read a third time giving the Assessors $175 each.

VOTE OF THANKS.

Moved by Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. Smith,—That the Council of the Town of Peterborough acknowledge with thanks the receipt of a handsome volume of By-Laws of the City of Toronto, so gratefully granted to this Council by the Mayor and Corporation of the City of Toronto, and that the Clerk be directed to acknowledge the receipt of the same with thanks, and enclosing a copy of this resolution.—Carried.

On motion the By-Law giving the Midland Railway a rebate of the sum of $4000 was read a third time, as the Council had omitted reading the By-Law a third time at the last meeting.

The Council then adjourned.

CONFESSION IN THE CHURCH.—Sir,—In your usual forcible and vigorous style you have in recent articles pointed out the disgusting immorality which has prevailed among the High Church party in the English Church, regarding the introduction of Confession. It is a bad state of affairs truly. But what I wish to know is this:—suppose a young woman confesses her frailty to the Clergyman of an English Church, and that clergyman publishes her shame to his congregation, what I ask, should be done to him? The law of course, can not be appealed to, but would it be wrong for the people in such a case to take the punishment of the offender into their hands and tar and feather him. Would not that be a proper way to meet the proceedings of those who wish to make Confession common, and who are so hipshot as to pronounce other Churches to be "Debauched."

Truly Yours,
A BAPTIST.

Has the confessional been in operation at the very nose of the Editor of the Independent and he not know it? ED. EX.

By-law No.

A By-law to raise the sum of Four Thousand Dollars for the erection of a Ward School in the Town of Peterborough and to authorize the issue of Debentures for that purpose.

WHEREAS the Board of School Trustees of the Union School of the Town of Peterborough have required the Corporation of the said Town of Peterborough to furnish the sum of Four Thousand Dollars towards defraying the cost of the construction of a Ward School in the Third Ward of said town and it is necessary to issue Debentures for the purpose of raising the said sum.

And whereas by an Act of the Legislature of the Province of Ontario passed in the thirty-ninth year of her Majesty's reign chapter fifty-eight it was enacted that it should be lawful for the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough and the Commissioners of the Peterborough Town Trust to issue Debentures for the sum of Twenty-two Thousand Dollars the proceeds of which Debentures to the amount of Twelve Thousand Dollars should be applied toward defraying the cost of the construction of Ward Schools in the said Town or in redeeming liabilities already incurred therefore such Debentures to be issued and redeemable in the manner provided by the Act of the Parliament of the late Province of Canada passed in the Twenty-fourth year of Her Majesty's Reign chaptered sixty-one.

And whereas the said sum of Four Thousand Dollars will not with the sums previously raised under the said Act for school purposes as therein provided exceed the said sum of Twelve Thousand Dollars thereby appropriated towards the construction of such Ward Schools.

And whereas the total amount that will be required to be raised annually by special rate for paying the debt and interest hereby created is the sum of Three Hundred and Sixty Dollars.

And whereas the whole rateable property of the Municipality of the Town of Peterboro' according to the last revised Assessment Roll exclusive of assessments to or in the name of supporters of the Roman Catholic Separate School is the sum of Two Millions Two Hundred and Thirty-one Thousand Seven Hundred and Fifty Four Dollars and with such excepted assessment is the sum of Two Millions five Hundred and Nine Thousand Two Hundred and Fifty Dollars.

And whereas the amount of existing debt of the said municipality inclusive of the amount due the Municipal Loan Fund is the sum of One Hundred and Seventy-one Thousand Dollars (exclusive of a contingent liability for the sum of One Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars by way of a bonus to the Huron and Quebec Railway Company now the Toronto and Ottawa Railway Company which has not yet become a claim) for principal and there is no sum due or in arrears for interest.

And whereas for payment of the principal and interest of the debt hereby created it will require an equal annual special rate of Five-thirtieths of a Mill in the Dollar in addition to all other rates to be levied in each year upon all the rateable property of the said Town except such as shall be assessed to or in the name of the supporters of the Roman Catholic Separate School of the said Town.

Be it therefore enacted by the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same:

1. That it shall and may be lawful for the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough to raise by way of loan for the purposes hereinbefore mentioned the sum of Four thousand five hundred dollars and to issue Debentures of the said town for that purpose.

2. For the purpose aforesaid the Mayor of the said Town of Peterborough the Treasurer of the said Town and the Secretary of the Commissioners of the Peterborough Town Trust may cause to be issued Debentures of the said Town of Peterborough to the amount of Four Thousand Five Hundred Dollars each Debenture to be for a sum of not less than One hundred dollars to be sealed with the seal of the said Corporation and signed by the Mayor of the said Town and countersigned by the Secretary of the said Commissioners and by the Treasurer of the said Town.

3. The said Debentures shall be in the form and be issued and redeemable in the manner pointed out by the said Act passed in the Twenty-fourth year of Her Majesty's Reign chaptered Sixty-one.

4. The said Debentures shall bear interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum payable half-yearly at the office of the Secretary of the said Commissioners on the first days of January and July in each year during the currency thereof,

5. The said Debentures so to be issued as aforesaid shall by the Commissioners of the Peterborough Town Trust be converted into money and the proceeds thereof paid to the Treasurer of the said Town of Peterborough to be applied and disposed of in the manner and for the purpose hereinbefore pointed out and not otherwise.

6. This By-law shall take effect and come into force on the Tenth Day of September One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventy seven

The votes of the Electors of the said Town of Peterborough entitled to vote on this By-law shall be taken on the Twenty-first day of August, A. D., 1877, and in the following places that is to say in each of the Wards of the Town of the places of polling therein respectively at the last Municipal Elections that the poll shall be opened at Nine o'clock in the forenoon and closed at Five o'clock in the afternoon of the same day. That Joseph Lundy shall be Deputy Returning Officer for Ward No. One Charles D. Macdonald shall be Deputy Returning Officer for Ward No. Two, John Irwin shall be Deputy Returning Officer for Ward No. Three William Lee shall be Deputy Returning Officer for Ward No. Four, and that the following persons shall be Poll Clerks for the several Wards that is to say Joseph Buller for the First Ward, E. J. Toker for the Second Ward, Robert Hamilton for the Third Ward and Francis Mason for the Fourth Ward.

8. The Clerk of the Council of the Town of Peterborough shall sum up the number of votes given for and against this By-law at his office in Bradburn's Hall in the said Town of Peterborough on the Twenty-second day of August A. D. 1877 at the hour of Three o'clock in the afternoon.

9 The Twentieth Day of August One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventy-seven at the hour of Ten o'clock in the forenoon at the office of the Town Clerk of the said Town in Bradburn's Hall aforesaid is hereby fixed for the appointment of persons to attend at the various polling places and at the final summing up of the votes by the Clerk respectively on behalf of the persons interested in and promoting or opposing the passage of this By-law respectively.

NOTICE.

Take Notice that the above is a true copy of a proposed By-law which will be taken into consideration by the Council of the Municipality of the Town of Peterborough after one month from the first publication in the EXAMINER Newspaper the date of which first publication was and is the Twenty-sixth Day of July One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventy-seven and that the votes of the electors of the said Municipality will be taken thereon on

Tuesday 21st of August 1877

Commencing at the hour of Nine o'clock in the forenoon and closing at the hour of Five o'clock in the afternoon of the same day and by and before the Returning Officers and Poll Clerks and at the polling places in the said By law mentioned.

CHARLES D. MACDONALD,
Town Clerk.

PETERBOROUGH, AUG. 2, 1877.

Civic Holiday in Peterborough to-day.

"The Irishman in Canada" is abroad in the land.

Pic-Nics are now following one another in quick succession.

An extremely hot August is predicted by the weather wise.

A large number left for Idyl Wild this morning with the Oddfellows excursion.

Mr. W. J. Nesbitt has sold his steam yacht Tiger to Mr. Lillicrap for the sum of $600.00.

Those youths who bathe near the Iron Bridge before sundown should be reprimanded

The Midland Railway have men at work clearing up the ruins of the late fire at the old station.

The Peterborough Oddfellows are to have an excursion to Idyl Wild to-day, a good time is expected.

The 45th Battalion Band of Port Hope will accompany the Oddfellows excursion to Idyl Wild to-day.

Personal.—The Rev. D. J. McDonnell, of Toronto, is at present on a visit to Peterboro' for a few days.

It is a good thing for men to revolve the Water Works question in their minds if they have room enough.

How many people in the town believe that that water works by-law has a ghost of a chance of being carried?

The Firemen have the "Issac Butts" chartered to run an excursion to Campbelltown to-day, leaving the wharf at 8 a.m.

Path Masters should take notice that they are liable to a fine of $20.00, on failing to cut down the Canada Thistles in their division.

The Weather has been extremely warm during the week, notwithstanding that we had several fine showers on Saturday and Sunday.

The George Street grade will be finished in a few days, already it begins to indicate marked improvement in the street northward.

That merchant who doesn't advertise can give the best definition of "Nothing" when he stands all day in his store and looks in his till to find—nothing!

Infant Found.—As we go to press we learn that an inquest is about to be held on the body of an unknown infant, found in the yard adjoining the Huffman House.

"Economize your receipts and decrease your expenditure," is the valuable information sent to those who forward 25 cents in answer to the advertisement "How to become rich."

Grand Lodge I. O. O. F.—The Grand Lodge of the Independent order of Oddfellows met yesterday at Belleville. Mr. R. Elder is the representative of Peterborough Lodge.

Boat Club. There will be a meeting of the Peterborough Boating Club on Monday evening next at 7.30, at the boat house. A large attendance is requested as it is proposed to make arrangements at this meeting for having a regatta this season.

Tire Setting. We would call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of "Tire Setting" upon a new patent system which turns out the work in every way complete; and is consequently of inestimable advantage to parties owning vehicles.

Early Closing.—The watchmakers and jewellers have agreed to close their places of business at six o'clock p. m., every evening, (Saturday excepted) during the month of August. Those concerned would do well to make a note of this.

Friendship Temple. The members of this temple held their first meeting in their new Hall, Cox's Building, over Kemp's drug store. It is a very neat one and finely fitted up, and will be a credit to the temple, and a pleasant place, being in the very centre of the town.

Resumed.—Chief Constable Johnston, who has been away for his summer holidays, returned on Tuesday evening, looking well. He had a good time in general, and we are glad to be able to add that things were quiet during his absence, the citizens having taken his advice leaving them, to be quiet.

Social.—A social will be held at the residence of N. C. Stirland, Esq., Ashburnham, on Tuesday, the 7th instant, commencing at 7 p.m. The proceeds are in aid of the building fund of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham. As this is to be the last one of the season, no pains will be spared to make it a success.

The Wharf.—Large numbers may be seen every evening proceeding to the wharf to welcome the "Golden-Eye." Could not our fathers "Squeeze out" the $2,500 voted for streets and bridges, so as to extend the sidewalk down to the wharf? A few planks will do it. Calcutt's line of steamers are a fixed institution of the town now.

Press Excursion.—Mr. Bell, brother of Dr. Bell of this town, left on Monday, by the Whistle-Wing, via Cobourg, to join the members of the Press in their annual excursion to the Maritime Provinces. Mr. Burke, of the Norwood Register, has also gone to enjoy himself, with the members of the 4th estate. We wish them a pleasant trip.

Excursions.—The season for excursions has arrived and hardly a day passes but some large party of young people, with their parents, are en route for the shady groves. Nearly all the excursions this season are down the river to Idyl Wild, which place is becoming very popular. Games of all kinds on the grounds for the convenience of pic-nic parties.

Cricket.—The second eleven of the Peterborough Cricket Club went to Norwood on Thursday last to play the Norwood club, but owing to the rain in the afternoon the game was not finished. Norwood won the toss and sent Peterborough to the bat, when Messrs. E. Peck and W. A. Stratton made the score of 64; the game was then drawn for the reason above stated.

Accident at Harwood.—A man named William McDaniel, while working with an axe at Harwood on Wednesday morning, was so unfortunate as to inflict a most severe wound on his foot, nearly severing it from the leg. Doctors Wade of Cobourg, and Burnet of Cold Springs were immediately summoned and dressed the wounds. He was then removed on the steamer Whistle-Wing to Peterborough where he resides.—Cobourg Sentinel.

A Warning Voice. An exchange says it is astonishing what an effect is produced by young ladies following the custom of holding the dress with the right hand when walking. They are all becoming lobsided, and if this outrageous custom is continued, in five years every woman in the land will have a crooked spine. It is nothing less than an ungrateful custom, to say the least, and its evil effects are already noticeable in the persons of our young ladies.

Fire Alarm.—On Sunday last, during the hour of morning service in the churches, the alarm of fire was given. For a time it caused consternation in the pews and annoyance to the ministers. It was soon found to be the old McCoddist church, which had ignited from lime which had been left close to it, for building purposes, and which the morning rain had slaked, and the heat generated by the stacking out fire to the woodwork against which it lay. Rating soon in time little harm was done.

Dunbia.—The Dunbia Bill has been carried with immense majorities in the united Counties of Northumberland and Durham. Every polling place in the county (except Warkworth) gave majorities for it. In South Monaghan only one vote was given against it, and that one came from Cavan. No effort was spared to bring out every voter to vote, but would still be allowed to do so there. Cavan gave very few votes against it. Monaghan only 5 or 10 pushing it. The villages gave a few votes against it, but the country

A Grand Rebuke.—Mr. Examiner commences in the last issue of the Review that he will not be a candidate for Water Works Commissioner. This will be a relief to the ratepayers, as not a few of them would look upon his election to that office as instructive of increased expenditure and consequently of increased taxation. It is a pity that he did not add, that he would not in the distant future seek the management of the Water Works. It is the future consequence of present and future extravagance that the ratepayers dread.

Professional.—From a card in another column it will be seen that A. B. Henrigan, Esq., M. D., has commenced the practice of his profession in Peterborough. Dr. Henrigan is well known here, where he distinguished himself in his early studies. He passed very honorably through the medical course at Queen's College, and for a time was assistant in the Kingston Hospital. We trust that his medical skill will receive its reward in receiving a fare share of public favor. His office is next door to R. Kingan's hardware store, on Hunter street.

Caution.—The season is nearly at hand when the digging of potatoes and the pulling up the potato vines become a part of the duty of the farmer and gardiner. At this time a word of caution regarding this labor should be heeded. The use of Paris green throughout the season to destroy potato bugs was necessary, and the plants to a great extent have been covered with it. Persons at work among the vines should be careful not to poison themselves in handling them. The greatest danger appears to be in getting the Paris green into a scratch or cut on the hand. This can easily be avoided by wearing gloves.

Removal.—Mr. LaBrun is having the premises lately occupied by Mr. F. Lemay entirely rebuilt and painted, and intends removing therein as soon as completed. Owing to his large and increasing business, he finds the change necessary. Mr. LaBrun keeps a select stock of the latest styles and best quality of goods in his line. Mr. McGrann, the cutter, is noted for giving neat and good fits, and is always very obliging to his customers. He expects in his new shop to keep a larger stock of gents' furnishings than ever, and hopes that his friends and customers will bestow on him the liberal patronage that they have heretofore given him.

Drowned.—On Tuesday evening a fine boy, son of Mr. Dawe, of about 6 years of age, was drowned in Rogers' mill pond, Ashburnham. He and a small boy, son of Mr. Cope, were going out on the logs in the pond. This young child went out on the logs, and the others left him to compel him to come off himself, for fun. He unfortunately fell in and was not missed till night. Yesterday morning search was made for him, when his body was found in the wheel of the saw mill. Where it must have been for some time, as it was considerably mangled. Our sympathies are with the afflicted mother, her husband at present being in Manitoba, whither he went in the spring. All boys should take warning and forbear to play in such dangerous places, and large boys should prevent mere children —as in this case—from going on logs for fear of danger.

Sunstroke.—Several cases of sunstroke occurred in this vicinity lately, none of which, however, were of a very serious nature. Mr. R. J. Lee, who was out camping on the back lakes, had to be conveyed home and was very ill for a few days but we are glad to be able to state he is fast recovering, and in a few days will be able to go about. The following directions are given by a person who knows, for the benefit of those who are much exposed. Should anyone find that perspiration is suddenly checked, with a stupid, comatose feeling stealing over his faculties, let him immediately retire to the house and proceed, without a moment's delay, as follows: 1st, cool the brain by applying cold clothes to the head. 2nd, stimulate and keep up the circulation. 3rd, restore and promote perspiration; which latter cannot be better done than by drinking several cups of weak tea as hot as can be borne. Many cases of serious sunstroke may be thus averted by prompt and timely attention.

A Little Pleasure.—On Wednesday a number of the young folks of our flourishing sister village of Millbrook had a very pleasant and enjoyable excursion to "Idyl Wild." They got on board the Golden-Eye at Wallace Point, where they were joined by several friends from Peterborough, who had been kindly invited for the purpose of having a days pleasure together. The party numbered about sixty, and, allowing us to be the judges, it is rare indeed where so many really handsome, and at the same time agreeable persons are permitted to join in one excursion. On the way down a delightful view of the river and lake scenery was enjoyed, which with the pleasant and refreshing breezes on the water made the time pass charmingly. At "Idyl Wild" the party felt that an early start and the delightful "sea" breeze had sharpened their appetite and made dinner as enjoyable as even the fairy enchantment of the scenery, or the charming ripple of the lake. After dinner the large company separated into smaller circles, (two constituting the magic circle) and thus arranged they explored Mr. Calcutt's summer retreat, expressed themselves very much pleased with it, praised the taste of its owner, and especially the quiet retreat it affords to whispering lovers, unmolested, to pour their hearts' devotions at the shrine of their fair enchantresses. "Idyl Wild" is really a charming place, beautifully shaded with natural trees, the foliage at present adding both beauty and comfort. The perpetual breeze from the lake moderates the scorching rays of even July suns. The hotel is nicely fitted up with all that tends to make a hotel comfortable and every attention is paid to guests. The grounds are laid out for games and sports, enabling the guy to enjoy themselves, and the serious to provide a retreat from rollicking youth or noisy chatterboxes. After spending a few hours at "Idyl Wild" the party returned to the boat, where they amused themselves till they reached the separating place, where many felt that this was the only place that brought undesired feelings during the day, and "sorry to part" was silently breathed from the inward consciousness of not a few. The day was one of unmingled pleasure the trip was charming as were the associations connected with it. Everything that could produce happiness and let us hope happiness that will not pass away as the morning dew, but that may lead to lasting enjoyment in the full fruition of the noblest desires of the most devoted hearts.

WATER WORKS.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

DEAR SIR,—Will you allow me to present to your readers a few facts and arguments in behalf of Water Works and to reply to your correspondent T. G. H., as far as his statements bear on the subject.

In the history of every town or city in the Dominion, or anywhere else among enlightened people, there comes a period when this question is first agitated, then thoroughly taken up and debated, and finally is carried; and is never revoked. The public mind at once settles down to the conviction that such works are a necessity, and they are accordingly extended and improved as required. Lindsay, Port Hope, Brantford, St Thomas and Sarnia, though all, unless it be Brantford, are smaller than Peterboro', yet each have taken up this matter, and constructed works to their great satisfaction. Barrie deserves special mention; a town of only about 5000 inhabitants taxes itself to the extent of $60,000, for works for fire protection, but the citizens are beginning to use the water for domestic and other purposes to such extent that this their first year the rates will amount to about $1,500. Next year it is expected, that the Works will pay their own way. This is certainly very encouraging. The cities too are extending their works every year. We, so far have done nothing.

NOW IS THE TIME FOR ACTION.

The necessity is admitted by all to be great. The material entering into the construction is immoderately cheap. To-ronto obtains pipes this season for just half what was paid in 1872. Wages are also very low; good workmen are going about the streets anxiously looking for a job. Surely now is the time to invest—sooner or later it must be done. The area of unwholesome wells is widening every year. The dangers from conflagration increase, as the town is being built up. But there is no use in talking further on the question of its necessity, nearly every one admits it. The main question is how shall we proceed? In endeavoring to answer this, local jealousy and personal antipathies are encountered, and are more difficult to dispose of, than the works themselves. The Council have undertaken to solve this problem, in a manner that may satisfy at least the greatest number. They called a meeting of the leading citizens to confer with their committee. The meeting was held, and a resolution passed that Water Works were necessary, and an advisory committee was appointed. Messrs. Geo. A. Cox, Jas. Hall, M. P., R. Romaine, W. Paterson, Jas. Stevenson, Peter Hamilton, John Cornegie, Geo. Hilliard, T. G. Hazlitt, Jas. Stenston, and Chas. Stapleton. These men representing as they do different interests, in different localities, and nearly all large property holders, cannot combine to carve themselves without serving the town; and cannot possibly damage the interests of the town without materially damaging their own interests.

Well this committee met, discussed matters, and on motion of [illegible] seconded by Mr. Hazlitt, appointed a sub-committee, to report on the [illegible] of several different schemes. This sub-committee met—and finally reported adversely to the Dixon estate, and in favor of Hilliard's as the site for the work, and strange to say, Mr. Hazlitt [illegible] about the only objector to the report of this committee of his own appointment. He says this [scheme (of the committee)] is inaugurated by the Review Dumble & Co., when he inaugurated the company. If the finding of his own committee does not satisfy him, what will?

Mr. Hazlitt however, clearly has the right to object if he chooses. He says his opposition is not on account of not getting the works on the Dixon estate, but solely on account of the public good, to save expense, &c. We will accept this and treat it accordingly. He also says that the $11,000, additional expenses to Hilliard's is all for nothing. Now it may be presumed that this sub-committee of Mr. Hazlitt's own choice, did not conclude to make themselves and the public pay $11,000 for nothing. They had good reasons. Without knowing all of them, I shall endeavour to present some that are manifest to any observing, reflecting person

If it was thought advisable for the present and for time to come to have Water Works for fire protection only, never to have a domestic service and never have a reservoir, then we might be served only moderately well by the Dixon estate. The nearest site is that of the old factory The main could be conveniently laid past the end of the race, up Murray st., to George st. But the race in winter is frequently blocked with ice preventing water from coming in to drive scarce anything. The factory has been stopped for days, and in one case for weeks from this cause. Imagine a fire occuring under such conditions, and no reservoir. We would be in the position of having Water Works and not having them. The firemen would enact the farce of pointing a dry nozzle at the fire.

But perhaps Mr. Hazlitt would have the pump house below the breast of the dam, where there is a depth of water and no danger of ice; then it would be between his mills or among the lumber piles, exposed to the greatest chances of fires and flood. When it should be exposed the least of any property in town, as upon it all depends. Compare this with the eligible site for pump house at Hilliard's. There is a bulk head ready for the attachment of the iron flume the building will be entirely isolated, the road is one side and the river on the other, and solid rock for the foundation. Mr. H. puts 500 ft. 12 in., pipes, against 6864 ft. from Hilliard's. Did he calculate the cost of laying that short peice through his race we would like to see the figures. He says there is only 500 ft. to the point of distribution; he must mean the first of those short streets, near the mill, where he would have a hydrant located. If that is the case, I would say on the Committee's scheme, the point of distribution is at the pump house, as there will be one or two hydrants near it, and two or three more between that and George street. Then small pipes on most of the side streets, till we come to McDonell st. the point of general distribution, where the pipe diminishes to 10 in. Mr. H's 500 ft must be extended to this, or at least must come to George st., which will lengthen it to 1400ft.

There is yet one thing more that is offered as an argument against the proposed works. That they will necessarily entail an equal expenditure for sewers. This is not the case. Sewers will be needed no doubt, they are needed now: they will be required more, and be more useful when Water Works are established. The one is a sequence of the other. A good water system and good drainage, make a healthy town. This makes some of the new towns of England, more healthy than the surrounding country. Water Works we must build all at once; sewers we can build street by street as most required. What would be thought of a man who needed a new house, but would not build until he was able to furnish as well. Sensible people should tell him, to build his house, and do it well, then live in it till they can buy new furniture, just what the town will do with Water Works and drainage.

I have not yet given what I suppose to be the reasons why the Committee encountered the additional $11,000.

In the first place water is required not only for fire protection, but now in the centre of the town for all purposes. Therefore it should be as good as can at all conveniently be got. If we take from Dixon's, we drink our share of the sewage between that and Hilliard's, as well as the tons of deleterious and poisonous material from the Auburn. These sources of foulness will be increasing year by year; at the same time there will be an increasing demand for good water. Above Hilliard's dam those causes do not operate. Whatever fouling the river gets will be about counterbalanced by the purifying process, that is going on in every stream.

With a rude filter, and settling reservoir, this water will be good for any purpose, except for cool drinking. Besides, there is my proposal to sink a large basin in the island, in Hilliard's pond, down into the rock: the clay surface soil will serve to keep out surface water; we then can have the same quantity of water that is in the wells on the bank of the river, which will be excellent for every purpose. This proposal is about being tested by the Council.

In regard to the reservoir, Mr. Hilliard offers the site free. There is no site for one at the Dixon estate. I do not consider this reservoir to be an immediate necessity, and I think the Commissioners will take the same view if its construction is only deferred till the works are so far completed as to show their capabilities. However the site should be secured as in the future it may be required. Nothing provides a store of water so effectually and the certainty of water running down hill will always be greater than that of machinery for putting it up.

The park question is up now. Those fine high grounds would make a splendid one. If Mr. Hilliard would be pleased to only extend his munificence just a little farther we would have sites for Water Works, Reservoir, and our Water Works Park all free.

I thank you Mr. Editor for the large space you have allowed me and hope this may promote a just consideration of this important subject.

W. C. TROUT.

ECONOMY NEEDED

To the Editor of the Examiner

SIR:—I see from the last Review, that Mr. Geo. A. Stewart has rushed to the rescue of the Water Works clique. I am willing that he should do so, for without him, and Mr. Dumble they would be in a sad plight. Even the great experimenter requires the assistance of men like Mr. Stewart who has lived long enough and measured heights of water powers, until he measured one of the finest Water powers on the river, to a dead level, and even below a level so far as he is concerned. He is the last man, the present promoters of this mad scheme should bring forward, but there could be no better chosen to prove the folly of placing in their hands the management of one dollar of the money of the ratepayers, until the whole details be determined. And I have only to point out his "cleverness" in the Review to satisfy the people that he is the last man whose advice should be sought, or ought to be pursued.

His first ebullition of science is found in his attempts to prove that I must have intended a 3 in., pipe, if I would carry out my economy in passing by Mr. Hilliard's "duck pond," although, I only intended to point out to the ratepayers the wisdom of looking at all the possible phases of the question, and requested, investigation before committing the Town to the expenditure of $50,000 to $100,000 in a foolish scheme to benefit a few wire-pullers.

I now resign, and am prepared to take figures, (even will embody Mr. Stewart's figures in my calculations) and prove that the way proposed by the present promoters of Water Works is the most costly of any proposed, by at least $30,000, and that it will be the least efficient, although the expenditure will be nearly double what efficient Water Works can be obtained for.

The second display of intellect is in his attempts to prove that the depth of the pit of reservoir would not be 32 feet, when it is carried out. He found, however, when in the middle of his second experiment, that I was correct, but he had not the honesty to acknowledge it, perhaps I am wrong after all, he may not have been honest enough to say so, but did not know what the true depth would be.

I will now propose a question to Mr. Stewart, which he can solve at least viz:—If he were to undergo the same process that my divisor and dividend underwent, i. e., drop a zero off the former, what would the remainder be? would it not be one also?

He is at a loss to know why I took 70 feet for the dimensions of the reservoir. I know, he is at a loss, to know a good many facts, that other men are fully cognisant of, but I will tell him why, I took (not assumed) 70 ft.: that is the number given on Wilson's plans. He does not know why. I add one third of the 32 ft., to that number, and yet says my calculations are wrong. Now, I dare Mr. Stewart to place his figures on paper to show that mine are wrong. He ought to know too, if he knows anything about reservoirs, that the sides are not intended to be perpendicular, at least Mr Dumble says they are not, and if not I may add one half of the 32 ft., to itself and get 48 ft., as the more probable depth of the pit, for pit it will be, and then with the friction of the pipes the effective power will be reduced to acont the level of George street north of Brock street. If I am "quite wrong;" let us take Mr. Stewart's divisor 30,625 and divide it into 1,000,000. Now to shorten his work cut off four zeros and you will have 100 divided by 3, or 33⅓ ft., but the difference was allowed because of cutting off the terminal figures. Mr. Stewart is just simple enough not to know this, or, not honorable enough to acknowledge it. If the former, who will take him as authority, and if the latter who can believe anything he may write on this subject? Is he a paid doctor of this grand attempt to mortgage the town for $100,000, to enrich a few designing men who hope to benefit by the wholesale scramble that is sure to follow. I say mortgage the town for $100,000, and in saying so I am taking the statement of Mr. Dumble the only honest man among them, and he says that $50,000 or $60,000 means $100,000 or $120,000.

The difference of the distances to the Hilliard property and the other places mentioned, I cannot give accurately, yet I am not willing to accept Mr. Stewart's measurements, as he is an influenced witness, but were I to accept his measurement, I am still prepared to prove that the adoption of either of the plans refered to, would be a saving of about $20,000 to the town.

I am also of the opinion, and I think the ratepayers will agree with me, that the man who attempted to prove that I did not give the correct depth for the reservoir, while he knew full well, that my figures were correct, is unworthy of credence in his calculations. His attempt to mislead them in this respect is abundant proof of his desire to do so, and therefore I warn the ratepayers of Peterboro' against accepting any of his calculations, until tested by men whose calculations are not got up in the Review Office.

I would also request the ratepayers to consider this question of Water Works carefully; do not allow your better judgement to be warped by designing men.

True economy in the end will be best served by refusing to vote one cent for Water Works until you know what you are to pay for all the water you may require, not for the present merely but for all time. Do not commit yourselves to men to whom you would not commit the management of your private affairs. If you vote away the first $50,000, the second will have to come also before the end comes.

Mr. Dumble freely and honestly admitted this in Committee; hence to vote this $50,000, means, not one cent less than $100,000. But I will refer to this matter of costs again.

Yours &c.,

ECONOMY.

MORE ABOUT WATER WORKS.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

DEAR SIR,—To be respected men should be consistent—to be believed they should be truthful—and to lend public opinion successfully, they should ever practise what they preach. For no proverb is more generally accepted than: "Precept teacheth, but example draweth." Did the Times and the Review—the self appointed mentors of the public, observe the above rules, and govern themselves accordingly, their self-imposed task would be less onerous than it at present appears to be. The spasmodic throes of the mighty Review, resulting as they usually do in such sterile consequences, strongly recall the old fable of "The mountains in labour"—Montes parturiunt ridiculus mus. And certainly a more ridiculous production than the scheme propounded by our would-be benefactors for furnishing a "plentiful supply of water" to the ratepayers can hardly be conceived. And here I would call attention to the phraseology. In the early discussion of the question great emphasis was laid on a plentiful supply of "pure, wholesome water," but here the exploitives are dispensed with, and we are now to be satisfied with a "plentiful supply of water" without the pure and wholesome properties. That pure water can be obtained by the plan they propose, is not now claimed by the supporters of the scheme, for when in a meeting of committee the question was pressed by Mr. Stratton as to the quality of the water to be furnished, Mr. Romaine, the foster father of the scheme, with others, admitted, that all they could do by filtering it, is to keep out the saw dust and chips or other floating particles, but that filtering could not remove any impurity in solution, in water, and that all they could offer us is merely the water of the Otonabee River, with all its deleterious properties. And yet these are the gentlemen who return to the charge with the same overwhelming argument of "pure and wholesome water for culinary and domestic use", while they know full well that the worst well in Peterborough if properly protected from surface water will furnish a purer and more wholesome water than any found in the Otonabee River, Mr. Hilliard's pure modern "Pearl of Siloam" not excepted. Its adaptability to domestic and culinary purposes cannot therefore be maintained, and the Review in piping the "pure water" cry so persistently, in the face of such admissions, can only be led to do so in hopes of deceiving the ratepayers by a false and disingenuous claim, and his teaching is therefore unworthy of acceptance. But the great and insurmountable argument upon which the Review and the friends of the scheme base their hopes is the Reservoir, and a greater delusion was never attempted to be practised upon our town. For the elevation of the proposed site is so low as to be utterly useless for fire purposes. This is admitted by any engineer who has taken the trouble to ascertain the elevation and compare it with the height of the property to be protected. As to the necessity of a reservoir for domestic service, the experience of such places as Ottawa, Sarnia, Port Hope, and many other towns and cities which have adopted the "Holly System", or the supply by "direct pressure" is a sufficient answer, and a proof that a reservoir is not only unnecessary but superfluous. The reservoir system is not therefore a sine qua non, as the advocates of the scheme would have us believe.

But it is also impracticable because of the immense outlay it necessarily entails. When the gentlemen tell us that they can construct a reservoir capable of supplying the town with water for fire and domestic service for the sum of $4,000 00—as stated in their estimate—but of $3,500 00 as given by the committee, as submitted to the public through the Review—they tell us what few believe; and from what I know of the shrewdness and intelligence of the gentlemen who make the statement it cannot be attributed to their ignorance, for they all know better. The disagreeable conclusion is therefore forced upon us that they must have "jumped" at their estimate without sufficient data, and without due consideration—or that they are wilfully trying to deceive the ratepayers. And yet there were some gentlemen on the committee whom I cannot charge with such unworthy conduct as this would imply.

The Montreal reservoir when finished will cost $300,000, and yet the facilities for constructing such works are greater there than in Peterborough. Should a reservoir be built at all it should at least be sufficient for a population of 10,000 inhabitants, for which at the same rate as Montreal, according to population, we would have to pay the moderate sum of $34,000, or nearly ten times the sum proposed by the committee that gave the matter so much "earnest and painstaking consideration." The gentlemen cannot surely be in earnest when they make such a proposition.

It is argued that "material is cheap," &c. But this argument will apply equally well for the erection of all other kinds of buildings in the town as well as water works Why don't the gentlemen show their consistency in building up their vacant lots? and thereby not only enrich themselves, but in the present dearth of employment furnish work to the unemployed. "This would not only be a great service to the working men," but would furnish proof that these benevolent gentlemen are not only willing to preach philanthropy but to practise it too. Such bursts of [illegible] feeling from the Review, will, no doubt be followed in the light of the history of the [illegible] of the Gas Works in our town, when the [illegible] of the Review, the gentleman who [illegible] imported most of the [illegible] opposite to the [illegible] be fresh in the minds of the [illegible] working men, and will enable them [illegible] of the character of the recent Protestation of benevolence on their behalf.

The argument of the Times that water will run down hill in one or three rare dirceveries occasionally presented to great minds. But notwithstanding, it is, I believe, a fact that a serious loss of head, or diminution of power occurs in forcing water through a pipe or tube where velocity is required as in case of fire. The best authorities place it when a 12 inch pipe is conveying water at the rate of 1000 gals. per minute at twenty-nine feet per mile; so that the loss of head from the Hilliard site, taken at 6864 ft. to where the distribution of water begins, would be nearly 38 ft. Probably the Times will consider this an advantage worth laying a mile and a quarter of 12 in main at the moderate estimate of the committee, say $11,000 additional.

But their scheme is elastic, for it can be extended to suit the future requirements of the town. There is not the least doubt of the elasticity of the scheme. It will stretch under the manipulation of some gentlemen to any dimensions requisite, even to the extent of another Fifty Thousand Dollars, and then only be in its infancy. For does not the Review foreshadow the grief of the scheme in dilating on "the sanitary aspect" "the porous" nature of the "sub-soil," and "the total absence of drainage." Aye, there's the rub! There's nothing like having an eye to business. It is the absolute necessity for drainage, and the necessary ills and piping requisite looming up that "gives enchantment" to the distant water works, and sharpens the longing desires of the Review.

The scheme proposed by those who advocate Water Works for fire purposes only, at present is capable of being extended to suit the requirements of our town to an unlimited extent. In fact its capacity is commensurate with the supply of water in the Otonabee river, so that the elastic scheme possesses no advantage as regards supplying water for fire, domestic or culinary purposes.

But not to trespass further on your space, I would conclude by urging the ratepayers to weigh well the importances of the duty they are called upon to perform on the 21st inst., and to record their votes against the By-law, for if carried they will find a system of recklessness and extravagance initiated for which with all the profligacy of present and past councils they are not at all prepared. Take the experience of Toronto, where some of their best men are to be found in the public service, and where their present system of Water Works cost them more than double the original estimates, and be warned in time to avoid one of the greatest evils that could at present befall our hitherto prosperous and thriving town.

Yours, &c.,

VOX POPULI.

WATER WORKS.

To the Editor of the Peterborough Examiner.

DEAR SIR,—I am sure the importance of a fair and full understanding of the present proposed Water Works will be sufficient excuse for my soliciting space in your columns to that end.

The proposed scheme of Water Works is too costly for our financial position, and population, and should be delayed until proper estimates are ready to be submitted to the people, so that an intelligent vote can be given. The estimates embodied in the By-law now published are incorrect in several particulars. The Town Council cannot secure a scheme such as is set forth by the advocates of Water Works for fire, domestic and private purposes for any such sum. Fifty Thousand Dollars are asked to make a beginning only, when this sum shall be spent, the works will still be incomplete, and in order to prevent the entire loss of the first amount of $50,000, the Commissioners would have to apply to the ratepayers for about as much more. To prevent this second application, and also to prevent the foolish expenditure of a large portion of the first $50,000, it is the duty of those who have to pay the taxes to vote nay, unless some more favorable plan, and at lower estimates be submitted.

At present our taxes are high. We have been told that the rate will be about 15 mills in the dollar, merely to meet running expenses under present and past councils. It is well known that the Town is pledged for $150,000 in aid of the Huron and Ottawa Railway, and if you add another $50,000 to $100,000 for Water Works, the taxes will become oppressive and retard if not put a stop to the progress of the town.

Just look at it fairly. The present rate is to be 15 mills; seven per cent. on $150,000 will require to raise $10,500: and seven per cent. annually on $50,000, but at the end $100,000 for Water Works will amount to about $7,000 annually for ever. I know this will be questioned but I am basing the amount and time on past management of town affairs.

These different amounts will foot up about as follows:—

To meet Present Liabilities	$37,500
" " Interest &c., on $150,000	10,500
" " Water Works	7,000
" " Expenditure for working the latter, say	4,000
A Total of	$59,100

Or in round numbers, say $60,000 a year to be raised in taxes. This would necessitate a rate of at least 24 mills in the dollar, or $24 on every $1,000 of assessed value, and I am satisfied that with other calls that will arise this rate is not over estimated. Are the ratepayers prepared to mortgage their properties for such an amount?

THE FOLLY

of the present scheme consists largely on the proposal to use the River water for culinary and other domestic purposes. Even Mr. Romaine admitted in committee that his proposed filter "would only keep out saw dust and chips." Then what will the dead dogs, cats, hogs and other animals do, the greater part of which is eventually held in solution in the water and cannot be thus taken out? Now who off George Street wants it?

THE COST,

The proposed system is placed at $50,000. (See By-law.) The cost of reservoir, a useless appendage, $4,000, will either be thrown away or trebbled. At present there is no knowing what the water will cost or the rental for the power. Why are these items not made known? There is at least the difference between a main a mile and three-quarters long and a main of one fourth of a mile being unnecessarily thrown away. And these with other savings that could be effected by taking the water nearer the town, will not be less than $20,000 in first construction. Now why should this $20,000 be thrown away to please a few who periodically are affected with a mania for an "abundant supply of water."

WATER WORKS FOR FIRE PURPOSES

can be obtained for about $33,000, namely:—

Main to George Street, (12 inch)	$6864
Main along George Street	6000
Branches as per proposed scheme	2000
Building and Machinery	6000
Hydrants	2000
Extras	2000
Total	$26,864

The only difference is the reservoir, which, by this it will be seen will cost the Town $26,000, taking the $26,000 as the amount to be expended.

The reservoir on any hill near town except on Armour's Hill would be useless for fire purposes. Mr. Hilliard's Hill is 102 feet above intersection of George and Hunter streets, and 97 feet above intersection of George and Dublin street. The effective velocity of any head is just ⅓ of that head (Haswell page 269) friction of an ordinary stream is five feet in a mile. When the velocity increases friction does also. This head reduced would leave the effective force sufficient to raise water to about 11 feet above the intersection of Brock and Water street. What an effective head that would be, let our reader judge.

ANOTHER FACT.

In all the towns in America that I have read of, where water works exist, fire engines are also and the cost and failures of fire companies. Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, Rochester, have expensive fire companies, engines, &c. Therefore nothing would be saved in this respect. Where this we would keep on "abundant supply of water." To this I reply that the trouble in our past history has not been want of water, but want of hose at the beginning of the fires. We have always had an abundance of water, but it could not be applied for want of sufficient hose being put on at first. Hence the abundance of supply would not guarantee us any more safety from fire losses. The supply for lawns and factories should not be a cost on the ratepayers. Although we have grave suspicions that very little would be used for these purposes where an annual tax followed. We have heard of only two persons who say they would use it for these purposes, even if at their doors; and they probably would take about $5 worth in the year. What an income in anticipation? And for the income of $5 the ratepayers are asked to mortgage their property for $50,000 to $100,000.

WHO WILL PAY?

This is the question. By the proposed scheme and the use of hose and engine the whole town is included (see the plans) to Downey street west, and 1000 feet for hose beyond that, over 4 blocks further west. Will not this include very nearly the whole town? Then who will pay the taxes? Why truly the whole town, use it or not.

Looking at the extravagance in the first [illegible]on; the folly of the proposed scheme, [illegible]ses of supposing that pure or [illegible] water can be supplied even at three [illegible] amount asked for, and the entire absence [illegible] to show that there would be one cent [illegible] income from water rent for the next ten [illegible]ments me on asking the fullest consideration of the whole matter, and further in requesting them who pay the taxes, to negative the By-law, unless the scheme is modified, constructed for fire purposes only, and the contract price for all complete, not to exceed $30,000.

I am Sir yours,

J. STRATTON,

SOUTH MONAGHAN.

The vote on the Dunkin By-law in the Counties of Northumberland and Durham was commenced on Wednesday the 26th ult., in the several Municipalities. In the township the vote at the close of the poll was 76 for Dunkin, and one for King Alcohol and that one a nonresident vote, four others were on their way to the polling place to vote Dunkin but were late. A few who were understood to be opposed to the by-law came out but appeared not to have sufficient courage to vote nay. The vote is not large as most farmers are busy harvesting. The crops in the east of the township are very light; with a good quality of grain. In the west of township the average will be quite 25 per cent more as there was a good rain in the early part of this month. The turnip crop is almost a complete failure. On Friday the 27 there was a very fine thunder-shower in the morning, the thunder was most remarkable, one continued succession of peals lasting for over half an hour, reports could be distinctly heard all the time, on the evening of the same day there was more rain making quite the heaviest rain-fall that has been this season.—COM.

WAY ADVERTISE.

People sometimes ask why does Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., spend so much money in advertising his family medicines, which are so well known and surpass all other remedies in popularity and sale. It is well known that A. T. Stewart considered it good policy, and undoubtedly it paid him, to spend many hundred thousand dollars in advertising his goods, yet nobody questioned the excellence of his merchandise. The grand secret of success lies in offering only goods which possess merit to sustain themselves, and then through liberal and persistent advertising making the people thoroughly acquainted with their good qualities. Men do not succeed in amassing great fortunes, establishing thriving and permanent business, and founding substantial institutions like Dr. Pierce's Grand Invalids' Hotel at Buffalo, which costs over two hundred thousand dollars, unless their business be legitimate, their goods meritorious, and their services which they render the people genuine and valuable. Dr. Pierce does not attempt to humbug you by telling you that his Golden Medical Discovery will cure all diseases. He says, "if your lungs are half wasted by consumption, my Discovery will not cure you, yet as a remedy for severe coughs, and all curable bronchial, throat, and lung affections, I believe it to be unsurpassed as a remedy." The people have confidence in his medicines because he does not over recomend them, and when tried they give satisfaction. His Medical Adviser, a book of over nine hundred pages, illustrated by two hundred and eighty-

CENTENNIAL LAURELS.

A Triple Crown for Wheeler and Wilson's Silent Lock-Stitch Sewing Machines.

"THREE MEDALS & THREE DIPLOMAS"

The Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machines were represented by E. H. Knight, C. W. Gregory, Fred Paget and E. D. F. Foore, Centennial Judges of Sewing Machines at Philadelphia in 1876, to be the best Sewing Machine in the market. Not only the Centennial Commissioners pronounce the W & W, the best Sewing Machine as well as Mrs. Jas. Stephenson, of Ashpodel, Mrs. W. W. Johnston, Wm. McCullagh, J. G. Huston R. Ternan, Mrs. Dr. Kincaid, Mrs. W. Patterson, Jr., of Peterboro; Mrs. Wm. Dawson and Mrs. J. Smith of Ashburnham, and hundreds of others too numerous to mention, pronounce it the best Sewing Machine, and recommend all intending purchasers to call and see the new family W & W, "it is a perfect little gem."

CAUTION,

I hereby caution all those having the W & W Sewing Machine not to allow any other agent or person interested in any other Sewing Machine to have anything to do with the W & W, as there are a great many agents who pretend to sell and repair all classes of Sewing Machines, they have little or no knowledge of the W & W.

But I would recommend those having the W & W Sewing Machine to call on the proper and only authorized Agent at Peterboro, who is competent to repair, if necessary, the W & W Sewing Machines properly. I am also willing to give instructions free of expense to all W & W customers of the Agency, on all classes of goods from ¼ of an inch thick down to gauze, also lessons on variety work free. All persons interested in the W & W, will be benefited by calling on G. A. Mitchell, who thoroughly and practically understands the Machine.

Please read my late circulars on W & W Machines, before purchasing a Sewing Machine elsewhere.

I also take Insurance Risks on first-class buildings at a very low rate, and I am working for first-class companies.

A LECTURE

TO YOUNG MEN!

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay clearly demonstrates, from thirty years successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED SPRUCE GUM,

—FOR—

Coughs, Colds, Bronchial and all Throat Affections.

The Gum which exudes from the Red Spruce tree is, without doubt, the most valuable native Gum for Medicinal purposes.

Its remarkable power in relieving certain severe forms of Bronchitis, and its almost specific effect in curing obstinate hacking Coughs, is now well known to the public at large. In this Syrup (carefully prepared at low temperature), containing a large quantity of the finest picked Gum in complete solution, all the Tonic Expectorant, Balsamic and Anti-Spasmodic effects of the Red Spruce Gum are fully preserved. For sale at all Drug Stores. Price, 25 cents per bottle.

WHAT THEY SAY OF IT? A FEW FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.—There are but few preparations of medicines which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people for any great length of time. One of these is Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil. Read the following and be convinced:—Thos. Robinson, Farnham Centre, P. Q., writes, "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for the last ten years, and have tried many remedies without any relief, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and since then have had no attack of it. I would recommend it to all."—J. H. Earl, Hotel Keeper, West Shefford, P. Q., writes, "I have been troubled with liver complaint for several years, and have tried different medicines with little or no benefit, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which gave me immediate relief, and I would say that I have used it since with the best effect. No one should be without it, I have tried it on my horses in cases of cuts, wounds, etc., and think it is equally as good for horse as for man."—A. Maybee Merchant, Warkworth, writes, "I have sold some hundreds of bottles of Eclectric Oil, and it is pronounced by the public, 'one of the best medicines they have ever used;' it has done wonders in healing and relieving pain, sore throats, etc., and is worthy of the greatest confidence."—Joseph Russn, Township Percy writes, "I persuaded to try Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lame knee which troubled me for three or four years, and I never found anything like it for curing lameness. It is a great public benefit."—A. M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes, "For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which annoyed me very much. Mr. Maybee of this place induced me to try Eclectric Oil, and before one bottle was used I was cured. It is a most remarkable medicine. Sold by all medicine dealers Price, 25 cents.

ELECTRICITY.

Thomas' Excelsior Electric Oil.

Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold—Pain cannot stay where it is used.

It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured Bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures catarrh, asthma, and croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. It cures swelled neck, tumors, rheumatism, neuralgia, contraction, of the muscles, stiff joints, spinal difficulties, and pain and soreness in any part, no matter where it may be, nor from what cause it may arise, it always does you good. Twenty-five cents worth has cured bad cases of chronic and bloody dysentery. One tea-spoonful cures colic in 15 minutes. It will cure any case of piles that it is possible to cure. Six or eight applications is warranted to cure any case of excoriated nipples or inflamed breast. For bruises, if applied, often and bound up, there is never the slightest discoloration to the skin. It stops the pain of a burn as soon as applied. Cures frosted feet, boils, warts, and corns, and wounds of every description on man or beast.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.—Ask for Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. See that the signatures of S. N. Thomas is on the wrapper, and the names of Northrop & Lyman are blown in the bottle, and take no other. Sold by all medicine dealers. Price, 25 cts. NORTHROP & LYMAN, Toronto, Ont., Proprietors for the Dominion.

he Most Valuable Gift—Restoration of the Health.

During the past ten years the proprietor of the Great Shoshonees Remedy has faithfully redeemed every promise and guarantee made to the public over his signature. Alarming and apparently hopeless cases of Long Diseases, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Affections of the Kidney and Chronic Complaints of every description, including Scrofula and Skin Diseases of life-long duration, have been permanently removed and eradicated. Those who volunteered their testimony to the efficacy of the Remedy are not bogus people in unheard-of localities of foreign states, but respectable citizens of this Dominion, easy of access and open to question, upon whose verbal recommendations we are willing to test the reputation of the Great Shoshonees Remedy. If you are afflicted do not delay until medicine may be powerless to aid you. No injurious effects can possibly follow the use of these Indian Remedies, as they contain no minerals, by which the life of the invalid is so often sealed under the form of some temporary sedative or stimulant. These Indian Remedies are widely known and still possess the public confidence after the lapse of sufficient time to test their efficacy.

The Shoshonees Vegetable Sugar Coated Pills have won for themselves the most favorable reputation of any pill before the public. Their efficacy has been fully proved as a remedy for Biliousness, Sick Headache, and Constipation of the Bowels. Price of the Remedy in pint bottles $1. Pills 25 cts. a box.

A WONDERFUL REFORM IN FANNING MILLS

Farmers wanting to purchase a First Class Fanning Mill should call on

MINORGAN & ELLIOTT

AND GET ONE OF THEIR

"FARMERS FRIEND."

They are the best and cheapest Fanning Mills in the Market, and clean from 80 to 100 bush. of Wheat, ready for the market, in an hour, and does not throw the large grain into the tailings. We have received a large number of Testimonials from different Farmers in the County who have used our Mills. They will speak for themselves:—

Greystock P.O., Otonabee, Mar. 12, 1877—
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—This is to certify that I have given the "Farmers Friend" Mill a fair trial, and have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion it is one of the best Mills now in use for cleaning grain for seed, or market.

MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—This is to certify that I have given your "Farmers Friend" Mill a fair trial, and have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion it is one of the best Mills now in use for cleaning grain for seed or market.
Yours etc.,
J. REDMOND.

Balsam Grove, Peterboro, March 13, 1877.
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—I have tested your "Farmers Friend" Mill and find that it works well, taking out all dirt and small seeds out of grain and making a good clean article for sale. I am sure that your machine will give good satisfaction among the farmers, that is if they want to take good clean grain to market, and get five cents per bushel more for it.
Yours etc.,
J. H. WALTON.

Smith, 5th March, 1877.
MOORE & MINORGAN:
Dear Sirs,—I take pleasure in recommending the "Farmers Friend" as being the best Mill I have ever had, and I have had several of what was called the Best Makes in Ontario.

THE WATER WORKS QUESTION.

"In a multitude of councillors there is wisdom." The people of Peterborough then will surely be able to decide wisely on the water works question, for assuredly there are many, if they be not all wise and honest, councillors expressing opinions on the subject. No one presumes to deny the benefit that an effective system of water works would be to the town; therefore all the attempts to work up an enthusiasm by high-sounding generalizations are practically useless. The great question at issue is, whether the proposed scheme is fairly laid down for submission, and whether if can be carried out at a reasonable cost so as to be effective. We are not called on to consider the abstract uses of water works, or their general desirability. We have a report, an estimate, and a by-law before us, and to them, and them alone should the question be confined. Of course details that may have been, from whatever cause, omitted from the report, must be supplied in order to carry on the discussion; and comparisons with other works, calculations of cost and other data are perfectly legitimate. These all have a practical bearing on the question. Abstract theories and personal abuse have not. What does it matter so far as any argument is concerned if all connected with the discussion on both sides are proved arrant knaves? That would only act as a warning to the ratepayers to be careful how they entrusted the construction of the works to any of them. We have readily opened our columns to both sides, because free and full discussion is seen to bring ultimate good. But while we are glad to see general discussion of so important a matter, we regret that so much energy and language should be wasted in useless recrimination. It can do no good, and is calculated to do great harm by drawing public attention from the main points of the question.

We last week alluded to the suspiciously small amount of "bottom facts" given in the report, to the mysterious manner in which public discussion was "barked" in the first place, and to the absolute proposition for commissioners in the framing of the by-law. We also referred briefly to the extravagance of water commissioners in other places, and to the mixed character and inefficiency of the scheme proposed for Peterborough. We propose now to enter more fully into a consideration of the character and cost of the works as proposed in the by-law to be submitted in this town on the 21st inst While much stress is laid by the promoters of the by-law on "the superiority of a supply by gravitation from reservoirs," it will be observed that the plan proposed is not at all of that advantageous kind. It is urged that "the water would have to be forced up from the Dickson site instead of flowing down from the Hilliard site; but it is never explained in the same connection that the estimates includes an item of $5,300 for apparatus whereby the water will be forced up to the Hilliard site before it can flow down. Hydrostatics based on hydraulics! By this up and down plan no force will be gained, and it can readily be seen how it will be lost. Mr. Stewart, a well known engineer, and a competent authority, shows in a letter to the chairman of the water works committee that in case of fire direct pressure from the pumps will have to be brought to bear; for whereas a head of 460 feet is necessary, the proposed reservoir would only give 136 feet at Townsend street, the lowest point mentioned. It will be seen from this that for fire purposes at least a reservoir on Hilliard's hill is useless; and the only argument in its favour is that it will better provide a supply of water for domestic purposes. For such use the water would have to be filtered, and no $6,000 is go ng to provide a reservoir and filtering basin on Hilliard's hill, adequate to the supply of water fit to drink. It is very noticeable too that the towns referred to by the advocates of the Peterborough by-law as being benefitted by water works have all adopted the system of direct supply to the pipes. Sarnia, spoken of as beginning to derive a revenue from a supply of water for domestic use, gets its water from a large river, the outlet of, and near to, a great lake, thus securing a quality of the fluid that cannot be obtained from the Otonabee at Hilliard's any more than at Dixon's. The other towns mentioned only have a supply for purposes of extinguishing fires, and this in all Peterborough need hope for. Such a supply can be had at an expenditure very much less than $30,000 for works alone.

When we allude to the sum proposed to be voted as "for works alone" we do so with a clear appreciation that, in the event of the construction of the proposed works, it would be but a fraction of the whole inevitable expenditure. There is nothing in the estimate to meet the claims that would certainly be made for compensation to those whose properties would be entered upon and more or less damaged by the construction of works, laying of pipe, etc. In such cases it is almost invariably necessary to refer the matter in dispute to arbitration, and those called upon to be both the employers and umpire in the matter, are, to say the least, placed in a very awkward position. Besides the claims that would be made for compensation beyond the amount awarded. Again, as certainly as "history repeats itself" would the estimates for works be exceeded, particularly under commissioners. The frightful example of Toronto and St. Catharines should warn us, while that of Port Hope, (where the works, for fire extinguishing purposes only, were constructed by contract, awarded to a practical man,) should show us the advantage of going about the business securing water works for this town in a business-like and intelligent manner, and not in the style proposed by the by-law about to be submitted. No matter how its advocates accuse those who vote against it with obstructing progress, it must in the interest of the town be defeated. There are steps apparently progressive that lead but to disaster and a retarding of steady progress. We can safely say that those who force such a water works by-law on the people as must be defeated, instead of one appealing to their intelligence by giving them some choice of plans and procedure, are the real obstructionists who stand in the way of the speedy construction of water works in this town.

THE DUNKIN ACT IN TORONTO.

Voting on the Dunkin Act By-law, began in Toronto, on Monday. Ever since the announcement of the submission of the by-law there has been considerable excitement in the City. Strong committees have been formed by the Licensed Victuallers on one side and the temperance men on the other. It is not at all surprising that those who live by traffic in intoxicating liquors, should do all in their power to prevent the passing of any measure calculated to place further restrictions on them in the carrying out of what they look on as a legalized and therefore perfectly proper trade. And the fact that the Dunkin Act proposes to strip them of their defence of legality, makes their opposition to it, take into it the energy of desperation. There is a vast difference between a legitimate trade and an illegitimate one. There are many men at present engaged in the retail liquor trade whose ideas of propriety would not allow them to continue its sale did the traffic assume the position of an unlawful occupation, and there are many again whose consciences might suffer them to illegally trade in liquor, but whose fears would prevail to keep them out of such a business. The simple question that the licensed victuallers mind, is that his craft is in danger. His selfishness appeals at once to his combativeness and he comes out strong in his opposition to, and loud in his denunciation of the act. In this his national propensities over comes discretion; for in the great number of cases the Dunkin party, which has only a moral force to rely upon, only gains strength from the vigour with which it is opposed. Thus in Toronto there was very little thought of the Act until the opposition began to denounce it. Thus popular attention was directed to it in a very marked manner. The objections were warmly taken up by the friends of the Act, and the increase of discussion led to an increased determination to work, as the temperance reformers put it, in the interest of the public as against the publicans—morality against mercenary motives.

Another feature of the campaign has been the array of preachers that have occupied platforms in favour of the Act. Thus the contest has assumed an aspect of a fight of the bar-room against the church. This, indeed, has been complained of by the licensed victuallers, who contend that the province of the pulpit occupant is thus deserted, and the ministers usefulness impaired by stepping down and out to battle in such a war. Of this, however, the ministers and their consciences are the best judges; and certainly they are better able to determine, who have no worldly gain to look for, than those who are contending for their monetary investments. People will not madly believe that the influence of the preachers of the gospel, exercised by open argument, and not by superstitious terrors, is an objectionable force to use in the furtherance of a public question; and as for the idea of the preachers place being in the pulpit alone, that has been so long exploded as to be reckoned as childish in this day of pastoral visitation and advice in the churches. If the Anti-Dunkinites in Toronto ended with expressing such ideas and trying to spread them by logic, little harm would have been done. But they have assailed ministers who have been forward in the Dunkin campaign with personal charges, and have invaded the domestic circle to find means whereby they might accuse them of faults These things have nothing whatever to do with the merits of the question at issue; and, therefore, have failed to strenthen the cause of the liquor interest. Indeed it has rather injured their cause; for it has roused the energies of hitherto careless men to work for the passage of the by-law. Now men have lately come to the point declaring that such charges have induced them to speak and act publicly in favour of the Dunkin Act.

But the very worst feature of the contest was the action of the Anti-Dunkin party on Monday. Before the poll was declared open a crowd took possession of the building in which the votes are taken and by forming a crowd round the entrance, attempted to keep Dunkin voters from coming forward to exercise the right of franchise, to which all alike are entitled. A cessi-circle of men with locked arms formed a barrier through which they allowed none to pass except their friends. That this was an organized place evidenced by the use of little tickets shown by the men who were passed, all others being hustled back. After a time the police broke this line when Dunkin and Anti-Dunkin voters got somewhat mixed up; but still attempts were made to retard the progress of such as were known, or suspected as favourable to the by-law. In several instances rough usage was given, notably on the case of Alderman Hallan and Mr. Spence, both earnest advocates of the Bill. Rev. John Potts, too, was treated with scant courtesy, and other respectable, and even aged men were wantonly insulted, and assaulted. In the afternoon the tavern-keeper's line was again formed, and many who went to vote for the by-law were unable to get through. Voting went on at a pretty rapid rate during the day, there being in all 513 votes polled in the seven hours the poll was open. Of these 290 were Dunkin votes, each one of which represents more or less a struggle to reach the polling place. The action of the Anti Dunkin party in this townships has put a new aspect on the struggle, and one peculiarly unfavourable to the Scott Act. It makes the contest one of organization against organization, and should the Dunkin party be defeated on Monday next, it will be because the Anti-Dunkin party have been more successful in getting their supporters to the polls. Well-known rowdies "held the fort," while prominent among them and directing their tactics were Anti-Dunkin men whose means have been hitherto used to show that respectability was not all on one side. In short the leaders of the Ant Dunkin association fully identified themselves with rowdyism at the polls. In so doing they cannot but have weakened their cause; for men who might have voted with them on the plain question of Dunkin Act or no Dunkin Act, cannot go with them in the new issue they have so foolishly made. "Bulldozing" will not be tolerated in Canada; and, as might have been expected, prompt measures were taken to mend matters at the Toronto poll on the second day. Let us hope that both sides will learn a lesson from the attempt, and the failure; and that all will try to treat each other good-naturedly, as men who know they will have to live as neighbours after the voting is done, no matter what the result may be.

WATER WORKS.

According to notices posted by the promoters of Water Works a large meeting of the ratepayers of Ward No. 3 was held in Mr. Hamilton's foundry on Monday evening, The Mayor presided, and after explaining the object of the meeting requested the advocates of Water Works to address the meeting. Councillor Smith, as the originator of the present attempt to introduce the matter, was loudly called for, but was not present. He, it appears, was willing to leave the discussion to others. Mr. Dumble was then called for, and in a very calm and dispassionate manner laid before them the details of the scheme, as he understood them. He admitted that he was friendly to the project, but was not committed absolutely to it. He referred to other Towns, especially Sarnia, as having constructed works at a cost of nearly $60,000, and stated that the people would not do without them on any account, and in a very easy and graceful speech placed the matter fairly before those present. He spoke unfavorably of the Water Works Act, but thought the works could be economically constructed under its provision. Several questions as to limits and rates were put, but he said he could not fully answer them, as the Act seemed not clear on the matter.

Mr. Romaine, who was present, appeared to think that wherever water passed or could be conveyed with hose would be taxed for its support.

Mr. Clarton being called for made a very politic and careful address. He thought the scheme was too expensive and to premature, and that the idea of going to the cost of a Reservoir to bring water for domestic purposes was not wise, as it would be unfit for use. He also remarked that he had made enquiry and learned that Reservoirs were very costly and unnecessary. He concluded by urging the withdrawal of the present By-law until a more perfect and feasible scheme could be inaugurated.

Mr. McWilliams also addressed the meeting, but in opposition to the proposed By-law. He considered it too costly. The reservoir he believed would be useless for fire purposes, and he considered that to vote this $50,000 would only be a beginning, as was the case in all the places where water works had been introduced. He then referred to his resignation, but as the discussion was foreign to water works, it is not given, except merely to remark that it caused a sharp rejoinder from Mr. Dumble.

Mr. A. Rutherford was the next to speak. He was opposed to the present By-law and expenditure as beyond the requirements of the town. He thought the By-law should be withdrawn or voted down and something more moderate should be introduced.

Mr. John McClelland was next called for, and made a very intelligent and pointed address in opposition to the By-law. He opposed it as coating too much, as uncalled for, and unasked for, and far beyond what was needed. He was friendly to Water Works for fire purposes, but urged the voting down of the By-law until the whole question should be more fully investigated and a better plan be devised. And he concluded by proposing the following resolution, seconded by Mr Rutherford:—

Whereas this meeting having been called to take into consideration the question of "Water Works," desire to express our opinion that inasmuch as there has been no fully developed scheme laid down wherein is an efficient system of Water Works for fire and domestic purposes to warrant us in voting for the same, and whereas we deem it inexpedient to incur such an expenditure, we therefore pledge ourselves to vote down the said "Water Works By-law."

Mr. Havlitt was then called for and gave full expression to his views; and as he has done so in these columns, we trust to be excused for not giving a synopsis of his speech.

Mr. Hilliard followed, but contrary to his usual calm and collected way, expressed himself warmly against the opponents of the By-law, accusing them of want of honesty in their opposition, and of doing nothing to place a better scheme before the people.

Mr. Stratton defended the opponents of the By-law, as they considered it beyond the requirements of the town. He showed that they had advocated water works for fire purposes from the cheapest place, so long as efficient, and expressed himself as willing to accept water works for fire purposes so long as they were confined absolutely from $25,000 to $30,000.

Mr. Clurton, seconded by Mr Hilliard, moved an amendment to the motion providing for an outlay for fire purposes only of $25,000, but this was lost, only 10 persons voting for it.

The motion to vote the by-law down was then carried with an overwhelming majority. Considerable impatience was manifested with the supporters of water works by the audience, but except a few questions every thing was orderly.

Not having taken notes at the Ward meeting we only give what we believe to be a fair synopsis of the speakers views on the question, avoiding the personal rejoinders which were foreign to the question.

CIVIC HOLIDAY.

Thursday last being the day appointed by his worship the Mayor as a Civic Holiday for the citizens of Peterborough, nearly all business was suspended and the citizens from early in the morning could be seen making their way in different directions to enjoy themselves. During the day a large number availed themselves of a trip up the lakes to Mount Julien, and a large number went to Bourgeon Point, but the greater number went down the river. Considerable commotion was raised about the "Steam Tugs" which had been chartered by the Steamer Line Steamboat Association, and which had anchored their steamers for the day for the passengers according to law, the rumour being that she would not be allowed to leave the wharf. The collector of customs having received instructions to detain her if she could not produce her certificate, and a great many of the citizens were on the bank, waiting to see what steps would be taken in the matter. Shortly after 3 o'clock Mr. Romaine's left her wharf conveying the employees of the brick factory who had determined upon an excursion of their own, and who had the "Steam Tug" decorated with evergreens to suit holiday times. Between 75 and 100 persons were on board and were carried to the Pic-Nic grounds at Campbelltown, where they enjoyed themselves during the day, returning in the evening early, well pleased with their trip.
